Halloween.

Hail halloween, night of legends old—
Of mystic spells and apparations,
Of fairies, and a host untold,
Of spectres, and unearthly visions.
Tho' far from Colean's cave to-night;
Tho' Scotia's hills touch not our heaven,
The crystal drops that dim our sight,
Proclaim we love thee halloween.

The birds sweet song, the lover's chorus,
And e'en the falt'ring tongue of age,
Have yet preserved thy mysteries for us,
Thou best of nights more dear from age.
Our hearthstones warmer are to-night;
We feel a spell—what can it mean?
'Tis thy fond ties that dim our sight,
Thou best of hours our halloween.

This is the night when Cupid deigns
To ope the eyes of sighing swain,
When spirits are loosened from their chains,
To ramble free in man's domain:
When blushing maiden's timid eye,
In search of some one loved is seen:
While trusting she each charm doth try—
She hopes! she sees! 'tis halloween.

When sprightly nuts prophetic leap,
What joy the dosting lover feels;
His Jehny's heart is full—she weeps!
His arm around her gently steals;
Or if perchance the emblems slight,
In erring course is wildly seen,
Then Jenny's heart is sad to-night,
Her lover waits his halloween.

With longing eye the maiden scans
The mirror's deep unfathomed cell,
And eats the fruit that marred the plans
Of loving Eve when Adam fell:
Her bosom heaves with hope untold;
She starts—his welcome form is seen,
While dewey pearls her cheeks enfold,
She feels thy spell dear halloween.

The lover sows the hempen seed,
While Luna's beams are faintly staying;
And in her heart the Furies read
The words his trembling lips are saying.
In pity then his spouse appears;
The growing stalks she seems to scream;
He starts! he hopes! and yet he fears
To trust thy joys sweet halloween.

My muse recounts not all thy spells,
In garden, kiln and burn;
The same in mountain top and dell,
As changing seasons still return.
Transplanted to the genial shore,
Thy social joys are loved as keen,
As e're on Scotia's soil of yore,
Loved, welcomed, welcomed halloween.

The Drunkard.

From Hall's Journal of Health.

Very few persons would be willing to marry an habitual drunkard: but it is not generally known what a great risk is run in marrying the son or daughter of a drunkard, although they themselves are strictly temperate from high moral principle; indeed, it is an uncommon thing to find the children of beastly drunkards the very models of temperance, from having had before their own eyes, for years in succession, the terrible evils of habitual inebriation.

It is one of the indisputable facts in physiology and the observations of intelligent men confirm the truth, that certain diseases and taints of body and traits of mind, are transmitted from father to son. So well and firmly is this impression fixed on the minds of men, that when a man becomes insane one of the very first efforts is to endeavor to ascertain if it is not "in the family," and it is comparatively seldom that such is not proved to be the case.

Another important fact is that hereditary traits and taints sometimes overleap a generation, arising most probably from the fact that one parent has extraordinary good health, sufficiently vigorous to stave off the malady for a time; but the seed of the malady is in the immediate descendant for all that, and to the extent that if the grandchild marries one who has similar taint, the offspring develops the characteristic of the grandparent.

Drunkenness is a transmissable malady, because anatomical investigations demonstrate that the brain of a drunkard, after comparatively few indulgences, becomes organically impaired, and when that is the case it is just as impossible to repair the injury as to have a new finger grow in the place of one which has been removed.—Surely no stronger appeal can be made to a man's intelligence, to his honor and to his humanity, to practice temperance in the use of all intoxicating drinks.

As a proof of the argument made, it may be sufficient to say, in general terms, that observation shows that in any number of drunkards about one-third becomes so through social influence, the remaining two thirds from hereditary influence. More than half of the first class are reclaimed, but to recover men from intemperate habits who have become so from hereditary influence is almost impossible, even although they may have had a Christian education and the early instillment of strictly temperance principles. Let the reader who can thank God that he has not had the curse of an intemperate parent, and let him pray daily, with constant action, that he may never be permitted to fall into so great a crime as that of being an intemperate parent himself. Nor ought a man who has been a drunkard to allow himself to marry and become the father of children, for they are very certain either to inherit his vice or to have implanted in their constitutions the seeds of insidious diseases. To be safe from these calamities and crimes there is only one safe plan—never taste a drop of the accursed thing.

Zadkiel's Prophecies for 1870,

"Zadkiel"—Lieutenant Morrison—has issued in London his almanac predictions for 1870, of which, the London Daily News says:

"The work is indeed a multum in parvo. It is suited to the wants and requirements of all ages and stations. Those who have neglected the warnings of the last number had better examine the list of fulfilled predications at the end of the Almanac, and noted how foolish crowned heads have been in not seeing to their nativities in time.—The Queen of Spain was warned that Mars was inimical to her, and so it tuned out.—The Conservatives of our country received due notice that the Sun was in Aries, and not having made preparations for the event, they were overthrown. If people defy Sagittarius of Virgo, and even turn their backs upon Taurus or Leo, what are they to expect?

"Zadkiel particularizes in the most courageous manner. For example, on the 1st, 9th, 15th, 16th, 20th and 30th of January, deal with merchants, bankers or clergymen; begin new undertakings. On the 5th, 24th, 29th, woo, marry, engage female servants, visit or invite friends, and so on. On the 4th, 9th, 19th, 23rd, deal with farmers, and old folk. Farmers and old folk; this is a strange conjunction, and seems somehow disrespectful to the agricultural interest. In March, Victor Emmanuel (if alive) is likely to be in a bad way. Jupiter, by moving in Taurus, seems well disposed to Ireland; but Uranus, by retrograding in Cancer, brings strange and sudden mischief on Ireland, Scotland and Manchester. Those born on the 15th of February will prosper in all Venus matters about the 15th of this month, which gives them exactly a month and a day to improve the privileges granted by a lading custom to the votaries of St. Valentine. April squares Uranus, and there is turbulance on that account in England. During May Ireland is disposed to be troublesome.

"Both the Prince Imperial and the Prince of Wales are exposed to perils in November.

In December, what with Virgo squaring at Jupiter, Uranus retrograding in Cancer and Saturn entering Capricorn from an unexpected quarter, a complete Irish shindy will take place in the skies, and we shall all be in danger from ill health, grief, losses, crosses, &c."

Interesting Experiments

From the Boston Journal of Chemistry we clip the following interesting and instructive experiment in electricity:—

"Procure four glass tumblers or common glazed teacups, and having wiped them as dry as possible, hold them over the fire to evaporate any moisture which may still adhere to their surface, for if there is the least moisture it makes a connection and spoils the experiment. Place them on the floor in a square, about one foot apart, and place a small board upon them, and have a person standing upon it. This person is now completely insulated, the glass being a non-conductor of electricity. Now take a common rubber comb, and having wound a piece of silk around one end of it, rub it briskly through your hair, and draw the teeth parallel to the insulated persons' hand. The result will be a sharp cracking noise, and, if dark, there will be seen a succession of sparks. Repeat the process until the phenomenon ceases. The person is now 'charged' with electricity the same as a Leyden jar. To draw off the electricity, approach your knuckles to the person's hands or nose, (being careful not to allow any portion of your body to come in contact with his,—and there will be a loud snap and the sparks will be very brilliant. If a cat be held so that the charged person can place his knuckles in proximity to the animal's nose, it will suddenly appear as if it were in contact with an electric battery. A glass bottle may be used in lieu of a comb, but it is not so well adapted to the purpose. Much amusement may be derived from this extremely simple experiment, and some of our numerous young readers will hasten to try for themselves."

A Horrible Religion.

All efforts of the Russian Government have proved unavailing to put a stop to the extravagances of the Skoptsi. The Daily News, an usually well-informed paper gives an account of their last exploits. On the 13th of September, a party of four hundred of these fanatics left the town of Balatchow and proceeded to a neighboring wood to pray. The scene witnessed on their return was horrible. A madman named Wasiloff declared he was the Son of God, and after choosing twelve apostles, called for a human sacrifice. Five victims were then selected, placed on a number of waggons which had been piled up for the purpose and burnt alive. A woman, who had distinguished herself by her religious paroxisms, seized the shaft of a cart and beat two young girls to death, while another female was trodden under foot and literally torn to pieces by the fanatical crowd. Other details are given of the horrors enacted, which are utterly unfit for publication. It is impossible to say what further excesses might not have been committed, if the Governor of the town, being informed of the facts, had not despatched a number of soldiers and arrested the whole party, who are now in confinement pending the inquiries of a commission sent from St. Petersburgh to report on the subject.

The Old Story.

According to the New York papers Mr. John O'Neill, "President of the Fenian Brotherhood," has issued a circular to the Brethren," calling upon them for renewed contributions in aid of the "cause." O'Neill's chequer has doubtless run low and he resorts to the old game to "raise the wind" his time the pretext is to supply ammunition therewith to destroy the "hated Saxon" wherever found. The circular says:—

"All we now want is the requisite supply of breech-loading ammunition. We have sufficiency of all other kinds. You know our breech-loader, which fires twenty shots per minute, is an extravagant weapon, but you also know that in proportion as it consumes ammunition it will destroy opposition. Send on immediately the money to purchase this ammunition, and my word for it, brothers, as soon as it is procured the day will have arrived for the commencement of the long promised and anxiously expected movement against the common enemy."

If this does not gain the contribution of the servant girls and "navies" nothing will but is so old a story now that the dupes must be very blind indeed if they again contribute. And lest they should prove backward O'Neill holds out the flattering prospect of another invasion of Canada; but if it should be attempted we are inclined to believe he will take care that his precious carcase is not imperilled. He concludes his circular as follows:—

"Brothers—The extensive preparations made two weeks since by our enterprising Canadian friends to meet an imaginary foe, whom they believed to be marching upon their strongholds, is consoling, because it shows how deficient they are in correct information, as to our designs and military plans. Time was when England could goad the Irish people into premature and useless insurrection. Time was when Irish leaders themselves have assumed the aggressive rashly, and without having calculated the probable result of their action. But that day is past. We will now act deliberately—choosing our own time and place, and precipitating our soldiery against the foeman only when circumstances will justify the attack.

"Brothers, we would like to impart to you much more information, if we could with safety, but you must trust us; we have never deceived you, and we pride ourselves that we are worthy of your confidence.

"In conclusion, we would impress upon you the necessity for a continued and zealous discharge of your duties. Let there be no backsliding, no hesitancy, no lack of confidence, but full and implicit faith in our ability to complete the work assumed, and a corresponding zeal in pushing it to completion, and so sure as the green flag was unfurled at Ridgeway and Fort Erie on the 2nd of June, 1866, so sure will it be unfurled again, and before long when there will be thousands instead of hundreds to defend it."

A Horrible Record of Crime.

[From the Pall Mall Gazette.]

While the French journals have been filled with the terrible details of the Pantin tragedy, the newspapers in England have had to record an unusual number of heinous crimes. On Saturday, a silk weaver named Whittle, living at Westhoughton, near Bolton, who had quarrelled with his son and his son's wife, and had been ordered to leave their house, where he had been lodging, murdered his daughter-in-law with an axe, and afterwards cut his own throat. On Sunday morning, a man named Martini, in a fit of jealousy at hearing that a woman with whom he had been living was going to leave him, murdered her in a most shocking manner, by almost severing her head from her body, made a feeble attempt to cut his own throat, and then gave himself up to the police. On Friday, the 24th ult., a man named William Smith, who had been six weeks away from home seeking work, came back and found his wife in a beerhouse kept by her sister's husband in the company of some soldiers. She used bad language to him and ran up stairs. He followed her, and pulled or knocked her down stairs. She fell to the foot of the stairs and was killed, and lay there three hours, while the business of the house was being carried on as usual, before her sister and brother-in-law thought it necessary to take any notice of her. Smith has been committed for trial for wilful murder by the magistrates, but the coroner's jury only found him guilty of manslaughter under extenuating circumstances.

On Sunday morning, an old man of 83, named Chalwick, living at Rochdale, was attacked in his bed and nearly beaten to death for the sake of a small sum of money which he had about him. The perpetrator of the outrage are supposed to be a man named Clapham and his wife, who lodged in the house. At Ledsham, between York and Leeds, the body of a farmer's foreman named Kellet has been found on a footpath, in a state which showed that he had been subjected to violent ill-treatment. It was proved at the inquest that he had excited the enmity of some Irishmen who worked for his employer, and it is supposed that he was set upon by some of these men and murdered. At Dig Moor, near Wigan, a farmer, named Brown, got mad drunk after being present at the laying of the foundation stone of a Primitive Methodist chapel. He thereupon seized the poker and began to beat some farm labourers who were drinking with him. All of them made their escape, except one named Ashton, who was beaten by Brown most unmercifully about the head with a poker until he was lifeless. The sight of the dead body does not appear to have made any impression upon Brown, or even to have sobered him, for he obtained a white sheet, which he threw around him to represent a surplice, and taken a book he pretended to read the Burial Service over the remains. A murderous poaching affray is reported from Bideford, North Devon. Early on Sunday morning, a gang of four men armed with guns were seen near the dwelling house of Mr. W. Turner, of Barton, near Bideford. The game-keeper, who was with others watching at the time, one of whom turned around and fired at him. A terrible scuffle followed, the game-keeper using his life-preserver. His antagonist was eventually captured, and proved to be Samuel Sparks, a navvie, and a stranger to the neighborhood, his comrades escaped.

BELLEVILLE, MONDAY, NOV. 1.

DEATH OF REV. MICHAEL BRENNAN.—The Rev. MICHAEL BRENNAN, for 43 years Pastor of the Roman Catholic Church of this Town, died at his residence, in Belleville, on Sunday, October 31st, in his 72rd year. The deceased was one of the oldest residents of the Town, and much respected by all classes of the community.

PEACHES.—It has been repeatedly stated that Peach trees will not live in our latitude, and from the number of attempts to grow them, that we have known to have been made, we had arrived at the same conclusion, but the fine specimen of this delicious fruit which has been laid on our table, grown in the orchard of Mr. T. Frallick of Sidney, is an evidence that some varieties will grow here.

Undoubtedly Wrong.

At the Grit pow-wow a short time since, in the West, JAMES YOUNG, Esq., M.P., for Waterloo, was one of the orators, and so rampant was he in his denunciations of the Tories, and every thing except his own party, that even the Brockville Recorder repudiates him, and exposes the sophistry and recklessness of this grit politician. In an article under the significant heading of "Undoubtedly Wrong." The Recorder says among other things, "we must distinctly object to the following" sentiments uttered by Mr. Young at the meeting of Reformers:—

"We have had the Tories in power while the Dominion system was being built up, and behold the consequences!—a Senate nominated for life by the Government, and obedient thereto, the duration of parliament stretched out to five years, far too long a period; a bill preparing by John A. to take away even existing privileges of the electors, abolishing the ballot which had been established in the Maritime Provinces, and the beginning of a European military system. In all these respects we are retrograding instead of advancing; the backward movement must be arrested—the increase of titles amongst us was no good sign, and must be stopped. He hoped the Reform party would give no uncertain sound on these great questions—that it would interpose to arrest the present reactionary policy. John A. said our people preferred monarchial grandeur: but he (the speaker) said no; we want no European military system or unsuitable titles of mushroom nobility in Canada."

This was too much for the Recorder, which paper handles the speaker after the following fashion:—

"Surely Mr. Young forgets himself here. Mr. Brown was an out and out advocate of a nominated Senate. He was also in the Government when a nominated senate was decided upon? Mr. Brown is wholly responsible for this "reactionary policy," and he is also responsible for the "five years" duration of Parliament. The leaders of the Reform party, and not the Tories, are to blame for these retrograde movements, and it would be far better for Mr. Young and others who descant upon such matters to admit the fact and not seek to blame others for what the "Confederate Coalition" is alone answerable for. The Tories have also enough of their own to answer for without having to answer for the sins of our own Reform leaders also."

Quite right, friend Recorder, but we question whether the mass of the people of Canada consider the action of the Government in abolishing the elective principle for members of the Upper House a "sin." On the contrary it is looked upon as an evidence of the stability of our institutions, and one act at least in the political life of George Brown for which he deserves credit.

The Recorder might have continued its expose of this gentleman's speech with advantage to himself and the country generally. It might have been shown that all the debts which have been incurred since the union, were but the corollery of that union, and that no matter what act of men might have been in power, the same increase in the Dominion debt must have taken place. No man knows this better than Mr. Young, and to attempt to fasten the blame upon the Tories exclusively, is not only absurd but dishonest.

—Mr. Geo. B. Day has been appointed Consul to Peru at Montreal.

—$1,000 was stolen from a valise on a Quebec steamer a few days since.

—The Town of Brockville raises this year $4,114 for Schools, and $3,721 for Town purposes.

"Circumstances alter Cases."

Every reader of the Globe must by this time be convinced, provided always, its statements are believed to be the emanations of honest minds, that the controller of that journal is sacrificed at the idea of a member of Parliament resigning for the purpose of enabling a minister of the Crown to secure a seat in Parliament. The changes have been rung so often upon what is termed the sale of North Renfrew by Mr. Rankin, that those unacquainted with the past history of Canada must come to the conclusion that it is an exceptional case; when the fact is, the Globe not only justified a similar act on the part of a genuine Grit, but the superlatively honest George Brown himself was the prime mover in the bargain and sale. But then, that was done to provide a seat in Parliament for a colleague of the Hon. George, thus removing the enormity of the crime of a member of Parliament quietly retiring from the turmoils and anxieties of public life, by settling down in an office erected expressly for him. We wonder if the Globe fancies the people have forgotten that it was the party that first introduced this system into Canada, and that it supported and defended the principle as necessary under Responsible Government. Who, among us, has forgotten the Rimousking of the late Hon. Robert Baldwin after his defeat in Hastings. The purchase of the member for Rimouski at that time, in order to induce him to vacate his seat, found no stronger defender than this self-same Geo. Brown. And it is but a few years since when the Hon. William McDougall was defeated in North Ontario, that this same Geo. Brown, who now so lustily denounces Rankin, actually negotiated the purchase of North Lanark, the price being an office for its then member, Mr. Bell, which had been abolished years before as useless, but which is now held by the gentleman who sold the constituency to Mr. McDougall through the intervention of Mr. Brown. What a fearful thing it is in the eyes of this charlatan for another to repeat what he had already done. But then it makes a difference when such an act is perpetrated for Brown's advantage; though it becomes a heinous crime when done by his opponents. What a paragon of political purity to be sure. Is it any wonder that people have become disgusted with his tergiversations, and at the utter want of principle which so eminently characterize the Globe?

We have drawn attention to these facts not to justify the course pursued by Mr. Rankin, nor that of Sir John A. Macdonald in taking Hincks into his Cabinet, but to remind the reader of facts which prove the utter want of anything like honesty or principle in the course taken on all questions by the Globe. It is quite clear that it condemns upon all occasions acts as heinous when done by its opponents, which it extols as virtuous when inaugurated by its friends. Such charlatanism cannot deceive the people for ever.

Serving Two Masters.

SIR,—People very often complain that the Police are not sufficiently alert in detecting and punishing infractions of the Market by-law. It may be possible that there is occasionally some ground for such complaints, but when it is considered that the hucksters and speculators who are continually endeavoring to forestall the Market in such articles as butter, eggs, &c., are extremely shrewd and alert themselves, it is not singular that they are so seldom caught, and when they are, some credit is due to the Police for their success. A case of this kind occurred last week. Policeman Downs brought up a grocer of the town before the Police Court for forestalling the Market by informing a farmer who had butter to sell, that if he would wait till after eleven o'clock he would give him 19c. to 20c. The Police Magistrate held that this was a breach of the By-Law, and imposed a fine of $2 and costs. The Defendant was not satisfied and through the advice of his counsel, who is the Chairman of Market and Police, has appealed from the decision. Policeman Downs is of course only acting on behalf of the Town, who should sustain instead of opposing his action. How can the Police be expected to do their duty when the Chairman of Market and Police instead of sustaining them, appears as opposing Counsel to their complaints, and puts them to the trouble and expense of an appeal? It appears to us that Mr. Henderson is trying to serve two masters. The one that pays the best will probably get the better service.

Upheaval of the Laurentian Hills.

The identity in age, position, and lithological characters of the rocks of Algoma and North Hastings, are facts now fully established, the only difference between them being in their different attitudes. In Algoma the Laurentian hills rise to heights varying from 500 to over 2,000 feet, whilst in Hastings they are mere undulations; thus giving to the same rocks different appearances. And whilst treating on this subject it may be well for me to allude to a fact that I believe has not been noticed by any other observer, namely: The very recent date of the upheaval of these rocks. Although they are the oldest rocks in the world, yet their elevation above the sea level is one of the most recent geological events, and in all probability is going on at the present day. What first led me to this conclusion was the fact that in sinking shafts and making cuttings through the overburden or loose materials that cover the solid rock, I noticed that on the flanks of the hills the superficial covering is composed of alternating layers of clay, sand, gravel, cobble stones and large drift boulders, all regularly stratified,—laid down in layers just the same as the lake beaches of the present day. The same sort of sand-pebbles, &c., that we see now spread out in beds by the waves of Lake Superior, we find in the antient beaches and terraces 600 or 700 feet above the present water level. But, with this difference, that in the modern beaches where the present action of the water is evident, the beds are horizontal, laid down perfectly flat, as water lays down everything on its own level; whilst in similar deposits on the sides of the hills of Algoma and Hastings, the beds are inclined at different angles conformable to the inclination of the surface of the rocks beneath them. The conclusion then is clear that the terraces and beds of surface soil that we lays down everything above the water, and all inclined more or less, according to the angle of the rocks below them, were laid down horizontally when those rocks were below the water. But the line of force acting from below, and running, as I have noticed, in an east and west direction, pushed up the rocky crust, and with it the superincumbent strata. Some have suggested to me that it might be owing to the fall of the waters—that won't do—because water subsiding away from level strata, leaves it level still; but the internal force from below pushes up the rocks, and changes their angular position. Thus it is clear that the upheaval has taken place since the terraces were laid down; and as those deposits are what we call in the language of geology recent, then the upheaval of the Laurentian hills is recent also. And, although those hills do not anywhere (I think) exceed 2,000 feet above the sea level, yet if the lifting force should be continued, and it might be intensified through future time, they may yet rival the altitudes of the Andes. Such a thing is within the range of possibility according to natural laws. The knowledge of these facts, then may be useful to the Explorer and the Miner; no need to look for alluvial deposits of gold there, (unless their excelsior mills should be kept running a few years, when there will be some very good deposits of both gold and mercury,) because the hills are too low, and their exposure to atmospheric influences of too short duration to produce such results. The lofty Sierras of California, and the great backbone of the Rocky Mountains have such an altitude, and have been so long exposed to decomposing and denuding influences that, deposits of all their metallic contents must have naturally accummulated along their bases. In Australia too, although new land, and low, yet the very peculiar configuration of the country, (like a great basin,) would cause an accumulation of detritus by strong currents whilst still under water. But the gold field of Hastings has never been exposed to any of those causes, and consequently the whole mineral contents of the veins are still locked up, waiting only to be developed by the miner's skill, and the advantages of modern science.

THE "TIMES" ON FENIANISM AND THE STATE OF IRELAND.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The Times in an article on the Irish land question says:—"It is not our business to satisfy the Fenians. They would not be satisfied if Ireland was doubly confiscated for their benefit. It is not our business to do justice between the two classes constituting the bone and sinew of Ireland, whose interests are identical, and extirpate the most ancient root of Irish wrongs. Two opposite sources of error must be remembered. It would be wise not to meddle with the land question at all unless we effectually quiet the present tenants. At the same time it would be short-sighted to sacrifice the next generation. Ireland wants rest from agitation, but short-lived rest must not be purchased by concession, pregnant with anarchy. In closing accounts with the past it may be just and necessary to recognize prescriptive rights of doubtful origin, but it cannot be so to foster the growth of similar rights in the future."

MINISTER TO RUSSIA.

Gen. Fleury, the newly appointed minister to Russia, departed to-day for St. Petersburg.

THE ELECTIONS.

PARIS, Oct. 29.—The official paper to-day announces that the election for the four vacant seats in the Corps Legislatif from Paris, has been fixed for the 31st of November.

THE POPE AND THE CHURCH.

SCUTTGARD, Oct. 30.—The Pope has summoned Father Hasels to Rome instead of confirming his election to the Bishopric of Rottenburg, probably on account of his action at the Fulda Conference.

FAVORABLE STATE OF THE FINANCES.

MADRID, Oct. 30.—Senor Ardanez has laid the budget before the Cortes. The excess of receipts over expenditures for the ensuing fiscal year is estimated at £1,000,000 sterling. The poll tax is suppressed, civil salaries are reduced twenty per cent., and clerical salaries thirty per cent.

VISIT OF THE EMPEROR OF RUSSIA TO ENGLAND AND FRANCE.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 30.—The Emperor of Russia will spend part of the winter at Cowes, Isle of Wight, and at Nice, in France.

THE WAR IN PARAGUAY.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The regular mail steamer from South American ports has arrived. She brings dates from Rio Janeiro to Oct. 8. The session of the Brazillian Chambers had been prorogued after a month's rest, during which extensive preparations were made. The allied forces in Paraguay had again been put in motion to attack Lopez at San Estanislaus.

THE CUBAN REBELLION.

HAVANA, Oct. 30.—Intelligence from the central department is to the effect that a body of insurgents while operating on the Cienfuegos and Villa Clara railroad, obstructed the track in such a manner as to cause a freight train to be run off. They then carried away the freightinto the interior and burned the bridge, thus cutting off communication between the two cities.

THE LATEST.

DEFICIT IN SPANISH EXCHEQUER.

MADRID, Oct. 29.—Senor Ardalez, in his budget just submitted to the Cortez, announces that the financial deficit for the current year amounts to five hundred and twenty millions reals. He looks forward with hope to the ensuing fiscal year, extending from January, 1870, to January 1871, his estimates for which show as before reported, a surplus in favor of the Treasury prospects.

THE PROBABLE KING OF SPAIN.

The election of the Duke of Genoa to the throne of Spain continue to improve. The number of deputies in the Cortez, known to be in his favor is increasing. Yesterday 100 members, among them, the Radicals openly pronounced for him, but the majority of the people seem to be hostile to his election. The merchants have presented a petition in favor of the Duke. De Mont Pensier.

RESIGNATION OF MINISTERS.

It is again reported that ministers Ardanez, and Silvela have tendered their resignation. The resignation of Isquisode is officially announced.

WITHDRAWAL OF DECREE OF MARTIAL LAW.

In the Cortez yesterday, Prim said the Government hoped to withdraw at an early day, the decree establishing martial law, but that at present such a step could not be taken, because conspirators still remained at large, and the cases of several rebel leaders were pending before the Council of War.

THE EMPEROR'S ILLNESS ETC.

PARIS, Oct. 31.—The Republic newspaper says: The report that the Emperor is suffering a relapse of his former illness is false. On Friday the Emperor experienced some rheumatic pains, but on Saturday they disappeared, and the Emperor was quite well.

No meeting of the Ministerial Council has been held at Compeigne since the Emperor's return.

Prince Napoleon had an interview with the Emperor yesterday. This event, coupled with the sudden arrival of Emile Olliver in Paris, has caused renewal of rumors that Ministerial changes are contemplated.

DIS ARMAMENT.

It is given out that one of the special objects of Fleury's mission to St. Petersburg, is to induce the Russians to join the other great powers in a general disarmament.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

Among the many restoratives which nature has supplied to relieve the afflictions of humanity, there is none more favorite one for a certain class of diseases than the 'medicinal gum' of the Wild Cherry Tree; but however valuable it is, its power to heal, to soothe, to relieve and to cure, is enhanced ten-fold by scientific and judicious combination with other ingredients, in themselves of equal worth. This happy mingling exists to a remarkable degree in DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY. Whose value in curing Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Pulmonary Affection, and Incipient Consumption, is inestimable.

STRONG TESTIMONY.

From BENJAMIN WHELAN, Esq., Depot Master of South Royalston, Mass.

"In the spring of 1858 I was most severely afflicted with a hard dry cough, with its usual accompaniments of night sweats, completely prostrating my nervous system, and producing such a debilitated state of health that, after trying medical aid to no purpose, I had given up all hopes of ever recovering, as had also my friends. At this stage of matters I was prevailed upon through the influence of a neighbor to try Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, and, before using two bottles, the effect was almost magical. My cough entirely left me, the night sweats deserted me, hope once more elated my depressed spirits, and soon I had attained my wonted strength and vigor. Thus has this Balsam, as has often been remarked by persons conversant with the above facts, literally snatched me from the yawning grave. You are at liberty to use this for the benefit of the afflicted."

ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY.

SECURITY

SHOULD be THE FIRST CONSIDERATION in INSURANCE TRANSACTIONS.

THE Directors of the Royal Insurance Company have the pleasure of supplying the following information to the public, as evidence of the ample security they afford to their assurers:—

The Capital of the Company, available for the purpose of meeting any unusual calamity happening to the Assured, is

Two Millions Stirling.

The amount actually paid up is £288,495. This, with the Accumulated Funds in Hand, makes the invested resources of the Company upwards of One Million Six Hundred Thousand Pounds, which amount is invested as follows:—

INVESTED FUNDS OF THE ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY, 30th June, 1869.

Real Property owned by the Company	£219,571 11 3
Mortgages on Freehold Property	82,600 0 0
£40,000 Reduced 3 per Cent. Consols	38,595 1 3
India Government 3 per Cent. Debentures	100,000 0 0
English Railway Debenture Bonds	59,000 17 7
First-class English Railway Preference and Guaranteed Stocks	335,470 11 11
Loans to Local Authorities of various towns in Great Britian, who have obtained the sanction of the Secretary of State to borrow the amounts	145,560 12 6
Bonds of the Mersey Docks and Harbour Board	62,841 14 8
Bonds of the British and Irish Magnetic Telegraph Co.	10,000 0 0
Bonds of the Liverpool Corporation	5,160 0 0
United States Government Stocks	101,320 7 10
Canada Bonds and Canada Dominion Stock	31,106 11 6
Short Loans on First-class English Dividend-paying Stocks with margins, from 20 to 50 per Cent. on market values	477,195 0 0
Loans on Security of Life Policies	68,998 8 5
	£1,672,856 16 11

The above is a complete list of the Investments of the Company at the date specified, in addition to which the Funds are still further increased, by amounts constantly varying, at different periods, in the hands of the Bankers and the Company's Agents.

At 31st December, 1868, these stood at ..... £ 168,089 2 0

For the satisfaction of the Public, the whole of the Securities belonging to the Company are annually submitted to the careful scrutiny of two Independent Auditors, and the following is an Extract from their Report to the last Annual Meeting:—

"The whole of your Books have been Audited—every Document, every Account, every Voucher, your Bank book, and every Security—all have been most carefully kept, and there is not one doubtful Security in the whole."

THE ACCUMULATIONS OF THE LIFE DEPARTMENT,

After payment of Losses, Annuities, and Expenses of every description, have been as follows:

Funds in Hand at the last Quinquennial Valuation, 31st Dec., 1864	£ 621,434 15 5
Added to 31st December, 1865	108,146 7 3
" " " 1866	124,165 7 8
" " " 1867	138,563 5 10
" " " 1868	144,945 12 2
Total Accumulation of the Life Department on 31st December, 1868, exclusive of Shareholders' Capital	£1,122,375 8 1

The Directors also think it necessary to state that the Business of the ROYAL has never been amalgamated with that of any other Company, and that the Liability of its Shareholders is unlimited.

Disinfectants.

Some one says that noxious effluvia are absorbed in an incredible short space of time, if two or three onions are cut in thin slices and put on a plate, to be renewed every six hours. This is just as true as that the smarting from the scratch of a pin becomes instantaneously unfelt if the person is knocked down. The only safe, healthful and effectual method of keeping a sick-room "sweet," is to keep everything scrupulously dry and clean—instantly remove every article of clothing or bedding which has an atom of dampness or moisture upon it; do not allow even pure water to stand a moment in the apartment, let the fire-place be always kept open, with a frequent and free admission of the pure and fresh air from out-doors. This should be done every two or three hours during the twenty-four. It is the pure air that sick people want, not an atmosphere loaded with the fumes of onions, for in a pint of air they displace just as many particles of fresh air as would burnt sugar, cologne water, or sulphurated hydrogen, for be it remembered, if it is not the odor which does the mischief, so much as the deficiency of nutritious particles of the atmosphere which it takes the place of. We should rather think that every additional odoriferous article introduced into a sick room, only added to the difficulty, even though it were the perfumes from 'Araby the Blest.' The greatest humanity we can show to the sick is, to secure to them the most important remedies ever known—to wit quietness, cleanliness, and pure air. These alone would cure three-fourths of all our diseases, but we will not use them; yet they are everywhere attainable and cost nothing but a little trouble. With the same physicians and the same medicines, the mortality of the British army in the Crimea was diminished one-half through influence of Florence Nightingale, in the procurement of greater comfort and cleanliness among the sick.—Hall's Journal.

Rules for Growing Old.

I am now an old man. I have seen nearly a century. Do you want to know how to grow old slowly and happily? Let me tell you. Always eat slowly—masticate well. Go to your food, to your rest, and to your occupation, smiling. Keep a good nature and a soft temper everywhere.—Never give way to anger. A violent temper of passion tears down the constitution more than a typhus fever. Cultivate a good memory, and to do this you must always be communicative; repeat what you have read; talk it. Dr. Johnson's great memory was owing to his communicativeness. You, young men, when just leaving college, let me advise you to choose a profession in which you can exercise your talents the best, and at the same time be honest.

GENERAL CONFERENCE OF PROTESTANTS.—Among the recent arrivals from Europe was Rev. Dr. Schaff, of New York, delegate of the American branch of the Evangelical Alliance, who has successfully completed his preparations in Europe for general conference of Protestants from all countries, to be held in New York in September next, and in which all denominations of Christians will take part. The approaching Ecumenical Council of Rome will give the Protestant Conference an additional importance. It is understood that many of the leading theological celebrities of Great Britain, France, Germany, and other countries, have positively promised to visit New York on that occasion.

DUPED.—Not long ago a beautiful young girl, the daughter of a rich banker, saw from the ladies' gallery in the House of Commons a young Mahometan. His rich dress proclaimed him a noble. His melancholy eyes showed that he had been deprived of his kingdom. Pity moved the heart of the young lady—the pair met, loved, and were married. The nobleman took his wife to Calcutta, where she was much amazed to find herself driven to a wretched dwelling in which three other wives of her husband were already installed. Being a woman of some firmness and courage, she returned to England by the ship which had brought her to India. Her husband turned out to be a "Moonsiee"—a teacher of languages—earning 60 rupees (about $30 gold) a month. One young woman at least, has got over all silly notions about the "romance of the East" for the rest of her life.

A lady advertises for sale one baboon, three tabby cats and a parrot. She states that, now being married, she has no further use for them; for the reason that their sinnable qualities are all combined in her husband.

"Alas!" said a moralizing bachelor, within ear-shot of a witty young lady of the company, "this world is at best but a gloomy prison!"—"Yes," signed the merciless minx, especially to the poor creatures doomed to solitary confinement!"

Some one writes, both gracefully and forcibly: "If would be glad to see more parents understand that when they spend money judiciously to improve and beautify the house and garden about it, they are paying their children a premium to stay at home as much as possible to enjoy it; but that when they spend money unnecessarily on fine clothing and jewellery for their children, they are paying them a premium to spend their time from home—that is, in those places where they can attract the most attention, and make the most display."

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthful and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands attrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. It wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally believed in this or every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that its cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compounding. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cases are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Attacked to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and correcting disorder wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, as but little is required to correct or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one pill in most cases is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continued till cured, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such changes those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a powerful purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, each one of two Pills promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels healthy will often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

QUERY?

Should we employ the noble doctors to bring us our tea and coffee in bottles, at an expense of at least four times what they now cost?

If not, why should we longer adopt that system in reference to medicines which are the simple extracts of herbs or plants and roots, and areas readily prepared as tea and coffee?

Each package of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines contains more medical properties than can be procured in a dozen bottles of the four ounce bottle system of quackery.

We have on our possession numerous testimonials as to the practicability of, as well as the benefits derived from the use of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines, 12-3

Dr. Thomvson's Blood Purifier

Cures all diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, such as salt-rheum, scrofula, king's evil, white swellings, tumors, ulcers, fever sores, scald head, sore eyes, and all diseases of the skin. It regulates the stomach and bowels, it opens all the obstructions in the general vessels of the system, without reducing the strength of the patient. Sold at 50 cents per package.

DR. THOMPSON'S
Stomachic Bitters,

A certain and speedy cure for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and Indigestion. For costiveness it has no equal; it is a mild and safe purgative and corrective for delicate persons; a good alterative tonic for ordinary family purposes; a powerful recuperant after the fever has been reduced by sickness; an excellent as well as an agreeable and wholesome stimulant, for general debility, and disease having their origin in an imperfect digestion or a deranged state of the stomach. Sold at 50 cents per package.

Dr. Thompson's No. 6.
OR COMPOSITION POWDERS

It is used with success for diseases caused by colds, such as cold chills, chills and fever, headache, pains in the back or loins, nausea, vomiting, pains—in fact it may properly be called PAIN KILLER, as it may be used for all purposes for which Pain Killers or Liniments are used, such as cramps in the stomach, colic, diarrhœa, dysentery, summer complaints, chronic mortbus, tumor complaints or obstructions. It may also be used with great success in Rheumatism, Sore Throat, Sores of the Kidneys, &c.

The proprietor has been induced to adopt the present condensed style of putting up the medicine in packages, as he is thereby enabled to supply double the amount of medicine for one-half the regular price of similar preparations.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. In extreme cases of scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were wholly inflaming, have been radically cured in such numbers as almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or its power.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, like unseen and unfelt tenant of the house, it undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting alarm in the presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develops into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or ulcers formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part. The origin of these occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when only premonitory symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, in length, cure, by the use of the SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworms, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Pain, Epilepsy, St. Vitus' Dance, and the various Uterine affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required in subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute directions for each disease are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by the usual acrimony or caseous matter in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tumors, Jaundice and Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising from bilious derangement, or obstruction of the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorative of the vital powers. Such of the aged as are Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and, gradually, renewed health in its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Whooping-Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has any one medicine so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has proved its power to subdue the severest affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector of the safety of those subjected to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of throat and lungs which, if neglected in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Impaired state of Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising from bilious derangement, or obstruction of the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorative of the vital powers. Ayer's Ague Cure,
For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it is entirely harmless on any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the sickly districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the most flattering and numerous certificates of its wonderful cures, which we receive of the radical cures effected in chronic cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed. Even inveterate cases of long standing, in persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be promptly relieved by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, in which it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures where other medicines had failed.

ROYAL ITALIAN BITTERS
OR TONICO REALE.

Dei Dottore F. P. Verri, Prof. of Chemistry in the of University Padua, Italy.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded at the original preparer at the National Exposition at Torino, Italy, by whose favor Mr. Gianelli obtained his agency—was also awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition of Canada, held at Montreal in September, 1865, in which all competed from Canada. This palatable, nutritious and agreeable Tonic ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America.

For more than 20 years in Italy, been a universal favorite among the elite of society, being generally served in the Drawing Room immediately before dinner, in preference to Wine.

☞ The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal and Quebec, and their unqualified approval on every account.

The Proprietor has no idea of parading or puffing it before the public, but merely asks a sound and unprejudiced trial.

Kept by the principal Wine Merchants, Druggists, and Grocers in Canada.

Gossip for the Ladies.

MARRIED WOMEN'S PROPERTY.

The opponents of the married women's property bill might strengthen their arguments against it by showing the results of a very similar law under the Roman empire. By the form of marriage, the usus, almost universally adopted, and which resembled that of our modern Scotch marriage, the wife had virtually absolute control over all her real and personal property; and though the husband had the benefit of the dowry, yet even that was under certain restrictions. The rich wife, consequently, ruled both her household and her husband. Marriages went out of favour, especially among the higher classes of Roman society. "You ask me," said Martial, "why I will not marry some one with plenty of money? It is because I have no wish to become the very humble servant of my own wife."

WOMAN'S VOICE.

"The voice of woman, gentlemen," said a romantic individual, in a late argument at the club room, "the voice of woman, no matter how much some of you may be inclined to sneer at the sentiment, exercises a soothing, an inspiring, a hallowing influence upon the ear of man, comforts him in a affliction, encourages him in dismay, and banishes from his mind all those troubles which, when she is absent, conspire to sink him into the depth of despondency." "Tom you rascal!" exclaimed his wife, at this instant bursting into the room, "come home, you loitering scamp, and leave these worthless fellows to themselves. Oh! when I get you at home, won't you catch it? Well, I guess you will!" Here Tom left the room abruptly with his enraged spouse, evidently satisfied of the inspiring influence of the "voice of woman."—New York Ledger.

ECONOMY.

Economy in woman is an essential domestic virtue. Some women have a foolish love of expensive baubles; a taste which a very little care, probably, in their early education might have prevented. We are told that when a collection of three hundred and fifty pounds was made for the celebrated Cuzzona, to save her from absolute want, she immediately laid out two hundred pounds of the money in the purchase of a shell-cap, which was then in fashion. Prudent mothers will avoid showing any admiration of pretty trinkets before their young daughters; and they will oppose the ideas of vanity and durability to the mere caprice of fashion, which creates a taste for beauty, as it were, by proclamation. "Such a thing is pretty, but it will soon wear out," a mother may say; and she should prove the truth of her assertions to her pupils.

FEMININE PUGILISM.

Not many years ago a lady, who has since achieved literary distinction, was walking in Regent street with a pretty friend a little younger than herself. A fellow, wearing the daintest of kid gloves, pursued the ladies with his impertinent attentions, which were becoming intolerable, when at last he performed a feat he would find some difficulty in achieving now—he looked right into the young lady's bonnet. The elder of the two, thereupon having taken the measure of the aggressor, struck out at him straight from the shoulder, and hitting him right between the eyes, sent him rolling on the pavement. The fellow picked up his hat and himself together, and disappeared by a side street, without waiting for a word of explanation. —Daily News.

ALL ABOUT BONNETS.

Fall bonnets are decidedly larger than those of last season. They are high, towering structures, in the Henri Quatre and Louise Quinze styles, and once more begin to resemble a bona fide bonnet. The frame fits the head like a cap, is short over the ears and worn very far forward. A standing revers of velvet or silk is turned up in front and at the back. The space between these is filled by a high Watteau puff, on which is heaped a mass of trimming which seems to be held in place by the upright revers. Narrow strings of ribbon tied under the chin hold the bonnet securely.

Another style of Quakerish simplicity, resembling an infant's bonnet in shape, has a close-fitting band in front and a deep flat back or crown falling into two or three curves below to fit over coiffure or chatelaine braids, with reference to which it was evidently designed. The front frames the face plainly without ornament; the back is adorned with trailing feathers and vines that hang among the low braids. The simple and elegant shape is admired in black velvet, and will probably become the favorite bonnet for the promenade.

The materials most used for bonnets are plain velvet rayale or uncut velvet and gros faille—a corded silk heavier than gros grain. Satin is little used for the bonnet proper, but is abundant in trimming, in the way of tiny pipings, facings, ribbon, loops and strings.

Two or three shades of velvets and feathers of one of the prominent colors are used on the same bonnet, or else different materials of the same tint give the varied shaded appearance that will be a feature in the winter's toilet. Uniformity of color is to be preserved, but several shades of the prevailing color will be combined to prevent monotony.

For instance, a Lucifer velvet bonnet has torsades of darker ruby and feathers of deepest maroon; an Havana brown is edged with satin pipings of dark leaf brown; and a sky blue royale has plumes of dark Mosique and lapis. When contrasts are used they are usually to relieve black by a gay color, or to display the warm rich shades of red that are so largely imported this season.

WOMAN'S LOVE.

It has often been said that women love better than men; but I think the more than doubtful. They love more in extremes, they are more absorbed by their passion while it lasts; but weight for weight a man's love is the strongest, though not the most overwhelming. Does this sound like a paradox? It is a simple fact in psychology. Excess does not necessarily prove the strength of any passion—for nothing is so tyrannical as a weak passion of a weak mind. Men will not give up everything for love as women will; and yet their love is larger in amount, if not in proportion. Women will give up reason and common sense for their love. They are more ready to make bad marriages than men are to abandon their career; the two things being the same in result. And yet women are as ambitious as men, if in a different way from that of them; and as fond of all the results of success. And yet again, the woman who will run off with a groom, or who elopes from her husband with another man—and surely in either case she gives proof enough of the reality and the extent of her love—will not give up a fashion she likes or a folly he dislikes, though she will abandon old friends, her home, her status, and, dearest thing of all, her repute, for the sake of the master-passion of the hour. In this, too, we see that propensity to excess characteristic of the sex; and at the same time that adherence to small things, that care for trifles, which runs side by side with the looser extremes.

THE WAIST OF THE PERIOD.

The London Lancet says:— "Our old friend tight-lacing has again made his appearance. Beaten back for a time, propably more by fashion than by the spread of knowledge, he has not been killed, but has only recoiled apparently for a better spring, for his victims are as numerous and pitiable as ever. The folly is one which was formerly to be found mainly in the drawing-room, but now it also fills our streets. It is lamentable to observe at every turn a woman, young or old, who moves forward in a stooping position, unable even to hold herself upright in consequence of the constraint upon the muscles of the back. If the evils of tight-lacing were confined to the distorted appearance which it never fails to produce, we might regret indeed to see the female form divine so defaced, but it would scarcely be in our province to comment upon it. But, as medical practitioners, we see its effects every day in the train of nervous and dyspeptic symptoms by which it is constantly indicated, and in the still more grave and infernal mischief of permanent character which is often caused by it. Until some little physiological knowledge is made a part of female education, and is considered an 'accomplishment,' we suppose it is of little use to protest against the great injury to health which women thus inflict upon themselves. The matter is one that is 'worse than crime—it is folly,' for beauty is destroyed by the process which is intended to increase it."

THE HIGH-HEELED BOOTS.

The Lancet, in an article on this subject remarks that "the custom of wearing high boot-heels and those, too, so much smaller than the actual heel of the wearer as to afford no solid support, but only a balancing point, is a source of much mischief, because it throws the centre of gravity of the body so far forward that a free and gracefully erect carriage is impossible, and there being no firm support to the heel, ladies are very apt to twist the ankle suddenly by overbalancing themselves; and then the effect of driving the foot constantly forward into the toe of the boot is to produce a very ugly and painful distortion of the great toe joint."

MISCELLANEOUS CHIT-CHAT.

The Oriental sleeve is much worn. It is open, and very broad at the bottom, and as all others, is a revers. The two angles are lined with white or colored silk.

The style of body most in vogue is the basquette—a kind of position—open with revers over a waistcoat, which is also open in front—quiet Amazonian.

Toilettes for quite young ladies should be exceedingly simple—the sure mark of refinement and good taste. Hats should not be over-trimmed; especially no lace nor luxurious jewellery. Expensive materials should be avoided. For fancy costumes, sultanes, poplins, and cashemire are suitable; as are muslin, organdi, or gaze de Chambery for lighter wear.

The choice of color is important. Black and white mixtures are very fashionable; pink trimmed with black, blue with pink—this mixture should be in the palest shade—plain blue with a trimming in a darker shades, are still worn. Colors for the autumn and winter will be brown, violet and black. During the warm weather striped jaconets and colored linens, trimmed with plaitings of white muslin, are pretty and graceful.

English embroidery and narrow Valenciennes lace are also used for the crossing fichus.

There is scarcely a question as to the make of children's dresses. Little girls' costumes fit at the waist. A square bertha, ruched with the same material as the dress, broad sash, with short ends ruched at the ends, complete the toilette.

Cardinal capes are also worn by quite young children; they just cover the waist.

We are coming back to the pointed bodies. The fashion was tried last year and without doubt will be adopted this winter.

Dr. Lankester held an inquest in London (Eng.) on Thursday, on a young woman aged 19, whose death had been accelerated by tight-lacing. She had gone out to visit some friends, and fell dead in the street.

We never doubted woman's ability to command the (medical) degree; and we may admit that in certain classes of cases were delicacy of manipulation and tender nursing required, she may make an efficient practitioner. We may apprehend however, that may a delicious tete a tete will be planned between male and female celebrities under the disguise of professional consultation.

In a clever article entitled, "Keeping a Son-in-law," the N. Y. Tribune reproves the "noble ambition of the girl of America to go to Paris and marry a Viscount," and says that "many a poor girl has mourned in life-long misery the silly pride in which she sold herself for a worthless title and a booth in the Vanity Fair of the second empire."

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, NOV. 2.

THE RENFREW NOMINATION.—The Pembroke Observer of Oct. 29th, states that the Hon. John H. Cameron, was to be present to address the electors on behalf of Sir Francis Hincks. We must be permitted to doubt this statement, and shall not believe it until the nomination is over, and the fact announced.

THE RAILROAD MEETING IN KINGSTON.—Messrs. A. F. Wood, John R. Ketcheson, Dr. Elmer, A. Smallfield, John H. Dunn, Stephen Reed, E. Mouncey, and Mr. Isaac Huyck acted as Secretary.

The chairman after explaining the object for which the meeting had been convened, called on A. F. Wood, Esq., to address the meeting. Mr. Wood spoke half an hour in explanations, respecting the different kinds of railways, and route one should take to open up the back Townships; after which speeches were made by other delegates from Madoc, and gentlemen of Hungerford.

The following resolutions were then moved, and carried almost unanimously:

Moved by John Graham, seconded by Robert McAuley,

"That it is the opinion of this meeting this Township will give the amount of not more than $100 towards a survey of a Railroad from Madoc to Kingston, provided the road is run near enough to the village of Tweed to be of a material benefit to the Municipality."—Carried.

Moved by John Newton, seconded by Christopher Carlton,

"That it is the opinion of this meeting, this Township will grant the sum of $10,000 towards a Railroad from Madoc to Kingston, provided a Station can be had at Tweed."—Carried.

Moved by Jno. Francis, seconded by Wm. Elliott,

"That it is the opinion of this meeting, that this Township should be represented at the Railroad meeting, to be held in Kingston to-morrow, to advocate the interests of this Municipality, and that Messrs. John Newton, Jas. Reid and J. C. Jamieson be appointed a delegation."—Carried.

After which a vote of thanks was passed to the delegates from Madoc, and to the chairman.

Railway Traffic.

Now that a railway to the Northern Townships is agitated, we constantly hear the question put, "Where is the traffic to come from?" Experience has taught us that Railways beget traffic, and that freights spring up as it were into existence. How many hundreds predicted that freight would never be carried over the Pacific Railway. It was too long. It would cost too much. It would never pay, etc., were the exclamations. What are the facts? It has been running but a short time, and is overrun with freight, while a canal ups that used to be run by a Company with a capital stock of $60,000,000, is worth now but $20,000,000, a depreciation of two thirds. We quote our figures from statements made by gentlemen interested before a Committee of the United States Congress. The following will show what the Railway is doing:—

"THE PACIFIC RAILROAD OVERRUN WITH FREIGHT.—The opening of the Pacific Railway has been a disappointment to all parties concerned—an agreeable one to those interested in the trans-continental line, and correspondingly disagreeable to the Directors of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company—The railway men expected a good share of the freighting business, but they did not expect such a liberal patronage by the merchants as they have received. Large quantities of dry goods and light merchandise are carried overland every day, and even in the heavier articles there are a few shipments. The business of the steamers has greatly declined; those who ought to know say that their monthly receipts are now only a third of what they were before the railway was completed. Recently the Directors of the Steamship Company had a conference with those of the Panama Railway, and proposed a reduction of rates to render competition practicable with the overland route.—On freight from New York to San Francisco the charges have been hitherto equally divided between the Steamship Company and the Panama Railway, the former receiving for a transit of 5,450 miles the same that the latter received for a transit of fifty miles.—Some arrangement has been effected, but the nature of it we have not been made public. It is not very satisfactory to the Steamship Company, though it will enable them to compete more nearly then before with the overland line. The directors of the Panama Railway are reported to have said in substance, "the receipts from the Pacific Mail Steamers were formerly a third of our whole business; now they are but a ninth. We cannot justly reduce our tariff on one-ninth of our business without reducing it on the other eight-ninths. It would be much better for us to lose your patronage altogether than to make the concession you ask."

Sir Francis Hincks and another Colonial Governorship.

The Globe has accused the new Finance Minister of boasting of having the Colonial Secretary's letters of promise of further employment in the Imperial service, and that he was ready at any moment to leave Canada whenever opportunity presented itself. Without knowing the facts, we had grave doubts of the truth of the charge; never for a moment believing that Sir Francis would give up such preferment for the uncertainty of political life in Canada. Our idea has been that he came to Canada because the Imperial Government having dispensed with his services in British Guiana, and held out no hope of promotion or continuance in place, and the letters just published in the Pembroke Observer from the Colonial Secretary, confirms the truth of that supposition. The letter relieving him of the Governorship of New Guinea, is as polite a dismissal as could well be penned. Why it has been published puzzles us. It is true, it conveys the thanks of the Imperial Government for his services, and a gentle intimation that those services have been rewarded by creating him a Knight Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, but not a word of what would be of more importance to the Knight, namely, future employment. The despatch is as follows:—

"DOWNING STREET, 1st July, 1869.

"SIR,—I have the honor to inform you that on the recommendation of my predecessor, Mr. Scott, late Lieutenant Governor of Natal, has been appointed by Her Majesty to succeed you in the government of British Guiana, and will take his departure for that Colony by the mail packet on the 2nd inst. The estimation in which your services were held by Her Majesty's late Government will have been conveyed to you by my predecessor's despatch, dated the 8th ultimo, announcing that on his recommendation Her Majesty was about to confer upon you the dignity of Knight Commander of the order of St. Michael and St. George. The records of this department afford abundant evidence of the zeal and indefatigable activity with which you have devoted yourself to advance the interests of the colony under your Government, and I do not doubt that the approval of those services by Her Majesty's Government will be in entire accordance with the feelings of the inhabitants of British Guiana.

"I have the honor to be, &c., your most obedient servant.

"Signed, GRANVILLE."

Very flattering, but no new Governorship in the future, hence his return to Canada.

Hungerford Railway Meeting.

A meeting of the electors of the Township of Hungerford, was held in the Town Hall, Tweed, on Monday, November 1st, for the purpose of testing the feelings of the Municipal electors, as to the proposed Railroad from Madoc to the front, and the propriety of voting an amount towards a survey to Kingston. The Town Hall was crowded with people from different parts of the Township. In addition to the residents of the Township, the following delegation from Madoc were present: Messrs. A. F. Wood, Warden; Dr. Elmer, John R. Ketcheson, John H. Dunn, Stephen Reed, E. Mouncey and A. Smallfield.

Jas. Reid, Esq., was called to the Chair, and Mr. Isaac Huyck acted as Secretary.

The chairman after explaining the object for which the meeting had been convened, called on A. F. Wood, Esq., to address the meeting. Mr. Wood spoke half an hour in explanations, respecting the different kinds of railways, and route one should take to open up the back Townships; after which speeches were made by other delegates from Madoc, and gentlemen of Hungerford.

The following resolutions were then moved, and carried almost unanimously:

Moved by John Graham, seconded by Robert McAuley,

"That it is the opinion of this meeting this Township will give the amount of not more than $100 towards a survey of a Railroad from Madoc to Kingston, provided the road is run near enough to the village of Tweed to be of a material benefit to the Municipality."—Carried.

Moved by John Newton, seconded by Christopher Carlton,

"That it is the opinion of this meeting, this Township will grant the sum of $10,000 towards a Railroad from Madoc to Kingston, provided a Station can be had at Tweed."—Carried.

Moved by Jno. Francis, seconded by Wm. Elliott,

"That it is the opinion of this meeting, that this Township should be represented at the Railroad meeting, to be held in Kingston to-morrow, to advocate the interests of this Municipality, and that Messrs. John Newton, Jas. Reid and J. C. Jamieson be appointed a delegation."—Carried.

After which a vote of thanks was passed to the delegates from Madoc, and to the chairman.

NEW DOMINION MONTHLY.—The November number of this Canadian monthly contains a number of highly interesting papers:—Among them, are "Indians of Caughnawaga," "Locomotion fifty years ago," "Winter travel fifty years ago," "The Colonists" and others; together with poetry and music. This Magazine is worthy the support of Canadians. John Dougall publisher, Montreal.

FUNERAL OF THE VERY REV. M. BRENNAN.—The Funeral procession of the late Rev. M. Brennan, took place to-day at 3 o'clock. The cortege passed through the principal streets of the Town followed by about 500 people, comprising every class and grade. As a mark of respect every shop in Town was closed while the procession passed. Few men have passed from amongst us more universally respected.

Presentation to S. G. Beatty.

The pupils attending Public School No. 2, West Belleville, hearing of the resignation of their Head Teacher, Mr. S. G. Beatty, and wishing to give expression of their esteem in which they held him, presented him on Friday afternoon with Addresses, accompanied by valuable gifts. During the afternoon a number of the scholars had taken part in readings and dialogues, some of which were exceedingly well rendered. When Miss Mary Templeton, on behalf of the Girls of the 1st Division and pupils of the 3rd and 4th Divisions, stepped forward and presented the following address, accompanied by a large and very handsome morroco bound Family Bible, also a very pretty Pen Wiper:—

"S. G. BEATTY, Esq., Dear Teacher,—As you are now leaving us we take this opportunity of expressing our regret at the loss of your valuable instruction, valuable not only for guiding us in the paths of knowledge and helping us to climb the ladder of learning, but also for ever leading us in the paths of truth and virtue. We may truly say that on this occasion we recognise not only the loss of a teacher, but also of a dear friend. As an expression of our heartfelt gratitude for your past kindness and unremitting labor for our welfare, we, the Girls of the first division and the pupils of the third and fourth divisions, would request you to accept this Bible and Pen-wiper. In conclusion we trust you may never have occasion to regret the step you are now taking, but may Heaven pour upon you its choicest, richest blessings, is the sincere wish of your affectionate pupils.

(Signed)

Girls of first division and pupils of third and fourth divisions.

Belleville, Oct. 29th, 1869.

Mr. Herrmann Bleecker, on behalf of the Boys of 1st Division and pupils of 2nd Division, presented Mr. Beatty with the poetical works of Longfellow, Scott, Byron, Woodsworth, Moore, Beattie and Goldsmith, six volumes, all beautifully bound in antigue morroco with Ivory sides, also the following address:—

"DEAR TEACHER AND FRIEND.—It was with much sorrow we learned of your intention to leave us. There are so many pleasant recollections clustering about the time that has passed since you first came among us as our teacher, and so constantly have you shown your kind interest in our welfare, we can scarcely allow ourselves to believe that this happy association is now to end. We cannot find words to express our thanks, or to tell you how much we know we are indebted to you for unremitting labor in our behalf, and patient endurance with all our faults.

We remember how often our hearts have blessed you for the wholesome instruction received, and for that courteous attention which won our confidence and taught us to respect the beautiful habits of obedience. Your tasks were rendered pleasant pastimes through your sympathy and encouragement, and our daily visits to the school room were cheerfully welcomed as friendly meetings.

We can never forget you.

Many changes may take place, and our paths through life widely diverge, but still we shall think of you as our teacher and friend, and shall rejoice to hear of your continued prosperity.—The good you have done us will, we trust, be shown in our future lives, and will be the means of rendering our existence not only profitable to ourselves, but a blessing to those with whom we associate.

We cannot express, as a slight expression of our attachment to you, and as a parting gift from your pupils, we wish you to accept these volumes of Poems, which we hope will serve as a memento to remind you of happy moments spent in the school, and, after long years have come and gone, to bring to your remembrance the friends who gave them.

Again we wish you life's richest blessings, and if we are no longer to have your council and assistance as our teacher, we trust to meet you often as a friend.

BOYS OF FIRST AND PUPILS OF SECOND DIVISION.

Mr. Beatty replied to the addresses as follows:—

RESPECTED PUPILS.—I thank you very sincerely for these beautiful and valuable presents, accompanied by such flattering addresses. I assure you it is a great gratification to me to receive such marked testimonies, in which you manifest the appreciation of your appreciation of my past services. I must express the warm acknowledgement to you for the respect which you have always manifested towards me during my intercourse with you as a teacher. If I have been able to meet success as is stated in your addresses, it was the greater part of it to your willing co-operation, for without exertion on your part the best of instruction would have availed you but little. There are some bright intellects in this school, and from what I know of them I think we may live to see as eminent minds and men raised here as any part of the country—men who will fill the positions in life with credit to themselves; for which purpose, scholars, you will no doubt be called upon in future. Our Representatives in Parliament, Barristers, Merchants, Teachers, and all men of the future, are now boys like you, many of them in the various schoolrooms throughout the country, and we doubt those who procure the best education are the ones. If they conduct themselves properly in other respects, who will pass through the world most honorably and most respectably; therefore endeavor while you have an opportunity to secure an education that will qualify you for any position you may be called to fill, as there is no school-boy aware of his future destiny. You possess superior advantages; your teachers are correspondingly disagreeable to the Directors which must be overcome by you. The advantages which you possess are far superior to those enjoyed by some of the foremost men of our nation—men who have made for themselves names that have become historical, and when you look back on the long list of the names of those men, you may well take courage and endeavor to follow in their footsteps. Should I live to be an old man, it will afford me a great deal of pleasure to hear of some of you of whom I have had the early training being among the foremost men of Canada. But you must remember that greatness is the reward of toil; you can never be great without effort. Let the acquisition of an education be your main object during your youthful days, and it will serve you for the struggle through life which is now opening before you. I regret that the time has arrived when the relation which we have held to each other for the last two years as teacher and pupils, is about to be broken; yet it affords me much pleasure to have such mementoes to carry with me. I shall preserve them and always look upon them as tokens of your esteem. The trustees who have furnished you with so commodious and comfortable a school-room will no doubt secure you a competent teacher. That you may continue increasing in knowledge and become as good men and women as you have been pupils is the earnest wish of him who is now about to be but your friend.

Mr. Beatty, who leaves the School to become connected with the Ontario Commercial College in this town, has been most efficient in his duties in the School as a thorough teacher, and his departure from the School is deeply regretted, not only by the scholars, but by all well-wishers of the School.

New Militia Orders.

The following new Militia Orders have been promulgated. How far they will be adhered to, it is difficult to say. Similar orders have been made before, and broken almost as soon as published. Perhaps the new Adjt.-General will be more circumspect and strict in seeing that his orders are acted upon:

The Militia General Order No. 2, of the 6th April, 1866, cancelling general orders of the 18th of May and 1st of August, 1861, with respect to brevet promotions, is cancelled, and the following regulations will govern all promotions to brevet rank in the active force:

First—Henceforth the rank of Major shall be granted only after five years actual service as captain of a corps, which is fully uniformed and efficient in every respect.

Second—Henceforth promotion to the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel in the militia will be granted only to officers who have served five years consecutively as Majors at the head of one or more corps, who are fully uniformed and efficient in every respect, thus requiring ten years to attain the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel from the time of first appointment as Captain. In either case this promotion will be granted only to officers who have duly qualified.

Third—Officers of the active force will not be permitted to retain their rank on retiring unless they have served five years therein, three years of said period consecutively as an officer. The two last years to be in the grade held at time of such retirement, subject, however, to the provisions of the 32nd clause of the Militia Act."

OUTRAGE AT THE LAVAL NORMAL SCHOOL —DISGRACEFUL SCENE ON BOARD THE HIMALAYA.

QUEBEC, Nov. 1.

Late on Saturday night, October 31st, a band of unknown persons assembled on Durham Terrace, Quebec, and proceeded to tear down and carry away the gates of the Governor's lewer garden, which has been monopolized by the authorities of the Laval Normal School, since the establishment of that institution in the old Chateau, to which the garden adjoins. They broke in unmolested, and after destroying the gymnasium of the pupils and hurling a few stones through the windows of the schools, departed without being recognized. There is little doubt that the source of the outrage is to be found in the dispute going on for some time past in the columns of the city press, as to the right of the Laval Normal School to take possession of the garden for the exclusive use of a few boys, supported at the expense of the Province. English speaking citizens pretended it never was the property of the Provincial but of the Imperial Government, from whom permission to close it up against the pubic was never obtained.

The officers of the 53rd Regt. closed their eventful career in Quebec on Saturday afternoon. A most disgraceful affair occurred previous to their departure. It appears that after the Regiment had embarked on the Himalaya, which was preparing to sail in the evening, Mr. J. B. Parkin, Q. C., the able legal defender of young Chaloner, had occasion to go on board to see the captain of the troopship in his professional capacity, for a client who had some unsatisfactory business transactions with the captain. His client and a notary accompanied him in their vessel, which was lying out in the stream. As Mr. Parkin stepped on deck, he was greeted with hisses, derisive epithets and offensive remarks from various knots of officers of the 53rd collected around; and on leaving, after accomplishing his business, the same course of insulting conduct was continued—the gallant sons of Mars standing over the sides and hissing in concert after the shore boat containing the distinguished barrister. Several hours later, two officers of the regiment who were on shore narrowly escaped a sound drubbing in the streets from citizens who had come to learn of the affair. What is most surprising about the matter is that Capt. Piers, of the Himalaya, with whom Mr. Parkin had business, was on deck at the time the insults given, and never made a single attempt to suppress or even to discountenance them.

TURBULENT MEETINGS IN IRELAND.

DUBLIN, Nov. 1.—A meeting was held at Limerick last night to discuss the fixity of the land tenure. During the evening the proceedings were violently interrupted by persons who shouted for "Amnesty to the Fenians," and making a rush for the platform took possession of it. They then proceeded to smash the furniture and ended by entirely destroying the platform. Attempts were made to restore order without success, and the meeting was broken up amid great excitement and confusion.

A public meeting at Cavan yesterday adopted resolves condemning any parliamentary bill for Ireland which may not provide for the fixity of the land question.

FURTHER NEWS OF DR. LIVINGSTONE.

A special cable despatch from Zanzibar to the New York Herald, by way of London, convey very interesting and pleasing intelligence from Dr. Livingstone, dated to the 8th of August, 1868; he was then in good health. He spent the year previous exploring the section of the country lying south of Tanganiajaka Lake, which he found to contain many small springs or inferior lakes' fountains, which he claims to be the true source of the River Nile. Dr. Livingstone states that he had heard that two different instalments of supplies had reached Ujiji from Zanzibar for his use, but they had been received at a time previous to his arrival there, so as to have them early and thus render them beneficial. He requested that supplies, nautical instruments, and Almanacs for 1869-70, be forwarded to him, thus indicating as was supposed, an intention to remain in the country some time longer. The despatches are written on small scraps of paper which Dr. Livingstone begged from the Arabs who conveyed the written documents to the coast for transmission to England.

RELATIONS WITH GREAT BRITAIN.

The 'Tribune's' Washington special says: "It is known that the British Government is highly satisfied with the recent award made by the joint committee for adjusting the claims of the Hudson's Bay and Puget Sound Company, although that award does not amount to one-tenth of the sum originally demanded. The fact that important claims between Great Britain and the United States have thus been adjusted by the commissioners without even calling in an umpire, is regarded as an indication that the Alabama claims could be satisfactorily adjudicated in the same manner; and Great Britain having recovered from the disappointment at the rejection of the Clarendon-Johnson treaty, may soon seek to renew negotiations."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.
THE REMEDY FOR CURING

Consumption, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppressions of the Chest or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

IT IS action is expectorant, alterative, sedative, diaphoretic, and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS and PURIFIES the BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action and imparts strength to the whole system. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction, even in the most confirmed cases of consumption, and not to produce costiveness (as do most remedies) or effect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no necessity for so many deaths by consumption, when Allen's Lung Balsam will prevent it, if only taken in time. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

Among the many restoratives which nature has supplied to relieve the ailments of humanity, there is no more favorite one for a certain class of diseases than the 'medicinal gum' of the Wild Cherry Tree; but however valuable it is, its power to heal, to soothe, to relieve and to cure, is enhanced ten-fold by scientific and judicious combination with other ingredients, in themselves of equal worth. This happy mingling exists in a remarkable degree in
DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.
Whose value in curing Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Pulmonary Affection, and Incipient Consumption, is inestimable.

STRONG TESTIMONY.

From BENJAMIN WHEELER, Esq., Depot Master at Royalston and Royalston, Mass.

"In the spring of 1858 I was most severely afflicted with a hard dry cough, with its usual accompaniments, night sweats, sore throat, completely prostrating my nervous system, and producing such a debilitated state of health that, after trying medical aid to no purpose, I had given up all hopes of ever recovering, as had also my friends. At this stage of matters I was prevailed upon through the influence of a neighbor to try Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, and, before using two bottles, the effect was almost magical. My cough loosened me, the night sweats deserted me, hope once more elated my depressed spirits, and soon I had attained my wonted strength and vigor. Thus has this Balsam, as has often been remarked by persons conversant with the above facts, literally snatched me from the yawning grave. You are at liberty to use this for the benefit of the afflicted."

ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY.

SECURITY

SHOULD BE THE FIRST CONSIDERATION in INSURANCE TRANSACTIONS.

THE Directors of the Royal Insurance Company have the pleasure of supplying the following information to the public, as evidence of the ample security they afford to their assurers:—

The Capital of the Company, available for the purpose of meeting any unusual calamity happening to the Assured, is

Two Millions Stirling.

The amount actually paid up is £288,495. This, with the Accumulated Funds in Hand, makes the invested resources of the Company upwards of One Million Six Hundred Thousand Pounds, which amount is invested as follows:—

INVESTED FUNDS OF THE ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY, 30th June, 1869.

Real Property owned by the Company,	£319,571	11 3
Mortgages on Freehold Property,	53,700	0 0
£30,000 Reduced 3 per Cent. Consols,	28,085	1 3
India Government 5 per Cent. Debentures,	100,000	0 0
English Railway Debenture Bonds,	59,090	17 7
First-class English Railway Preference and Guaranteed Stocks,	335,476	11 11
Loans to Local Authorities of various towns in Great Britian, who have obtained the sanction of the Secretary of State to borrow the amounts,	145,560	12 6
Bonds of the Mersey Docks and Harbour Board,	62,341	14 8
Bonds of the British and Irish Magnetic Telegraph Co.,	10,000	0 0
Bonds of the Liverpool Corporation,	5,160	0 0
United States Government Stocks,	101,320	7 10
Canada Bonds and Canada Dominion Stock,	31,106	11 6
Short Loans on First-class English Dividend-paying Stocks with margins, from 20 to 50 per Cent. on market values,	477,195	0 0
Loans on Security of Life Policies,	68,938	8 5
	£1,674,356	16 11

The above is a complete list of the Investments of the Company at the date specified, in addition to which the funds are still further increased, by amounts constantly varying, at different periods, in the hands of the Bankers and the Company's Agents.

At 31st December, 1868, there stood at ..... £ 163,089 2 0

For the satisfaction of the Public, the whole of the Securities belonging to the Company are annually submitted to the careful scrutiny of two Independent Auditors, and the following is an Extract from their Report to the last Annual Meeting of

"The whole of your Books have been Audited—every Document, every Account, every Voucher, your Bank book, and every Security—all have been most carefully kept, and there is not one doubtful Security in the whole."

THE ACCUMULATIONS OF THE LIFE DEPARTMENT.

After payment of Losses, Annuities, and Expenses of every description, have been as follows:

Funds in Hand at the last Quinquennial Valuation, 31st Dec., 1864,	£ 621,434	15 5
Added to 31st December, 1865,	103,146	7 3
" " " 1866,	124,165	7 5
" " " 1867,	128,583	5 10
" " " 1868,	144,945	12 2
Total Accumulation of the Life Department on 31st December, 1868, exclusive of Shareholders' Capital,	£1,122,275	8 1

The Directors also think it necessary to state that the Business of the ROYAL has never been amalgamated with that of any other Company, and that the Liability of its Shareholders is unlimited.

Late Autumn.

Steadfast and still in his place,
Autumn stands sadly alone, brown on the hand and the face;
The sickle across his arm is spotted with rusty red,
And the crown of poppies is torn that circled about his head.

Slowly he lifts his look;
All is a change around; a stain of clay in the brook;
The sombre fields are all reaped, and bare of the harvest sheaves;
In the orchards last apples drop with sudden fall through the leaves.

The gardens are listless with cold;
The clustering lichens creep out in crowds on the black mould;
The lingering flowers droop faint as their faded petals fall;
And the mortar crumbles away in patches from off the wall.

The days are silent and still.
Through the dull thick air comes slow the shepherd's call from the hill,
Gray cloud-skies lower and gloom over all the country and town,
Except for a streak of red where the evening sun goes down.

The nights are bitter and black;
With mists for the river-side and mire for the meadow track.
The screech-owl hoots through the wood, the squirrel dreams in his lair,
And the brambles and fern grow white to the touch of the frosty air.

Autumn nigh swooning stands;
He watches with cloudy eyes the saddened change on the lands,
Till at last, without farewell—none knows if by night or day,
He lets fall his basket and hook, and suddenly passes away.

Autumn is gone indeed!
Well, we must all go soon; leaf and flower and seed,
After the time to grow, the time to gather must be;
Happy all they whose eyes are open both times to see.

Quicken the pulses of life,
Languidly throbbing, O Lord, with its burden of sorrow and strife;
Help it to profit by change, as its seasons swiftly run,
And reap it full ripened at last, when the ripening time is done.

Thrilling Adventure.

AN EXPRESS CAR ON FIRE—NARROW ESCAPE OF THE MESSENGER.

On Saturday evening a thrilling adventure befel the messenger in charge of the car of the American Express Company, on the night express train from Erie to Buffalo Shortly after leaving the former place, he discovered, to his consternation, that the contents of the car were on fire. The car was packed full of the usual assortment of express freight, consisting principally of dry goods, and other merchandise, and the bell rope connected with the engine had been passed over the top of the car. Both ends of the car were crammed with packages, only a small vacant space being left in the center at the doors, occupied by the messenger.

The perilous nature of his condition cannot be fully realized. The train was whirling along through the darkness at the rate of thirty miles an hour, and the fire was rapidly spreading through the dry combustibles, fast filling the car with heat and smoke. He had no possible means of signaling the egnineer, and no means of egress to the other cars or of communication with their occupants. He might shout himself hoarse, and his voice would be drowned by the roar of the train. It seemed impossible for him to give any alarm until the fire should have made such progress as to be discovered by others, but in the meantime himself must be inevitably suffocated or compelled to take the alternative of leaping from the train. To open the doors of the car would be but to admit the air and give a new impetus to the flames. But the heat and smoke was already stifling, and something must be done immediately, or he must perish. Opening one of the doors, he wheeled one of the iron safes to the edge of the car and let it fall. It was struck by the steps of the baggage car, producing such a concussion as to alarm its occupants. Rightly conjecturing that something was wrong the engineer was signelled and the train soon came to a stop. The cause of the alarm was soon discovered, the messenger being found leaning as far as possible out of the car to escape the smoke. Every appliance at command was speedily brought into requisition, and the fire was extinguished. The safe was picked up, and the train resumed its journey, arriving at its destination without further accident. The amount of the loss is not known, but it is thought it will not be very large. The fire is supposed to have originated from a spark from the engine.

THE GREAT TOBACCO MARTS.—Louisville is reviewing the business of the past year, and finds that of the estimated crop grown in Kentucky, Tennessee, Indiana and Illinois amounting to 112,000 hogsheads, worth at least $4,100,000. She has thirty tobacco factories, employing a capital of $1,000,000, and the business increasing. Richmond, Va., during the last twelve months, has manufactured over 12,000,000 pounds of chewing tobacco and about 800,000 pounds of smoking tobacco, paying into tne internal revenue thereon nearly $4,000,000 as duty.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

QUERY?

Should we employ the noble doctors to bring us our tea and coffee in bottles, at an expense of at least four times what they now cost?

If not, why should we longer adopt that system in reference to medicines which are the simple extracts of herbs or plants and roots, and are as readily prepared as tea and coffee?

Each package of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines contains more medical properties than can be procured in any other form for four times the amount of money.

We have in our possession numerous testimonials as to the practicability of, as well as the benefits derived from the use of, Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines, viz:

Dr. Thompson's Blood Purifier

Cures all diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, such as salt-rheum, scrofula, king's evil, white swellings, tendency to boils, old sores, pimples or roughness of the skin. It regulates the stomach and bowels; it tones the liver, and promotes the general vigor of the system, without reducing the strength of the patient. Sold at 50 cents per package.

Stomachic Bitters.

A certain and speedy cure for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and Indigestion. For costiveness it has no equal; it is a mild and safe invigorant and corroberant for delicate persons; a good alterative tonic for ordinary family purposes; a powerful recuperant after the frame has been reduced by sickness; an excellent as well as an agreeable and wholesome stimulant, for general debility, and diseases having their origin in an imperfect digestion or a deranged state of the stomach. Sold at 25 cents per package.

Dr. Thompson's No. 6.

OR COMPOSITION POWDERS

It is used with success for diseases caused by colds, such as cold chills, chills and fever, headache, pains in the joints or limbs, neuralgia, rheumatic pains—in fact it may properly be called PAIN KILLER, as it may be used for all purposes for which Pain Killers or Reliefs are used, such as cramps in the stomach, colic, diarrhœa, dysentery, summer complaints, cholera morbus, female complaints or obstructions. It may also be used with great success as a Liniment. Sold at 20 cents per package.

The proprietor has been induced to adopt the present condensed style of putting up the medicine in packages, as he is thereby enabled to supply double the amount of medicine for one-half the regular price of similar preparations.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

ROYAL ITALIAN BITTERS OR TONICO REALE.

Del Dottore F. P. Verri, Prof. of Chemistry in the of University Padua, Italy.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original preparer at the National Exposition at Torino, Italy, by whose favor Mr. Gianelli obtained the Recipe, and was also awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition of Canada, held at Montreal in September, 1865, is without exception, the most Genuine, Salubrious and agreeable Tonic ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America.

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite among the elite of society, being generally served in the Drawing Room immediately before dinner, in preference to Vermouth.

☞ The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval on every account.

The Proprietor has no idea of parading or puffing it before the public, but merely asks a sound and unprejudiced trial.

Canadian Patriotic Song.

HALLOWEEN PRIZE SONG.

Dedicated to the Caledonian Society of Montreal.

Let other tongues, in other lands,
Loud vaunt their claims to glory,
And chant in triumph of the past,
Content to live in story.
Though boasting no baronial halls,
Nor ivy-crested tower,
What past can match thy glorious youth,
Fair Canada of ours!

We love those far off ocean isles,
Where Britain's Monarch reigns;
We'll ne'er forget the good old blood
That courses through our veins—
Proud Scotia's fame, old Erin's name,
And haughty Albion's powers,
Reflect their matchless lustre on
This Canada of ours!

Long let our country flourish then,
A goodly land and free,
Where Celt and Saxon, hand in hand,
Hold sway from sea to sea.
Strong arms should guard our cherished home
When darkest danger lowers;
And with our life blood we'll defend
This Canada of ours.

The Influence of Railways on Immigration.

At a public meeting recently held at Haliburton, in the County of Peterborough which was attended by Mr. Henneway, the Chairman, and Mr. Gurney, another of the Directors of the Canadian Land and Emigration Company, from London, England, —Mr. Gurney, after remarking that the soil of the townships he lived in in England, was no better than theirs, went on to say that the progress of settlement was slow for want of better success. "It seemed to him that no country could be properly settled if the Government or the authorities did not give their best attention to the improvement of circulation by good roads or railways, iron or wood, which the Municipalities should be bound to keep in proper repair, as was the case in England. I find a growing impression in Canada that Railways can be made of the maple wood of this country. * * * * Nothing will be so likely to retain the immigrants here as an easy access to the back country. At present the immigrant must spend the great bulk of his little means in travelling from the front to the back, and therefore he goes no to the States; but a cheap railway from the front to the back would soon alter this state of things, and I do not doubt that on finding a wooden railway practicable, the Government of Ontario will find it much to the interest of the Dominion to give substantial support to these undertakings. There is another point we or the Government should not lose sight of, that is, the mineral prospects of the country. I think those prospects extremely good. I live in Cornwall, in England, a county full of mines and I never saw any district there more favourable to the discovery of lead and copper than I have seen here. If we had a good road to these districts it would soon be explored by the miner's eye, and I do not doubt that a swarming population would soon follow any mineral discoveries. I hope to return to England not only with a favourable impression of this district but of the whole of Canada; it has immense resources, but it must be obvious to all, and the Government seem fully alive to it, that to secure the prosperity of Canada the means of more perfect circulation must be obtained.

The Pork Season of 1868-9.

From the Canadian Monetary Times, Toronto.

The season of 1869 has been remarkably cool throughout, and it seem that the autumn is to be no exception, for the weather of the past week has been uncommonly cold; liberal showers of snow give a certain prospect of an early winter. As a consequence, the pork season will open early. This is fortunate, since stocks of pork and pork products are very light both in this country and in the United States; and the only hope of a turn in the markets in favor of the consumer is an early supply of hogs. Unfortunately this is not to be anticipated. Those who ought to know insist that there is a great scarcity of full grown hogs, and that the supply of heavy weights will be of no account before the latter part of the season. The lateness of the harvest will tend to delay the marketing of hogs to a proportionate extent. It is a favorable circumstance that the crop of coarse grains of all kinds, except corn, is abundant; roots also have done well, and all these articles sell at a low price, so that farmers could not possibly make so profitable a disposal of them as to feed them out to their hogs.

There is the usual amount of speculation as to the future of prices. On the one side there is the lightness of stocks, the partial failure of the corn crop in the West, the tightness of money in the United States, and the falling off of nearly 400 000 head in the number of hogs in England, as compared with last year, and over 1,000 000 as compared with 1867. On the other side, there is the fact that breadstuffs are very low and pork is very high; that there is a great abundance of cheap food which will be fed out liberally, giving a supply of fat hogs late in the season; that prices rule far above the average, and that therefore the chances are all in favor of a decline. Many of the Cincinnatti packers have shown their confidence in the firm ruling of prices for November and December, by contracting for delivery during these months at $8.50 to $9 gross.

A feature in the American trade is an increasing demand for bacon from the Southern States. The negroes prefer bacon to pork altogether; in fact, barrelled pork seems to be pretty nearly ruled out of the Southern markets.

The average price of pork in Toronto for five years has been 1864, $5.01½; 1865, $7.92; 1866, $5.75; 1867, $5.36; 1868 $7.40; the season of 1869 opens at $8.50 to $10.

Romance in Real Life.

About ten years ago, a young man named Quackenbush, left his home in Warwick, Orange County, with a drove of cattle for New York city. He arrived at his destination, sold his cattle, and from that time up to last Saturday his relatives lost all trace of him. On Saturday a man of about eighty years arrived at Warwick, bringing intelligence of the missing young man. It seems that Quackenbush was robbed in New York city after selling his cattle, and in desperation at his loss he shipped for California. He went to the mines, and formed an association with two young men during life, and to share each other's fortunes in case of death. When the gold fever broke out in Australia, the trio went thither and labored together, with success. Last year, however, Mr. Quackenbush's associates died, and as their heir, under the agreement, he found himself possessed of about $75,000. He determined to return to his early home, and, gathering up his treasures sailed for Liverpool. There he was taken sick and died last spring. The aged messenger referred to was stopping at the same house with Mr. Quackenbush, and as he intended to come to this country as soon as he could arrange his affairs, to him was intrusted the duty of informing the relatives of Mr. Quackenbush, in Warwick.—He was received there at first with suspicion; but he produced satisfactory references, and the family have taken steps to recover the fortune which awaits them in England.

Mechanics of Spirit-Rapping.

The Pall Mall Gazette says:—"Those who have been in the habit of listening with awe and adoration to the solemn utterances of domestic furniture, will read with some suprise, a letter in the Standard from Mr. W. G. Faulkner, philosophical instrument maker, in which he states that for many years he has had a large sale for spirit-rapping magnets and batteries expressly made for concealment under the floor, in cupboards, under tables, and even for the interior of the centre support of large round tables and boxes. He has supplied also quantities of prepared wire to be placed under the carpets and oilcloth, or under the wainscot and gilt beading around ceilings and rooms. All these, he says, "are obviously used for spirit-rapping; and the connection to each rapper and battery was to be made by means of a small button, like those used for telegraphic bell-ringing purposes or by means of a brass headed or other nails under the carpet at particular patterns known to the spiritualist. These rappers, he adds, when carefully placed, are calculated to mislead the most wary. Then there are spirit-rapping magnets and batteries constructed expressly for the pocket; and these, he tells us, will rap at any part of the room. He has also made drums and bells which will beat and ring at command; but these two latter are not so frequently used as the magnets are, because they are too easily detected. We quite believe Mr. Faulkner, but we should like to know who gave him the order for all these wires, magnets and batteries."

WHY DAMP GRAIN WEIGHS LESS THAN DRY GRAIN.—This was one of the things that puzzled us when a boy. "This wheat is damp and will weigh heavy, we once said to our father." You ought to know better than that," he replied; "damp wheat never weighs as much as dry wheat." We could not understand how this could be the case and were satisfied no explanation. We fear this is rather a common fault with fathers. The truth of the matter is this. Take two acres of wheat, each of which will yield precisely the same amount. Let one be harvested and thrashed in perfect condition and the other in a wet state. The latter, if thrashed out clean, will weigh more than the former by exactly the amount of water it contains over and above the other. But the former will weigh more per bushel. The water absorbed swells the wheat and we get a bulk, but it is lighter in proportion to bulk than the dry wheat. This is all there is of it.—American Agriculturist.

Hard Times out West.

The Western papers continue to write very "blue" on money and trade ont there. The financial article of the Chicago Tribune of Monday, says :—"The aspect is not a very satisfactory one. Throughout the Northwest the general prosperity depends so largely upon the grain crop, that the lower tone prices make everybody feel poor, and have a depressing effect upon all branches of business." Again: "It is probable that this fall's business will be done for very small profits, and, in many instances, no profits at all; but, with solvent merchants and sound banks, that is the worst that can result from the present condition of things. * * * * * * * *

The demand from merchants for accommodation is larger, and some packers are preparing for a season of activity by arrangements for funds to be used a few weeks hence. Such applications are met by bankers with moderate freedom, because they have expected and prepared for just this kind of a demand, but there is a disposition to confine all accommodations to short time. Money can be borrowed by such applicants for thirty days at ten per cent., which could not be borrowed by even the same applicants for sixty or ninety at 12. Borrowers who are not in the regular 'bank facilities'—casual borrowers, who want a few hundreds or a few thousands for five or six months—find perhaps the most difficulty in supplying themselves; and these are paying from one and a half to two per cent. for money in the open market.

TREMENDOUS DECREASE IN THE IMPORTATION OF AMERICAN SALT.—During the present season, up to the present time, there has been received at this port but 3,250 barrels of American salt, as against 33,783 barrels received up to the same time last year, being a decrease of 19,483 barrels in five months out of the six which usually comprise the navigable season. This statistics exhibit—for the figures of which we are indebted to the courtesy of Mr. Smith, deputy harbor master, as also for numerous other items—tells incontrovertibly of the hold which Canadian Salt, manufactured at Goderich, has gained in this Province, notwithstanding the strenuous efforts of the salt monopolists in the States, who have endeavoured to extend their all grasping agencies into Canada. During the whole of last season there were received 30,364 barrels of American salt at this port, and as the imports in this article are now—at this season of the year—but mere bagatelle we may safely set down the decrease of imports this year as compared with the previous one, as 25,000 brls. On the other hand, the imports of Liverpool salt this year show a considerable increase over those of last year. Up to the present time this year 11,774 sacks have been received, being an increase of 1,261 sacks over the whole amount received last year. During the year 1867 there were received 22,570 sacks, and during the year 1866 there were received 6,890 sacks.—Toronto Telegraph.

Artemus Ward once lent money. He thus recounts the transaction :—"A gentleman friend of mine came up to me one day with tears in his eyes. Said, " why these weeps?" He said he had a mortgage on his farm, and he wanted to borrow £200. I lent him the money and he went away. Some time after he returned with more tears. He said he must leave me forever. I ventured to remind him of the £200 he borrowed. He was much cut up; I thought I would not be hard upon him—so I told him I would throw off £100. He brightened —shook my hand—and said, "Old friend, I won't allow you to outdo me in liberality —I'll throw off the other hundred!"

CONSUMPTION.—THE COUGH AND LUNG REMEDY, for every family to keep on hand ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM. It sells everywhere and gives satisfaction. Read the following extracts from letters :—Port Burwell, Ont., March 23rd, 1869. GENTS—I am pleased to notify you of the benefit which I have received from your ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM. Having been troubled with an occasional cough, at times very severe during years past, the BALSAM was recommended to me; I immediately procured it, and have used several bottles which I found to relieve my cough more readily than anything I ever tried. My wife has also used it with most satisfactory results.

Yours truly, CAPT. D. FOSTER.

MANY SUFFER rather than take nauseous medicines. All who suffer from coughs, colds, irritation of the bronchial tubes or or tendancy to consumption, will find in Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry a remedy as agreeable to the palate as effectual in removing disease. The Balsam is a pleasant remedy; it is a safe remedy; it is a powerful remedy; it is a speedy remedy; it is a remedy that cures.

Business Notices.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and equable over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came; the room was crowded with anxious expectants; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"The very agreeable character of this preparation has rendered it a general favourite. THE CIVIL SERVICE GAZETTE remarks. —"The singular success which Mr. Epps attained by his homœopathic preparation of cocoa has never been surpassed by any experimentalist. By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills." Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold by the Trade only in ½lb., ¼lb., and 1lb. tin lined packets, labelled—JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England. 91—6m'1&3

ENORMOUS SHIPMENT OF WHEAT AT SAN FRANCISCO TO ENGLAND.—Advices just received in Liverpool from San Francisco up to Sept. 24, state that no less than 29 ships cleared from that port between Aug. 20 and Sept. 23, with cargoes for Liverpool direct, and Cork and Queenston for orders. The quantity of wheat on board these vessels is something enormous footing up no less than 789,590 centales, the market value of which at the port of shipment amounting to no less than $1,410,695.

Railway Meeting in Kingston

A meeting of the rate payers of Kingston was held in that city on Tuesday 2nd November. to consider the question of a bonus in aid of a Railway to Madoc. In addition to the Kingston people there were present the following delegates from Townships interested :

From Madoc—A. F. Wood, Warden of Hastings; A. B. Ross, A. Smallfield, Stephen Reed, John H. Dunn John R. Ketcheson, Wm. H. Tumelty, Edward Mounsey, Dr. Elmer, Charles Gream, Wm. H. Carpenter.

From Hungerford—James Ried, James Jamieson, John Newton.

From Sheffield—John Murphy, R. T. MacDonald, S. C. MacDonald.

From Camden—James N. Lapum, M. P., Messrs. Lake, Paul, and Johnston.

From Newburgh—John D. Ham, Douglas Hooper.

From Portland—S. Shibley, Warden of Frontenac; George Lott.

From Loughborough—Messrs. Joyner, McRory, Wood and Ruttan.

From Township of Kingston—Mr. Day.

The Mayor occupied the Chair, and Mr. Joseph Bawden acted as Secretary.

The Kingston papers give us a very short report of what was said or done, further than the resolutions passed, which are as follows :

Moved by D. D. Calvin, M. P. P., seconded by Wm. Ford, and

"Resolved—That the citizens of Kingston desire to promote the efforts which have been made for the settlement of the interior by establishing a line of wooden railway from this city to connect with the Colonization Roads in Frontenac, Addington and North Hastings, believing that such a public work will advance the interests of the communities already settled in the country penetrated by these roads, and hasten the settlement of a large and valuable part of the Crown domain."

Moved by C. F. Gildersleeve, seconded by Dr. Sullivan, and

"Resolved—That this meeting pronounces its confidence in the growth of extensive agricultural and mining interest in the township to the north and west of Kingston; and that the citizens of Kingston believe it to be incumbent upon them to co-operate with the municipalities of these townships in extending the utmost reasonable aid to the railway now under consideration, with the view of promoting the growth of these interests, and developing in connection with them the trade of the city."

Moved by M. W. Strange, M. P. P., seconded by William Martin, and

"Resolved—That the citizens of Kingston believe that the policy of aiding the construction of railways by grants of land has materially promoted the prosperity of railway enterprises and the settlement of wild lands in the United States, and that the railway under consideration has a just claim upon the Government of this province for similar assistance; but whilst submitting this claim to the Government, the citizens of Kingston respectfully urge that such grant to be of any value, must be free from any conditions affecting the disposal of timber or minerals."

Moved by George A. Kirkpatrick, seconded by John Frazer, and

"Resolved—That the ratepayers of Kingston view with satisfaction the efforts made to establish a line of railway from this city to Madoc village, connecting with the great Colonization Roads in the central part of Ontario, and this meeting records its sense of the propriety of granting a bonus of $50 000 in aid of such railway; and that the City Council be requested to provide a proportionate share of the preliminary expenses incidental to obtaining a charter."

Moved by John Creighton, seconded by Samuel Muckleston, and

"Resolved—That the following gentlemen be a committee to take the necessary steps for facilitating the projection and incorporation of a company for the construction of a wooden railway from Kingston to Madoc, connecting with the Colonization Roads in Frontenac, Addington and North Hastings: Hiis Worship the Mayor, R. B. Benwell, John Carruthers, Wm. Ford, jr., Wm. Martin, Aldermen Gildersleeve, and Messrs. Livingston, Cunningham and Allen."

In the evening the Delegates were entertained at a dinner at the British American Hotel.

—The arrival of Hon. John Rose in England is announced, and the English papers express the hope that he will soon be a member of the Imperial parliament.

Meeting of Board of School Trustees.

The Board of Common School Trustees met on Tuesday evening Nov. 2nd.

PRESENT.—The Chairman, Messrs. Sawyer, Tennant, Robertson, Falkiner, Sisson and Coleman.

Applications were read from Mr. Wm. Tilly, N. Vermilyea, and J. F. Cullen, for the vacancy created in School No. 2, by the resignation of Mr. S. Beatty.

Mr. Wm. Anderson of Ameliasburgh, applied for leave to send his daughter to the Girls' School in Belleville.

On motion of Mr. Robertson, seconded by Mr. Tennant, N. Vermilyea was appointed Teacher in No. 2 School, at a salary of $500 per annum.

Some accounts were presented, and referred to the Finance Committee.

A letter from Mr. James Smith, dated 30th October, 1869, was read, notifying the Board that unless his case in the case of Smith vs. Board of Common School Trustees, were paid, he should apply to the Court for a writ to compel them to do so.

Moved by Mr. Sisson, seconded by Mr. Robertson,

That Messrs. Sawyer, Tennant and Falkiner, be authorised on behalf of this Board to negotiate a new fortnight, made by the Secretary and endorsed by them, for the purpose of paying the execution in the hands of the Sheriff, said note to be paid out of the proceeds of the Smith lot when sold."—Carried.

THE APPEAL.

A letter from Messrs. Ross, Bell & Holden, was handed in, together with a copy of the opinion of Mr. Blake on the question referred to him by the Board, as to the propriety of appealing the case of Smith vs. Board of School Trustees, of which the following is a copy :—

"TORONTO, Oct. 20th, 1869.

"DEAR SIRS,—Smith vs. School Trustees.

"In compliance with your favor I have considered this case, and the chances of an appeal, and I am of opinion that although the case is not clear, yet the better view in point of law is that Plaintiff is entitled to succeed, and that an appeal would fail. It is to be remembered that the sealed instrument was not before us in the earlier stage of the cause.

"Yours truly,

"(Signed), EDWARD BLAKE,

Some discussion arose upon this question, after which the Board adjourned.

GOVERNOR'S SPEECH.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY CHAMBER,
TORONTO, THURSDAY,
November 3rd, 4 p. m.

This day at 3 o'clock, p. m., His Excellency Hon. Wm. Howland, C. B., Lieut.-Governor of the Province of Ontario, proceeded in state to the Chamber of the Legislature Assembly, and being seated on the Throne was pleased to deliver the following speech :—

Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly.

I rejoice that I am enabled in again meeting you to congratulate you on the prosperous condition of the Province—through the divine goodness the blessings of a bountious harvest have been vouchsafed to the labors of the husbandman who will thus be encouraged to redouble his efforts in the incessant warfare which the plough is maintaining with the forest. At the same time activity is everywhere evident among our infant but rising manufactures. Trade and Commerce are extending.—There is a large and increasing demand for all fruits of labor, and although it might be presumed that the capital of the country would still be fully absorbed by the ordinary demands of agriculture, industry and commerce, it yet seems that a portion of it can now be devoted to public enterprises in in the domain of locomotion and transport, which generously encouraged as they are by the support of municipal corporations and individuals locally interested in their success; promise, if conducted with prudence, to be beneficial also to the entire Province. All their labour employing success, tend to diffuse the blessings of plenty over a wider and wider area, and must result in an increased enjoyment of the comforts and conveniences of life amongst the great body of the population.

I have the pleasure to inform you that the arbitrators selected under the provisions of the British North American Act of 1867, for the adjustment of the debts, assets, and liabilities of Upper Canada and Lower Canada respectively, have at length entered on their investigation, and have made such progress as to warrant the hope of an early decision of the various important questions in which they will have to deliberate prior to making their final award.

Since last year energetic measures have been taken for attracting to this Province a fair share of the tide which continues to quit the shores of Europe, and I am happy to inform you, that that they have had for their result, a large increase in the number of emigrants, who have selected Ontario as their permanent abode. In striving to bring about this result I have necessarily increased the outlays to an amount beyond the means which I had asked from you for that purpose. But in a matter towards the promotion of which I believe a very strong public opinion prevails. I thought I might venture to anticipate your approval of said expenditure though not authorised rather than that from overstrict observation of an excellent general rule, I should have let slip a favorable opportunity of bringing about what must always be regarded as a lasting benefit to the Province. To the best of my information these settlers are generally well satisfied with their reception and prospects. The reports of the country, and of the condition in which they found those, of their own class, who at a comparatively recent date had preceded them from across the ocean, which they transmit to their friends at home, will be an encouragement to others to follow in their foot steps, and I trust they may. By continuing, as I would recommend, increased liberality, you will enable me to extend more and more widely and especially among your fellow subjects of the British Empire a knowledge of the advantage here in store for the industrious emigrant, which where it exists cannot fail to induce countless numbers to unite their fortune with yours, and to contribute by their intelligence and industry to raise this important Province to a still higher rank than it has ever yet attained among the Colonial possessions of the Crown. It having been officially announced that the North West Territory lately under the administration of the Hudson Bay Company, is about to be annexed to the Dominion of Canada and looking to the certainty of this measure being carried out I venture to suggest the propriety of your providing far an early ascertainment of the boundary line between that country and this Province.

I have the satisfaction of announcing to you that the Provincial Revenue for the past year has been more than adequate to the demands on it. The public accounts with the estimates for the ensuing year will be laid before you, and on examining the latter I trust you will find that they have been proposed with a strict regard to economy, yet without neglecting anything really essential to the necessary and efficient requirements of the public service.

It is proper that I should announce to you, that the contracts entered into, for the erecting of Asylums, and for the construction of the Public Works, intended to connect the water of certain northern lakes and streams, and for which appropriations were made by you during last session, are in all cases within the original estimated cost. Amongst the measures which I have directed to be laid before you, there will be found bills for effecting certain improvements in the grammar and common school Acts. Judgments recently delivered in our courts of law, and equity, in respect to lands sold for arrears of taxes, and for which Sheriffs' deeds had issued, have created a strong impression, that there is scarcely a sale unless of a late date of that nature, made since the year 1830, that can be regarded as valid. Hundreds, if not thousands of innocent purchasers throughout the Province, for many years occupying lots and parcels of land, so sold, and on which, in very many instances large clearings and costly dwellings, besides out-buildings, have been made and erected, are justly and painfully alarmed at the prospect of having not only their farms but also the accumulations of years of toil and labour bestowed thereon, ruthlessly transfered to perhaps a remote representative of the original owner, who may have designedly omitted to pay the taxes, or to his assignee, and subsequently a greedy and unfeeling speculator. It is well known that the numerous instances of families being lately ejected from lots which the occupants ever regarded, though sold by the Sheriff as held in fee simple, had led others to yield to compulsory and extortionate exactions as the only mode of purchasing the forbearance of the speculator. Besides the individual hardships to which I have referred, there arises a serious retardment in the processes of clearing and improving the tax lands, many of them yet in a state of nature, and all owing to the unwillingness on the part of the present claimant to embark in an outlay for that purpose, whilst the dark cloud of uncertainty continues to hang over his title. This state of things in my opinion imperatively demands your earliest consideration. A bill having for its object the application of a remedy for a grievance so serious, and affecting as it does the interests of so useful a class of our community will be laid before you. I have caused careful surveys to be made of certain swamp lands well known to exist in the heart of some of the most thriving and most populous counties in the Province; the result of those surveys will shortly be laid before you; they show that there are large tracts of land lying in a state of nature, which from being either generally or partially overflown with water, and now utterly unproductive and useless to man, but which by a judicious system of drainage undertaken scientifically and on a large scale might be reclaimed to tillage thus greatly increasing the productive capabilities of the province and along with that the salubrity of the surrounding country.

A measure embracing features of a general nature will be laid before you for effecting with the aid of prudent advances, to a limited extent, from the public chest, the reclamation of these or similar tracts of land at the expense ultimately of the owners, but reimbursed in a manner which they would feel but little burthensome, whilst at the same time no loss of any sort would be sustained by the community. To these and such other measures as may be brought before you, I would request your careful attention, and I trust your deliberations will result in the adoption of whatever may be best calculated to promote the welfare of the Province, and all Her Majesty's loyal subjects dwelling therein.

THE 'TIMES' ON WHEAT IMPORTATIONS.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The Times to-day in its money article comments on the rapid increase of importations of wheat from the United States. The most interesting question, the writer says, is the extent to which it can be kept up in competition with Russia and Central Europe, where the railways in that section are fully developed. The great questions for the United States to consider in this connection are the reduction in freights and other charges, and the enlargement of communication with the Mississippi.

GREAT POPULAR ASSEMBLAGE.

A great crowd of people have assembled at Montmartre cemetery. The police are on hand in force, but their services are apparently not needed.

THE CABINET RECONSTRUCTED.

MADRID, Nov. 2.—The cabinet has been in part reconstructed. Martos has been appointed Foreign Secretary, and Figuerola Minister of Finance.

THE EMPRESS AND THE SUEZ CANAL.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—A despatch from Alexandria states that M. Paulino has surveyed the Suez canal and finds that the water is 20 feet deep in the shallowest part. The captain of the Imperial yacht Aigle has, therefore, informed the Empress Eugenie that he cannot make the passage through the canal, as his boat draws more water than that. The Empress insists that new soundings be made, and that if the Aigle be not able to go through a lighter vessel be procured, as she is determined to pass through the canal.

MORE EARTHQUAKES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—A special cable despatch states that the city of Frankfort, Wiesbaden and Mayence, with the surrounding country in each case, were visited by shocks of earthquake during the night of the 31st ult. and yesterday morning.

FRANKFORT-ON-THE-MAINE, Nov. 2.—Quite heavy shocks of earthquake were felt last evening throughout Germany and particularly at Darmstadt, Wiesbaden, Mayence and Frankfort.

THE LATEST.

ARCH-BISHOP CULLEN AND THE FENIANS.

DUBLIN, Nov. 2.—Arch-Bishop Cullen in a pastoral just issued, exhorts all members of societies similar to the Fenian organization to abandon them. He adverts to the evils sustained by Spain and Italy through the action of secret societies, and says the members of such organizations will incur the penalty of ex communication, and cannot participate in the jubilee which has just been published.

UNITED STATES AND RUSSIA.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 2.—Hon. A. G. Curtain, American Minister, in addressing the Czar expressed his pleasure at being able to repeat the sentiments of admiration and esteem contained by the Government of the United States towards the Czar, and of its hopes and desires for the continuation of these feelings and for the well being of the present Government of Russia, which has been made glorious by its wisdom, firmness and justice.

INSURGENTS TO SURRENDER.

VIENNA, Nov. 2.—Advices from Catalora announce that the capitulation of the insurgents is hourly expected.

A GENERAL DISARMAMENT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—By a special despatch from Paris, we have it intimated as a popular impression accepted in this city, that Napoleon will propose a plan of disarmament in his speech opening the session of the French Legislature, and that the idea is likely to become general. It is said that Lord Clarendon conveyed the assurance of England's approval of such a course to His Majesty, and that it will be agreeable to Russia. The tendency of Napoleon's policy in the movement is said to be objectively for the embarrassment of Prussia.

UNITED STATES ELECTIONS.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—The citizens ticket is elected in this city and county by a large majority.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The Republican gain is nearly twenty thousand in this State as compared with the vote for President. The Democrats, however, have carried the State and will control both branches of the Legislature. Mr. Greely runs largely ahead of his ticket in this city, but he thinks he is about 12,000 behind in the State.

The N. Y. Tribune this morning says the vote polled here by the repealers yesterday, cannot have fallen below 30,000, and we think it will largely exceed that amount.

An Illinois editor, named Steel, reports having received an offer from a printer named Doolittle to go into partnership.—He respectfully declined on account of the bad sound the firm name would have. 'Doolittle and Steel,' or vice versa. 'One of us would soon be in the poor house, and the other in the penitentiary.'

THE BOOK MARKET.—There are plenty of new novels in promise for the libraries, so readers need not dread a dearth of recreation for wet days. As a rule, the titles are catching as the influenza, and a sequel now so unusually succeeds to a success, that we feel suprised that the following have not yet been announced:—'Year and Narrow,' by the author of 'Far and wide.' 'String of Barley Sugar,' a sequel to the thrilling tale of 'Ropes of Sand.' 'Downey as a Decoy Duck,' a fascinating sequel to 'Simple as a Dove.' 'The Gentle she Jilted,' a romance of real life, written by the author of 'The Girl he Married.' 'Bolted Black beetles,' a sensation story by the author of 'Burnt Butterflies.' 'Fatal Fever-heat,' a tale of the most unreal life, by the author of 'Fatal Zero.' 'Handley in Good Humor,' a sequel to the story of 'Handley Cross.'

SPECIAL NOTICES.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.
THE REMEDY FOR CURING

Consumption, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppressions of the Chest or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS action is expectorant, alterative, sedative, diaphoretic and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS and PURIFIES the BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the energy to its proper action and imparts strength to the whole system. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction, even in the most confirmed cases of consumption, and not to produce costiveness (as do most remedies) or effect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no necessity for so many deaths by consumption, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

Among the many narcotives which nature has supplied to relieve the afflictions of humanity, there is no more favorite one for a certain class of diseases than the "medicinal gum" of the Wild Cherry Tree; but however valuable it is, its power to heal, to soothe, to relieve and to cure, is enhanced ten-fold by scientific and judicious combination with other ingredients, in themselves of equal worth. This happy mingling exists in a remarkable degree in

DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.

Whose value in curing Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Pulmonary Affection, and Incipient Consumption, is inestimable.

STRONG TESTIMONY.

From BENJAMIN WHEELER, Esq., Depot Master of South Royalston, Mass.

"In the spring of 1858 I was most severely afflicted with a hard dry cough, with its usual accompaniments of night sweats, completely prostrating my nervous system, and producing such a debilitated state of health that, after trying medical aid to no purpose, I had given up all hopes of ever recovering, as had also my friends. At this stage of matters I was prevailed upon through the influence of a neighbor to try Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, and, before using the bottle, the effect was almost magical. My cough entirely left me, the night sweats departed, my system more elated my depressed spirits, and soon I had attained my wonted strength and vigor. Thus has this Balsam, as has often been remarked by persons conversant with the above facts, literally snatched me from the yawning grave. You are at liberty to use this for the benefit of the afflicted."

A YEAR'S TRIAL.

Montreal Tea Company:
GENTS.—It is nearly a year since I purchased the first chest of Tea from your house. I have purchased many since, and I am pleased to inform you the Tea has in every case proved most satisfactory, as well as being exceedingly cheap. MONTREAL, 1868.

Montreal Tea Co:
GENTLEMEN.—The Tea I purchased of you in March has given great satisfaction, and the flavor of it is very fine. It is very strange, but since I have been drinking your Tea I have been quite free from headburn, which would always pain me after breakfast. I attribute this to the purity of your Tea, and shall continues customer.
Yours respectfully,
FRANCIS T. GREEN,
84 St. John Street,
Montreal.

Montreal, April 1868.—To the Montreal Tea Company, 6 Hospital street, Montreal: We notice with pleasure the large amount of Tea forwarded for you to different parts of the Dominion, and we are glad to find your business so rapidly increasing. We presume your Teas are giving general satisfaction, as out of the large amount forwarded we have only had occasion to return one box, which, we understand, was sent through a mistake.
G. CHENEY,
Manager Canadian Express Company.

Montreal Tea Company:
GENTLEMEN.—The box of English Breakfast and Young Hyson Tea which you sent me gives great satisfaction. You may expect my future orders. Yours, &c.,

"CANADA LIFE"
Have published a Report and net valuation of all its policy and annuity obligations, by an Actuary totally unconnected with it, the Hon. ELIJAH WRIGHT, of Boston, late Insurance Commissioner for the State of Massachusetts.

It is believed that such a voluntary submission of the Company's position to an eminent and entirely independent Actuary of the Hon. ELIJAH WRIGHT'S well known high character and professional skill, will add to that public satisfaction and confidence which the "Canada Life Company" enjoys.

Copies of Mr. WRIGHT'S Report may be had at the Head Office or at any of the Agencies throughout the Dominion.

Albany Lumber Market.

REVIEW FOR THE WEEK ENDING OCT. 27.

Lumber comes in slowly from the break, but sells fair to keep up a good stock and assortment in the yard. Products are so high but little will be shipped in November.

The sales are active the approach of cold weather contributing buyers to get in their lumber early. Prices are firm at the figures I name, according, and no advance on some kinds which are already high up.

The shipments are large, employing all the vessels and barges in port. Freights rule firm.

The receipts at Albany by the Erie and Champlain canals from the opening of navigation to October 26th, were:

—Evening Journal.

Shawn and the Blackbird.

'Twas this day seven years, for all the world, the year of the hard frost, Shawn Gow sets a crib in his haggart in the evenin' afore; and when he went out in the mornin' he had a ben blackbird. He put the goulogue on her neck, and tuk her in his hand; an' wud one smulluck av his finger he knocked the life out av her. He then walked in and threw the blackbird on the table.

'O, Shawn,' siz Nancy, 'you'er after catching a fine thrish.' Nancy tuk the bird in her hand an' began rubbin the feathers on her breast.' 'A fine thrish,' siz Nancy.

'Tain't a thrish, but a blackbird,' siz Shawn.

'Wishs, in troth, Shawn,' siz Nancy, 'its a thrish; do you want to take the sight of my eyes from me?'

'I tell you 'tis a blackbird,' siz he.

'Indade, then, it isn't but a thrish,' siz she.

Anyway, one word borrowed another, and the end av it was, Shawn filled at her an' gev her the father av a batin'.

The Christmas day after, Nancy opened the door an' looked out.

'God be wid ye this day twelve month,' siz she, 'do you remember the thrish you caught in the crib?'

'Twas a blackbird,' siz Shawn.

'Whist now, Shawn, 'twas a thrish,' siz Nancy.

'I tell you again 'twas a blackbird,' siz Shawn.

'Oich!' siz Nancy, beginning to laugh, 'that was the quare blackbird.'

Wud that, one word borrowed another, and Shawn stood up and gave her the father av a batin.'

The third Christmas day kim, and they were in the best o' good humor after the tay, and Shawn puttin' on his ridin' coat to go to mass.

'Well, Shawn,' siz Nancy, 'I'm thinkin av what an unhappy Christmas mornin' we had this day twelve month, all on account av that thrish you caught in the crib, bad cess to her.'

'Twas a blackbird,' siz Shawn.

'An I tell you 'twas a thrish,' siz Nancy.

Wud that Shawn tuk down a buannaun he had seasonin' in the chimney, and whaled at Nancy, and gev her the father av a batin.'

An' every Christmas morning from that day to this 'twas the same story, for sure as the sun dawned Nancy'd draw down the thrish.

An old bachelor picking up a book exclaimed upon seeing a wood-cut representing a man kneeling at the feet of a woman, 'Before I would knell to a woman, I would encircle my neck with a rope and stretch it.' And then turning to a young woman he inquired, 'Do you not think it would be the best I could do?' It would undoubtedly be the best for the woman,' was the sarcastic reply.

Gray hairs consist not in the multitude of years, but in the numbers and variety of useful observations that are made; nor is there any reason why wisdom should be particularly ascribed to the aged, except such persons, by having had the opportunity of many and various occurrences to ripen their judgments, have accordingly improved it; for it matters not much whether a man makes his observations in a longer or less time, provided he makes them well.

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic. Several years ago any before so universally employed our use in every community and among all classes, as this most efficient, purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and so know that what we claim for it does answer—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compounding. We have long employed those ingredients for each case, to correct the disorders or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one dose is usually required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continued, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such variations, they are sure to cure.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a brisk purgative.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect promptly.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. Those who feel generally well, often find that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

THE ONLY LADIES BOOK IN AMERICA.
GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK
For 1869.
THE CHEAPEST OF LADIES' MAGAZINES,
BECAUSE IT IS THE BEST.

THE friend of woman, the arbiter of fashion, the encouraged and liberal patroness of the literature of the day, the parent from whom all others copy.

THE BEST WRITERS

In the literary world will contribute to the pages of the Lady's Book during the year 1869.

MRS. ANN S. STEPHENS,
Authoress of "Fashion," "Hidden Path," "Mary Derwent," "Newsboy," and "Marion."

Will contribute a story every month. For larger efforts some corps of writers can also prove to be found.

The Lady's Book will be embellished with

BEAUTIFUL STEEL PLATES.

Of these the Lady's Book contains fourteen each year, superior to any work ever contemplated to be published in this country, either in book or periodical.

OUR FASHION PLATES

The original models for fashion plates will be continued. Mount Kisco is the only magazine in this country that gives the original designs in the Lady's Book.

DRAWING LESSONS—In this we are also alone.

CROCHAT, KNITTING—Each month is the only magazine in which music prepared expressly for it appears.

The Lady's Book has ORIGINAL, HORTICULTURAL, and a HEALTH Department.

GODEY'S INVALUABLE RECIPTS

upon every subject for the Kitchen, Nursery, Kitchen, House, and Laundry.

OUR PLAN—Is simple—This is a series of engravings but no one has attempted but ourselves. A very great gratification.

LADIES' FANCY WORK DEPARTMENT.—Some of the designs in this department are printed in colors in a style unequalled.

QUERY?

Should we employ the noble doctors to bring us our tea and coffee in bottles at an expense of at least four times what they now cost?

If not, why should we longer adopt that system in reference to medicines which are the simple extracts of herbs of great value, and which are readily prepared as tea and coffee?

Each package of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines contains more medicine prepared than could be procured in any single bottle of medicine in the country.

We have in our possession numerous testimonials as to the curability of, as well as the entire relief in, from the use of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines, viz:

Dr. Thomposon's Blood Purifier

Cures all diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, viz: as salt-rheum, scrofula, king's evil, white swellings, tumors, ulcers, old sores, pimples, erysipelas, sores of the skin. It regulates the stomach and bowels, causes the liver, and every other organ to perform the system, without reducing the vital energies of the patient. Sold at 50 cents per package.

Dr. THOMPSON'S Stomachic Bitters,

A certain and speedy cure for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and Indigestion. For convalescents it has no equal; it is a mild and safe purgative and corrective for costive persons; a good appetizer, and for ordinary family purposes, a powerful, competent adjunct to the treatise has attained a worldwide celebrity, as exhibited in the testimonials of the most eminent physicians, for general debility, and especially for relieving and curing the indigestion or a deranged state of the stomach. Sold at 50 cents per package.

Dr. Thompson's No. 6.

OR COMPOSITION POWDERS

It is used with success for diseases caused by colds such as cold chills, chills and fever, bronchitis, pains in the joints or limbs, neuralgia, rheumatism, fever, fever and ague, typhoid fever, scarlet fever, measles, &c. In fact it may properly be called PAIN KILLER, as it may be used for all purposes for which Pain Killer or Relief are used, such as cramps in the stomach, colic, diarrhœa, dysentery, summer complaints, &c., and in all those complaints or obstructions. It may also be used with great success as a Liniment. Sold at 25 cents per package.

The proprietor has been induced to adopt the present combination of putting up his medicines in packages, as he is thereby enabled to supply double the amount of medicine at the present low cash price of former proportions.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this extraordinary medicine has derived from its cures, many of which were truly marvellous. In restoring cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seems literally rotten with corruption, have been performed which could be cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painful and disfiguring, have been promptly cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country that we need not publish them to be informed of its virtues or ours.

Scrofulous humor is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the system undermines its constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, while it exhibits a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed luxuriation throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into foul or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be ultimately deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by ulcerations on the skin, or by foul eruptions on some part of the body. Hence the occasion of such a variety of names this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Nursers afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and in health, cure, by the use of this A. S. Erysipelas, Rose or St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofula and similar humors. As the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the mucous and nervous systems.

Syphilitic Diseases and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Uncontrolled Appetite, Ulcerous Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute directions for each case are found in our Almanac, to be had gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations or excretory matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and derangements of the stomach. It is they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Tormented with Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases that require the blood purified, cleansed and enriched, should not be deceived into using the vile mercurial preparations that are abroad, but rely upon this great remedy, which will thoroughly expel them from the system. Those who are Languishing and Suffering from any symptoms of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Colds, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has any remedy had the control it has upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent Cherry Pectoral now holds upon the affections of a series of years, and among most of the scenes of which it exercises higher and higher influence, and a more widely extended sway. Its uniform character and power to cure all the various affections of the pulmonary organs have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to rather favor than resist the cough, it counteracts at the same time the morbid secretions which make it dangerous, and thus disarms of their most dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a protection against sudden attacks of croup, it should be kept on hand in every family. Indeed as all sometimes suffer from colds, no one should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled deep in the lungs, and incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled there, have completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. No remedy is its match over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most distinguished men at the bar, in the pulpit, and on the rostrum, have found it their best friend. Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is commonly cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses, so generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The most sensitive may take it with perfect safety as directed, and the most delicate babe may receive it with impunity. Unexcelled for its power to cure, it counteracts, and thus expels the disease from the system. Not only does it cure the patient of the disease, but by purifying the blood, it protects the system against its return. Those who have been cured of Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Intermittent Fever, or any of the diseases which arise from the malarious poisons, may rest assured that this remedy will expel every trace of disease from the system, and that no return of it will be experienced. Travellers or residents in districts where they are subject to the disease, will find protection from it in a dose taken occasionally as a preventive. Those who live in districts where it prevails will find it the safest and best remedy that can be used for the cure of the disease, and the only one that can be relied on to expel it from the system.

Harvest Home.

BY HENRY ALFORD.

Come, we thankful people, come,
Raise the song of Harvest Home!
All is safely gathered in,
Ere the winter storms begin;
God, our Maker, doth provide
For our wants to be supplied;
Come to God's own temple, come,
Raise the song of Harvest Home!

We ourselves are God's own field,
Fruit unto His praise to yield;
Wheat and tares together sown,
Unto joy or sorrow grown;
First the blade, and then the ear,
Then the full corn shall appear;
Grant, O Harvest Lord, that we
Wholesome grain and pure may be!

For the Lord our God shall come,
And shall take his harvest home!
From his field shall purge away
All that doth offend, that day;
Give his angels charge at last
In the fire the tares to cast,
But the fruitful ear to store
In his garner evermore.

Then, thou Church triumphant come,
Raise the song of Harvest Home!
All are safely gathered in,
Free from sorrow, free from sin;
There forever purified,
In God's garner to abide;
Come, ten thousand angels, come,
Raise the glorious Harvest Home.

A Romance.

BRILLIANT CAREER OF A CANADIAN IN THE BRITISH NAVY.

There is no duty so pleasing, no pleasure so acceptable, as that which is afforded in chronicling the names of those who from time to time have distinguished themselves, and by fine talent, assiduous labor, and untiring energy, have repeatedly brought their native country into favorable notice, and have enabled it to stand shoulder and shoulder with modern nationalities. Many have won honors which will remain green as long as their country's history shall be studied. Canada has her statesmen and orators, her merchants and bankers. In arms, the late Col. Dunn, of Toronto, won a Victoria Cross by his valor in the charge of the Six Hundred at Balaclava. Many other Canadians have won an enviable fame in defence of their country. The following sketch is to record the exploits in a more humble capacity of one in the navy of Great Britain.

Edward Bouchard is a native of Quebec, having been born there on Christmas Day, 1823. His immediate vicinity to the salt water and the irresistable attractions of ocean commerce to him, also often employed about the shipping, determined him to make the sea his path of life. He accordingly when 15 years old shipped in the merchant service, where his quickness and steadiness won him the regard of the officers and men of his ship. After seven years' service, being at Tower Hill, in London, while in his 23rd year, he enlisted, in Nov., 1845, as an able seaman in the Navy. Four months afterwards he was sent on the Bittern, 16 guns, where in the short space of five months he was made a first-class petty officer. In this capacity he was shipped on the Castor a 36 gun frigate, commanded by Commodore Wyval. This vessel was ordered to the Cape at the breaking out of the Caffir war, in which he took part, having been sent on shore with 500 other blue jackets. They were ten months in the 'bush,' where by his bravery he distinguished himself, especially in his coolness while being attacked, and also in following the hidden bushmen through a valley, on which occasion the Kaffir Chief was taken and the war closed. He and his comrades when dismissed to their vessels by Colonel Grey, Governor General at the Cape, received that officer's thanks and he added that he would prefer 500 'blues' to 1,500 regulars. For this war he obtained a medal.

His next cruise was made in the Styx, 6 guns, Capt. Hall, which almost immediately was ordered to the Burmese contest, which broke out in 1853. For six months he was again on land, and engaged in the desultory warfare, carried on. In a short but bloody skirmish, he was severely wounded in the leg. He was removed on a stretcher, and for a number of weeks was in a precarious condition. However, he then rapidly recovered. He received his second medal then.

As every one knows when the Russian war began in '54 the whole fleet was in a greater or less degree engaged. Four vessels the Styx, Hastings, Cybele, and Grappler went Northward near Japan, in order to intercept any Russian vessels attempting to pass that way. After waiting a length of time, they unexpectedly came upon two huge Russian men of war, off the post of Petropaulski. In a sharp and sanguinary battle of two hours, the enemy, who was many times the weight and size of the English, struck his colors. The two vessels were taken, together with 800 prisoners of war. For this action, those engaged received a special medal, and he was particularly commended by his commanding officer for his coolness during the engagement. On the Styx he was made Chief Petty Officer, which is as high as a sailor may aspire without a commission.

In 1859 his vessel, the Styx, went to China and it was chiefly through his instrumentality that Canton fell, and the Chinese war closed. He and his fellow "blue jackets" under command of Captain Hall of the Styx were encamped some hundreds of yards in front of the huge city gates, the position of which and the adjoining wall was so strong, that no immediate hopes of its fall could be entertained. So sure were the Chinese of their strength, that they posted no sentries along the parapet, and consequently the pickets supplied by the "tars" patrolled to the very wall. Captain Hall's camp was continually in danger from a sortie, and even serious fears were held by that officer that in such a case he would be compelled to retire from his position. The morning of the day on which Canton was taken, Edward Bouchard went on duty at one o'clock, and while visiting his posts found everything "regular" until he came to the last picket, who was near the gate. During the usual conversation with this sentry, he thought he heard a noise inside the wall. He remarked it and they listened intently. Becoming satisfied that something of an unusual character was going on within, he procured a long scaling ladder, and with much difficulty climbed the wall near the gate. Cautiously looking over, to his great surprise he saw an immense number of Chinese, working by the aid of lanterns, and quite noiselessly getting guns into position. Counting these he numbered twenty. Descending he sent the very reluctant picket up, in order that if necessary he might have evidence to establish the correctness of his alarm. The picket having returned, they instantly reported the preparations the Chinese were hurriedly making for a sortie to Capt. Hall, who as instantly took speedy measures to defeat their plans. The alarm was given about half past 1 o'clock, and by 3 o'clock twenty-one guns and a large number of artillerymen were ordered up. The guns, heavily charged with canister and grape, were placed in a semi-circle position before the gate, with the "blues" and artillerymen drawn up as close as possible. Just at the break of day was glimmering along the sky the moment for the dreadful work arrived, for then the huge gate began to open slowly inwards. When nearly swung open at a given signal, there came from the dark outside a blinding flash, and the tremendous battery and some hundreds of rifles were simultaneously discharged upon the doomed and thunder struck Chinese. The effect of this cross fire was terrific in the extreme; guns and men were literally torn to fragments and blown all over the street, the emptied rifles were rapidly reloaded, the guns dragged in through the gate and turned on the horrified sortie party. Another awful volley, and a charge was made when awful slaughter ensued. The result of all this was that upwards of 1,200 Chinese were killed and Canton taken. The Chinese little thought, when preparing their battery for the destruction of the little camp before their gate, that they were giving an opportunity to their enemies to conquer and reduce their town, and bring their Emperor to sue for peace.

Admiral Sterling at once recommended the subject of this sketch for a Victoria Cross, which some six months afterwards arrived, and was added to the collection of three medals already on his breast. Capt. Wall expressed himself highly gratified to be the one who fastened it on.—The Admiral several times presented him with packages, which were found to contain considerable sums of money. At this time, as upon several occasions previously (once at the cape of Good Hope) Bouchard was offered a commission, which he declined, being under the belief that he would be compelled to remain in the navy as long he would in the slightest degree be capable to serve. It is to be regretted that he did not, for he certainly would have made proportionately as conspicious a mark.

He was again placed on the Castor, Commodore Trotter. The fifth vessel in which he saw service was the line of battle ship Renown, 101 guns Captain Forbes. His last ship was the Phaeton, 51 guns, Captain Tatem. From this man-of-war he was landed at Sheerness, where for sixteen months he had charge of ship and naval stores in the barracks of that port. His time before his discharge was too short to allow him to go to sea again.

In June, 1866, he was discharged, having a Victoria Cross, four medals, a pension of £26 stg., besides other emoluments, and, above all, a character without stain or reproach during a service of 21 years.

After bidding his old "salts" farewell he came home and resided four years with his friends at Cape Breton. But he had forgotten his native language, and acquired such love for the sea, that he found it impossible to remain on land, and consequently he has since been in the merchant service, and is now 2nd mate on the Sunbeam, a large vessel trading between London and Montreal. Mr. Bouchard says he has not had time to get married, but will do so this winter. He has his friends warmest wishes, and they hope he may conclude the life so honorably borne throughout, in happiness, and that the Ports in which he shall heave his last anchor, may be well adapted to him.

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, NOV. 4.

LAND SALE.—Our readers will remember the sale of Land for taxes at the Court House to-morrow, commencing at 10 o'clock a. m.

PASSED.—Mr. Curtis Bogart, of this Town, passed a very creditable examination before the Benches of the Law Society, Toronto, on the 3rd inst., and was admitted as a member of the Society.

THE RICHELIEU ELECTION.—The Richelieu election for the Local Parliament is to be contested on the ground that the returning officer, having forgot to bring his books and commission, the polling did not commence till half past ten.

MORE PEARS.—We have been shown another specimen of capital pears grown in Thurlow, one weighed 15 ounces. They are from the garden of Mr. Daniel Canniff. Another specimen from the garden of Mr. Cornelius Lawrence of Sidney, is equal to any of those before shown us.

SIR FRANCIS HINCKS.—The Daily News says: "Sir Francis Hincks, so far from forcing himself into his present office, asked and obtained permission to invite Mr. Galt to become Finance Minister, and in order to overcome any scruples on the part of that gentleman, Sir Francis volunteered to serve under him in the post now filled by Mr. Dunkin." Go on, gentlemen, you will soon prove Sir Francis a paragon of disinterestedness.

DOUBTFUL.—An Ottawa telegram to the Toronto Telegraph says:—"A local paper here contains an extraordinary statement, that Sir John A. had promised Mr. Deacon the Catholic support of Renfrew, to secure his election for local representative, if he would work for Hincks. Deacon declined to accept it, but the writer of a letter says Deacon had it in black and white from Sir John A." We must be permitted to doubt the truth of this statement. Whatever Sir John may have done, he is too old a bird to be caught putting such a proposition in writing.

A NEW INVENTION.—A new and valuable invention can now be seen at the Anglo American, Belleville. It is a Bag-holder and Barrow combined; invented by Mr. John Marritt, of Aurora, Ont. It is undoubtedly a useful and labour saving machine, and only requires to be seen to be appreciated. The low price at which it is being sold will enable parties to bring it into general use. Farmers, Millers, Storekeepers and others using bags can soon save the price of a machine, as it is calculated to save labour, and prevent the wear of bags. It saves one man in filling, and the labour of carrying. The right of manufacturing the above can be purchased of Messrs. Marritt & Ransom who are staying at the Anglo American for a few days.

Follow Your Master.

Whenever a large mastiff opens his mouth and barks, every little spaniel and whiffet within hearing takes up the echo, and repeats it as nearly as their weak and impotent voices will permit. So precisely is it with the Grit press of Canada. The Toronto dictator of the party sends forth the fiat in the form of a thunderbolt at its foes, and no sooner is the faintest sound of that magic voice heard, than the triggers of the pop guns are pulled, and the small fry echo the noise. Wonderful biological powers must this great mogul possess, or he could have no such influence over the humble and meek that follow in his train. Not long since this mogul took upon himself the task of denouncing the IN TELLIGENCER, not for what it had said or done, but for what that lover of truth thought proper to attribute to it. Well, that was quite sufficient for the small fry, and notwithstanding the fact that we had exposed the untruthfulness of the charge, the magpies keep repeating it. The Berlin Telegraph not to be outdone in its obsequiousness to its leader, follows up the attack with the following:—

"Even the Hamilton Spectator and Belleville Intelligencer, two of the leading tory "journals, have become as mild in their "tone on this matter as sucking doves; "their bold protests of a few weeks ago "which displayed so much courage and "independence have suddenly oozed out "at their finger ends, and they are now "gradually eating up all the hard things "they have said against Sir Francis, and "in such a servile manner as must lower "them in the estimation of their own "friends." This is the best evidence we can possibly have that the writer in the Telegraph never read the INTELLIGENCER. Had he done so, the above paragraph would not have been written. He is too honorable an opponent to do a positive wrong, or knowingly charge another with that of which he is not guilty. It is clear, therefore, it is but an echo of its political master, and being compelled by that biological influence to which we have already referred to give utterance to any sentiment the master mind may will, we freely forgive our Berlin friend for doing what he has not the strength of will to resist.

But what shall we say to our Belleville cotemporary, to whose utterances our attention has been drawn. In its issue of Oct. 20th, in an article upon Hincks, and the Conservative press, it says:—"Since the "Tory Whig of Kingston expressed itself "willing to withhold any further condem- "nation of the appointment, the Picton "Gazette, Belleville INTELLIGENCER, Lon- "don Free Press, Ottawa Citizen, and sev- "eral others of the same stamp of Tory "politicians have avowed themselves "willing to abide by the decision of "their chief."

In the first place will the Chronicle oblige by giving us extracts from the INTELLIGENCER to sustain its charge? In the second place will it inform us what would it have done? Has it not been a supporter of the Dominion Government since the coalition, and an opponent of the opposition? Are we now to understand that because Sir John A. McDonald has taken into the Government an old Reformer, in the person of Sir Francis Hincks, that it is now going into opposition? Was not the Chronicle a firm and steadfast supporter of Hincks when in power before? Did it not support him, and justify him in the course he took in handing over the Government to Sir Allan McNab and Morin, when he was defeated? Was it not all this time in opposition to the Globe and its party? Or have we been labouring under a delusion all this time? Does it now see new light, and intend following the great mogul of Toronto in future? When in possession of the actual position that our contemporary intends to take, we shall be better able to judge how consistent its course is in condemning others. One thing the Globe and its followers may take for granted,—a great transformation in their politics and tactics will have to take place before the INTELLIGENCER acknowledges them as leaders, whatever its opinions may be of Sir Francis Hincks, and the policy of Sir John A. Macdonald in taking him into the Cabinet.

The Kingston and Madoc Railway.

Yesterday we gave the resolutions passed at the meeting held in Kingston referring to the construction of a Railway from that city to Madoc. We now give the subsequent proceedings of the delegates who met in Ontario Hall, Kingston, on the 3rd inst. The Whig says:—

"The Delegates got to work yesterday morning, appointed a provisional board of Directors—small, compact and efficient—named their President and Vice President, appointed surveyors, and gave them instructions for immediate action; selected their solicitor, and charged him with the duty of procuring a parliamentary charter. The whole thing is now in business shape; and we shall have the railway in earnest if the people do their duty by this project.

The following directors were appointed:

Madoc—Alpheus Field Wood, Albert Smallfield.

Hungerford—James Jamieson.

Kingston—Wm. Robertson, Mayor; J. Carruthers, J. Breden, H. Cunningham, A. Livingston.

Elzevir—Hon. Billa Flint.

Camden—George Lake.

Newburg—Allen Caton.

Portland—Schuyler Shibley.

Sheffield—John Murphy.

Loughboro'—John McRory.

The Mayor of Kingston was appointed President, and Mr. Wood, of Madoc, Vice President.

Messrs. Forseri and Kennedy, of Madoc, and T. W. Nash, of Kingston, were appointed surveyors, with instructions embodied in the following resolution:

Moved by Mr. Wood, seconded by Mr. Livingston, and

Resolved.—That the surveyors appointed be instructed to act in co-operation together as to their lines of survey; that they take Tamworth as a point desirable to be reached from either terminus; and that they suggest the different practicable routes, stating which they consider the best, both as to ease of construction, shortness of route, and amount of probable business to be done.

"This was carried after an understanding had been come to that Tamworth was not to be regarded as a fixed point until the action of that municipality in pledging a suitable bonus had be come known.

"Mr. Bawden was appointed solicitor, and directed to take the necessary steps towards obtaining a charter."

Among the Kingston Directors we observe the name of Mr. J. Carruthers. Is it not true that this gentleman at the meeting of the Board of Trade held in Kingston, which the News described as having a "very full attendance," and at which there was "almost universal interest taken" opposed the scheme of building a road to Madoc, but advocated a road to the Townships in the rear of Kingston? Will the Kingston papers give us an answer, and explain why Mr. Carruthers' opinion was suppressed in toto?

The Mayor of Kingston will accept our thanks for the compliment paid us at the Kingston dinner, in saying a fair and impartial report of the Madoc meeting was given in the INTELLIGENCER. At first we were at a loss to understand why a reference to it had been made at all, but when we learned that the Kingston papers so cooked the report of the proceedings of the Board of Trade, it was no wonder that others were judged by the same standard.

—There is a standing offer of $10,000 to any inventor who will study out a substitute for ivory in the manufacture of billiard balls.

ONTARIO PARLIAMENT.

After the delivery of the Governor's speech the following business was transacted:

OATHS OF OFFICE.

Attorney-General Macdonald gave notice of his intention to introduce a bill to provide for the administering of oaths of office to persons appointed as justices of the peace.

The bill was introduced, read a first time, and ordered to be read a second time that day fortnight.

THE ADDRESS.

On motion of Attorney-General Macdonald it was agreed to take the Lieutenant-Governor's speech into consideration to-day.

ROUTINE.

Attorney-General Macdonald introduced the usual routine motions respecting the printing of the proceedings, appointment of committees on elections, railways, private bills, standing orders, public accounts and bribery.

NEW MEMBER.

Mr. Code was introduced by Attorney-General Macdonald and took his seat.

PETITIONS.

Mr. Cameron presented a petition from Mr. Frank Smith and others, of the city of Toronto, praying for a charter of incorporation of the Toronto, Simcoe & Muskoka Junction Railway.

NOTICES OF MOTION.

By Mr. Cameron—That he will on Friday next move for leave to introduce a bill to amend the law respecting Grammar Schools in the Province of Ontario.

By Mr. Cameron—That he will on Friday next move for leave to introduce a bill to amend the law respecting Common Schools in the Province of Ontario.

By Mr. Boyd—That he will move to introduce a bill entitled "Income Franchise Act, 1869."

By Mr. Greeley—That he will on Tuesday next enquire of the government whether by the new forms of securities lately made to registrars and other public officers in the province it was intended that all office-holders should be possessed of real estate.

By Mr. Boyd—That he will on Monday move to introduce a bill entitled "An Act to prohibit the sale or gift by intoxicating liquors in their minority."

By Mr. Boyd—That he will move on Monday for leave to introduce a bill entitled "An Act to exempt the homesteads of families from levy or sale on execution."

By Mr. Wallis—That he will on Friday enquire if it is the intention of the government to erect an asylum for the blind of Ontario or otherwise give aid.

By Mr. Blake—That on Friday he will move for an address for copies of all orders touching the office of provincial auditor, and the appointment thereto, and other salaries thereof, and of all instructions issued to the auditor.

Also, for an address for copies of all correspondence between the government of Canada and Ontario (not already brought down) touching any Acts of the Legislature of Ontario and specially touching the Act concerning the privileges of the Legislative Assembly, the Act to amend the County Courts Act, and the Act granting the supplies for 1869.

Also, for an address for copies of all correspondence between the governments of Canada and Ontario; and of all correspondence between the governments of Quebec and Ontario not already brought forward touching:—

1. The Public Debt.
2. Immigration.
3. The accounts between Canada and Ontario, and the adjustment thereof; and of all Orders in Council touching the subject of Immigration.

Also, for an address for copies of all orders in Council and Departmental orders touching the Crown lands, mines and forests.

Also, for an order for a statement of the expenditures made, and of the various expenditures contracted for, in respect of the land and works in connection with the London Lunatic Asylum and the Belleville Deaf and Dumb Asylum respectively.

Also, for a statement of any monies which have been paid under color of section 6 of the Act granting the supplies for 1869, with the date of any such payments.

Also, for an address of all correspondence between the office of the chief superintendent, not already brought down, touching the financial administration of the education office, and the expenditure or application of the grants made for education.

SESSIONAL PAPERS.

Mr. Bisko drew the attention of the Attorney General to the delay that had taken place in the distribution of the sessional papers.

The Hon. Attorney General replied that two volumes had already been issued and that the third would be ready to day.—There had been no unnecessary delay.

THE STATUTES.

Mr. McKellar drew the attention of the government to the fact that the statutes had not been distributed to the Clerks of the Peace in the country, and that many of them had received threatening letters for not carrying out the provisions. He thought that they should be forwarded.

Attorney General Macdonald replied that he was not aware of this; he believed that the statutes had been sent, but he would make enquiries, and refer to the matter again.

News Condensed.

—A canal is to be built between Rome and Ancona, connecting the Eternal City with the Adriatic.

—A Memphis jury acquitted a traveller who shot and killed a hackman for overcharging him.

—The Kingston Whig complains of a deficiency of silver for ordinary business requirements. Kingston is a fast place.

—It is thought in Cincinnati, Ohio, that the Board of Education will exclude the bible from the public schools of that city.

—A Memphis paper calculates that there are at least 10,000 infants in the South who have been named after Stonewall Jackson.

—In some recent seizures in Massachusetts, it has been found that all the so-called stomach bitters contain a good deal of gin.

—The Royal Mint in London has received an order to strike off 20,000 military medals, commemorating the Abyssinian expedition.

—Decrees annulling twenty-two marriages were pronounced at the Knox County Court, Maine, last week.

—Mrs. Eva Lancaster, of Navasota, Texas, edits the Navasota Register, runs a millinery shop, and rocks a newly occupied cradle.

—A pork butcher at Sheffield has been sent to prison for six months, for making sausages of horse flesh.

—Speculators are passing through Vermont, buying up potatoes for from twenty-five to forty cents a bushel.

—"Now, then, first boy in 'rithmetic—how many white beans air their in ten black ones?" "Ten, sir, if you skin 'em," was the reply.

—A breach of promise case has just been tried in Kingston, and resulted in a verdict of $1,000 to heal the wounded heart of the lady love.

—Rev. Mr. Kaesmann has resigned his connection with Lutheran Synod, and has been struck off the list of Lutheran Ministers of Canada.

—A little child in Harrison, N. J., was poisoned nearly to death on Wednesday, by eating the gaudy cover of an advertising pamphlet, the glaze of which was made chiefly of Paris green.

—In Africa, if any one comes before a king without a full dress costume, that is, a straw hat and a ring in his nose, his head goes into the waste basket before he can wink twice.

—They have a public library in Melborne, which is open to all on one condition, viz., every one who enters must have clean hands.—Soap, water and towels are provided in the anteroom.

—The Warden of the Penitentiary in Kingston, has had one of the Penitentiary guards before the Police Court, on a charge of carrying letters to prisoners, contrary to prison rules.

—A congregation at Chicago wants a new preacher, and says that besides being a good preacher, he must be a man of moral character. How long could he remain so in Chicago and live?

—At Montana, Iowa, a few days ago, Judge Chase stopped the court, and halted a lawyer in the middle of his argument, to marry a couple who swept up before him, and wouldn't wait until the court adjourned.

—A letter from the district around the Bay des Chaleurs states that the shock of earthquake felt here on the 22nd, was very heavily felt there, lasting about thirty seconds, and shaking the houses to their foundations.

—Mason, the whiskey informer, has been sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment in Toronto gaol, on the charge of perjury. His accomplice, Hall, has received six months' imprisonment for the same offence.

—The latest nutmeg cheat, which beats wooden ones, is to bore a hole in the original nut, and dig out the insides. Then it is filled up and sold. Of course, Connecticut perpetrates this joke, and makes money.

—The whiskey business came to a dead lock in Kansas City, the other day, because the internal revenue assessor ran out of stamps, and no barrel could be opened without one. A special messenger had to be sent to Leavenworth for a few stamps to prevent a riot.

—Not long ago the floor on which an assembly of coloured people of Richmond were dancing gave way, and the whole company was let down, not very gently, into the cellar. No one was hurt, but about a quart of ear-rings were picked up after the accident.

—An inmate of Sing Sing tried to shoot himself the other day, by holding one end of a piece of gas pipe, four inches long, to his head, and striking with a hammer a cartridge placed on the other end. The blow destroyed his aim, however, and the bullet was wasted.

—The 'Sheldine Times' says, "For one bale of goods that had come to St. Stephen from Montreal before confederation there are now ten, and there is much less clothing and fewer boots and shoes brought from St. John to this place than formerly." The same is true, adds the St. John 'Freeman,' of every town and village in New Brunswick.

—A servant girl and two boys were nearly suffocated by the escape of illuminating gas in their sleeping apartment at New Haven. The girl was found in her night-dress, glaring outward with eyes set, froth oozing from her mouth, and with blood bespattered about her face, where she had received wound in her violent contortions. They were all saved.

—A singular strike took place in the French city of Alais. All the kitchen girls in that place suddenly refused to work any more unless the following three points were granted to them: Increase of wage, less labor, and the privilege of receiving their 'cousins' in the kitchen. Only the last point was acceded to by their mistresses, and as the girls attached more importance to it than to the other two, they went back to their kitchens.

KIDNAPPING CHILDREN.—Child stealing is coming to be quite common in Great Britain. The London Times offers a reward of £500 for the recovery of a child seventeen months old, which was seized from directly under the eye of the nurse. The other day a poor man applied in great distress to a London Magistrate for the recovery of two of his children, who had been stolen, and a district in Ireland has been thrown into consternation by the disappearance of numerous juveniles. These children are doubtless stolen to be trained as beggars, or placed under the tutelage of "Fagins." The Pall Mall Gazette says this kidnapping is increasing to an alarming extent.

NEW BISHOP OF EXETER.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The Rev. Mr. Temple, recently appointed Bishop of Exeter, in reply to an address expresses the hope that as a Bishop he might know nothing of parties in the church, but co-operate with all.

INFLUENCE OF ROME.

The Times to-day in an article on the influence of Rome, says: "The Catholic Church must be withdrawn from undue Roman preponderance and the city of Rome from ecclesiastical domination. It is only by ceasing to be an Italian sovereign that the Pope can aspire to become a universal pontiff."

COUNT BISMARCK'S INFLUENCE.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—The Constitutional says that Count Bismarck has lost a great portion of his former influence in German politics.

American Despatches.

THE SOUTH AND ITS FUTURE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The Delegation appointed by the late Commercial Convention at Louisville, waited on the President to-day. The President in reply to the presentation speech, said: "The good fellowship which ought to unite a common brotherhood, and which was so happily inaugurated at Louisville, he hoped would extend and permeate throughout the entire Union, until every vestige of bitterness or unkindness should for ever be eradicated. He believed that within a year or two the South would be far richer, and far more prosperous than ever she was before; and people have it within their own power, by judicious policy and wise acts, to advance their own interests, and those of the country, with marvellous rapidity. As to his second term, he felt now very much as he did at West Point in his cadet ways, when he counted every month as 30 days—more to get out of his position; he had not sought his present position, as every body knew."

PRIZE FIGHTING IN CINCINNATI.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 3.—Mike McCools was arrested yesterday, and taken before the Police Court, and bound in the sum of five thousand dollars not to engage in a prize fight in Ohio.

RESUMPTION OF BUSINESS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Gaisay Hunter & Co., who suspended during the gold panic, have adjusted all accounts, and resumed business.

—The price of fuel is high in St. Catherines just now. Firewood brings from $4 to 5 50 per cord; hard coal, $9 per ton; soft coal, $7 per ton.

—A miser once said to a friend who complained of the annoyance of persons borrowing from him, 'Why not do as I do? I keep two purses, one of which I call 'Some One,' the other one, 'In the world.' I put all my money in my first purse, leaving the other empty, and when desired to lend, I declare that I have not a dollar in the world, and must myself have recourse to some one for means of subsistence. In this way I tell no untruth, preserve my money, and am never annoyed.'

We heard an anecdote of a school boy the other day, which illustrates the honesty of youth. The little fellow had a dirty face, and his teacher told him to go and wash it. He went out and stayed a few minutes, and then came back with the lower half tolerably clean, and the upper half wet and dirty. 'Johnny, why did you not wash your face?' asked the teacher. 'I did wash it,' said Johnny. 'Why did you not wipe it, then, all over?' 'I did wipe as high as my shirt-tail would reach,' was Johnny's conclusive reply.

POVERTY IS BAD.—But the worst kind of poverty is poverty of the blood; this makes a man 'poor indeed;' for it takes away his strength, courage, and energy; but enrich the blood with its vital element Iron, by taking the Peruvian Syrup, and you will feel, rich and as good as anybody. Try it.

MONEY MAKES THE MARE GO.—This is an old and true saying, and it is equally true that the "Canadian Pain Destroyer" will make all pains go from the body, and cures Bowel complaints, Tooth Ache, Head Ache, Sprains, Bruises, &c., sooner than anything else discovered. Price 25cts a Bottle.

LORD CECIL.—We wonder how any one can undertake to under rate and decry the the usefulness of this Reformer. The efforts of any individual for the amelioration of society or the relief of mental or corporal infirmities will be sooner or later appreciated. Look for instance at the unqualified and universal approbation of the Great Shoshonees Remedy and Pills, for the cure of diseases of the lungs, affections of the blood, &c. For Sale by all Druggists. 88-1m Mynheer Fauf Dietrich, of Milwaukee, feeling his earthly tabernacle stored with troubles, to be expelled, decided, after full enquiry and investigation, to employ Ayer's Pills. In his haste to purify his Dutch stomach, he mistook the directions, 2 to 7, and swallowed 27 for a dose. This created of course an appalling internal rebellion. But Paul went through the fight like a hero, and came off victor at last, with a renovated system which he proudly exhibits as proof of the wisdom of his choice. He advises everybody to take Ayer's Pills, but kindly reminds his friends who are ambitious of following his example to "be sure and take der right botion."—Minnesota Telegraph.

Business Notices.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and equable over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came; the room was crowded with anxious expectants; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Hoyal Italian Bitters.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—The very superior character of this preparation has rendered it a general favourite. THE CIVIL SERVICE GAZETTE remarks.—"The singular success which Mr. Epps obtained by his homœopathic preparation or cocoa has never been surpassed by any experimentalist. By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills." Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold by the Trade only in ½lb., ¼lb., and 1lb. tin lined packets, labelled—JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England. 91—Gm1&3

SPECIAL NOTICES.

BOILS.

Like the volcano, Boils give issue to the foul and fiery contents of the deep interior. To remove the cause of this suffering it is only necessary to vitalize the Blood by supplying it with its Life Element, Iron.

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP,

(a protected solution of the Protoxide of Iron) will do this effectively, and give strength, vigor and new life to the entire system.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM REV. RICHARD S. EDES, OF BOLTON, MASS.

"For years I was a sufferer from Boils, so that my life became wearisome through their frequent and persistent recurrence; finally a carbuncle formed in the small of my back. During its progress large pieces of decomposed flesh were every day or two cut away, and the prostration and general disturbance of the system were great. Before I had recovered from this attack two smaller carbuncles broke out higher up, and I was again threatened with a recurrence of the sufferings to which I had so long been subjected. It was at this time that I commenced taking the PERUVIAN SYRUP. I continued taking it until I had used five bottles; since then I have had nothing of the kind. For years I was one of the greatest sufferers. Other medicines gave no partial and temporary relief, but this remarkable remedy, with a kind of intuitive sense, went directly to the root of the evil, and did its work with a thoroughness worthy of its established character."

A 32 page Pamphlet sent free. The genuine has "PERUVIAN SYRUP" blown in the glass.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

THE REMEDY FOR CURING

Consumption, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppressions of the Chest or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

IT is action is expectorant, alterative, sedative, diaphoretic, and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and thus clears the lungs from all the phlegm; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS and PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action and imparts strength to the whole system. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction, even in the most confirmed cases of consumption, and not to produce costiveness (as do most remedies) or check the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is perfectly harmless to the most delicate child, although an active and powerful remedy for the strongest system. There is no necessity for so many deaths by consumption, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

"CANADA LIFE"

Have published a Report and not valuation of all its policy and annuity obligations, by an Actuary totally unconnected with it, the Hon. ELIZUR WRIGHT, of Boston, late Insurance Commissioner of the State of Massachusetts.

It is believed that such a voluntary submission of the Company's position to an eminent and entirely independent Actuary as the Hon. ELIZUR WRIGHT'S well known high character and professional skill, will add to that public satisfaction and confidence which the "Canada Life Company" enjoys.

Copies of Mr. WRIGHT'S Report may be had at the Head Office or any of the agencies throughout the Dominion.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous while injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient, gummative pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends. All know that when once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compounding. We have ample testimonials upon file, of the most wonderful cures of this class of complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them perfectly fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action,—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure,—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice, Dysentery, Constipation, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but little aid in their use is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, when arising from a disordered state of the system, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. In all cases arising from those complaints they will give relief.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists, to operate on the diseased matter. Many suffer from the effects of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their stimulating and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

QUERY?

Should we employ the noble doctors to bring us our tea and coffee in bottles, at an expense of at least four times what they now cost?

If not, why should we longer adopt that system in reference to medicines which are the simple extracts of herbs or plants and roots, and are as readily prepared as tea and coffee?

Each package of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines contains more medical properties than can be procured in any other form for four times the amount of money.

We have in our possession numerous testimonials as to the efficacy of, as well as benefits derived from the use of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines, viz.

Dr. Thomson's Blood Purifier

Cures all diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, such as salt-rheum, scrofula, king's evil, white swellings, tumors, tetter, tumors in the limb, old sores, pimples or roughness of the skin, erysipelas, blotches, boils, carbuncles, ringworm, ulcers in the throat, and in fact eradicates the general vigor of the system, without reducing the strength of the patient. Sold at 50 cents per package.

Dr. THOMPSON'S Stomachic Bitters.

A certain and speedy cure for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and Indigestion. For nervousness it has no equal; it is a mild and safe invigorant and corroborant for delicate persons; a good alterative tonic for ordinary family purposes; a powerful recuperant after the fevers has been reduced by sickness, as cathartics as well as agreeable and wholesome stimulant, for general debility, and indigestion. Sold at 50 cents per bottle, or concentration or a decoction state of the stomach. Sold at 25 cents per package.

Dr. Thompson's No. 6. OR COMPOSITION POWDERS

It is used with success for diseases caused by colds, such as cold chills, chills and fever, headache, pains in the eyes, in fluke, neuralgia, rheumatic pains—in fact it is a mild and safe invigorant and corroborant for delicate persons; a good alterative tonic for ordinary family purposes; a powerful recuperant after the fevers has been reduced by sickness, as cathartics as well as agreeable and wholesome stimulant, for general debility, and indigestion. Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of the Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country that the public can scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous taint is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of some fatal disease, without existing a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develops into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be developed in the lungs, liver, or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shoot its corrupting influence into the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when we are not conscious of disease's approach. Forewarned and forearmed with the antidote generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA. St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions of visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Tic, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Female Complaints which are scrofulous and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for exhibiting the obstinate malady by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the confirmed Mercurial disease. Ulcers, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, originating in accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising. It they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. ASH'S SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are languishing with Nervous Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or who suffer from any of the symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything been so widely and so deservedly used, as this excellent remedy for the cure of Coughs, Colds, and Pulmonary Complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the throat and lungs, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease, it counteracts the latent tendency of the system to the more dangerous ones, and thus protects the life from the fatal consequences of the throat and lungs. As a professional friend of the writer of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, as, indeed as all the above complaints, as well as coughs and colds should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although such extensive reputation is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the use of Cherry Pectoral. Scarcely a family is to be found over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most distressing of these affections, when nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they soon disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or to tell you in this section the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure.

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it is entirely harmless on any one. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond computation. Many of these cases have been of the most inveterate character, and attended with every variety of symptom. Our pride is gratified by the entire confidence manifested in its powers of the people of those afflicted districts, and whose other remedies have resulted in disappointment. Under the use of the AGUE CURE daily restored to health by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many really remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all around the world.

ROYAL ITALIAN BITTERS

OR TONICO REALE.

Del Dottore F. P. Verri, Prof. of Chemistry in the of Universtiy Padua, Italy.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original Importer at Vienna Exposition at Torino, Italy, by whose favor Mr. Gianelli obtained the Recipe, and was also awarded a Medal at the Provincial Exhibition of Canada, held at Montreal in 1868, is without exception, the most Genuine, Salubrious and agreeable. Tonic ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America.

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite among the elite of society, being generally served in the Drawing Room immediately before dinner, in preference to Vermouth.

☞ The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval as to entire purity.

The Proprietor has no idea of parading or puffing it before the public, but merely asks a sound and unprejudiced trial.

Kept by the principal Wine Merchants, Druggists, and Grocers in Canada.

The English Position in India.

Our position in India is dependent on the opinion of the people that we can maintain our hold of the country against all comers; and this opinion is practically expressed through the native army which grew up with the empire, and is not only a military but a political body, drawn from all classes of our subjects. Wielded by the English officers, this army—i. e., native troops commanded by English gentlemen—is an element of the Government, which is based on its fidelity and its devotedness, and which is strong or otherwise, just as the army evinces more or less of these qualities. Firmness, justice and moderation supported our conquests; but, much as we were assisted by these, we neither won India by them, nor will they alone serve us to maintain it. It was invincibility overcoming all opposition and quailing before nothing, which bound the native soldier to our cause; and any event which effects this, his fundamental view of our character, is most serious. It is not the actual invasion of India by Russia (which is very improbable) nor even the bounding on of Afghans and warlike tribes on our frontier, that I fear, but the effect of the revolution, and its consequences upon the people of India, and more especially on the native army.

The presence of a powerful nation which has conquered Balkh and Bokhara firmly seated in these countries, and in all its acts expressing a profound indifference to our wishes and movements, must astonish the people of India, and detract from our character of invincibility. The natives have not yet realized all we know of the power of Russia. It is gradually drawing on them, and their minds must go through a great transition as regards us before they can reconcile two such empires in juxtaposition. It requires able statesmanship to carry the army and people of India without great danger to ourselves through this period, and we must act every where with a view to the maintenance of that character which gives them confidence in us.

The presence of Russia in Central Asia may be made consistent with the maintenance of British authority in India, but certainly not by merely developing its resources. We must prove that we have the courage and wisdom to cope with all antagonistic influences, and especially from that quarter to which the people look for change. These are now permeating into the country and among the frontier tribes whence a portion of our army is drawn, and they are backed by a strong array of intelligible facts. Actual hostility is not our game, but we must act so as not only to thwart silent advances, but to reassure our frontier allies, and so prevent any actual hostility which inaction or insufficient action on our part will accelerate.

I do not undervalue diplomatic arrangements with Russia or Persia, nor pledges given by these Powers; but however much they may wish to keep them inviolate, circumstances may prevent this. Our own safety is in political and commercial activity, aided by such military operations as may be found necessary. We should consider the frontier tribes, even to the Afghans, as allies, and their countries as outposts to protect India from the moral invasion which is assailing it; and let us beware, less what should be the outposts of our empire become those of our opponents. It is this that we have to work for. We have it in our hands to secure them that we are their safest friends. To do this is a necessity. Dangers which hitherto have been dealt with in India have been met, and are gone; but the events now being enacted in Central Asia are lasting; their results more serious as time goes on; and these more damaging in proportion to our inaction. We may this year do with comparative ease what it may take ten times the labor to carry out the next, if even it were possible to do it at all.

Falling Leaves.

Fluttering adown! Oh, leaves now in your days of sorrow—now your silent deaths. Brown and golden, dressed by nature for your graves, the cold wind scatters you down, the chilly breeze hustle you along the pavement, the meadow and the hillside. Born when the spring birds were returning to sing you songs of welcome, and to ask you to cover and conceal the tiny nests and the brown eggs, living to make nature more pleasing to man through the long summer. You have performed your tasks, done your whole work, and now the west winds loosen your feeble grasps and hurl you down.

Hither and thither, now resting by the wayside, now floating high in the arms of the gale, you are going away, never to gladden our visions again. When flowers bloom again, when the blue-bird and the robin are trilling their notes of gladness to Him who watches over them, other leaves will bud and spring into life, other leaves will shine and glisten in the warm May shower, other leaves grow purple and golden as you have done, and ere then the dust will have claimed you.

O, falling leaves, little waifs of God's work—little signs that tell us of greater works by Him, we call to you good bye! Your deaths are like ours—your life not so short—your good deeds far greater. You fill your allotted sphere. We all fall short of ours. The cold wind which has swept you off and away is likewise singing requiems for strong men and little children. Every day, that solemn bell tolls to tell us that a slow, sad cortege is winding its way towards the cemetery. Every day, we are missing familiar faces that moved with us on the pathway of life—every day, the number of figures moving wearily about in black raiment is increased. Fluttering down, falling, dying, oh, leaves, you are only speaking to us, telling that all things that live must pass away.

A Cool Burglar.

The Protestant "Establishment of Deaconesses," in the Rue de Reuilly, in Paris, was entered recently by burglars during the night, and robbed of $300. The directress received next morning by post the following note:—

"Madame I am sorry to have caused any annoyance, but I really wanted some $30 or $ 200, and it occurred to me that I should find it in your house. If you had left your keys on your table I should not have broken open your secretaire. I only took $72 and left you $3. My idea is that I shall return the money, with interest, about Easter. And now let me advise you to beware of the timber yard behind your premises. Here is the line of country I took to break into your room; I crossed the garden, I got on the roof of the girls' school, and from that on that of the church I entered by the bath room window, and thus easily got at your cash box. I advise you to have a couple of watchdogs to insure in your yard. You really ought also to raise your walls, and have broken glass stuck on the top. Pray believe Madame la Directrice, that my heart will ever preserve a pleasant recollection of my visit to your cash box, and believe in my profound gratitude."

The Josh Billings Papers.

THE DISTRICT SKOOLMASTER.

There is one man in this basement world, that I always look upon with mixt pheelings ov pity and respect.

Pity and Respekt, as a general mixtur don't mix well.

You will find them both travelling around among folks, but not often growing on the same bush.

When they do hug each other, they mean suthing.

Pity without respekt, hain't got much more oats in it than dogrose tea.

I had rather a man would hit me me on the side ov the hed than tew pity me.

But there iz one man in this world to whom I allwus take down mi hat, and rem in incovered until he gets safely by, and that iz the district skoolmaster.

When I meet him I look upon him az a martyr just returned from the stake, or on hiz way there tew be cooked.

He leads a more lonesum and single life than an old batchelor, and a more anxious one than an old maid.

He iz remembered just about as long and affektionately az a side board iz by a travelling pack pedlar.

If he undertakes tew make hiz skollars luv him, the chances are he will neglekt their larning; and if he don't lick them now and then pretty often, they will soon lick him.

The distrikt skoolmaster hain't got a friend on the flit side ov earth. The boys snowball him during recess; the girls put water in his hair oil; and the skool committee make him work for half the money a bartender gits, and board him around the neighborhood, where they give him dry coffee, sweetened with molasses, tew drink, and koddish bawls 3 times a day for vittles.

And, with all this abuse, I never heard of a distrikt skoolmaster swearing enny thing louder than—"Condem it."

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, NOV. 5.

THE AMERICAN DEBT.—The present statement of the American debt shows a reduction of $7,631,883 within one month, and a total, since 1st March, 1869, of $32,332,070.

FIFTH OF NOVEMBER.—To-day being the 5th of November, the Orangemen in Belleville will celebrate the event by a dinner at the New Dominion Hotel, this evening. Dinner to be served at 8 o'clock.

REMOVAL.—The Goderich Signal says:—"W. Richardson, Esq., late Manager of the Bank of Montreal here, has been appointed, we understand, to a lucrative position in connection with the same bank in St. John, N. B."

A HORRIBLE STORY.—The Portland Argus tells the following story:—"The schooner "Ella S. Trefethen' arrived at this port on Friday afternoon, having on board Mr. M. R Josephs, who was stricken with the palsy about five weeks ago, while the vessel was at Bay des Chaleur, which paralyzed the whole of his left side and rendering him incapable of helping himself. In this painful condition he was allowed to lay until the vessel arrived here, the crew even refusing to render him the assistance needed, until the maggots had eaten into his flesh. The name of the Captain of this vessel is Wakefield."—A taste of lynch law would do such masters as Captain Wakefield good.

THE LONDON LUNATIC ASYLUM.—The London Free Press says: "In pursuance of a recommendation made by the Superintendents of the Lunatic Asylum, the government have acquired a farm of 100 acres in extent adjoining the land already secured for asylum purposes of Mr. Hale. It is intended to use this not only, for farm purposes, but on which to erect a series of colleges for the use of those who, though of unsound mind, are not absolutely insane. The cost of housing lunatics in a main building usually amounts to about $500 per head but under the plan spoken of will not cost a third of that sum. The system indicated has been followed elsewhere with the best result, and will be found, we doubt not, to work exceedingly well here. The Asylum site now includes three hundred, at an average cost of $68.

A RAILWAY BATTLE.—The London Free Press says:—A great contest has been going on in the county of Bruce for some months past between the rival interests of the Wellington & Bruce Railway—which is an extension of the Great Western—and the Narrow guage project set on foot by those interested in Toronto. The object to be gained was not only the good will of the inhabitants, but a bonus of $250 000 on the part of the county of Bruce. On Tuesday the day of the trial came off, when victory declared itself in favour of the Hamilton project, viz the Great Western. The country through which the railway will pass is new to modern locomotion, and the advantages which the truly "ambitious city" will reap will be undoubtedly very considerable. Toronto has slipped up for once in spite of its influences, the Globe, Leader, Telegraph, and all the rest. Tom White of the Spectator was too much for the whole lot, having not only his own exertions, but a good cause to rely upon.

School Trustee Legislation.

Every one who has read the proceedings of the last meeting of the Board of Common School Trustees, published by us on the 3rd inst., must have been highly amused at the model resolution, moved by Mr. Sisson, to "raise the wind," in order to pay the costs incurred by the plaintiff in the late causeless and vexatious decheance in Chancery, in the case of Smith vs. the Board. It is such a model production, and so unique in its character, that we reproduce it in its entirety, and with all its beauties. It reads as follows:—

"Moved by Mr. Sisson, seconded by Mr Robertson, That Messrs. Sawyer, Tennant and Falkiner, be authorized on behalf of this Board to negotiate a note forthwith, made by the Secretary and endorsed by them, for the purpose of paying the execution in the hands of the Sheriff, said note to be paid out of the proceeds of the Smith lot when sold."—Carried.

If the story of the fox and the chestnuts was never before illustrated, Mr. Sisson has given an example worthy of being noted by the ablest financier in the world. How generous of this model Trustee to ask the Secretary, who is but the servant of the Board, to give his personal note for some $300, to pay debts illegally incurred, and that, too, without the slightest guarantee of its being paid when it matures. But this is not all. Mr. Sisson gravely "authorizes" three of his fellow Trustees to "endorse" the note. Many people will be simple enough to ask why Messrs. Sisson and Robertson did not put their own names in the resolution as makers or "endorsers," instead of others? Not at all; the monkey thought it much better to try and use the cat's paws to pull the nuts out of the fire, and so with these gentlemen, it would be all right could they have used the unfortunate Secretary and three other Trustees to burn their fingers, so long as they escaped. Well, they may be simple enough to comply with the cunning behests of the author of the resolution, but we very much doubt it.

If this transaction was proper and correct, why was the Chairman not selected as the man to negotiate the loan, if such proceedings were necessary? That would not do. It was too well known that the Chairman knew too much to be caught by such chaff. If there were no doubts of the legality of the transaction, why did not Mr. Sisson put his own name in the Resolution as the maker of the note, and not endeavor to draw an innocent party into trouble? Mr. Sisson knows well there are grave doubts as to the right the Trustees have to appropriate the Town money for such a purpose; and he also knows that an action has been threatened to prevent any malappropriation of School Funds; hence the reason for attempting to slip out of the difficulty. Could the Secretary be induced to do what is no part of his duty, and raise money to pay the costs in the suit, and the court decide that the Town money could not be used for such purpose, the mover of the resolution would be the first to laugh at him, and leave him to pay the money the best way he could. The "note" however, "is to be paid out of the proceeds of the Smith lot when sold." Here is an indefinite period only, particularly as there is no such lot as the "Smith lot" to sell. Does this wise man of the Board still persist in his absurd theory, that the lot in dispute is not the property of the Board, but of Mr. Smith? If such is his position, then by what right does the Board offer for sale Mr. Smith's property? The whole thing would be a broad farce, if there were not so many hundreds of dollars sticking to the transaction. It matters not to Mr. Sisson that the Court of Chancery has decided against him, by declaring that the purchase of the lot by a former Board was legal and proper; this gentleman has repeated so often the stale balderdash that the lot was Smith's, that he still adheres to it with as much tenacity as the old woman did to the declaration that it was scissors that cut the rope; "Scissors, if I die for it," cried the old hag. "Smith lot," to the end of the chapter, no matter what's the consequences, so long as I can induce others to give their note to pay the expenses, cries Sisson.—Take it all together, it is one of the coolest pieces of presumption that has come under our observation for some time, and we shall wait with some degree of curiosity to see if the favored gentlemen, including the Secretary, are simple enough to comply with the terms of the Resolution.

There is another point worthy of note in connection with these proceedings. Mr. Blake while informing the Board that in case of an appeal the "Plaintiff would be entitled to succeed," says: "it is to be "remembered that the sealed instrument "was not before him in the earlier stage of "the cause." If not, why not? Had he not the Books of the Board before him with all the facts before an opinion was given? Did not these Books contain a copy of the assessment, and did it not state that the document was under seal. The original of course, was in the hands of the Town Clerk, or among the Town papers, which papers had come under the supervision of one of the lawyers in the cause in his capacity as Town Councillor. Why did he not see that it was obtained at "the earlier stage of the cause?" The fact is, it looks very much like an excuse for defeat. Go on, gentlemen, and we shall see the end comes, learn who will have to pay the piper. In the meantime, we would gratuitously advise those who are not now responsible, to be careful and not make themselves so by any subsequent act of theirs, and particularly not to sign any notes.

—Peterboro has a healthy Young Men's Christian Association.

The Railway Meeting.

At the public meeting held on the 2nd inst., in Kingston, a number of speeches were made. Among others who spoke Messrs. Wood, of Madoc, Reid, of Hungerford, and Smallfield of Madoc. Their remarks we give, being of interest to our readers in this County. We copy from the News' report:—

Mr. Wood, Warden of Hastings, said he did not appear there to make a speech, but to witness the feelings of the ratepayers of Kingston and the delegates of the Townships upon the subject of the railway.—With the exhibition of feeling which he had that evening seen, he was much pleased, and he was also much pleased with the objections to a wooden road which had been advanced; it showed the interest which had been felt upon the subject. The residents in the back townships fully felt the vital importance to them of a railway. The distance to which parties in those townships had to carry their produce to market was becoming unbearable, and many persons there, on that account, were selling their land and removing to a site nearer to a market, and in many instances these persons removed to the neighbouring States. Some of them had returned to visit their friends and had stated that the land upon which they had since settled, was no better than that which they had left, but the distance from market was an obstacle no inducement could prevail upon them to again encounter. They could not tolerate the difficulty of drawing grain twenty or thirty miles to market. And these persons who were leaving were of the best class too—hardy and industrious—who with true northern preseverance had surmounted innumerable difficulties of situation and climate. This condition of affairs would be remedied by the establishment of the proposed railway. He would tell them why he was not in favour of Belleville as a terminus to the railway, and why Belleville was indifferent upon the subject of any railway at all. He had no personal feeling against Belleville, nor did he envy its prosperity, but he was not willing to pay tribute to that property. He did not expect Kingston was going to give the townships a sum of money from motives of pure benevolence, but situated as it was at the head and foot of the lake navigation, with all the advantages of a port for exportation, he could not see the slightest reason for giving a preference to Belleville. We do not make this choice for your benefit, but for our own, although we know very well that it will benefit you too. At present when farmers from a distance take their grain to Belleville they are obliged to remain over night—a very good thing for that place, and a reason why they care little for the railway. In relation to the two kinds of railways, he was in favor of wood, simply because the expense of iron was so great that he feared such a railway would never be built. He believed wood could be artificially preserved so as to render it durable for very many years, as instance the plane of the mechanic, which, by being constantly oiled, would last several lifetimes. He had been told that coal oil was a preservative, but whether or not, he had no doubt that numerous preservatives could be found for that purpose. A wooden railway was now within their reach, and the speaker urged its immediate adoption. There would be no trouble to raise the necessary funds now, and therefore he protested against any needless delay. No contention or bickering—let the smaller interests give way to the larger—let the committee at once come to a decision, and then let the work go on. The speaker had the fullest faith in the men sent by Kingston to the convention at Madoc, and perfect faith in the feelings of the ratepayers upon the subject. As to the amount needed to build the road the speaker thought that if no jobbery was employed, a railway could be constructed for three hundred and fifty thousand dollars. After this road is established what will Kingston not do? will she stop at Madoc? Not at all. Other roads would be constructed, and the development of the back country would progress year after year through the means of cheap railways. He again expressed the pleasure he had in being there that evening, and in witnessing the expression of feeling shown, and in conclusion would say that he believed that the present agitation was but striking the key note of a system of cheap railways which if proved to be satisfactory, would achieve more for the prosperity of the country than any measure which has yet been brought forward by any public person.

Mr. J. REID, of Hungerford, would occupy but little of the time of the meeting. He had been astonished and gratified at the exhibition of feeling which he had witnessed. He was not prepared for it, but "seeing was believing" and the delegates could return and tell the inhabitants of Hungerford, who would have quite as much pleasure as those of Hastings. The people of Hungerford had said that they believed that Kingston was only playing a game of bluff and did not mean to vote a single dollar for the road. This idea would now be banished from their minds, and the certainty of a railroad would usurp its place. He felt it would be impossible to build an iron railway at present, they were too poor—they were in the position of some present who if when they bought their first real estate had been required to pay cash down for it would never have had any, but time had enabled them to develop their means and make their payments in course of time. Just so with the present scheme—the grading, &c., of a wooden road was the same as for that of iron and after the lapse of some years, and he had but little doubt but what the wooden one would last for that length of time, what was to prevent them, if they felt themselves able to lay down iron rails. (Applause.) The speaker alluded to the mineral wealth at Madoc, and the intention of Mr. Wallbridge to take advantage of its water power to build mills, and the advantages which would accrue to the back townships thereby. The reason why the people of Hungerford advocated Kingston as an outlet was that every man there liked to put his hand into his pocket and take out a cent and make two of it—they considered it was to their advantage. He was a resident of the village of Tweed, and it the road came there $100 000 would be easily raised, but not a cent if it went elsewhere. As an instance of the disadvantages under which they at present labored from want of transit to market, he would narrate that a person who had three cows and a cheese factory of four, hundred cows was obliged to pay twenty eight dollars to get his share to market. He could sell them that Hungerford was in earnest. He had no confidence at all in help from government, but said with a former speaker, let us give "a long pull, and a strong pull and a pull altogether," and help ourselves. (Cheers.)

A large number of persons, as the afternoon was by this time far advanced, had already left the hall, and others were gradually leaving.

Mr. SMALLFIELD editor of the Madoc Mercury, alluded to an impression which had got bruited abroad that wire pulling had been resorted to in this city upon the railway question, which he denied, and he explained that in the vicinity of Madoc, notwithstanding an unprecedentedly fine harvest trade was bad, and many persons were leaving the neighborhood. This had led him—if and others to seek out the cause and remedy, the result of which was the present proposed railway which he had advocated, and which had been taken up by the Kingston Daily News, to which the country, he considered, were under deep obligation, and to which the success of the undertaking would be mainly indebted. He briefly alluded to the undeveloped wealth of the country which would be brought out by the railway; and advocated the construction of a wooden road with the least possible delay. The remarks of the speaker were listened to with much attention, but the lateness of the hour obliged him to curtail them.

ONTARIO PARLIAMENT.

THURSDAY, Nov. 4.

After the reading of several petitions, Attorney General McDonald moved that a Select Committee be appointed to prepare, and report with all convenient speed, lists of members to compose the Select Standing Committee ordered by this House; said Committee to consist of Hon. Mr. Carling, and Messrs. Clarke, McKellar, Blake, McGill, Williams, (Hamilton), Beatty, Cockburn and Boulter.—Carried.

The Order of the Day was read for the consideration of His Excellency's speech at the opening of the session. Mr. Cumberland moved a series of resolutions on which to base an Address in reply to His Excellency's Speech. The resolutions were as usual, merely an echo of the speech. The hon. gentleman touched upon each topic contained in the Address and made an able and exhaustive speech.

Mr. Smith, of Leeds, seconded the resolution in a brief speech.

Mr. McKellar was the next speaker. He pitched into the Government for calling the Legislature together at this season of the year; advocated the abolition of the dual system; said there was very little to complain of in the address; complimented the Government on their efforts to promote emigration; reviewed the general policy of the Government; and before closing attacked the Ministry for removing the Deaf and Dumb Asylum from Hamilton to Belleville. He was followed by Mr. Williams, of Hamilton, who complained bitterly because that city was deprived of the Institution. Mr. Coyne made a speech in defence of the policy of the Government. Mr. Boyd followed in red-hot style, prating about corruption and immorality until he had nearly emptied the Benches.

Dr. Boulter, according to the Leader's report, in reply to certain charges made against the members for Hastings as to the location of an asylum in Belleville, said he did not consider that was any bribe to the members because it was located there. He would as soon consider it as a bribe if the hon. member for Prescott was taking up his habitation in it, for it might have been erected for his special accommodation. (Laughter.) The member for Prescott professed to be one of the wise men coming from the east, and he had supported the location of the asylum in Belleville. With regard to the indignation meeting in Madoc the hon. gentleman explained that there were a great many speculators in land in that neighborhood, while the government owned but little. The mining act did not please the people as far as that was concerned, but the people who owned mineral lands made a row because they believed until the last order-in-council was passed that the government would not allow them to sell their land. Now all dissatisfaction of that kind has been removed. He was under no obligation to support the government any more than any other member; he had been offered no bribe by them nor would he accept any; and so long as he was satisfied they were doing what was right he would give them his support. (Hear, hear.)

Several other members addressed the House, when the resolutions were adopted. A number of returns were brought down when Attorney General Macdonald, in moving the adjournment of the House, said the government would not put any obstruction in the way if it was the desire of members to break off until Monday. He understood several of them desired to go home to morrow and visit their families, and the House would not meet pro forma at all events, for no bills had yet been printed. By Monday everything would be ready and the government would be prepared to go to work.

Mr. McKellar thought the Attorney General's suggestion a good one, and seconded the motion of adjournment.

At 11.15 p. m. the House rose until Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

SANDERSON vs. BURDETT.

TO BE SOLD BY

PUBLIC AUCTION,

IN Pursuance of a decree and order for sale made by the Court of Chancery, of the Province of Ontario, bearing date respectively the Twenty-second day of June, A. D. 1869, and the Twenty ninth day of October, A.D. 1869, and with the approbation of William Warren Dean, Esq., the Master of this Honorable Court, at Belleville, on Saturday, the 4th day of December

A. D. 1869, at the hour of 12 o'clock, noon, at the Chambers of the said Master, in Belleville, in the several lots following, viz:—

LOT I.

The Interest of the Defendants Burdett and Cameron, in Lot 32, 4th Concession of Madoc, in the County of Hastings, being the Vendor's interest of the purchaser, Robert Sanderson, from the Crown. The said lot contains 118 acres more or less and was purchased from September 1st, 1859, at $1 00 per acre, of which $21 28 was paid down, the balance to be paid in 9 instalments. There is still due on said Lot $167 52, with interest from 23rd September, 1869.

LOT II.

The contingent interest of the Defendant Cameron, under the Bond in the pleadings mentioned in the North half of Lot No. 31 in 7th Concession of Madoc, in said County, being a right to $600, of Mining Stock upon a certain contingency, a copy of which Bond may be seen at any time before the sale at the office of the Plaintiff's Solicitor in Belleville, and will be produced at the sale.

TERMS OF SALE:

The purchaser shall at the time of sale pay down a deposit of $10 for every $100 of his purchase money to the Vendor or his Solicitor, and shall pay the remainder of his purchase money on the Fifth day of January next.

The other conditions of sale are the standing conditions of the Court of Chancery.

The conditions of sale and further particulars may be obtained at the Chambers of the said Master in Belleville, and at the office of A. R. Dougall, Esq., Plaintiff's Solicitor,

W. W. DEAN,

THE LATEST.

AN ALLEGED OUTRAGE.

DUBLIN, Nov. 4.—While a party of priests and others, were returning from a land meeting in Carran, they were attacked by persons lying in wait on the road side, and were brutally beaten; one has since died from his injuries. The assault is generally considered an Orange outrage, and a Coroner's Jury has brought a verdict of murder against seven Orangemen implicated in the affair.

MINISTERIAL BUDGET.

BERLIN, Nov. 4.—The Ministerial Budget has been laid before the Diet. It recommends the creation of a sinking fund, to absorb one per cent. annually of the public debt, with a view to its ultimate extinction. The budget also proposes the conversion of the present loans into four and half per cents. If the Chamber agrees to these measures, the proposal for an augmentation of the taxes will be withdrawn.

REBELS DEFEATED

TRIESTE, Nov. 4.—Advices from Callaro state that the troops after a battle which lasted four hours, defeated the rebels, and captured a strong position which had been occupied by them near Lisic. The population of two districts had surrendered to the Austrian authorities.

THE SPANISH TROUBLE.

MADRID, Nov. 4.—The Regent refuses to accept the resignation of Lopetz, but the Admiral remains firm in his determination to withdraw from the Ministry. It is probable that the whole Cabinet will resign, and that Gen. Prim will form a new one.

The Cortes has again adjourned. It is thought that the Government will endeavour to fill the vacant seat in the Cortes with the deputies favorable to the elevation of the Duke of Genoa to the throne.

EMPEROR OF AUSTRIA.

ATHENS, Nov. 4.—The Emperor of Austria has arrived here. He was received by the King of Greece with great ceremony and festivity.

LINCOLN RACES.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—The Lincoln races commenced to-day, with Lincoln autumn handicap of 100 sov. added to a sweepstakes of 10 sov., each 5 sov. for forfeit, with penalties and allowances; one and a half miles, 35 subscribers. Race won by Mr. Payne's "Adelaide," 4 years old. Betting was 2 to 1 against "Adelaide," and 11 to 8 on "Cardinal-York."

DEATH OF GEORGE PEABODY.

George Peabody died at half-past eleven o'clock on Thursday evening.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

BOILS.

Like the volcano, Boils give issue to the foul and fiery contents of the deep interior. To remove the cause of such suffering it is only necessary to vitalize the blood by supplying it with its life Element, IRON.

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP,

(a protected solution of the Protoxide of Iron) will do this effectively, and give strength, vigor and new life to the whole system.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM REV. RICHARD S. EDES, OF BOLTON, MASS.

"For years I was a sufferer from Boils, so that my life became wearisome through their frequent and persistent recurrence; usually a carbuncle formed in the small of my back. During its progress large pieces of decomposed flesh were every day or two cut away, and the prostration and general disturbance of the system were great. Before I had recovered from this attack two smaller carbuncles broke out higher up, and I was again threatened with a recurrence of the sufferings to which I had so long been subjected. It was at this time that I commenced taking the PERUVIAN SYRUP. I continued taking it until I had used two bottles; since then I have had nothing of the kind. For years I was one of the greatest sufferers. Other medicines gave me partial and temporary relief, but this remarkable remedy, with a full, thorough course, went directly to the root of the evil, and did its work with a thoroughness worthy of its established character."

A 32 page Pamphlet sent free. The genuine has "PERUVIAN SYRUP" blown in the glass.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

THE REMEDY FOR CURING

Consumption, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat Bronchitis Pains and Oppressions of the Chest or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

IT is active in expectorant, alterative, sedative, diaphoretic, and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. Its active expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm and all foreign matter. SECRETIONS and IMPURITIES in the BLOOD, leave the irritated parts, gives strength to the digestive organs; brings back the appetite, purifies and lengthens through to life with system. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction, even in the most confirmed cases of consumption, and not to produce co tiveness (as do most remedies) or bind the head, or in condition nor opium in any form. It is PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, and taken as directed will prevent it, if only taken in time. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

Have published a Report and net valuation of all its policy and annuity obligations, by an Actuary totally unconnected with it, the Hon. BLIAS WILMOT, Esq., Q.C., Insurance Commissioner for the State of Massachusetts.

It is believed that such a voluntary submission of the Company's position by an eminent and entirely independent Actuary of the Hon. ELIJUS WILMOT will know its high character and professional skill, will add to that public satisfaction and confidence which the "Canada Life Company" enjoys.

Copies of Mr. WILMOT'S Report may be had at the Head Office or at any of the Agencies throughout the Dominion.

Persons who may be interested in the Company whose condition is unsatisfactory, desiring to join the "Canada Life," will be dealt with upon such terms as are reasonable and fair.

How Good Farmers Save Money.

They take good papers and read them.

They keep accounts of their farm operations.

They do not leave their implements strewn over the farm, exposed to rain, snow or frost.

They repair their tools and buildings at the proper time, and do not suffer a subsequent three fold expenditure of time and money.

They use their money judiciously, and do not attend auction sales to purchase all kinds of trumpery because it is cheap.

They see that their fences are well repaired, and that their cattle are not found grazing in the meadows, or grain fields, or orchards.

They do not refuse to make experiments in a small way of many new things.

They plant fruit trees well, care for them and of course get good crops.

They practice economy by giving their sto k good shelter during the winter, also good food, taking out all that is unsound half rotten or mouldy.

They do not keep tribes of cats and snarling dogs around their premises, who eat up more in a month than they are worth in a lifetime.

Lastly, they read the advertisements know what is going on, and frequently save money by it.

"Us Boys."

Billy Ross, a temperance lecturer of Rushville, Illinois, was preaching to the young on his favorite theme. He said:

'Now, boys, when I ask you a question you mustn't be afraid to speak right out and answer me. When you look around and see all these fine houses, farms and cattle, do you ever think who owns them all now? Your fathers own them do they not?'

'Yes, sir! shouted a hundred voices.

'Well, where will your fathers be in twenty years from now?'

'Dead! shouted the boys.

'That's right. And who will own all this property then?'

'Us boys,' shouted urchins.

'Right. Now tell me did you ever, in going along the streets, notice the drunkards lounging around the saloon door, waiting for one to treat them?'

'Yes, sir, lots of them!'

'Well, who will be the drunkards then?'

'Us boys!'

Bill was thunderstruck for a moment; but recovering himself tried to tell the boys how to escape such a fate.

A young lady from boarding school having made some progress in acquiring Italian, addressed a few words to an organ grinder in her purest accent, but was astonished at receiving the following response, 'I no speak Inglis.'

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit that not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, by every one, and among all classes, as the well known and popular Cathartic Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any physician can, in his practice, prescribe for the public, however well he may understand their constitutions, or however skilfully he may adapt his prescriptions to their peculiarities. Nobody who has tried it, knows that it cures them; that's why they hold, for instance, of colds, coughs, sore throats, and all other that what it does once it does always—that whenever, although any kinds of neglected its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of the most remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither mineral nor any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can result from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action, to remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions given in the wrapper on the box, for the following diseases, which these Pills speedily cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Pain, Pain nation of the Kidneys, Pain in the Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change these complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageously taken where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

QUERY?

Should we occupy the same doctors to bring us our boys and girls as is usually the case? Or can some four hands save them now cost?

If so, we would no longer adopt that system in reference to medicines—when it is made exclusively of herbs or plants and roots, and never vainly prepared as we find ours.

Such a package of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines embraces all of the medicines that are necessary for any illness in our four times ten annum to answer, and we have never known a case of sickness in which it failed to be the practicability of it, with all the remedies used on the case of any thousands of dollars, accompanied, yea!

Dr. Thomson's Blood Purifier

Cures all diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, such as Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Scaldhead, Ringworm, Erysipelas, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, Carbuncles, Ulcers, Sore Eyes, Tetter, Tumors, Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint and Indigestion. In fact, there is not an organic disease that can withstand the purifying and renovating influence of this powerful vegetable compound. Ladies, especially, will find it invaluable in all cases of Female Irregularities, Obstructions, Incontinence, Whites, Ulceration of the Womb, Barrenness, Pain in the Back, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Blues, Hysterics, Female Weakness, Debility, and all diseases of the Urinary Organs. Nursing mothers will find it a most delightful tonic, and a few bottles will restore the most delicate female to perfect health. Sold at 50 cents per quart.

Dr. THOMPSON'S Stomachic Bitters.

A certain and speedy cure for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint and Indigestion. It is quite unlike it has no equal; it is a mild tonic, acting directly upon the stomach and liver, and producing a healthy appetite. Ladies who are troubled with sick headache, nervousness, debility, &c., will find this the best remedy they can use. Sold at 50 cents per quart.

Dr. THOMPSON'S No. 6. OR COMPOSITION POWDERS

It is used with success for diseases caused by contact with poisonous vines, such as Poison Dogwood, Poison Sumach, poisoning by mineral poisons, corrosive sublimate, poisoning by arsenic, poisoning by strychnine, or poisoning by any other means, and whether taken internally or externally. It allays all irritation, and counteracts all poisons. It is also used with success for Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Ulcers, Sore Eyes, Scaldhead, Ringworm, Erysipelas, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, Carbuncles, Tetter, Tumors, Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint and Indigestion. In fact, there is not an organic disease that can withstand the purifying and renovating influence of this powerful vegetable compound. Ladies, especially, will find it invaluable in all cases of Female Irregularities, Obstructions, Incontinence, Whites, Ulceration of the Womb, Barrenness, Pain in the Back, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Blues, Hysterics, Female Weakness, Debility, and all diseases of the Urinary Organs. Nursing mothers will find it a most delightful tonic, and a few bottles will restore the most delicate female to perfect health. Sold at 50 cents per quart.

The proprietor has been induced to adopt the present method by way of putting up the medicine in packages, so as to prevent the adulteration of any deleterious drug; medicine not meeting the regular price of medicine prescribed.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly remarkable. In reference to cases of Scrofula its discases, where its life system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous constitutional taint that were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers as almost every section of the country, that its public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues among them.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of the human family. Wherever located the tenant of the organism it undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of each and every disease, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again it reveals to the astonished sufferer the hidden foe, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develops into one or other of its ferocious forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, in become less by the deadly development in the lungs, heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcers rotting away the flesh of the body. Hence the accidental use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla to aid vitalizing agent when a scrofulous taint or disease appears. Persons afflicted with the following complaints cannot find immediate relief, and a permanent cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Tetter or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Neck, Sore Eyes, and other eruptions of a visible form of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Pimples, Blotches, Boils, Heart Disease, Tilis, Epilepsy, Jaundice, and the various Diseases arising from the blood taint and nervous system.

Syphilitic Sufferers and Mercurial Diseases can be relieved by it, though a long time is required for obtaining the desired effect. Patients who have taken too much mercury, or the poisons of which it is the compound, Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Obstructions, are effectually cured by the use of this Sarsaparilla. Even when the poisons of mercury have entered the blood, causing Mercurial Rheumatism, Dizziness, Ringing Noises in the Head, Deafness, Ulcerations of the Throat, Nose, and Limbs, Nodes, Blotches, Pimples, Tumors, Scrofulous Inflammations, Chronic Sores, Stiffness of the Joints, Contraction of the Muscles, Fits, Epilepsy, Paralysis, Neuralgia, Tic Doloureux, Scrofulous Affections of the Kidneys, Dropsy, Dropsy of the Heart, Tumors in the Liver, Female Weaknesses, Irregularities, and Suppressions, Sterility, Impotency, Nervous Irritability, Universal Debility, Sleeplessness, Cancerous Humors, &c., &c., and in short, scrofulous poison and weakness of every name and nature, this SARSAPARILLA will prove itself worthy of public confidence.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Colds, Coughs, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably more than one whole history of medicine, has anything been so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind as this extraordinary remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and in every clime, it has proved so much it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, for the cures it has performed, and the benefits it has conferred upon the afflicted. Its unparalleled character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector in all pulmonic complaints. While adapted to either forms of disease not to young children, it is at the same time the most powerful remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. A trial will convince any one of its superior virtues, and the certainty with which it subdues the most obstinate of them yield to it. When settled in the system, no one who has ever used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral according to directions.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish them here. Suffice it to say, that all may assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Bilious Fever, Periodical or Fever, and indeed all the affections which are from malarious country, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing no form of mineral, no Arsenic, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it is safe to administer to infants of any number and importance of its cures in the neighborhood of the worst Fever and Ague districts, is without a parallel in the history of Ague medicines. Our pride is to make it complete in every case, and reserve of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and others where reasons had wholly failed, even constitutional persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Fever Conductants, arising from derangement of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

ROYAL ITALIAN BITTERS
OR TONICO REALE.

Del Dottore F P Verri, Prof. of Chemistry in the of University Padova, Italy.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original preparer at the National Exposition at Florence, Italy—and for which Mr Gianelli obtained the Reglee, and was also awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition of Canada, held at Montreal in September, 1868 is without exception, the most agreeable, salubrious and agreeable Tonic ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America.

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite among the elite of society, being generally served in the Drawing Room immediately before dinner, in preference to Vermouth.

☞ The ingredients of its composition have been forwarded to the Chemical Laboratory of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval by every account.

The Proprietor has no idea of parading or puffing it before the public, but merely asks a sound and unprejudiced trial.

Kept by the principal Wine Merchants, Druggists, and Grocers in Canada.

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, SATURDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 6, 1869. No. 160.

Onward.

The storm arouse, the tempest wild
Swept o'er his path way, bleak and bare;
Thro' darkened clouds no sunbeams smiled,
Only the storm was raging there.
But on ward, onward still he moved
To reach the distant land he loved,
Forgetting toil, and gloom, and night,
In hope of reaching scenes more bright.

Upon a foreign strand, there came
A youth, unknown to wealth or fame;
But on his brow hope brightly beamed,
And visions of the future gleamed
With honor, fame and grandeur spread,
And laurels for the victor's head.
Onward, to reach the goal, he strove
O'er stormy paths unblest by love.

A British warrior, young and brave,
Trod o'er his comrade's gory grave,
To plant his country's banner high
O'er the ramparts of the foe, or die.
Around him clanging swords resound;
Beneath, the fallen strew the ground;
But onward still he dashes through,
Keeping his golden hope in view.

Over the wild sea, bounding free,
A gallant bark swept merrily;
Her gay commander, guiding, stood
Besides the helm, in joyous mood,
For onward shone the glist'ning shore,
Where he should land his precious store,
The gold and jewels dearly won
Beneath the tropics' glowing sun.

Besides a river's sullen sweep
To pass its tide I saw one weep,
Till glancing on ward, streams of light
Came dazzling forth from meadows bright;
He saw fair Canaan's land in view,
He kissed the wave and hastened through.
Sweet songs arose, a crown was given,
And robes of white—I saw 'twas heaven.

The traveller found his home: 'twas bare:
The youth his fame: 'twas pain and care;
The soldier placed his banner high,
But as he placed he fell to die.
The seaman's riches vanished soon,
And left him fortuneless at noon;
But he who laid earth's glories down,
And bore heaven's banner, found a crown.

SUSIE D.

The Two Cords of Wood.

Just at dusk one November evening three children occupied the large kitchen connected with the establishment of Farmer Grant. A bright wood fire blazed cheerfully in the wide chimney, while from the crane the sus pended tea kettle was announcing, as loudly, as possible, that the hour for supper was ap proaching. By the bright but fitful light one young girl sat reading; another stood at the window watching the cows, as they walked demurely from the yard to the stable; while a boy of eleven summers was seated on a stool in front of the fire, gazing steadily at the flames as they shot upwards, but with an appearance of abstraction, indicating that his mind was elsewhere.

Softly Ellen advanced from the window and touched her sister Ruth, to call her attention, whispered, "Just look at Thomas, he's in a brown study as our teacher said this afternoon. I do wonder what he is thinking of."

"Ask him," responded Ruth, glancing at her brother, and then turning to her book again.

"Thomas," called Ellen, "what makes you look so sober to-night? Did you miss at school?

The boy heaved a deep sigh, and then turned to his sister, saying, "Oh Ellen, you can help me if you will; only you must first promise me not to tell any one."

Ellen promised, and Thomas led her to the further end of the room, as his mother came in, where he made known to her his plan.—"Last night after you and Ruth had gone to bed, I heard father and mother talking. It made me feel so bad I could not go to sleep. She had been bringing in the clothes, and kept coughing, as she always does when she works hard. Father told her that she must begin taking the doctor's stuff that that did her so much good last winter. At first she did not answer: but pretty soon I saw her put up her hand and brush away a tear.—'There are so many things to be bought for the children,' she said after a while, 'that I don't like to spend money for medicine. I don't often cough so much.'"

"I know that, too," replied father, "but you must attend to your health. What should we do without you?"

"I sometimes think," said mother, "that my work is almost done; and if it is God's will to call me away, he will provide for you and our dear children."

"I could'nt stay to hear any more, for I had to run into the entry to keep from sobbing aloud. Oh! Ellen, what could we all do without mother?"

The young girl turned round and gave her mother a piercing glance, as if to satisfy herself that her brother had cause for his solicitude, and then asked, "But what can you, or both of us, do to help her?"

"I mean somehow to get her a bottle of that medicine," exclaimed Thomas impressively, "but how to do it is the question. Dr. Jones had a load of wood carted to-day, and he wants a man to saw it. I will go over to morrow afternoon and ask him to give me the job and take the medicine for pay, only father wants his wood piled up to-morrow, before the snow comes."

Ellen stood for a moment returning her brother's gaze, then said eagerly "Ruth and I will pile it for you. We'll get up very early and do it before breakfast, and then we shall have the whole afternoon."

Thomas joyfully accepted this offer and readily obtained the job from the kind physician. Before night he had piled the two cords in the shed, and sawed nearly a quarter of it.

"Well, my little man, said the doctor driving into the yard just as Thomas was hanging up the saw preparatory to leaving, 'how much have you earned this afternoon."

A bright thought flashed through the boy's mind, and in true Yankee style he answered the question, "Doctor, how much a bottle was the cough medicine you gave mother last winter?"

"Half a dollar, I think. Is she sick again?"

The boy communicated his wishes, and with a flushed face inquired of the doctor if he would be willing to let him have one bottle to carry home with him.

The good man was evidently moved at this unexpected proposal. He made no reply, except to invite the boy into the office. When there, he talked to him more freely, and ended by giving him a small powder for his mother, with directions for taking it, in addition to the desired cough medicine, and promised to call himself the next day.

An hour later Thomas sat with his sisters by the fire, and communicated to them the joyful results of this afternoon's labor. Then they proposed to give the medicine as a token of affection from her three children, "for," urged Thomas, I could not have done it unless you helped me."

To say that Mrs. Grant was gratified, would be but feebly expressing her emotions when the love token was placed in her hands.

With moistened eyes she gave each of them a kiss, and then added in a subdued voice, "God will reward you my dear ones. The blessing afford to the dish commandment will be yours, for you have indeed honored your mother."

God did bless them in rendering the medicine effectual in restoring the health of their mother, whose life he prolonged for many years. She saw her children growing up to be useful, happy and respected by all who knew them.—Youth's Companion.

The Coming Pork Season.

The stock of pork and bacon now on hand in the principal markets of the country is unusually light, it being considerably less than at this date last season, which was then considered small; and the high prices together with the prospects which exist of the quantity of pork that will be cured during the coming season, occasions much anxiety on the part of packers regarding the future of that business. All reliable accounts from the interior represent a great abundance of stock hogs, that they are in a forward condition, and although the corn is short, yet it is sound, and that, with the large amount of old corn on hand, and but little prospect of foreign demand of any consequence, there will be enough to feed all the hogs fit to be fatted this year. Potatoes are unusually abundant, and will not admit of transportation to market, at the present or prospective price, excepting from those sections in the immediate vicinity of the markets, and, doubtless, they will be used very extensively in fattening hogs and cattle. But the light stock of old meat will lead to a general demand for new cure as soon as it can be got in a condition for transportation to the consuming markets and will have a marked influence in keeping prices at a comparatively high point.

The Cincinnatti Price Current, discussing this subject, calls attention to another feature of the trade, which cannot be overlooked, namely, country packers and outside operators have been very fortunate in their transactions the last two years, and have made money rapidly, which will have a stimulating influence upon them, and induce them to buy with more freedom and confidence even at comparatively high prices. It is clear that the wants of England will be much less than they were last year, and that at last year's prices but little will be needed, as the supply of both hogs and cattle in Great Britain is larger than it was a year ago. Viewed in all these aspects, it is easily seen that the future is anything but encouraging to the packers and that their true course is to be cautious and patient, but it is doubtful if they will observe these rules, for already there are many who have contracted for hogs for November and even December delivery, at $5.50 to $6, gross, and some are anxious that the weather should become cool enough, so that they might commence curing, and then take advantage of the expected demand for early meat.

There seems to be little doubt that the growth of the business of summer curing, which has already become so general and successful, will continue, for it is quite clear that, instead of feeding the great bulk of the crop in the fall and early winter months, under the usual disadvantages of cold, bad weather, a portion of the time, spring and summer feeding, which can be done to so much greater advantages will become more general from year to year, and therefore it will become more unsafe to make the winter curing the basis upon which to calculate the season's business.—N. Y. Bulletin.

The Ring.

The English betting ring is "tuning a doleful dump." The bookmakers are said to have absorbed all the money, but they themselves allege that they are exceedingly short of cash. One of them, poor fellow, who, in the ordinary course of things, might have been expected to be employed in some very inferior occupation, complained the other day that he had only made two thousand pounds at York Races. At this rate he will surely have to put up his shutters, if leviathans have shutters to put up. Meanwhile, however, some such men are making colossal fortunes, and many of them, born in the lowest grades, live luxuriously on incomes ranging downwards from several thousand to several hundreds and do it well, too, enjoying good feeding and lodging, and comfortable first-class travelling for themselves, while wives and children are in affluence, and some of the sons probably at Oxford or Cambridge. Truly these are strange whirlsan the wheel of fortune.

ACTION AGAINST A NEWSPAPER.—During the sittings of the last Circuit Court in Sherbrooke, says La Pionnier, the following law suit was decided:—"Mr. Lanigan, o Sherbrooke, formerly editor of the Sherbrooke Leader, well known in journalistic circles, summoned the proprietors of the Evening Star, of Montreal, for the sum of $32, as the price of a score of articles on independence contributed by him to that paper. According to an arrangement come to between Mr. Lanigan and the proprietors of the paper in question, he was to be paid at the rate of $3 a column for his articles. Mr. Lanigan accordingly buckled to and did not spare for length in his writings. The proprietors, finding that their collaborateur's little bill was mounting up to too much celerity, intimated their desire for greater brevity in his dissertations, and hence the misunderstanding that led to this law suit. The defendants offered no defence to the action, and judgment, after proof, was given against them for the full amount.

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, NOV. 6.

THE GALE.—Yesterday a strong gale was experienced in this vicinity, which only moderated late last night. It must have been severely felt by those who go down to the sea in ships. Already some disasters are reported.

SCHOONER ASHORE.—A telegram from Dunville, 5th Nov. says: "The schoner Agnes, from Port Rowan, bound for Cleveland with pail wood, is ashore below Grand River pier. She is expected to be a total loss."

RESUMED BUSINESS.—It will be seen by our advertising columns that Mr. W. H. Scholes, whose store was destroyed by the fire last Saturday morning, has resumed business in the store one door north of the old stand.

NEW PIER AT OSWEGO.—Masters of vessels are notified that the new pier at Oswego extends in a northerly direction 420 feet from the old pier head, and 305 feet from the light house. The outer portion of the extension is under water, and no light is shown.

GREAT WESTERN MANAGEMENT.—It is reported from London that several of the English Directors of the Great Western Railway are to retire to make way for American Directors in the interest of the Vanderbilt Railway combination.

EMIGRANT AGENT.—A despatch from Ottawa to the Toronto Telegraph, says:—"Brigade Major Colonel Shaw, of Kingston, has been appointed Emigrant Agent for the Dominion in Scotland. Col. Shaw will leave immediately for his head-quarters in Glasgow."

DISASTER.—A despatch from Picton of the 5th, says: "The schooner Heather Bell went ashore this morning at Wellington, loaded with 9,000 bushels of barley. The hull is insured in the Western for $6,000. Cargo insured for $6,000. Her anchors are holding her from pounding very hard. She is in good order yet."

THE ESCAPED CONVICTS.—The Kingston News says respecting the escape of the Penitentiary convicts:—"The fugitives have, with Indian cunning, used all devices to throw their pursuers off their trail, and there is little doubt but that they have perfectly succeeded. The men were employed on the outside work near the Penitentiary when they effected their escape, but how it was accomplished we have been unable to learn with any degree of certainty. The names of the men are Joseph Banberry, a twenty-one years man, who had seven years to serve, and Isaac Lottridge, sentenced for life for the crime of rape."

—A despatch from Quebec, Nov. 5th, says:—"Thomas Hatch, of the firm of Hatch & Son, contractors, a young man of high respectability and standing, committed suicide by blowing out his own brains with a revolver while laboring under a temporary fit of insanity. His wife had just been confined.

Father McMahon.

Father McMahon has so far recovered from the effects of his incarceration in the Canadian Bastile, as the Fenians and their sympathisers are pleased to designate the Provincial Penitentiary, as to be fit for a public reception. New York has been chosen as the place, and the platform of Cooper Institute has been selected from which this Romish prelate is to give an account of his sufferings and the cruelties(?) to which he was subjected during his three year's imprisonment. We know of no fitter locality nor more suitable platform.—Father McMahon will be at home in Cooper Institute, for it has always been a favored spot for orators of the fire-eating, filibustering stamp, and there will be no difficulty in obtaining a sympathising audience. We can fancy how eloquent the old man will be when he recounts the story of Ridgeway, how he bound up the bleeding wounds of the poor unfortunates who fell in the battle-field, how he gave spiritual consolation to those who had been slain by the defenders of "perfidious Albion."—how ruthlessly he had been seized upon by British red-coats and cast into the gloomy dungeon; how irreverently and sacreligiously he, clad as he was in his sacerdotal robes, had been treated; how his holy office had been insulted by robbing him of his trusty revolver; how he was tried by judges of the Norbury stamp, condemned and sentenced to be hanged, and afterwards sent to a Canadian Bastile for life, where he was subjected to the most horrid(?) cruelties; how at length the Romish hierarchy of Canada took up his cause, representing to the Government that they were loyal to the country, and on the ground of that loyalty he was liberated. We can fancy how the old man's eye will twinkle when he has roused the sympathies of his vast audience by his tale of woe, when he hears their groans for Britain; their demands for the liberation of the Fenians in Ireland and Canada; and we can fancy the climax, when from ten thousand throats the shout makes the very walls tremble, "that Ireland and Canada shall be free." Father McMahon will no doubt have a big time and be the hero of the hour.

The other side of the picture will not appear. He will not tell how a band of merciless ruffians invaded a peaceful country; how these ruffians were encouraged in their hellish work by the presence of a clergyman of their own persuasion, giving them spiritual advice, and backing up that advice by displaying a well loaded revolver; how this priest went in and out amongst them while they were doing their bloody work; how innocent men and boys were murdered in cold blood; and how he was as much responsable for their death as the men who shot them down. This part of the picture will be carefully concealed.

How ridiculous the whole affair appears. Here is a man who is as guilty of cold, calculating murder as any one of the Fenian convicts in the Provincial Penitentiary, who through mistaken clemency has been permitted to breathe the air of a free man, going about the country making a martyr of himself, feasted and feted by Romish Bishops here, and made a little god of by our neighbors across the lines. It would be a farce if the hideous reality could be erased from the historic page. It would be something to laugh at, to be amused with, if there were no dead boys and men in Toronto and Hamilton Cemeteries, and at Ridgeway, and in other graveyards throughout the country, who freely gave up their lives to prevent such men as McMahon from spoiling the land—if there were no widows and orphans mourning for their husbands and fathers—if this country was not kept in continued turmoil and anxiety—if our trade was not depressed, and our treasury not depleted, in consequence of the action of McMahon and his sympathisers.

To show the nature of this demonstration to McMahon, and the character of those who sympathise with him, we copy the following from a New York paper: It contains much food for reflection:—

NEW YORK, October 22nd, 1869.

Rev. John McMahon, late of Birmingham (?) Jail, Canada;

"REVEREND AND DEAR SIR:—The undersigned take this opportunity to congratulate you upon your liberation from a foreign prison, and at the same time to solicit you to meet the citizens of New York and Brooklyn, at such time and place as you may designate, so that they may hear you discuss the justice of your imprisonment, and the cruelties to which you were subjected during your three years and three months incarceration.

"If you will consent to act upon this suggestion, the people will be pleased to give you a substantial recognition of their regard for you and your devotion and sacrifices to the cause of liberty.

FATHER MCMAHON'S REPLY.

To the Hon. A. Oakey Hall, Hon. Horace Greely, Hon. Richard O'Gorman, &c.

GENTLEMEN: I am in receipt of your favor of the 22nd inst., congratulating me upon my release from a Canadian prison and kindly inviting me to meet with you and the citizens of New York and Brooklyn at an early day, to discuss the justice of my imprisonment and treatment. Permit me to assure you I at I gratefully appreciate the honor your action is intended to confer upon me, and shall be happy to meet you and my fellow citizens of New York and Brooklin, at the Cooper Institute on Thursday evening, Nov. 11, 1869, at which time and place I shall be pleased to discuss the subject you have done me the honor to suggest.

Very truly your obedient servant,
JOHN MCMAHON.

Belleville Fall Races.

Notwithstanding the unfavorable state of the weather, the races were attended by quite a large number of the lovers of the "sports of the day." The track was in very good condition, in fact it was so soft that the drivers could not go faster than a mere "jog" on some portions of the track. No time was taken of any of the races, as it would not be right to judge the speed of the horses by the time made.

The first was a trotting race for a purse of $40, open to all horses that never beat 3:15. For this race there were three entries. "Fearless," Mr. W. Fanning; "Phoebe Roblin," Mr. D. Roblin; "Mountain Maid," Mr. Nelson, Kingston. "Fearless" won the race. "Phoebe" taking the first heat, and "Fearless" the second, third, and fourth heats.

SECOND.—Running race, open to all horses, for a purse of $50. For this race there were three entries. "Julia Dean," by Mr. Horton; "Ladies' Friend," by Mr. Kehoe; "Old Rye," by Mr. Frank Crawford. "Old Rye" did not make his appearance, therefore the race was between "Julia Dean" and "Ladies Friend." "Julia Dean" won the race in three straight heats.

THIRD.—Trotting Race for a purse of $60, open to all horses. Three horses were also entered for this race. "Dutchman" by Mr. Walter Fanning; "Jack Draper," by Mr. T. A. Holbrook; and "Brown Dick" by Mr. L. Reed. "Brown Dick" took the first heat. "Dutchman" taking the second third, and fourth heats.

This closed the sport for the day, there not being enough entries for the fourth race, a "Sweepstake" for a purse of $40.

Marine Disasters.

PORT COLBORNE, Nov. 5.—The barque George Thurston has arrived, with the loss of her bow sprit, jib boom and boat. She had a collision with the propeller Plymouth on Lake Erie, and had some of her rails torn in a gale last night, and lost a boat.

The barque Southampton ran back for shelter and lost both her anchors and chains.

The barque Mary Merrit ran back and had some of her sails torn.

The schooner Ottawa ran in for shelter, having lost both anchors.

Several other vessels had to run back more or less damaged. It has been blowing a heavy gale from the south-west since last night.

—The schooner 'Alfred Allan,' of Oswego, with 500 barrels of salt, from Oswego to Toledo, went ashore in a snow storm on Wednesday night at Port Colborne. The vessel will likely be a total loss.

—The operators of the Franklin Telegraph Company struck yesterday afternoon for an advance of twenty-five per cent. on their present wages. A partial compromise was made by the company agreeing to pay the men one hundred dollars per month.

An Irishman just came from Nebraska, had never seen a fiddle. A man came into the hotel with one under his arm, and began to screw it up. One of the screws slipped, and he spit upon it to make it hold and then began to draw the bow. The Irishman, who was watching him, bolted across the street to another hotel, exclaiming: I thought this was a land of liberty and freedom; but the devil take such a land where ye abuse the poor children so bad. Landlord—Who is abusing the children? Why, a man came into the tavern just now, with a little boy under his arm, and he began to torment the little crather, first he began to pull and twist his ears, then to provoke him more, he spit in his face, and then drew a brisk across his belly, and Howly Virgin! how he did scream!

At a recent Liverpool Congress, the Dean of Ely, speaking of working men's colleges, said that one of which he had been president had come to grief, not indeed on account of its principles, because there were no professors in the University of Cambridge, under whose auspices it was started, nor because there were no working men, but simply because no working men would go to it to be taught. The Dean was obliged to confess that he was not at all surprised at this, for "nothing was more natural than that a working man who had worked for twelve hours or more should prefer to go home to his wife and have a cup of tea or a pipe, to sitting down to study Euclid or arithmetic." An argument which is forcibly similar to that of the London costermonger in the New Cut: "Hif that blessed old Lutting, as ye calls 'im had to hawk boiled potatoes from morning till night in the New Cut, and go 'ome to three kids with mebbe only seven pence for his day's work, I'm blessed hif 'eed shothered 'is precious hold soul a larnin' Greek or hany hother lingo."

A SERVANT'S REVENGE.—A distressing story of a 'servants revenge' comes from a quiet part of Berkshire, England, Lieut.-Colonel Hickie had a nurse in his family named Elizabeth Barry. She was discharged from service and threatened to have her revenge. One day during the absence of Colonel Hickie and his wife the nurse disappeared, taking with her her employer's youngest child, a girl of seventeen months old. The parents were thrown in a dreadful state of grief as night came on and their child was not brought back. From that day no tidings have been heard of nurse or child. The detectives were set to work, but Colonel Hickie writes to the papers to enlist the sympathy and help of the millions of self-made detectives who may be found in the fathers and mothers of England. They alone can conceive the awful agony we suffer, as one sad day after another passes away, and our hopes of ever seeing our dear child are still deferred.' In case the woman may have escaped to this country, we append the Colonel's description of his child:—"The distinctive mark on her face, the mole on the right side of her lip, the peculiar blue vein (a birth mark) under the left eye of our child, and the deep dimple on her chin, all lead us to hope for a speedy recovery of our lost one, if we could only secure the eyes and the hearts that would watch for her everywhere. To us, as our last, our highest hope under God, a bereaved father and mother now appeal, and wait with deep suspense the result.'

Business Notices.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless landed gentleman, named Sibley, was killed near London on Sunday evening last. They were in a hand car, and were run down by an engine which had no head light.

—Two millions of cans of green corn have been put up this season by one person, in Maine. Six thousand persons were employed during six weeks in the process of preparing and canning it.

Latest by Telegraph.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

THE LATEST.

OCEAN YACHT RACE.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—The News this morning says that Mr. Bennett means business. He is ready and willing to sail the Cambria next March.—Once at New York, if Mr. Ashbury fails to bring back the Cup it will not be for lack of competitions, and if his competitors cannot find a clear stage and no favor on the Atlantic in March, they must be hard to please.

AQUATICS.

In the Thames race the Tyne boat made the distance from Putney to Mortlake in 20 min 43 sec.

DALMATION INSURRECTION.

TIFFLIS, Nov. 4.—Advices from Cattaro state that the troops, after a battle which lasted four hours, defeated the rebels and captured a strong position which had been occupied by them near Lisic. The population of two districts had surrendered to the Austrian authorities.

TIFFLIS, Nov. 5.—Despatches from Cattaro announce that the insurgents of Lisic and Varbisje have surrendered. At last accounts the troops were marching on Paborol.

THE LATE MR. PEABODY

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The 'Post' in its obituary article says: "Mr. Peabody was one of the few whose private virtues are followed by public fame, and whose virtues may be cited as examples. In laying the foundation of wholesome and cheerful homes for the working classes, he acted upon a high sense of duty, and touched the main-springs of civilization. He made his means the measure of his philanthropy. Throughout his whole life his conduct displayed a purity of character that could not fail to elevate and refine the feelings his generosity inspired."

The Telegraph' says, "Mr. Peabody's lot was doubly happy. The inscription on his mausoleum may tell with unquestioned truth of the man who loved his kind and served his country."

American Despatches.

BOAT RACE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—After the race on the Thames to-day. Sadler of the Thames crew, exasperated by his defeat, shamefully abused and struck Walter Brown, the American oarsman. Friends interfered and prevented the quarrel from proceeding further.

RECIPROCITY TREATY.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—A lobby interested in renewing the reciprocity treaty with Canada has been established in Washington, and the tariff men have become alarmed. Judge Kelly of Penna, visited the President yesterday on behalf of the tariff men, and demonstrated by his statistics that a renewal of the treaty would be equal to paying the Canadians two million dollars bonus to keep out of the Union.

STATUE OF GEN. GRANT.

The Committee interested in the erection in this city, of an equestrian statute of Gen. Grant have obtained sufficient encouragement to warrant the beginning of the work.

SPECIE PAYMENT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The World's Washington special says: Quite a commotion has been started here, over a report coming from apparently authentic sources, that Secretary Boutwell is maturing a scheme for the return to specie payments by the first of January next. The fact being apparent that the Supreme Court will before many months' decide that the legal tender Act is unconstitutional. The Government is anxious to anticipate the result, by securing the return to specie payment before the decision is given to the public.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

BOILS.

Like the volcano, Boils give issue to the foul and nery contents of the deep interior. To remove the cause of such suffering it is only necessary to vitalize the blood by supplying it with its Life Element, Iron.

PERUVIAN SYRUP,

(a protested solution of the Protoxide of Iron) will do the effectively, and give strength, vigor and new life to the whole system.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM REV. RICHARD S. EDES, OF BOLTON, MASS.

"For years I was a sufferer from Boils, to that my nine bosoms were more through their frequent and persistent repearence; finally a carbuncle formed in the small of my back. During its progress large pieces of decomposed flesh were every day or two cut away, and the prostration and general disturbance of the system were great. Before I had recovered from this attack two sumnier carbuncles broke out higher up, and I was again threatened with a recurrence of the sufferage to which I had so long been subjected. It was at this time that I commenced taking the PERUVIAN SYRUP. I continued taking it until I had used five bottles; from that time forward nothing of the kind. For years I was one of the greatest sufferers. Other medicines gave me partial and temporary relief, but results were always met with a kind of intuitive sense, went directly to the root of the evil, and did its work with a thoroughness and severity of its established character."

A 32 page Pamphlet sent free. The genuine has "PERUVIAN SYRUP" blown in the glass.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

THE REMEDY FOR CURING

Consumption, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppressions of the Chest or Lungs. Difficult Breathing, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

IT is active is expectorant, alterative, sedative, diaphoretic, and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the tissues to throw off the phegm; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS and PURIFIES the BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives tone to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action and imparts strength to the whole system. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction, even in the most confirmed cases of consumption, and not to produce costiveness (as do most remedies) or to effect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is a PERFECT REMEDY to the most delicate child, although an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no necessity for any one to die by consumption, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

"CANADA LIFE"

Have published a Report and net valuation of all its policy and annuity obligations, by an Actuary total unconnected with it, the Hon. EDMUND WRIGHT, of Boston, late Insurance Commissioner for the State of Massachusetts.

It is believed that such a very satisfactory submission of the Company's position to an eminent and entirely independent Actuary of the Hon. EDMUND WRIGHT'S well known high character and professional skill, will add to that public satisfaction and confidence which the "Canada Life Company" enjoys.

Copies of Mr. WRIGHT'S Report may be had at the Head Office or at any of the Agencies throughout the Dominion.

Persons who may be assured in the Companies whose condition is unsatisfactory, desiring to join the "Canada Life," will be dealt with upon such terms as are reasonable and fair.

Release of the Fenians.

Punch thus expresses himself upon this pr position :

"Release the Fenian convicts ? Yes,
How could we think of doing less ?
They only made a slight mistake
Which still they saw they didn't make ;
Mistook themselves, and did suppose
They were our fair and open foes,
Forgot they were but private 'gents,'
And claimed to be belligerents,
And, gallows-free, to shoot police,
On duty whilst they kept the peace ;
To blow in some hostile town,
A prison up, and houses down,
Reckless of death and mutilation
Dealt round to neighboring population.

Release those Fenians ! If they please
To go down humbly on their knees,
For merciful remission sue
Of penalties most richly due,
Confess the crime they did commit,
Plead error in excuse of it,
The pardon of the Queen implore,
Promise they will offend no more ;
And, penitent, each penal slavery,
Cry manacled, and gaoled, and
Punch may consider, then, if he,
With dutiful consistency,
His Royal Mistress could, or no,
Advise to let those rascals go."

The Log Cabin.

BY ALEX MCLACHAN

I ask not for fortune,
I ask not for wealth ;
But give me the cabin,
With freedom and health ;
With some one to love me—
Joy's roses to wreathe ;
With no one above me,
And no one beneath.

Let fools be officious,
And flatter the great ;
Let knaves be ambitious
To rule in the State :
Give alms to the needy,
Give fame to the lordly,
Give gold to the greedy—
Let Bonaparte rule.

But give me the cabin,
Tho' far, far apart ;
I'll make it love's dwelling—
The home of the heart.
With some one to love me—
Joy's roses to wreathe ;
With no one above me,
And no one beneath.

Is Farming Dishonorable.

At a recent discussion among farmers, one is reported as saying, "There is an impression that farming is dishonorable. This is not so, not too many, on their farms as though it was so. There is too much holding back from actual labor on the farm." We laugh, as other people will, at the idea that any one should regard farming dishonorable ; and yet it is so regarded by many farmers.—Witness the fact that when they talk of their own sons, or those of their friends, who have entered and succeeded in professions, they account them smart and the social position they have acquired something higher than any the farmer may attain. It is this subtle influence of words and sentiment, exerted, it may be unconsciously, by parents, which drives their ambitious sons from the nobler and more complex pursuit of agriculture to seek livelihood, position and success in the crowded professional field.

We do not belong to the class who affect to think that every farmer's daughter a farmer's wife ; but we do belong to the small class who believe that there is a day coming when the successful farmer will rank among men as men of science and culture now do ; when to be known as a successful agriculturist will be synonymous with being known as a man of learning and skill, a philosopher and scientist. We await the day with confidence—with the greater confidence because every year makes agriculture more and more a business involving the skilful and systematic use of capital, a thorough knowledge of natural elements and the laws which control them, and a power of generalization and observation which inheres only in the best and most active mind.—Rural New Yorker.

—Judge Bliss has resigned his seat on the Bench of Nova Scotia, in consequence of ill health. The bar presented his honor with an address on the occasion.

—Bismark, according to various correspondents, has delirium tremens, bilious fever, Bright's disease, neuralgia, rheumatism, and boils. Another correspondent says he is in "excellent health."

—Census and Senses.—Census-taking is arduous in Cheyenne. "I want to know how many children you have,' asked a collector, walking into a house. 'What's that your business,' answered the dame, 'as long as we don't ask you to keep them ?' 'I am taking the census and must know,' pursued the collector. "Well, I guess somebody has been takin yours, and you'd better be hunting them up, young man !" vociferated the lady.

A Perplexed Frenchmen.—A Frenchman said to an American : 'There is von word in your language I do not comprehend and all ze time I hear it. Tattletoe, tattletoe,—vat you means by tattletoe ?' The American replied that no such word exists in English. While he was saying so, his servant come ont to put cool on the fire, when he said, 'There, John that'll do.' The Frenchmen jumped up, exclaiming, 'Tare, tattletoe, you say him yourself, sare; vat means tattletoe ?'

Sleeping in Church.—Farmer Brown was visiting in the country church. He had been working hard in the harvest field ; hands were scarce, and farmer Brown was dozing. The loud tones of the minister failed to arouse the farmer, until at length the tale waning the good man closed the lids of the Bible and concluded as follows : "Indeed,my hearers,the harvest is plenteous, but the laborers are few.' "Yes,' exclaimed Farmer Brown, "I've offered two dollars a day for cradlers, and can't get 'em at that."

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for years by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a dark ointment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil the most delicate, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any better so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as the mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them ; those who have not, ka that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all agree that it does once in a while—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compounder. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates ; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box for the following complaints, which these Pills speedily cure :

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Inflammation, Sconi, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such changes those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose regulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the Appetite, and invigorates the whole system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists, to take them to prevent disease. By keeping the blood of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and purifying effect on the digestive apparatus.

QUERY?

Should we employ the more decrees to bring us our tea and coffee in bottles at an expense of at least four times when they now cost ?

If not, why should we longer adopt that system in reference to medicines which are the simple extracts of roots or plants and herbs, and which can be prepared as tea and coffee ?

Each package of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines contains more medicinal properties that can be procured in any other form for four times the amount of money.

We have in our possession numerous testimonials as to the practicability of, as well as the benefits derived from the use of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines, viz :

Dr. Thompson's Blood Purifier

Cures all diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, such as salt-rheum, scrofula, running sores, boils, swellings, tendency to take cold, fevers, pimples or roughness of the skin. It regulates the bowels and liver, improves the liver, and promotes the general vigor of the system, without reducing the strength of the patient. Sold at 50 cents per package.

Dr. THOMPSON'S Stomachic Bitters.

A certain and speedy cure for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and Indigestion. For constipation it has no equal, as it is a mild and safe invigorant and corroborant for weakness pervous or general exhaustion from ordinary causes, a powerful recuperant after the fevers has been reduced by sickness, an unrivalled remedy for agreeable, mild, wholesome stimulant, for general debility, and diseases having their origin in an abnormal condition or a deranged state of the stomach. Sold at 50 cents per package.

Dr. Thompson's No. 6. OR COMPOSITION POWDERS

It is used with success for diseases caused by colds, such as cold chills, chills and fever, headache, pains in the joints or limbs, neuralgia, rheumatism, and in fact in any property be called PAIN KILLER, as it may be used for all purposes for which Pain Killers or Reliefs are used, such as cramps in the stomach, bowels, diarrhœa, dysentery, summer complaints, cholera morbus, tetanus complaints or contractions of the muscles and will give great success as a Liniment. Sold at 50 cents per package.

The proprietor has been induced to adopt the present convenient style of putting up his medicines in packages, as he is thereby enabled to supply double the amount of medicine for one-third the regular price of similar preparations.

Del Dottore F. P. Verri, Prof. of Chemistry in the of University Padua, Italy.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original preparer of the NATIONAL Exposition at Torino, Italy, by whose favor Mr. Gianelli obtained the Recipe, and was also awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition of Canada, held at Montreal in September, 1865, is without exception, the most Genuine, Salubrious and agreeable Cordial ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America.

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite among the elite of society, being generally served in Wine Glasses a little before dinner, in preference to Vermouth.

☞ The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval on every account.

Lord Byron Writing from Hades in his own Defence.

Among the thousand and one articles and pamphlets on the Byron scandal, in prose and verse, we have seen nothing approaching, for wit and pungency, a clever jeu-d'-esprit just issued from the London press. It is entitled "Lord Byron's Defence," and professes to be written by his Lordship himself, is appropriately dated "Hades, MCCCLXIX." The title page contains portraits of Lord Byron and Mrs. Stowe—his Lordship, beautified as Apollo, being represented as almost eclipsing a coarse scandal-mongering face intended for that of his detractor, Mrs. Stowe. The following extracts, selected at random, will give our readers a sample of the flavour of this Byronesque production:

Who is this Mrs. Stowe? her name, thank God,
Was never one familiar to my ear;
Her country was a land I never trod,
Although I travelled often far and near.
They say that she's a woman, that is odd—
To women, as a rule, my verse is dear.
Perchance she's some forlorn neglected beauty,
Or else—her husband doesn't do his duty.

I can't console her in the flesh, I can't Revisit "glimpses of the moon" to make
Poor Mrs. Stowe unhappy; and I shan't
Leave good men in their Shades for woman's sake;
So Mrs. Stowe may rest in peace. I only want
To know how all the trouble she should take.
I might have needed once a moral teacher;
N'importe—but d—m this sanctimonious Beecher!

I never was a moral man, I know—
I did some things were far beyond defending;
For Virtue always was so cursed slow,
I flew to Vice, just as my soul was mending,
And I am rightly punished: Mrs. Stowe,
Sensation and obscenity so blending,
Has scatter'd lies with dirty prodigality,
And make me blacker even than reality.

"Fatalis incestusque judex" she
As Horace says* (I ought to change the gender),
"Et nubier peregrinæ" that to me
A comfort is. My fame needs no defender.
E'en in America, I think they'll see
The falsehood uttered by this base pretender,
Who's head'd upon me such a huge indignity,
With fatuous, foolish, feminine malignity.

Sweet to the blushing bride a husband's kiss,
Sweet to the old man dreams of youthful vigor,
Sweet to the virgin thoughts of love's new bliss,
Sweet is the hope of freedom to the nigger.
But sweeter far in spite of public hiss
To H. B. S. the cudgel—a hangsman figure
Her publisher will pay—game worth the candle,
For sheets befouled with literary scandal.

My Sister! thy sweet soul has passed away
Where all this foul aspersion hurts thee not;
Pure in the pure realms of eternal day,
Thy heart is free from every earthly spot.
Of no avail the words that slanderers say,
The fair escutcheon of thy fame to blot.
Curs'd be the greedy publishers who gave
This literary jackal to thy grave.

I care not for myself, my fame is far
Beyond this dull reviler's power to dim;
My sister shone before her as a star
Shines purely o'er the young moon's crescent rim.
She wish'd our reputations both to tar
With the same foul brush; 'twas a worthy whim
Of her who white-wash'd hosts of fetid niggers,
To take such pains to blacken both our figures.

'Tis said I awoke one memorable morn
And found that I was famous; speedily
I knew myself the target for all scorn.
Men called me infamous; (the Lord knows why.)
What laurels this rude woman may have worn
I know not, but this deed of infamy,
This lewd, loquacious, literary antic,
Should blast them on both sides of the Atlantic.

One would live on for ever, but a bore
One's life becomes ere many years roll on;
And yet a man must feel a little sore
To think how he will suffer when he's gone.
"Nil nisi bonum," said the men of yore,
"De mortuis," but now one's tomb upon
Folks write foul words; in fact, there's no denying
There's something very dangerous in dying.

Enough. I leave to all men's scorn the lie
This insult to the living and the dead;
'Twas a proud task for woman's hands to try
To heap defilement on a woman's head.
The Stowe-ans scarcely dared to prate, had I
Been living, but where'er her words are read
Deep execrations must her name environ
Who dare to meddle with the

Orgie

BYRON.

* Horace, Lib. iii., Car. iii. 19.

The Frying Pan.

'Died of a frying pan,' is the epitaph which the Columbus, Georgia, Enquirer, says appropriately belongs to the graveyard of thousands of Southern people, on account of the manner of preparing food in that part of the country. The editor says of the Southern man:

His standard food is a piece of bacon fried; the fat taken and with flour or meal mixed into a heavy mass and consigned to the inevitable frying pan, and comes out a lump of leathery looking something which the stomach of an ostrich would not digest. Give him a chicken and what does he do with it? Cuts it up, and into the frying pan it goes; after being slowly simmered until hard; it is put into a deep dish and grease poured over it, and what is not soaked up in the chicken is made way with by soaking his frying pan bread in it. Give him a rich juicy steak, and into the frying pan it goes, and it is slowly simmered and simmered until no knife will cut it, and then eaten with heavy bread soaked in the remaining fat; and thus good and wholesome food, in quantity sufficient to afford a wholesome meal for a French artisan's family, is by the frying process rendered not only enough for one man, but converted into a slow poison and a fruitful source of disease.

Scarcely a day passes but some poor sufferer applies to me for relief from the 'Frying Pan Disease,' which relief I am unable to give, without an entire change in his or her habits; and unless such change is effected, whose appropriate epitaph will be

"Died of a frying pan."

In the Land where all is Plenty.

The New York Times says:—Business in the West sympathizes with the highied expectations of the farmers in regard to the prices received for grain. They have been so long accustomed to high prices for all their products, that the present rates—dear though they seem to the consumer—are a sad disappointment. And depression among the farmers means still greater depression among the storekeepers, and somewhat dull times round. But there is no cause for gloomy feeling. The worst that can result from the present state of things, as the Chicago Tribune remarks, will be small profits, or no profits at all, to merchants and banks. If solvent, they will not more seriously suffer.

Says a Massachusetts correspondent of the New York World:—How long O Lord are the patient and suffering people of this commonwealth to be cheated and robbed. Your correspondent occupies a little spot of Massachusetts soil, which he has paid for but for the privilege of owning it he is obliged to pay a tax of about three per cent. on its assessed value; that is to say his taxes are in the same ratio as the interest England pays on her national debt. Soon, if this rapid career towards bankruptcy is not checked, the burdens on real estate will render it unsaleable—like the State bonds—and of little value.

Death of George Peabody.

Mr. George Peabody, who died in London, was a descendant of the old Pilgrim Fathers, of a family [illegible] settled in Leicestershire, and was born at Danvers, Mass., U. S., Feb. 18, 1795. His father was in business, and he himself, as a boy, was apprenticed to a grocer at Danvers. In 1812 he formed a partnership with his uncle, John Peabody, at George town, and was manager of the concern, and at the same time seen active service as a volunteer at Fort Warburton. Having been for some years a successful merchant in partnership with Mr. Riggs, of Baltimore, with branch houses in Philadelphia and New York, he went to England in 1837, and established himself as a merchant and money broker. In this capacity his name proved a sound and valuable guarantee of many monetary transactions on the part of more than one of the North American States: and in 1848 he largely contributed to the restoration of the credit of Maryland. Mr. Peabody supplied at his own cost the arranging and garnishing of the American Department at the Great Exhibition of 1851; and in 1853 he contributed to the expense of the American Exhibition fitted out under Dr. Kane, to explore the Arctic regions, in search of Sir John Franklin. He has founded at Danvers, U. S., at the cost of $125,000, an institute which bears his name, and has given upwards of $500,000 for a similar purpose in Maryland. In 1859 he presented the City of London with the magnificent sum of $75,000, to be applied to the purpose of benefiting the working classes by the erection of comfortable and convenient lodging houses.

In 1866 he added to the $75,000 already presented for the benefit of the London poor, a further donation of $750,000. During the same year he presented the Harvard University with $75,000, for the purpose of establishing a museum and professorship of American Archeology and Ethnology.—His donations to the cause of popular education of colored children in the South, amount to several millions of dollars, chiefly, however, in bonds issued by the Southern States before the rebellion broke out, and therefore, perfectly legal. During the last two or three years Mr. Peabody made several trips to England, and continued to bestow his benefactions in aid of various charitable institutions in the success of which he felt an interest, and last year the Queen, as a mark of her appreciation for his more than princely donations to the English poor, presented him with an oil painting of herself; and, during his illness she took an earnest interest in his condition, making daily inquiries as to the state of his health, and extended to him an invitation to visit her when he had sufficiently recovered. He never, however, regained sufficient strength to comply with the Royal invitation. His name will be handed down to future ages, as the greatest philanthropist and benefactor to the poor the world has ever produced,—a higher and more durable honor than that of having conquered empires or founded new dynasties. The poor of London of London will ever hold his name in grateful remembrance, while his own countrymen can never forget his noble liberality.

The Taxes Poor men Pay in the United States.

Laboring men who contemplate moving to the States, and all those who have an idea that that country is a delightful place for working men may read the following facts, taken from an American paper, with advantage. The writer is replying to the assertion that "the laboring man pays no taxes :"

Perhaps he buys, on average, a pound of coffee per week ; on this he pays a tax of 5 cents per pound, or $2 per year.

He may use 12 pounds of tea per year ; on this he pays a tax of $3.

He would of course need sugar to sweeten his tea, and for other purposes, probably 52 pounds per year ; on this he pays a tax of $2.60.

He may use a gallon of molasses per month, on which there would be a tax of 96 cents per year.

He might need a pair of common woolen blankets for the inclement season ; he would have to pay a tax of $2.20.

Say he would want 20 yards of cheap carpeting ; it would cost him $16 tax ; if of a better quality, ingrain for instance, $18 tax ; if of a still better quality, venetian, only a tax of $30. But he wouldn't want the two last, as only the rich can afford it, and would have to pay a double tax on account of his poverty.

He would want some clothing, a summer and winter suit, and he must pay a tax of $3 to get them.

His wife would want two calico dresses, on which there would be a tax of $1.25.

He might have the habit of using tobacco, which would require a tax of $7.36.

We might extend the list much further, but let us add up these items enumerated, and we find a total tax of $38.97. Poor men pay this, not to the tax collector, but to every one of whom he buys. He is paying his taxes every day he buys a spool of thread, a bunch of matches, or a pound of salt.

The End of Harvest.

Winter will be upon us before we know it. For earth has done her annual work; we have borne off her produce; and now must come rest, inaction, repair of wasted strength, and long silent preparation through wintry death for the resurrection of next spring. This is nothing strange if one thanks of it. It is the plan on which we and all this earth are made. We are not incorruptible ; cannot work on unrenewed. All things wear down by labour; therefore, on work must follow rest ; on waste repair; on daytime, night; on summer, winter; on manhood, old age and death. As the days wane, pass on worn into a night, partial decay and exhaustion of life, which the rest of night builds up again ; so the year's work at corn and grass growing exhausts the life of the earth, which winter's rest must restore. Even so, as the corn seed, after coming to ripeness this year, must die and decay beneath the cold in order to leap into newness of life and inconceivable power of growth next spring; so our bodies, worn quite down at last and gathered to the grave, "like a shock of corn fully ripe," must sleep their time in corruption till the spring of eternity awakes them into newness of beauty, power and life.—Rev. J. Oswald Dykes.

Judge Fisher on Independence.

At the Nisi Prius sittings of the October term, Judge Fisher of New Brunswick, in addressing the grand jury, referred to the subject of independence. Claiming as intimate knowledge of the sentiments of the people of the Province, he denied that there was any wish to break away from their connection with the Mother Country. The cry for independence was the mere utterance of a partizan press, and had no hold the heart of the people. He would not have his allegiance written away from him without making his protest and proclaiming what he believed to be the truth. At no time in the history of the Province had the people more cause to be grateful than at the present time. As for independence they were now virtually independent, and to break the tie that bound them to the parent state would give them no more freedom than they at present enjoy, but would entail further burdens on them.

The "National" Press on Mr. Gladstone's Letter.

The Irish "national" papers effect great anger at the refusal of the Government to release the Fenian prisoners. The Nation says the decision "is not only painful, but shocking." "No amnesty!" it exclaims. "This cannot be the end of that appeal which has so moved the hearts of Ireland. Far otherwise it is and must be. A momentous issue has been raised to day, and the Irish people will not shrink it." The Flag "thanks England for the lesson. It is the last constitutional appeal that will come from this land." The Irishman heads its article, "The Oppressor's Reply." It is only (it says) a declaration of government by terror, a defiance of the Irish nation." "If this be the rule of Government in Ireland for the future, as it has been in the past, we have reason to thank Mr. Gladstone for reminding us that, thank God, 'Fenianism is not extinct either in the United Kingdom or in America.' In its existence we have some means of opening the prison doors, and of delivering our people from Government by terror and torture." The same journal says :—"We listened to his (Mr. Gladstone's) promise.—We offered him a test. We asked for the restoration of the victims as a sign of the abandonment of the Policy to which they were ascribed. We accepted Mr. Gladstone's justification of their conduct. We demanded from him an atonement for the crime which he acknowledged his nation had committed against the Irish race. The policy of conquest has been only abandoned to give place to a reign of terror." The People of Ireland declares that "the English people have elected to give the lie to their profession of sympathy with struggling nationalities, and to virtually say to Kossuth Garibaldi, Mazzini, Jefferson Davis, and other exiled revolutionists whom they feted and flattered, "Our professions of sympathy with the oppressed of all nations were hollow shams." This refusal (it adds) "has taught the Irish people, for the ten thousandth time, the lesson they are always forgetting—they have no voice in the Government of this country, and that the Isle of Wight has more influence in deciding the policy of the English Cabinet than Ireland has." He (Mr. Gladstone) has defied Ireland. We await the reply of the Irish nation."

RIFLE MATCH.—A Rifle Match will take place on the 10th inst., at the Rifle Range Belleville. Prizes to the amount of $250 have been offered. We hope to see a good attendance of Riflemen.

DISASTER.—A despatch from Picton, Nov. 5th, says :—"The schooner Jesse Macdonald sprung a leak and sunk at the dock in Consecon harbor while loading peas. She had 3,-000 bushels on board when she went down. The hull is insured in the Western Insurance company, and the cargo in the Mutual Assurance company.

REMEMBERED.—A letter was received from Prince Arthur's Private Secretary a few days ago, enclosing a small donation to Mr. Wesley, who was injured at the time of the Prince's visit to Belleville. The letter expressed the Prince's great regret for the accident, and hopes that the injured man would speedily recover. It will be gratifying to Mr. Wesley's friends to know that he is fast recovering.

Death of Chancellor Vankoughnet.

We sincerely regret to learn that the Hon. PHILIP M. VANKOUGHNET, Chancellor for Ontario, died at his residence in Toronto, on Sunday evening, November 7th, in his 47th year. Mr. Vankoughnet has been ill for some time past, and had been advised to take a trip to Europe in order to restore, as far as possible, his wasted health, but sudden death has brought his earthly career to an end at a much earlier period than was anticipated by those who knew him best.

Chancellor Vankoughnet was a descendant of the United Empire Loyalists, his grandfather having emigrated from the United States to Canada before the Independence of the "Thirteen Colonies" was established. His father who is still living was a member of the old Assembly of Upper Canada, and also a member of the Legislative Council, and now resides in Cornwall where deceased was born on the 26th day of January, 1823. He was originally intended for the Church, but subsequently entered the law office of Mr. Jarvis, of his native Town, and was admitted to the Bar in 1844, at the early age of 21. Few men had more successful practice in Toronto than the deceased, during which he was appointed a Queen's Counsel. In 1856 he was solicited by the present Premier of Canada, Sir John A. Macdonald, to enter his Government as Minister of Agriculture, and 1857 he was elected to a seat in the Legislative Council for the electoral division of Rideau. In 1858 he was transferred to the Crown Lands Department. In 1861 he was one of the delegates to England to consider the question of the Intercolonial Railway, and soon after his return he was appointed Chancellor of what was then Upper Canada, a position he has since occupied with credit to himself and his native Province.

Fifth of November.

BELLEVILLE.

On Friday evening last, a number of the Orangemen of Belleville, celebrated the 5th of November—"Guy Fawkes Day" by dining together at Mr. Borrisdale's "New Dominion Hotel." The chair was occupied by Bro. John G. Moore, County Master of South Hastings, and the vice-chair by Bro. Jason H. Post, W. M. of L. O. L. 274. A number of the prominent Orangemen of Belleville were present, Kingston and Toronto were also represented. The usual loyal and patriotic toasts were most heartily received and responded to. Among the toasts proposed were the following :—"The Earl of Enniskillen, and the Grand Lodge of Ireland," "Hon. J. H. Cameron, G. M. of the Dominion of Canada," and "Bro. Wm. Johnson, M. P., and the Orangemen of Ireland." These toasts were ably responded to by Bros. H. L. Bottoms, Dr. Potts, and Geo. D. Dickson. The evening's entertainment was enlivened by some fine singing by Bros. Ford and Hodgson, and by Bro. Gordon of Kingston. The dinner was one of the best ever prepared in town, and reflected great credit upon Mr. Borrisdale, for the manner in which it was served, every thing on the table being of the choicest kind, and cooked to a "charm." The company, after spending a very pleasant evening, sang "God Save the Queen," and separated about 12 o'clock, "happy to meet, sorry to part, and happy to meet again."

HUNGERFORD—PRESENTATION.

The Orangemen and their friends of Lodge No. 99, Hungerford, held a Soiree in their hall on the 5th inst., for the double purpose of celebrating the 5th of November, and presenting an address and purse to the Rev. Andrew Gordon, who has been laboring among them for some time past. After a substantial dinner had been served by the good wives and daughters of the neighborhood, John Graham, Esq., was called to the chair, who, after stating the object of the meeting, called upon the District Master, Edward Elliott, Esq., to read the following address :—

To the Rev. Andrew Gordon, District Chaplain of District No. 3, S H L O A, B A.

REV. SIR AND BROTHER—We, the District Master, Officers and Members of Loyal Orange District Lodge No. 3, South Hastings, beg leave on this day (the 264th anniversary of the Gunpowder Plot,) to present to you this purse containing $61, as a small token of our esteem for your long continued services to our glorious Institution ; and also for your untiring and zealous efforts in the cause of Christianity and the Protestant religion. Its intrinsic value is not great, but be assured that the feelings that prompt us to present it to you are deep and lasting. Be also assured that the recollection of our kind Chaplain will always rest in that corner of our hearts where the fondest memories of the happy past linger longest. We would further beg to offer our warmest and most sincere respect for both yourself and Mrs. Gordon personally, and hopefully trust that with the kind favors of divine Providence, you both may be spared for many years to adorn the society of our large and important association, which has ever now taken so high a rank among the religious and political institutions of our great Empire. Hoping then, that the Bible which you and we have adopted as our motto, may guide us all to life everlasting ; and that all those blessings which your truest and most sincere friends can desire, on your own behalf, and on that of your beloved partner may await you hereafter.

We beg to remain,
Your ever affectionate
BRETHREN AND COMPANIONS,
In the bonds of F. H. C.

To which the Rev. Brother replied in very appropriate terms, thanking his brethren for the kindly expressions of esteem and affection contained in the address which had been presented to him, as well as for the substantial token of their friendship, assuring them it would be an incentive to him in the future, to go on in the good work to which he had been called by the Lord. He gave them some good advice as to their duties as Orangemen and Christians, and then resumed his seat. He was followed by the Hon. Robt. Read, M. P., who gave an interesting and succint historical account of the Gunpowder Plot ; and by Mr. Bowell, M. P., who spoke for some time upon the state of the Protestant Church in England and Ireland, and Orangeism in those countries.

TWEED.

In the evening the brethren of the Tweed Lodge held a Social in the School House in that village, which was very well attended. Bro. Carlton in the chair. After refreshments, the meeting was addressed briefly by Bros. Wm. White, John Francis, James Reid, and Mr. Bowell.

THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT'S OPINION OF AMERICAN PORK.—The following extract from the Advertisement of the Contract Department of the British Admiralty who are accustomed to class United States pork as A. No. 1 :—

'Tenders for pork of the cure of the United States of America, will not be received.'

What is the matter ? Have our Chicago friends been salting down wooden hams, or is the measels rife again in their grunters.

—Five new volunteer companies have been authorized to be formed in Nova Scotia.

News Condensed.

—Discount on American Invoices this week 21 per cent.

—Firewood is $6 a cord in Montreal to-day. What will it be when winter sets in ?

—Dominion Telegraph poles are going up between Whitby and Toronto.

—Remember the Mechanics Ball and Supper to-morrow evening in Neilson's Hall. Good music will be provided.

—A riot occurred in a negro church on the 5th inst., during which several persons were seriously injured.

—Joseph G. Robertson, Treasurer of Quebec, has been re-elected by acclamation for Sherbrooke.

—A double-headed locomotive, resembling two engines constructed together as one, which will travel either way, obviating the necessity of turn-tables, is building at Taunton, Mass., for the Pacific Railroad.

—An affecting incident occurred at Burlington, Vt., during the recent flood. Just before Frederich, who was lost, went over the dam and falls, two of his children were on the bank and saw their father on a fatal raft of lumber. Too young to understand the danger to which he was exposed, each in childish innocence hailed and cried to their father but an instant before he went down, "Good-by, papa."

A WARNING FROM SECRETARY BOUTWELL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—A Washington special to the Tribune says : Secretary Boutwell warns the public to beware of the stories being put in circulation by sensational newspapers regarding the Government Finances and his ideas, opinions and intentions, concerning the same. They are the mere surmises of persons who know nothing of what they speak, if they pretend to speak in any way officially.

GREAT FIRE—LOSS OF LIFE.

ST. ALBANS, Nov. 8.—There was a late fire in Burlington last night. The Lake House and block were burned ; one man was killed and several badly hurt by the walls falling.

BRUTAL MURDER IN VIRGINIA.

The following appears in the Alexandra Gazette :—

"CHARLOTTEVILLE, VA.—Mrs. Solomon and her son, living about 8 miles from here, were brutally murdered last night. They were found this morning with their heads split open. No arrests have been made yet."

BANK ROBBERY.

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 6.—The late national bank at Meriden was broken open last night and robbed of all its valuable contents, including money, notes, bonds and private deposits. The loss is large. The bank was organized in May, 1865. Its capital was $75,000, and it had a considerable surplus. The loss will fall heavily upon private depositors.

SCHOONER ASHORE—FALL OF SNOW.

COLLINGWOOD, Nov. 6.—The schooner 'Ariel' from Meaford, loaded with flour, went ashore at nine o'clock last night a couple of miles from here during a heavy blow. No lives were lost. The Captain thinks she can be got off without much damage being done her.

Three or four inches of snow fell here last night.

Stock Market.

The following are the latest Stock quotations in the Montreal Market :—

The improved demand for securities noticed last week still continues, and the amounts offered being very limited, prices have again advanced.

BANK OF MONTREAL.—There has been very little stock in market, although buyers offer 148.

BANK OF BRITISH NORTH AMERICA.—No stock in market. 104¼ is readily procurable.

CITY BANK.—Since the declaration of the dividend there has been rather more enquiry, but in the absence of sellers quotations remain unchanged.

MOLSON'S BANK.—There are buyers at 102, but no sellers under 103.

MECHANICS' BANK.—Continues to be largely dealt in at 105¾ to 107¼, closing very firm with buyers at 107, sellers at 107¼ to 107½.

MECHANICS' BANK.—No transactions reported since the opening of the books.

BANQUE DU PEUPLE.—Has been dealt in at 1 to 106¼, which are the closing prices to-day.

BANQUE JACQUES CARTIER.—No stock in market. 109 would be paid.

QUEBEC BANK.—Ruled firm throughout the week, with buyers at 103 to 103½.

BANQUE NATIONALE.—Is offered at 106¾, with buyers at 104 to 105.

UNION BANK OF LOWER CANADA.—Sellers have advanced their prices to 106¾ and buyers to 106¼.

EASTERN TOWNSHIPS BANK.—No stock in market. 101 would be paid.

ONTARIO BANK.—Sold during the week at 101, and an advance on this price is now procurable.

BANK OF TORONTO.—There are buyers but no sellers at quotations.

GORE BANK.—Is in demand but there is no stock offering.

ROYAL CANADIAN BANK.—After declining to 60 is again firmer and 61 is offered, sellers holding for higher prices.

CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE.—There are buyers to a considerable extent at 116, but there is no stock in market.

MONTREAL TELEGRAPH COMPANY.—Quotations remain unchanged, but should any offer, higher prices would be paid.

CANADIAN NAVIGATION COMPANY.—Is unchanged. 99¾ and 100¼ are the views of buyers and sellers respectively.

RICHELIEU NAVIGATION COMPANY.—No stock offering under 125. Buyers would pay 123.

CANADA DOMINION.—Have been in active demand with very few in market. Sales of both Dominion bonds, Dominion stock, and Canada fires at quotations.

MORTGAGES.—Are enquired for on first class city property to pay seven to seven and a half per cent.

EXCHANGE.—Has ruled very dull and closes heavy at 8¼ to 8¾ for bank and 7¾ to 8 for documentary.

MONEY.—The amount seeking investment is very large, and with a greatly restricted business there is no prospect of high rates for a long time to come.

THE LATE MR. PEABODY.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The death of Mr. Geo. Peabody occurred so late on Thursday (half-past eleven o'clock) that the fact could not be widely published until to-day. His death is universally regretted. Flags are flying at half-mast; buildings are draped in parts of the city, and other evidences attest the public sorrow.

The 'Daily News' of this morning, in its obituary article, says: "Peabody was not a man of impulsive, emotional benevolence, but rather of judicious, widely-spread beneficence. His liberality was not posthumous. He gave from his own substance; he did not surrender what death wrested from him. His services, both to his native and adopted country, were fittingly and graciously recognized in royal letters and the thanks of congress. Merchants in passing his statue daily do not need to learn from the consummate man of business how to gain money. His career may teach them how it may be wisely spent."

NEW BRIDGE OPENED BY THE QUEEN.

The Queen opened the new bridge and viaduct to-day with stately ceremonies. Crowds of people thronged the streets, and the houses in the neighborhood were gaily decorated.

A LETTER RESPECTING DR. LIVINGSTONE.

Sir Roderick Murchison publishes an extract from the Rev. Mr. Kirk's letter as follows: "We may infer that before this Dr. Livingstone has satisfied himself whether any of the South African waters flow into Lake Albert Nyanza. If this determination is arrived at, he will have solved the problem of African geography."

THE LATEST.

MEXICAN NEWS.

HAVANA, Nov. 6.—Mexican advices state that Governor Seward had arrived at Guadulajore. He was everywhere received with enthusiasm.

Reports of dissensions among the Mexican Ministry are unfounded.

Norton & Co., have presented a memorial to Congress to-day, for a submarine cable between Mexico and the United States.

FRANCE AND ECUMENICAL COUNCIL.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—The Archbishop of Paris has issued a pastoral letter on the Ecumenical Council. He maintains that the French concordat is opposed to any decision of the question of infallibility of the Pope without discussion.

MEETINGS DISSOLVED.

Two electoral meetings were dissolved yesterday by the Police. Both assemblages dispersed quietly, offering no resistance to the Police.

ROCHFORT.

Henri Rochfort has arrived in Paris. Last night he addressed an electoral meeting. He is nominated as sole candidate for the Corps Legislatif from the First Ward of Paris.

LEDRU ROLLIN.

Ledru Rollin has accepted the nomination to the Corps Legislatif from one of the Paris districts, without, however, taking the oath of personal fidelity to the Emperor.

FROM SPAIN.

MADRID, Nov. 7.—The Unionists show signs of disagreement with the Progressists on other points besides the selection of a King, namely: On the oath to support the Constitution and in regard to the election of deputies to fill the vacant seats in the Cortes.

THE REBELLION IN AUSTRIA—MORE FIGHTING.

BARDUA, Dalmatia, Nov. 7.—Official telegrams state that the Austrian forces operating against the Dalmatian insurgents at, and south of Castaro have, after considerable and severe fighting, captured and partially burned down the towns of Pahoai and Maina. The insurgents, just previous to their defeat, blew up Fort Stanjerich.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

BOILS,

Like the volcano, Boils give issue to the foul and fiery contents of the deep interior. To remove the cause of such suffering it is only necessary to vitalise the blood by supplying it with its Life Element, Iron.

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP,

(a protected solution of the Protoxide of Iron) will do this effectively, and give strength, vigor and new life to the whole system.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM REV. RICHARD S. EDES, OF BOLTON, MASS.

"For years I was a sufferer from Boils, so that my life became wearisome through their frequent and persistent recurrence; finally a carbuncle formed in the small of my back. During its progress large pieces of decomposed flesh were every day or two cut away, and the prostration and general disturbance of the system were great. Before I had recovered from this attack two smaller carbuncles broke out higher up, and I was again threatened with a recurrence of the sufferings to which I had so long been subjected. It was at this time that I commenced taking the PERUVIAN SYRUP. I continued taking it until I had used five bottles; since then I have had nothing of the kind. For years I was one of the greatest sufferers. Other medicines gave me partial and temporary relief, but the Peruvian Syrup, with a kind of intuitive sense, went directly to the root of the evil, and did its work with a thoroughness which fully established character."

A 32 page Pamphlet sent free. The genuine has "PERUVIAN SYRUP" blown in the glass.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

THE REMEDY FOR CURING

Consumption, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppressions of the Chest or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS action is expectorant, alterative, sedative, diaphoretic, and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes them to throw off the phlegm; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS and PURIFIES the BLOOD; heals the irritated membranes of the whole digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action and imparts strength to the whole system. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction, even in the most confirmed cases of consumption, and not to produce the nauseating (as most remedies) or offset the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no necessity of any deaths by consumption, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

A YEAR'S TRIAL.

As Montreal Tea Company: MONTREAL, 1868.

GENTS.—It is nearly a year since I purchased the first chest of Tea from your house. I have purchased many chests since, and I am pleased to inform you the Tea has in every case proved most satisfactory, as well as being exceedingly cheap.

J. DENNIE.

Montreal Tea Co:

GENTLEMEN.—The Tea I purchased of you in March has given great satisfaction, and the flavor of it is very fine. It is very strange, but since I have been drinking your Tea I have been quite free from heartburn, which would always pain me after breakfast. I attribute this to the purity of your Tea, and shall continue a customer.

Yours respectfully,
FRANCIS T. GREENE,
84 St. John Street,
Montreal.

Montreal, April, 1868.—To the Montreal Tea Company, 6 Hospital Street, Montreal: We notice with pleasure the large consumption of Tea forwarded for you to different parts of the Dominion, and we are glad to find your business so rapidly increasing. We presume your Teas are giving general satisfaction, as out of the large amount forwarded there has been on occasion to return one box, which, we understand, was sent through a mistake.

In the Tropics.

The blue waves beat upon the coral reef,
The palm trees bow their coronals of green,
Kissed by the soft southwest wind. Myriads
Of gold and purple-plumaged orioles,
Of scarlet-crested, snowy winged birds,
Dash, dazzling meteors of living fire,
Across the forest track.

The tiger steps,
Crafty and cruel breeding in his lair,
Waiting the fall of night, as Evil bides,
Shunning the bright rays of the glorious sun.
And battening on darkness. Crimson flowers
Hang from the creepers, where the boa lurks,
Coiling her deadly folds, with venomed eye
Fixed on the path beneath. The leopards crouch,
Half Wakeful in the jungle; scene so fair,
At every onward footstep, threatens—Death!
Low, the red sun declines; within the brake
The stealthy jaguar begins to stir,
The jackal sounds the prelude of attack,
To warn our lingering footsteps. Safely now
No longer waits upon the traveller;
But discord, rapine, and a thousand foes,
Gaunt-eyed, and crimson-robed, and ravenous,
Rise into being 'neath the mask of Night.

A Prompt Witness.

Perhaps one of the most "enjoyable" things in a modern court of justice where not unfrequently innocent witnesses, who are losing patience, time and money in their compulsory occupancy of the witness stand (which is pillory), are "badly ragged" and tormented—is the torturing in return of some impudent, unfeeling advocate. A good case in point is this:

In a court not more than about five thousand miles from the city of Gotham, a legal gentleman had gone through the various stages of bar pleading, and had coaxed and threatened and bullied witness to his heart's content, when it chanced that a very stupid fellow—an hostler—was called upon the stand. He was, in fact, simplicity personified. The counsel, it should be premised, made a great fuss about the previous witness speaking so low that he could not hear them.

'Now, sir,' said the learned counsel, "I hope we shall have no difficulty in making you speak up." (He himself spoke rudely loud.)

'I hope not, sir,' shouted the witness, in such bellowing tones that they fairly shook the building.

'How dare you speak in that way sir?' demanded the counsel.

'I can't speak no louder!'—shouting louder than before, as if to atone for his fault in speaking too low.

'Have you been drinking this morning?' asked the lawyer, who had now entirely lost command of his temper at the roars of laughter which burst forth from a crowded audience.

'Yes, sir,' said the witness, frankly.

'And what have you been drinking, sir? Look at the jury—don't look at me, sir, in that way.'

'Coffee, sir!'

'Did you have anything in your coffee sir?'

'Yes, sir.'

'I thought so," said the counsel, with a glance at the jury. 'Well, sir,' continued the learned counsel, 'you say you had something in your coffee. State, if you please, to the jury what that something was.'

'Sugar, sir,' answered the witness, without the movement of a muscle.

There was another burst of furtive laughter throughout the court room.

'This man is no fool, your honor,' addressing the court), 'but he is something worse. Now, witness, you must come to the point. Had you anything else in your coffee besides sugar?

'Yes, sir.'

'Yes—you had. (Well, we are likely to get the truth, after all, his turning and twisting to the contrary, notwithstanding.) Well, sir, what else was it you had in your coffee?'

'A spune, sir!' shouted the witness. 'Do I make you hear me, Squire?—a spune!'

That was the last witness, and the last of him on that stand. Here the trial was adjourned untill the next day.—Harper's Magazine.

WHEN IS A MAN DRUNK?—In charging the grand jury at Dorchester, Mr. Justice Lush said there was no word in the English language which was used more flexibly than the word "drunk." Each person had a standard in his own mind which he judged from. Here is the standard quoted from the works of an old poet by the learned Recorder of Bath, in the course of a trial before his lordship, two days previously, at Salisbury:

"Not drunk is he who from the floor
Can rise alone and still drink more;
But drunk is he that, prostrate lies
Without the power to drink or rise."

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of soiling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. It wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor has any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all agree that what it does cure it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compositor. Hence, thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel nor any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, in however slight a degree, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills readily cure:

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

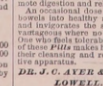

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels lowspirited, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

QUERY?

Should we employ the noble doctors to bring us our tea and coffee in bottles, at an expense of at least four times what they now cost?

If not, why should we longer adopt that system in reference to medicines which are the simple extracts of herbs or plants and roots, and should be readily prepared at tea and coffee?

Each package of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines contains more medical properties than can be procured in any other form for four times the money.

We have in our possession numerous testimonials as to the practicability of, as well as the benefit to be derived from the use of Dr. Thompson's Botanic Medicines, viz:

Dr. Thomson's Blood Purifier

Cures all diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, such as salt-rheum, scrofula, king's evil, white swellings, tendency to tumors, old sores, pimples or roughness of the skin. Irregular or painful menses, and bowels, causes the liver and promotes the great organ of the skin, to perform a healthy action. Sold at 50 cents per package.

DR. THOMPSON'S Stomachic Bitters,

A certain and speedy cure for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and Indigestion. For convenience it has no equal; it is a mild and safe purgative and corrective for delicate persons; a good alterative tonic for ordinary family purposes; a powerful invigorator where the system has been reduced by sickness; an excellent as well as an agreeable and wholesome stimulant, for general debility, and diseases having their origin in a disordered digestion or a deranged state of the stomach. Sold at 25 cents per package.

Dr. Thompson's No. 6. OR COMPOSITION POWDERS

It is used with success for diseases caused by colds, such as cold chills, chills and fever, headaches, pains in the joints or limbs, neuralgia, rheumatic pains, fact it may properly be called PAIN KILLER, as it may be used for all purposes for which Pain Killer has been used, such as cramps in the stomach, colic, diarrhœa, dysentery, summer complaints, cholera morbus, tetanic complaints, and many others that may be cured with great success as a Liniment. Sold at 25 cents per package.

The proprietor has been induced to adopt the present condensed style of putting up these medicines in packages, as he is thereby enabled to supply double the amount of medicine for the same price as the regular price of similar preparations.

ROYAL ITALIAN BITTERS

OR TONICO REALE.

Del Dottore F. P. Verri, Prof. of Chemistry in the of University Padua, Italy.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original preparer at the National Exposition at Torino, Italy, by whose favor Mr. Gianelli obtained the Recipe, and was also awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition of Canada, held at Montreal in September, 1865, is without exception, the most wonderful, salubrious and agreeable Tonic ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America.

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite among the élite of society, being generally served in the Drawing Room immediately before dinner, in preference to Vermouth.

☞ The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval on every account.

The Proprietor has no idea of parading or puffing it before the public, but merely asks a sound and unprejudiced trial.

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, TUESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 9, 1869. No. 162.

Beyond the Tide.

We read that beyond Death's dreary tide
Is a land so bright that it needs no sun,
Where the gates of pearl stand open wide
Through a Sabbath day that is never done.

We read that no pain can ever smite
The dwellers upon that glorious shore;
No dying is there, nor sin's sad blight,
And their tears are wiped for evermore.

It is very lonely this side the flood,
When those we loved have meekly died;
And in the silence of our abode
We listen for sounds from beyond the tide.

We know that their home is a wondrous land,
And we stand on the river's stormy side;
Oh! say, if upon this earthly strand
There may float no sign from beyond the tide?

Where is the angel who rolled the stone
From the sepulchre? Is the gulf so wide
That they only cross to the Holy One,
And never again from beyond the tide?

Secrets of the Death-Bed.

It is a fearful thing to wait and watch for the approach of death; to know that hope is gone, and recovery impossible; and to sit and count the dreary hours through long, long nights,—such nights as only watchers by the bed of sickness know. It chills the blood to hear the dearest secrets of the heart—the pent-up, hidden secrets of many years—poured forth by the unconscious, helpless being before you; and to think how little the reserve and cunning of a whole life will avail when fever and delirium tear off the mask at last. Strange tales have been told in the wanderings of dying men; tales so full of guilt and crime, that those who stood by the sick person's couch have fled in horror and affright, less they should be scared to madness by what they heard anew; and many a wretch had died, raving of deeds the very name of which has driven the boldest man away.—Dickens.

Father Hyacinthe on Christian Unity.

At a meeting of the Evangelical Union held in New York on Thursday, the Rev. M. Bacon, of Williamsburgh, said that he was compiling Father Hyacinthe's sermons, and having acquainted that gentleman with the fact, he received a reply, to be used as a preface to the work, which he read as follows:

"I am gratified as well as surprised at the honor which you are disposed to give to the few discourses I have published in Europe. I should have been glad, I acknowledge, if I had been able to bring to America something less unworthy of the sympathies with which I have here been welcomed, and which I shall always reckon among the greatest honors and the purest joys of my life. Such as these are, however, I commit these rough productions to the intelligence of your readers. Frenchman and Catholic as I am, I present them through your hands to that great American Republic of which you are a citizen, and to those numerous and flourishing Protestant Churches of which you are one of the ministers. I am proud of my France, but I deem it one of its most solid glories to have contributed to the independence of that noble country, which it has never ceased to love, and which it shall one day learn to imitate. How many people for whom liberty is something less than a barren theory! With me the cause of labor has never been confounded with that relation of liberty which rears its houses of prayer next to its houses of commerce, and crowns its noisy and productive week with the sweetness and majesty of its worship. I continue faithful to my Church and faith, and I have protested against the excesses which have dishonoured it, and which seem bent upon its ruin. You may measure the intensity of my love to-day with the bitterness of my lamentation. When He who is in all things our master, our example, armed himself with a scourge of cords against the profaners of the Temple. His disciples remembered that it was written, "The zeal of thine house hath eaten me up." I am still faithful to my Church. I am none the less sensible of the great interest which must be felt in the bosom of other churches in what I may say or do within the pale of Catholicism. For that matter, I have never deemed that the Christian Communions that have been separated from Rome have been disinherited of the Holy Ghost, and without a part in the infinite work of the preparation for the Kingdom of God. In my relations with some of the most pious and most learned of their members, I have experienced in the very depth of my soul, that unutterable blessing of the communion of saints. Whatever may divide us externally in space or in time, vanishes like a dream in the presence of that which unites us within—the grace of the same God, the blood of the same cross, the Host of the same Trinity. Whatever be our prejudices, yet under the eye of God who seeks every hidden thing, who gives His hand which is leading us, we are laboring all in common for the upbuilding of that Church of the future which shall be the church of the past in its purity and its original beauty.

"In the days of his captivity the word of the Lord came to Ezekiel and said to him, Take a stick and write thereon, For Judea and for the children of Israel, his tenants; and take another stick and write thereon, For Joseph; also a stick for Ephraim and for all the house of Israel, his tenants. Then thou shalt join them one to the other, and they shall form but one stick, and they shall be united in thy hand." The Lord hath then put in my hand two branches, Rome and the children of others. I have pressed them together to my heart, and under the outpouring of my tears and my prayers I have so joined them that they shall be henceforth but one tree. Men have dared to scorn my efforts, seemingly so, and they ask of me, as they have asked of the seer of olden times, "Will you not tell us what then that you would do? And I look upon that tree that seems still torn and mutilated, and already I behold the brilliant flower and the savory fruit, one God, one faith, one baptism, and there shall be one fold and one shepherd.

The Only Female Mason.

HON. Elizabeth St. Leger was the only female ever initiated into the mystery of Free Masonry. She has had two degrees —the first and second—conferred on her. As it may be interesting to the general reader, we give the story as to how Miss St. Leger obtained this honor promising that the information comes from the best of sources. Lord Donoraile, Miss St. Leger's father a very zealous Mason, held a warrant and occasionally opened lodge at Donoraile House, his sons and some intimate friends assisting; and it is said that never were Masonic duties more rigorously performed than by the brethren of number 150 the number of their warrant. It appears that previous to the initiation of a gentleman to the first degree of Masonry, Miss St. Leger, who was a young girl, happened to be in an apartment adjoining the room generally used as a lodge room, but whether the young lady was there by design or merely accident, we cannot confidently state. The room at the time was undergoing some alteration; among other things, the wall was considerably reduced in one part, for the purpose of making a saloon. The young lady having heard the voices of Freemasons, and being incited by the curiosity natural to all to see this mystery so long and so secretly locked up from the public view, had the courage to pick a brick from the wall with her scissors and thus witness the two first steps of the ceremony. Curiosity gratified, fear at once took possession of her mind, and those who understand this passage well know what the feeling of any person must be who could unlawfully behold that ceremony; let them judge what were the feelings of a young girl under such extraordinary circumstances.

There was no mode of escape except through the very room where the concluding part of the second step was still being solemnized at the far end, and the room a very large one. Miss St. Leger had resolution enough to attempt her escape that way, and, with light but trembling steps, gliding along unobserved, laid her hand on the handle of the door and opened it, but before her stood, to her dismay, a grim tyler with his long sword unsheathed. A shriek that pierced through the apartment alarmed the members of the lodge who, all rushing to the door, and finding that Miss St. Leger had been in the room during the ceremony, resolved, it is said, in the paroxysm of their rage, to put the fair spectator to death; but at the moving, earnest supplication of her youngest brother her life was spared, on condition of her going through the two remaining steps of the solemn ceremony she had unlawfully witnessed. This she consented to, and they conducted the beautiful and terrified young lady through those trials which are sometimes more than enough for masculine resolution, little thinking they were taking into the bosom of their craft a member that would reflect a luster on the annals of masonry. Miss St. Leger was cousin to General Anthony St. Leger, who instituted the interesting race, and celebrated Doncaster St. Leger stakes. Eventually she married Richard Aldworth, Esq., of Newmarket, a member of a highly honorable and ancient family. Whenever a benefit was given to any of the theaters in Dublin or Cork, for the Masonic female orphans asylum, Mrs. Aldworth walked at the head of the Freemasons, with her apron and other insignia of Freemasonry, and sat in the front row of the stage-box. The house was always crowded on these occasions. The portrait of this estimable woman is in the lodge-room of almost every lodge in Ireland.

—A disease affecting the mouth and feet of cattle is spreading all over England, having been imported from the Continent where it is very prevalent. The lips and mouth of the animal are greatly swollen, and are covered with froth, and the secretion of saliva greatly increased.

Count Bismarck at a Review.

An Occasional Correspondent of The London Times, describing the manœuvres of the Crown Prince of Prussia's Corps d' Armee near Stutgard, writes from Berlin on Sept. 12:—"During the morning a personage of note had appeared on the field. A man of great stature and size, mounted on a strong black horse, rode into the group around the King. He was dressed in a plain dark frock, with yellow facings, wore the high boots and long straight sword of the Cuirassiers, and his dark massive face was covered with a huge helmet which appeared to have come out of some antiquarys collection; its broad projecting peak casting the upper part of his face into shadow That helmet covered the brain which had set all the warlike machinery of the monarchy in motion on its path of conquest,for it was Count Bismarck who, in his second ary character of a Prussian General, now appeared among us. Close beside him sat Von Moltke, the strategist, whose forecast had given his aggressive policy such success; but whereas the profound military thinker was thin, and bent, and worn, the statesman, bold and stern of aspect, was perhaps the largest man on the field, and looked capable of upsetting in combat a brace of cuirassiers."

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, NOV. 9.

TOWN COUNCIL.—There was no meeting of the Council last night, there not being a quorum present.

FOR EUROPE.—Dr. Burdett, of Belleville, left yesterday for a few months tour in Europe. We wish him a pleasant journey and a safe return.

FRANKFORD BRIDGE.—The Gravel Road Committee of the County Council at its meeting yesterday, gave the contract for siding and batting the Frankford Bridge to Patrick Turley, Esq., his tender being the lowest.—The amount of the contract was $600.

EARTHQUAKE.—A private despatch received by cable says that on the 27th October a severe earthquake occurred at Manilla, West Indies. All the houses were shaken; some of the city walls fell and there were many accidents, but no Europeans were killed.

A MIRACLE.—La Minerve informs its readers that one Sophie Lapiere, for twenty years lame and obliged to walk with a crutch has just been cured by touching the bones of St. Zeno and his fellow martyrs. When will humbug and religious superstition cease?

SNOW STORM.—We learn by passengers by last night's train from the west, that a heavy snow storm prevailed along the line during the afternoon, as far east as Cobourg. Snow fell to the depth of several inches, and in some places it had drifted so as to seriously impede the progress of the train. At one place the engine got stuck in a snow drift and the snow had to be shovelled away before the train could proceed.

BRIGADE MAJOR.—The Kingston Whig says, Major Phillips, District Quarter-master, has been appointed Brigade Major, in place of Lt.-Col. Shaw, who goes to Scotland as Emigrant Agent for the Dominion. Major Phillips will make an efficient and popular officer; and while we believe the office to be utterly useless, still, if the Ministry is determined to maintain the staff as at present constituted, we know of few volunteers officers more deserving of promotion than Major Phillips, and therefore congratulate him upon his appointment.

HAULED OUT.—On Friday evening Nov. 5th, says the Kingston Whig, the Str. Rochester arrived from Belleville, with a general cargo for Oswego, on a regular trip down the Bay. She sprung a leak and her trip to Oswego had to be abandoned. On Saturday morning she discharged her cargo and went on dry dock at Portsmouth, for repairs. She took in water at the rate of six inches an hour, lying at the dock, and is believed to have had a hole knocked in her some way. As soon as she is repaired she will complete the present trip to Oswego, and then most likely lay up for the season.

CANADIAN ILLUSTRATED NEWS.—The first number of the Canadian Illustrated Journal has been received. It contains 16 pages, printed upon excellent tinted paper, and is illustrated with a fine likeness of His Royal Highness, Prince Arthur, in Rifle uniform; the head of Jean Baptiste Trompmann, simulating sleep to avoid being interrogated.—The Empress visiting the Hospital at Lyons; Review of the guard of honor to the Prince Imperial at Bastia; the Empress placing the Bust of the Prince Imperial in the room in which Napoleon the First was born; Prince Arthur's visit to the Provincial Exhibition, London, Ontario, Sept. 1869; reception of His Royal Highness, Prince Arthur, in Montreal; the procession at Place D'Armes; Rosemount, the residence of H. R. H., Prince Arthur, the property, and former residence of Hon John Rose; a likeness of Gen. Carlos Manuel Cespedes; the Provincial Buildings, Halifax, N. S.; group of Indians at the Lacrosse Tournament, Oct. 9th; and an admirable comic cut of a great Fenian scare.—On the whole, the number before us is a very creditable one, and if well sustained by the Dominion, will be a credit to the Canadian people. It is a weekly paper, published at $4 per annum, by Geo. E. Desbarats, Montreal.

Kingston and Madoc Railway.

The Kingston Whig of the 9th says:—

"On Saturday evening, 6th Nov., at a meeting of the Kingston Branch of the Board of Provisional Directors at the Kingston and Madoc Railway, Mr. T. W. Nash, P. L. S., was in attendance by invitation, in order that he might receive the necessary instructions for the surveyors necessary to be made and described in the Bill to be laid before the Ontario Legislature, to provide for a charter for the road. Mr. Nash started on his preliminary survey yesterday, and is expected to report himself again in about ten days.

"It is understood that Sydenham has been agreed on as one of the important connections of the route, and Tamworth as well, but the route between these points remains a matter of consideration, in the decision of which Mr. Nash's recommendation, after a practical examination, will have great weight. Mcaford and Centreville, in Camden, are points spoken of for connections, but no decision will be arrived at yet between them. All that is now required is to name the leading points at which it is proposed to touch. The intervening routes are left wholly at the disposition of the directors and engineers of the road.

"We may state that it is not the intention of the Provisional Directors to ask the City Council to submit the $50,000 bonus by-law to the people until the charter of the road had been secured, and they are able to show a substantial beginning of the project."

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

MONDAY, Nov. 8, 1869.

A large number of petitions were presented.

The following Standing Committees were appointed:—

ON RAILWAYS.—Hon. Attorney General Macdonald, Messrs. Cameron, Carling, McMurrich, Richards, Wood, Beatty, Calvin, Christie, Cockburn, Coyne, Craig (Glengarry), Cumberland, Currie, Ferguson, Fraser, Gow, Graham (Hastings), Hays, Lyon, McCall (Norfolk), McColl, McDougall, McKellar, McKim, McLeod, Paxton, Perry, Rykert, Scott (Grey), Scott (Ottawa), Sinclair, Swinarton, Trow, Wallis, Williams (Hamilton), Williams (Durham).—37.

ON STANDING ORDERS.—Messrs. Wood, Barber Beatty, Boulter, Carnegie, Clarke, Clemens, Code, Cook, Corby, Coyne, Ferrier, Finlayson, Fraser, Gow, Greeley, Luton, Matchett, McGill, McKim, McLeod, Oliver, Paxton, Read, Rykert, Secord, Sinclair, Smith (Kent), Smith (Leeds), Springer, Strange, Swinarton, Wallis, Wigle, Wilson.—35.

ON PRIVATE BILLS.—Hon. Attorney-General Macdonald, Messrs. Cameron, Carling, Blake, Boyd, Carling, Clarke, Coyne, Craig (Russell), Cumberland, Evans, Eyre, Galbraith, Hooper, Lauder, Lount, Lyon, Monteith, McDougall, Oliver, Pardee, Rykert, Scott (Grey), Scott (Ottawa), Smith (Middlesex), Williams (Durham.)

ON PRIVILEGES AND ELECTIONS.—Hon. Attorney General Macdonald, Messrs. ON PUBLIC ACCOUNTS.—Messrs. Wood, McMurrich, Beaty, Blake, Carnegie, Cumberland, McDougall, McLeod, Smith (Leeds).—9.

A number of notices of motion were made.

MR. CAMERON'S Bill to amend the Common School Laws of the Province of Ont., was read a first time.

Mr. BOYD introduced a Bill entitled the Income Franchise Act of 1869, which was read a first time.

Mr. BOYD obtained leave to introduce a Bill to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors to persons in their minority and others. The bill was read a first time, and the second reading fixed for Wednesday.

Mr. BOYD obtained leave to introduce a bill to exempt the homesteads of families from levy and execution. The bill was read a first time, and the second reading fixed for Wednesday.

In reply to Mr. Wallis, Attorney General MACDONALD said that the government had under consideration the proposal to erect an asylum for the blind of the province of Ontario.

A large number of returns were moved for, when the House adjourned at 3.35, p. m.

Marine Disasters.

The following additional disasters during the recent heavy gales are reported:

PORT COLBORNE, Nov. 6.—The brig Castalus has arrived, with the loss of sails, boats and part of her deck load of lumber. The barque Arctic ran back with jib boom gone and some sails torn. The schr. Grace also lost her boat. Wallace Rider,mate on the schooner Kearsage was lost overboard yesterday coming down the lake in the gale.

The scow Agnes is ashore at Grand River loaded with pail-wood bolts.

QUEBEC, Nov. 8. The steamer Her Majesty, with a cargo of coal from Pictou struck on Whitehead Shoal, near Perce on Saturday morning during a fog. Part of the crew came up here in the steamer Plamboro. The captain and the remainder of the crew will come up by the Gaspe. No lives were lost. The vessel is in six fathoms water, and is expected to be a total wreck. The Western Insurance agent at Perce has charge of the wreck.

News Condensed.

—Mr. Cantwell has been elected for Hunting. don to the Quebec Legislature, by a majority of 84 over McDonnell.

—An Irishman says he can see no earthly reason why women should not be allowed to become medical men.

—Le Journal of Quebec says that the French Canadians are pouring into the Province from every direction on their return from the States.

—The Government have agreed totake the new Montreal Drill Hall from the Corporation on the terms proposed by the latter.

—The men who have for some time past been working on the Government road from Fort William to Fort Garry, to the number of 250, returned on Thursday.

—A Napanee telegram says: "Mr. Davis, of the Inland Revenue Department, has seized two illicit stills, one in Frontenac and the other in Addington.

—The speculators in New York are said to be working for another bull movement, but how, has not yet transpired. It will be recollected, says the Boston 'Traveller,' that the last grand speculative cyclone, the effects of which have not yet been entirely obliterated, was minutely predicted by the leading commercial journals.

—'Everything has its use,' said a philosophical professor to his class. 'Of what use is a drunkard's fiery red nose?' asked one of the pupils. 'It is a lighthouse,' answered the professor, 'to warn us of the little water that passes underneath it, and reminds us of the shoals of appetite on which we might otherwise be wrecked.'

—Some weeks ago a terrible conflagration occurred at the little village of Radocsin, in Hungary. While the men and women had left their houses to work in the fields, a fire broke out in a barn, and consumed 125 out of 130 houses composing the village. Twenty-one little children, who had been left by their mothers in their houses, perished in the flames.

—The unseemly work of driving spikes into savings on the Rideau has been followed, in the case of Mr. Code, M. P. P., by a further outrage. On last Friday night some scoundrels placed two bags of powder, with fuses attached, in Mr. Code's mill and kiln, respectively. The fuse in both bags lighted, but the one in the mill missed fire, while the other exploded and blew the roof off the building.

The Madoc Railway.

To the Editor of the Daily Intelligencer.

MR. EDITOR,—It seems to me that the inhabitants of Belleville, or a part of them,have lost sight of the many advantages that would accrue to the Town by having a railway to the back Townships. In this communication I will not attempt to discuss the subject in all its details, but will confine myself to one idea which seems to have been lost sight of by both those that are advocating the railway and those that are opposed to it. Do not those that are opposed to the road see that if Kingston gets the railway that that will be the first step towards a separation of the County, whereby Madoc would then become the County Town of the North, and Belleville would lose enough trade in five years to build two such railways. If this separation should take place, Belleville would then become the County Town of only three or four Townships, while Madoc would be the County Town of some ten or twelve townships. Is it not,therefore, the duty of every tax-payer and land owner in the Town, to do all in their power towards having the railway between Belleville and Madoc built as soon as possible. They now have the trade of the back country, but if they are not up and doing they will lose that trade, and Belleville will become a one-horse town, and property classed among the old fogy places, the same as Kingston now is. Every property owner in the Town should put his shoulder to the wheel and help along with this railway movement,and there by increase the value of his property fifty per cent. Belleville has a great deal to gain by being the terminus of this railway, and a great deal to lose if Kingston should be the place selected. Let the subject be well ventilated, and I believe that in a short time there will not be one voice raised against Belleville giving a bonus of $25,000 or $50,000 towards building a railroad to the rear Townships.

Yours truly,

TAX-PAYER.

Two Romantic Incidents in Real Life.

The first is told as follows in the St. Paul (Minn.) Press of Oct. 29:—

"Some years since a lady who had been a teacher married a missionary who went to India. Among other acquaintances, she met a gentleman connected with the British Army. In her possession were pictures of several friends and acquaintances in this State, which she exhibited to this gentleman. One of the pictures was of a Miss Jennie Shaw, of Lakeland, Minn. It pleased him so well that he at once opened a correspondence, which finally culminated in an engagement. Last Febraary he arrived here, and immediately went over to Lakeland to visit his affianced. Both were so well pleased that a marriage between them was consummated in a few weeks.—They immediately left for Europe. Yesterday the English gentleman and his bride returned from their tour and went by carriage from here to Lakeland. During their absence they have visited all the principal cities and noted places in Europe and have now come to make a brief sojourn with the relatives of the bride, when they will sail for India, and he will resume his military duties."

And the second is thus narrated in the Richmond Enquirer and Examiner of Saturday last:—

"About ten years ago a young man named Quackenbush left his home in Warwick, Orange County, with a drove of cattle for New York City. Here he sold his destination, sold his cattle, and from that time up to last Saturday his relatives lost all trace of him. On Saturday a man of about eighty years arrived at Warwick, bringing intelligence of the missing young man. It seems that Quackenbush was robbed in New York City after selling his cattle, and in desperation at his loss shipped for California. He went to the mines and formed an association with two young men to care for each other in sickness and during life, and to share each other's fortune in case of death. When the gold fever broke out in Australia, the trio went thither and labored together with success. Last year, however, Mr. Quackenbush's associates died, and as their heir, under the agreement, he found himself possessed of about $35,000. He determined to return to his early home, and, gathering up his treasures, sailed for Liverpool. There he was taken sick and died last spring. The aged messenger referred to was at the same house with Mr. Quackenbush, and as he intended to come to this country as soon as he could arrange his affairs, to him was intrusted the duty of informing the relatives of Mr. Quackenbush of his death. He was received there at first with suspicion but he produced satisfactory references, and the family have taken steps to recover the fortune which awaits them in England."

Business Notices.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and equable over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came: the room was crowded with anxious expectants; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—The very agreeable character of this preparation has rendered it a general favourite. The CIVIL SERVICE GAZETTE remarks:—"The singular success which Mr. Epps attained by his homœopathic preparation of cocoa has never been surpassed by any experimentalist. By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills." Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold by the Trade only in ½lb., ¼lb., and 1lb. tin lined packets, labelled—JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England. 91—6w'68

FUNERAL SERVICES OVER THE REMAINS OF THE LATE GEO. PEABODY.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—By order of the Queen the funeral services will be held over the remains of the late Geo. Peabody in Westminster Abbey on Friday, Nov. 12.

PRECAUTIONARY MEASURES.

PARIS, Nov. 8.—The 'Presse' says the Minister of War and Marine proceeded to Compeigne yesterday to consult with the Emperor on measures to be taken in the event of the death of the King of Italy, especially as fears are entertained that the Mazzinians are plotting insurrection in Italy, to take place at the end of the present month.

HONOR TO ROCHEFORT.

PARIS, Nov. 8, (midnight.)—At a late hour to-night a crowd of about 1,000 citizens assembled Henri Rochefort to his hotel crying, 'Vive Rochefort.' The police did not interfere with the demonstration.

SCHOONERS ASHORE—LOSS OF LIFE.

DETROIT, Nov. 8.—The bark 'Naomi' went ashore near Manister Lake, Michigan, and is a total loss. The captain, his wife and one seaman were drowned. The bark 'City of Painesville,' laden with coal, is ashore and full of water in the same vicinity, but may be got off. The crew were saved.

SMALL-POX AMONG THE INDIANS.

FORT BENTON, MONTANA, Nov. 8.—A special messenger to Gen. Sully, the Indian superintendent, reports that the deaths among the Grosventre Indians from small-pox number five hundred, or one half of the entire tribe. They are committing suicide by blowing their brains out with revolvers.

DISASTROUS INUNDATION.

MERIDIA YUCATAN, Oct. 8, via Havana, Oct. 26.—Disastrous inundations occurred in the vicinity of the city which caused heavy damages to property. Several lives were lost. The water destroyed the roads, which in the country were impassable on account of heavy rocks having been carried by the current and lodged in the highways. The cemetery was washed away and many corpses and skeletons were found floating in the water. The flood at last accounts was decreasing.

FAILURE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Bennige & Co., a well known firm, liquor dealers, on Liberty street, suspended to-day. The failure is said to be the direct result of the present condition of the discount market. They claim their assets to be double their liabilities, but were forced to suspend, because unable to sell any of their paper.

THE CUBAN QUESTION.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Senator Morton had a protracted interview with the President to-day. Morton denies that he is preparing a speech advocating Cuban recognition, although he believes it to be the true policy of the administration to extend such moral aid to the struggling insurgents.

THE PRIZE FIGHT.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 8.—The fight between McCool and Allen is off, owing to the stakeholder imbroglio.

THE CUBAN FILLIBUSTERS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The officers of the str. "Hornet," were brought to Brooklyn yesterday, and turned over to Marshal Dalton, who held them in $15,000, each to answer before the United States Circuit Court.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

BOILS,
Like the volcano, Boils give issue to the foul and fiery contents of the deep interior. To remove the cause of such suffering it is only necessary to vitalize the blood by supplying it with its Life Element, IRON,
THE PERUVIAN SYRUP,
(a preparation of Iron, the Protoxide of Iron) will do this effectively, and give strength, vigor and new life to the whole system.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM REV. RICHARD S. EDES, OF BOLTON, MASS.

"For years I was a sufferer from Boils, so that my life became wearisome through their frequent and persistent recurrence; finally a carbuncle formed in the small of my back. During its progress a large piece of decomposed flesh were every day or two cut away, and the prostration and general disturbance of the system were great. Before I had recovered from this attack two smaller carbuncles broke out higher up, and I was again threatened with a recurrence of the sufferings to which I had so long been subjected. It was at this time that I commenced taking the PERUVIAN SYRUP. I continued taking it until I had used five bottles; since then I have had nothing of the kind. For years I was the greatest sufferer. Other medicines gave me partial and temporary relief, but a remarkable remedy, with a kind of intuitive sense, went directly to the root of the evil, and did its work with a thoroughness worthy of its established character."

A 32 page Pamphlet sent free. The genuine has "PERUVIAN SYRUP" blown in glass.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.
THE REMEDY FOR CURING
Consumption, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppressions of the Chest or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.
ITS action is expectorant, alterative, sedative, diaphoretic, and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS and PURIFIES the BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action and imparts strength to the whole system. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction, even in the most confirmed cases of consumption, and not to produce costiveness (as do most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no necessity for so many deaths by consumption, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

"CANADA LIFE"
Have published a Report and net valuation of all its policy and annuity obligations, by an Actuary totally unconnected with it, the Hon. ELIJAH WRIGHT, of Boston, late Insurance Commissioner for the State of Massachusetts.
It is believed that such a voluntary submission of the Company's position to an eminent and entirely independent Actuary of the Hon. ELIJAH WRIGHT'S well known high character and professional skill, will add to that public satisfaction and confidence which the "Canada Life Company" enjoys.
Copies of Mr. WRIGHT'S Report may be had at the Head Office, or at any of the Agencies throughout the Dominion.
Persons who may be assured in the Companies whose condition is unsatisfactory, desiring to join the "Canada Life," will be dealt with upon such terms as are reasonable and fair.

The Pictured Rocks in Machinsport, Me.

These rocks are situated on Clark's Point, about two miles south of Machiasport. The existence of the Indian hieroglyphics on the rocks at this place was known to the first settlers. The ledge is situated on the shore between high and law water mark, forming a ridge about five feet in height above the adjacent level. It is composed of a highly metamorphosed mica slate. The surface is smooth from the action of the ice of the drift period. The upper surface is nearly level, while the southerly portion on which most of the hieroglyphics are written, is inclined at an angle of thirty-five degrees.

The hieroglyphics cover a space seven feet wide and twenty-four feet in length. They represent the various wild animals of the region, figures of men and women, a trident and quite a number of nondescript figures. One of the animals is ten inches in height and a foot in length. They are distinctly cut in the rock and show the rude marks of Indian sculpture. The existence of these inscriptions is that they were cut after intercourse with the French, which could not have been much over two hundred years ago.

The southerly face contains seventy-five figures, and the level surface thirty-five.—The eastern portion of the tablet is composed of pyrilliferous slate, which is undergoing decomposition, and as a consequence some of the figures are partially destroyed. Among the animals the moose, deer and bear are the most conspicuous. A tortoise figures among them. From the great variety of figures it would seem as though the authors intended it as a list of all the native animals. The work was evidently performed with stone implements.

Dram Drinking Among Ladies.

It is with pleasure that we supply the report of the proceedings of the "Ladies' Congress," held (with closed doors) at the meeting of the Social Science Association at Bristol:

Miss Lighthead said she was sure this wasn't true. She knew that when she even took the least drop of wine it flew to her nose, and made it quite red! Was it likely, she put it to the meeting, that ladies would do anything to disfigure themselves? One might as well say that the Paris fashions were chosen as a means of mortification. She had no patience with all this nonsense!

Mrs. Brown quite agreed with the 'dear' who had just sat down. She (the speaker) only touched spirits medicinally. She was obliged to take a tumbler of brandy four times a day. (Sensation.) It was the order of her doctor. (Cries of "Name.") She was delighted to give his address—Dr. Twaddler, Jalap Lodge, Highgate-on the Thames. (Several of the members produced note books at this point of the proceedings, and took down Dr. Twaddler's address.) She was quite sure that spirits were quite harmless when taken medicinally. Sometimes, after the third tumbler, she had felt a strange sensation of ethereal lightness, accompanied by the total loss of her limbs. This, she understood from Mr. Brown who had remarked the strange symptoms frequently, was also the case with gentlemen who partook too freely of whitebait at Greenwich. The feeling was not altogether unpleasant.

Mrs. Smith endorsed every word uttered by Mrs. Brown, but, unhappily for her (the speaker), her husband was emphatically a brute! (Sensation.) He never gave her more than six bonnets a quarter. (Deep groans.) And refused to take her up the Rhine this summer on the score of the expense. (Deeper groans.) Of course he refused to let her have the proper amount of brandy—he limited her supply to a miserable quart bottle a week! And what was the result? She had to drink Eau de Cologne!

Miss Minerva Strongmind said it was the last speaker's fault.

Mrs. Smith (jumping up excitedly)—My fault! What do you mean, you great ugly middle-aged thing, you! (Sensation and titters.)

Miss Minerva Strongmind said she repeated it was Mrs Smith's fault. (Uproar.) She would explain why. If Mrs.Smith had not carried her brandy to the utmost. The greatest curse of the present age was marriage. No man had ever dared to look her in the face. (Loud titters.) She did not understand this unseemly merriment! Why was she always alluded to as the fair sex? (A voice—"Why, indeed!" and much tittering.) If this very rude conduct continued she would certainly sit down. She did not come here to be insulted. Men were brutes, and that was the reason she never married. (A voice, "Of course!" —loud tittering.) She would stand it no longer. She had come to the meeting to help her sisters to raise the standard of revolt, and they insulted her personally. deeply insulted her. She ought not to be surprised—it was what she might have expected. A woman who would marry would be capable of any wickedness, as she had proved herself capable of the most idiotic folly. (Uproar.) She was disgusted with the meeting—a set of silly, dolt like flaxened haired nincies, who—(at this point the uproar became so loud that it was impossible to distinguish the words of the speaker, who continued her impassioned address for some five minutes, and then finished it in these words:) And now you have had a good bit of my mind. All I can say is, I hope you like it, although talking to you is like casting pearls before swine! With this the speaker swept out of the Council Chamber. Most of the members "made faces" at her as she passed them.

At this point of the proceedings we regret to say the presence of our reporter was detected and he was ignominiously expelled.—Tomahawk.

ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY.

SECURITY

SHOULD be THE FIRST CONSIDERATION in INSURANCE TRANSACTIONS.

THE Directors of the Royal Insurance Company have the pleasure of supplying the following information to the public, as evidence of the ample security they afford to their assurers:—

The Capital of the Company, available for the purpose of meeting any unusual calamity happening to the Assured, is

Two Millions Sterling.

The amount actually paid up is £288,495. This, with the Accumulated Funds in Hand, makes the invested resources of the Company upwards of One Million Six Hundred Thousand Pounds, which amount is invested as follows:—

INVESTED FUNDS OF THE ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY, 30th June, 1869.

Real Property owned by the Company,	£219,571 11 3

	£1,672,356 16 11

The above is a complete list of the Investments of the Company at the date specified. In addition to which the funds are still further increased, by amounts constantly varying, at different periods, in the hands of the Bankers and the Company's Agents.

At 31st December, 1868, these stood at ..... £ 168,089 2 0

For the satisfaction of the Public, the whole of the Securities belonging to the Company are annually submitted to the careful scrutiny of two independent Auditors, and the following is an Extract from their Report to the last Annual Meeting:—

"The whole of our Books have been Audited—every Document, every Account, every Voucher, your Bank book, and every Security—all have been most carefully kept, and there is not one doubtful Security in the whole."

THE ACCUMULATIONS OF THE LIFE DEPARTMENT,

After payment of Losses, Annuities, and Expenses of every description, have been as follows:
Funds in Hand at the last Quinquennial Valuation, 31st Dec., 1864,	£ 621,145 15 5
Added to 31st December, 1865,	103,146 7 5

A YEAR'S TRIAL.

As Montreal Tea Company: MONTREAL, 1868.

GENTS.—It is nearly a year since I purchased the first chest of Tea from your house. I have purchased many since, and I am pleased to inform you the Tea has in every case proved most satisfactory, as well as being exceedingly cheap. Yours very truly,
F. DENNIE.

Montreal Tea Co: Montreal, April, 1868.—To the Montreal Tea Company, 6 Hospital Street, Montreal: We notice with pleasure the large amount of tea forwarded for you to different parts of the Dominion, and we are glad to find your business so rapidly increasing. We presume your Teas are giving general satisfaction, as out of the large amount forwarded we have only had occasion to return one box, which, we understand, was sent through a mistake.

G. CHENEY,
Manager Canadian Express Company.

GENTLEMEN.—The box of English Breakfast and Young Hyson Tea, which you sent me gives great satisfaction. You may expect my future orders. Yours, &c.,

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is that it is more reliable and far more effectual than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who do not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that when it cures it does always what is required through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of the remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we print only a few. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel nor any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring them to healthy action, and thereby correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and the various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect speedily.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, thereby purifying the blood and invigorating the system. Hence it is often unsuspected where serious derangements exist. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

ROYAL ITALIAN BITTERS

OR TONICO REALE,

Del Dottore F. P. Verri, Prof. of Chemistry in the of University Padua, Italy.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original preparer at the National Exposition at Torino, Italy, by which Gran Gianelli obtained the Reclpe, and was also awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition of Canada, held at Montreal in September, 1865, is without exception, the most Genuine, Salubrious and agreeable Tonic ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America.

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite among the élite of society, being generally used at the Drawing Room immediately before dinner, in preference to Vermouth.

☞ The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval on every account.

The Proprietor has no idea of parading or puffing it before the public, but merely asks a sound and unprejudiced trial.

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, WEDNESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 10, 1869. No. 163.

Our Auld Uncle John.

Our auld uncle John is an odd sort o' chiel,
As prim as the priest, and as deep as the deil,
He's proud o' his person, his parts, and his pelf,
But nae closely encased is the mail coat o' self
That if saving frae scaith what but cost a bawbee,
Even that for his mither he scarcely wad gi'e.

Tho' now near the fifty-third milestane o' life,
He ne'er could be tempted to think on a wife,
"They're fashions," quo' John, "and costly beside,
Wi' their muffs and their ruffs, their pinks and their pride,
Na, na," quo' our uncle, "nae woman for me,
The clack o' her clapper I never could dree."

Our auld uncle John keeps a house by himsel',
But few, very few ever tinkle his bell,
Except some poor victim to borrow or pay,
And woe on the debtor who keeps nae his day,
"Ye'll mind, sir," quo' John, "the rule is wi' me,
When dee, you maun pay me ilk plask and bawbee."

Yet auld uncle's biggin' is cosy and bien,
Where a' things are polished like ony new preen,
In ilk scouring dish you may view your own face,
Ilk stool and ilk chair keeps its own proper place.
Gin the carpet be crumpled, or hearth-rug agee,
The moment it's noticed it righted maun be.

Gin the least puff o' reek down the vent chance to come,
He's up wi' a bein clout to daud it awa';
"Get out o' my house, ye vile vermin," cries he,
"Tho' I've meat for myself, I has none for the flea."

Nae puir beggar bodies e'er darken his door,
The print o' their haunchels wad sully his floor;
The toon collies dare nae smoke in as they pass,
E'en baudrous maun dight her saft feet on the grass;
"Ay, pussy! ye'll no quit your raking," quo' he,
"But just clean your feet ere you venture to me."

Our younsters wad visit him last New Year's day,
He ne'er bade them welcome, nor wished them to stay,
But dandit them a crust from a hard penny brick,
"The cheese, my dear bairnies, it will nae cut thick;
Rin hame to your mither, and tell her frae me
I want nane o' your visits, I've naething to gi'e."

Our auld uncle John, when he sleeps, his last sleep,
What friend will bewail him? What kinsman will weep?
Puir pussy may miss him, but that will be a',
And her he just keeps to fright mousie awa'.
Weel, e'en let him gang, never mair here to be,
A tear for his loss ne'er shall moisten an e'e.

Jealousy and Murder.

ATTEMPTED DOUBLE MURDER—A HUSBAND'S VENGEANCE.

From the New York Times.

Bombay Hook, Bergen county, N. Y. opposite Yongers, was excited early yesterday morning by a rumor of a double murder. John Dickey, an employee of Mr. John McNeil, whose place or business is at the foot of Thirty-eight street, North river, moved about five years ago to Bombay Hook, where Mr. McNiel had established his factory for preparing sausage cases. Recently two other employees of Mr. McNeil had boarded at Dickey's house and with the exception of an occasional altercation, resulting from the use of liquor, Mr. and Mrs. Dickey lived together on good terms until Monday night, when Dickey, in a fit of jealousy, shot his wife, and killed Collins Cahoon, one of the boarders. The husband tells the following story.

"Mrs. Dickey retired to rest about 9 o'clock on Monday night, and I followed sometime between 9 and 10 o'clock.—About one o'clock in the morning I was aroused from my slumbers by some noise down stairs, and then missed my wife from the bed, and heard her say 'O! don't. Suspecting something wrong, I proceeded cautiously down stairs, with revolver in hand. On reaching the foot of the stairs through a pane of glass in the door, I discovered my wife lying on the floor with Collins Cahoun, in a scandalous position. There was a naptha gas lamp burning in the room at the time, so that I could see my wife and Cahoun. I then opened the door and said to them, "I have caught you at last!" and fired at Cahoun. The ball took effect and he fell dead. I then turned to my wife and fired at her, the ball penetrated the thigh, but she was alive when I left home. A third party, William J. Mooney, also a boarder, was in the room at the time. He was at the door, attempting to prevent me from going in. He ran passed me and escaped. I then went out and notified the neighbors of what had occurred, and got Wm. Kelly to go to Yonkers for a doctor, which he did. As I did not succeed in getting a doctor in Yonkers, I left by the 7.40 A. M. train to notify my employer, Mr. McNeil, of what had occurred. He advised me to go back and deliver myself up to the authorities. I then went back to Yonkers and got Dr. Pooley to accompany me to see the condition of my wife; also to deliver myself up to the authorities of New Jersey. When about two-thirds of the way across the river, I was arrested by Rounds-Austin and officer Waters, and taken to the police station at Yonkers. I have made this statement to Sergeant Flandreau without any fear or coercion on my part, or on the part of any other person, having been first informed of my rights, and having been informed also that the statement may be used against me."

Mrs. Dickey denies in the most positive manner that there was any criminal intimacy between herself and Cahoun; that she had got up to give Cahoun and Mooney some food, and that at the time they were fired upon, or just before it, they were all sitting down on a bench. Mr. McNeil speaks in the highest terms of Dickey, and is willing to give bail to any amount for his appearance. As for Dickey, he does not appear to comprehend the situation in which he has placed himself, and is quite calm and chatty about the affair. He expressed his willingness to accompany an officer to New Jersey without waiting for a requisition from the Governor of that State.

A young man with a fearful physiognomy made his appearance before a Detroit artist, the other day, to have his picture taken "for Sary." Two or three efforts were made, the result each time being so ugly a picture that the unhappy young man finally became disgusted. Then a bright idea struck him. He sat with his back to the camera, and had the back and the rear portion of his head taken. This he called a joke on his nose, as well as a fulfillment of his promise to the girl of his heart.

When men are troubling themselves to account for the fresh water which comes up through an iron tube sunk fifteen feet through the constantly shifting sands off Cape Cod, from sixteen to twenty feet from high water, and not more than three feet above it. The water in this tube rises and falls regularly with the tide, yet more than 100 barrels have been pumped from it at one time without finding the slightest trace of saline matter. It is of such fine quality that vessels supply themselves for a sea voyage from this well.

THE RECENT FAILURES

OF TWO OF THE LARGEST

ENGLISH ASSURANCE OFFICES,

NATURALLY causing much anxiety in the minds of Assurers in all Companies, the Directors of the

"CANADA LIFE"

Have published a Report and net valuation of all its policy and annuity obligations, by an Actuary totaly unconnected with it, the Hon. ELIZUR WRIGHT, of Boston, late Insurance Commissioner for the State of Massachusetts.

It is believed that such a voluntary submission of the Company's position to an eminent and thoroughly independent Actuary of the Hon. ELIZUR WRIGHT'S well known high character and professional skill, will add to that public satisfaction and confidence which the "Canada Life Company" enjoys.

Copies of Mr. WRIGHT'S Report may be had at the Head Office or any of the Agencies throughout the Dominion.

Persons who may be assured in the Companies whose condition is unsatisfactory, desiring join the "Canada Life," will be dealt with upon such terms as are reasonable and fair.

New Process of Refining Iron.

Mr. Palmer Budd's new process of refining iron was shewn, in the work of Messrs. Bolckow & Vaughan, to the members of the National Iron and Steal Institute, after their meeting at Middlesborough. It appears that a patent has been taken out by Mr. Budd for the invention of such "improvements in the manufacture of iron and steel" as shall henceforth render the process of puddling much quicker and easier. This valuable result is said, remarks the Builder, to be accomplished by the subjecting of molten cast-iron to the action of soda and soft hematite iron ore—or other oxide of iron—previous to its being subjected to the puddling process. It was alleged by the patentee that the puddlers much prefer the iron in this condition, as it lessens and helps their work, and also that it will tend materially to cheapen the process of manufacture. In his opinion, the money value of the invention to the iron trade will be enormous; greater, perhaps, than that arising from the use of blast-furnace gases, said to be £1,000,000 a year, and which Mr. Budd first introduced into England, and made known to the iron trade at the meeting of the British Association held at Swansea in 1849.

Hints on Waterproofs.

The "Lounger" of the Illustrated Times says :—"For many years I have worn india rubber waterproofs, but I will buy no more, for I have learned that good Scottish tweed can be made completely impervious to rain, and, moreover, I have learned how to make it so ; and for the benefit of my readers I will here give the recipe : In a bucket of soft water, put ¼lb. of sugar of lead and ¼lb. of powdered alum ; stir this at intervals until it comes clear ; then pour it off into another bucket and put the garment therein, and let it be in for 24 hours, and then hang it up to dry without wringing it. Two of my party—a lady and gentleman—have worn garments thus treated in the wildest storm of wind and rain without getting wet. The rain hangs upon the cloth in globules. In short, they are really waterproof. The gentleman, a short time ago, walked nine miles in a storm of rain and wind such as you seldom see in the South ; and when he slipped off his overcoat, his under clothes were as dry as when he put them on. This is, I think, a secret worth knowing ; for cloth, if it can be made to keep out wet, is in every way better than what we know as waterproofs."

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, NOV. 10.

THE EARLY WINTER.—Although the indications are that we will have an early winter, we do not despair of having rain and fine weather yet before the ice-king comes to reign. The swamps and ditches are not yet full, and it is seldom that Jack Frost settles down for good until they are so.

ANOTHER RAILWAY.—The Kingston Whig says :—"Philip Low, Esq., Q. C., and R. J. Fitzgerald, Esq., Barrister, arrived in town yesterday, and are stopping at the British American Hotel. We understand that these gentlemen are on their way to Toronto to procure a charter for a Wooden Railway from Picton to Brighton. We only hope they may be successful, as the building of this road will advance materially the interests of Picton and the County of Prince Edward."

BUYING A CONSTITUENCY.—It reported of Capt. Labelle, the defeated candidate for Richelieu, that he stated previous to the election he could buy the votes like so many sheep. He might well be able to do the buying part when he did it on the strength of bogus bills. A Montreal paper says : "At the recent Richelieu election a quantity of bills on the Zimmerman and other defunct banks of Canada, were handed over to the free and independent electors. The sell was only discovered a day after the polling, and, in the meantime, the donor took care to leave the county."

St. Andrew's Society.

At the general annual meeting of this Society, held at Ontario Hall, Nov. 9th, the following gentlemen were elected officers of the Society for the ensuing year :—

PRESIDENT—Wm. Tennant, Esq.
1ST VICE PRESIDENT—Geo. Vair, Esq.
2ND VICE PRESIDENT—W. H. Graham, Esq.
TREASURER—Robt. Thomson, Esq
SECRETARY—James McKay, Esq.
CHAPLAINS—Revs. Messrs. McLaren and Smith.
STANDARD BEARERS—Messrs. Roy and Robertson.
MARSHALL—Alex. Watters, Esq.
AUDITORS—Geo. Ritchie, Esq., and Geo. D. Dickson, Esq.
CHARITABLE COMMITTEE—Messrs. Petrie (chairman), Harold, Jas. Robertson, Watters, and Wm. Robertson.

The Treasurer's report showed that upwards of $200 had been expended in relieving the distressed during the past year, and that still there was a balance of nearly $70 in the Treasurer's hands, which added to the surpluses of former years, make an aggregate of upwards of $400 in the Treasurer's hands. The question of establishing a St. Andrew's House, is under consideration by the Society.

This year the Society intend celebrating St. Andrew's day by a Dinner, of which due notice will be given.

We have not been able to procure the polling of to day at the time of going to press, but fear Hincks is elected.

Rifle Match.

The first Match of the Rifle Association of the County of Hastings, commenced today at the range of the Association in West Belleville. The programme contained six matches, for which there were a large number of prizes, chiefly contributed by inhabitants of the Town and members of the Association, the value of which was estimated at $250. Considerable interest was manifested in the matches, and a large number of entries was made. The cold weather, however, dampened the energies as well as benumbed the fingers of the competitors, and the strong wind which prevailed from the north west told against the accuracy of the firing, and changed many a shot from a "centre" to an "outer," and many more to a "0." Taking these unfavorable circumstances into consideration, however, and remembering further that this was the first Match of the Association, the firing in the All Comers Match was highly creditable, and gave evidence that there are connected with the Association as good shots as will be found in the Province.

The first Match was the "All Comer's Match," with any Rifle or position. Range 300 and 500 yards ; five shots at each range ; entrance fee 50 cts. There were 30 competitors in this match, representing the various Battalions in the County, Lt.-Col. A. A. Campbell, President of the Association opened the Match, and was honored by a bull's eye signal. Firing then commenced and was continued with considerable rapidity, the only delay being occasioned by the appearance now and then of a lone traveller along the Railway track, or by a passing train, when the danger signal was raised, and the order given to "cease firing." In the first range of 300 yards, out of 150 shots five bull's eyes and 24 centres were made, and there was a manifest improvement in the score as the match proceeded.

The following are the scores of those who made ten points and over, in the first range of 300 yds.

Capt. S. S. Lazier, 15th Batt.....	02332—10
Privt. Jas. Lloyd, 49th Batt.....	24302—10
Sergt. Bennett, 15th Batt.....	02332—10
Capt. Crowther, G. T. Rifles.....	23432—14
Capt. Holme, 15th Batt.....	23402—10
Privt. Griffin, G. T. Rifles.....	23233—13
Sergt. Mills, G. T. Rifles.....	33233—14
Sergt. Marshall, G. T. Rifles.....	02323—10
Sergt. Clark, G. T. Rifles.....	23423—13

The second stage in this match at 500 yards was opened at about half past eleven, and firing was continued very briskly. The long range and the continued high wind prevented the scores from being so good as in the first range. The following are the highest scores at this range :

500 Yds.	Total Score.
Bennett.....11.....	21
Griffin..... 7.....	20
Lloyd..... 7.....	19
Stephens.....10.....	17
Willson..... 8.....	16
Crowther..... 8.....	16
Lazier..... 5.....	15
Marshall ..... 4.....	14

There were eight prizes, so that each of the above received a prize. The following are the prizes :

1st Prize, Sett of Ladies' Furs, by George H. Haynes.
2nd Prize, Driving Whip, by Walter Fanning, with $4 by the Association.
3rd Prize, Pair Wellington Boots, R. M. Clarke & Son.
4th Prize, Pair of Pistol Holsters, made to order, J. P. Reeves.
5th Prize, Pianished Tin Teapot, Geo. Chown.
6th Prize, Pair Slippers.
7th Prize, Box Pickles.
8th Prize, Bag of Potatoes, A. Shearing.

The second match was the "Association Match," open only to those who are members of the Association. Ranges 600, 400, and 200 yards ; 4 shots at 600, 3 at 400, and 3 at 200 yards. Government Rifle ; entrance fee 50 cents. There were eleven prizes for this match, and thirty-six competitors. Firing commenced about two o'clock and kept up with considerable animation until it was concluded. We will give the result in to-morrow's issue. It was found impossible to complete the tournament to-day; the remaining matches will therefore come off to-morrow.

NEWSPAPER COURTESY.—In speaking of a recently established opposition contemporary the Mitchell Advocate says : "The sneaking braggart says we have been afraid to meet him in the street since writing our last article against him. Poor deluded wretch ! He must have a big opinion of himself. What is there in that coarse bully we wonder that we should fear him ? The only thing we should shun him for would be the fear of contamination from his vile presence."

Marine Disasters.

The following additional disasters are reported by the Kingston News :—

The steamer 'Corinthian' went ashore yesterday on Lake St. Francis, near Lancaster. Telegrams were received here to-day for assistance, and one of the Government tug line steamers had been sent to her aid.

The schooner 'Alexandra,' hence to Oswego, is ashore at Sackett's Harbour, with her hold full of barley and a deck load of shingles. She went ashore yesterday, and is reported to be breaking up.

Two barges, the 'Saguenay' and 'Oak Leaf,' belonging to the M. T. Company, sunk yesterday at the head of the Beauharnois canal. They had 25,000 bushels of wheat on board. One of them is insured for $2,000, the other is uninsured. The particulars of the disaster we have not heard.

The 'Pandora' went ashore yesterday below Sackett's Harbour with the loss of both anchors and all her sails.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

Nov. 9th 1869.

HURON AND ONTARIO CANAL COMPANY'S PETITION.

The business of the House to-day was confined principally to a discussion upon the question of order whether a petition of which the following is a copy, would be received by the House :

To the Honorable the Legislatives Assembly of the Province of Ontario :—

The petition of the Huron and Ontario Ship Canal Company.

HUMBLY SHEWETH—That your petitioners have made such arrangements with engineers contractors and capitalists in the United States and Great Britain, as will secure the early construction of the Huron and Ontario Ship Canal.

That your petitioners accordingly pray your Honorable House to take the matter into your consideration, with a view to the government being enabled, with the sanction of your Honorable House, to adopt such measures as they and your Honorable House shall deem expedient to expedite the commencement and progress of the work.

And your petitioners as in duty bound will ever pray, &c.

Signed on behalf of the company by order of the board.

(Signed) FRED. C. CAPREOL, President.

Toronto, 3rd November, 1869.

Attorney General MACDONALD argued that the petition asked for that which was equivalent to money could not be received.

Mr. FERGUSON and others argued strongly against this view, contending that nothing of the kind was asked, and that it merely called the attention of the House to the necessity of such a work being commenced and finished.

The SPEAKER subsequently ruled the petition out of order, and decided that it could not be received.

Mr. FERGUSON appealed against the decision of the speaker. This ruling, however, was sustained by the following vote :

YEAS—Messrs. Baxter, Beatty, Calvin, Cameron, Carling (London), Carling (Huron), Carnegie, Clarke, Clemens, Code, Colquhon, Cook, Corby, Craig (Glengarry) Crosby, Curry, Eyre, Ferrier, Finlayson, Fitzsimmons, Galbraith, Graham (Hastings) Hooper, Lauder, Luton, Macdonald, Matchett, Monteith, McColl, McGill, McKelar, McLeod, Perry, Read, Richards, Secord, Sinclair, Smith (Kent), Smith (Leeds and Grenville), Smith (Middlesex), Strange, Tett, Trow, Wigle, Williams (Durham), Wilson,—46.

NAYS—Messrs. Boulter, Boyd, Ferguson, Gow, Grahame (York), Greeley, Hays, Lount, McCall (Norfolk), Oliver, Scott, (Grey), Swinarton, Wallis—13.

THE LATE CHANCELLOR.

Attorney General McDonald moved the adjournment of the House, as a mark of respect to the late Chancellor Vankoughnet. Mr. MacDonald spoke in the highest terms of the deceased with whom he had been a school boy. Mr. McKellar seconded the motion, and the House adjourned until Wednesday, Nov. 10th, at 7½ o'clock.

For the Intelligencer.

MR. EDITOR.—In answer to "Belleville," in the Chronicle of last week, I would just say in reference to Elgvir Schools, we do not collect the school rate levied by the Trustees on the resident but on the non-resident lands, which the School law compels the Council to provide for this levy is independent of the amount laid on by the County Council from year to year.

In answer to "Belleville" as to the one fourth cent, I might here state, that we did not rely on that wholly for any bonus we might be willing to give, as we have another fund which would enable us to give a bonus of $5000, or even more if we thought prudent, and that is our non-resident land tax, which has been accumulating since the sale in 1867 ; as out of all that had not run long enough to be sold at that sale, and what has been laid on since, not more than $250 has been collected and paid over.

The non-resident land-tax having been greatly augmented by the sale of mineral lands in 1867, it would enable the Township Council to honour our County debentures at two and five years, a sufficient sum to pay the bonus of $5000 at once, and still have of that tax quite a surplus for contingencies ; and should the Township see fit to grant a larger bonus than $5000, they would be perfectly safe by extending the time for payment on further Debentures, so that Elgvir would be able to give the requisite aid without embarrassing itself.

I would inform "Belleville" that the Township Council levies yearly a sufficient sum to meet the County requirements, as well as for all other expenses and appropriations—as also a small sum for contingencies. I trust these explanations will satisfy "Belleville" of the ability of Elgvir to do its share towards a Railroad to open up the back country, whether that road goes to Kingston or Belleville, or, to both places.

Yours &c.,
BILLA FLINT.

A Canadian Orator.

We see by the Western papers that Prof. Wild of Albert University, Belleville, is producing quite a sensation in Chicago.—Thousands are flocking to hear him, and the fast city is more than ever convinced that little Northern Canada really possesses some talented and big men. We have long regarded Prof. Wild as a slumbering giant who would some day leave memorable foot prints in the sands of time. We have heard several of his lectures and for originality and unrestrained, natural eloquence, we consider them as having scarcely a parallel. He is no less than the Punshon of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Canada.

All great men, not even Dr. Johnson excepted, have been noted for unwearied effort and laborious undertakings. Professor Wild, almost single handed, has accomplished a noble work, in the way of relieving Albert University from financial difficulty and it is generally conceded that, with his co-operation, this fast rising institution is very soon to rival the first colleges of the Dominion.—Picton Times Nov. 9th.

A Robber Frightened to Death.

A few weeks ago the members of a household in Rochester, Eng., were startled one forenoon by a heavy fall on the floor above. Several of the family thereupon rushed up stairs to the principal room on the second floor, from which the noise seem to come. On opening the door they found a strange man lying on the carpet. He evidently had just fallen but was quite dead. His features wore a look of terror, awful to gaze upon. Around the room was strewn property which he had removed from the trunks and closets, to carry ; but there he lay, stricken down in the midst of his booty.

It was remembered that just before the noise of the fall some persons of the family had passed the room, on their way further up stairs. The robber must have heard them. Fearful of detection in his crime, the excitement of his position probably hastened the crisis of some fatal affection of the heart or brain, and he dropped, actually frightened to death.

Never was the old fashioned verdict of the coroner's jury, "Died by the visitation of God," more appropriate than in this case, for many persons will believe that the death of the robber was a punishment sent direct from the hand of the Almighty.

The clergyman at Rochester seems to have thought something of this kind, for he refused to permit the prayers of the English Church to be read over the body of the man ; consequently it could not be interred in the cemetery, but was placed in unconsecrated ground.

Business Notices.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and squable over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came ; the house was crowded with anxious expectants ; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—The very agreeable character of this preparation has rendered it a general favourite. "The Civil Service Gazette" remarks. —"The singular success which Mr. Epps attained by his homœopathic preparation of cocoa has never been surpassed by any experimentalist. By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills." Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold by the Trade only in ½lb., ¼lb., and 1lb. tin lined packets, labelled—JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England. 94—6m1d3

BUTTERFIELD'S RESIGNATION ACCEPTED AND SUCCESSOR APPOINTED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The Tribune's Washington special says: The President to-day notified Gen. Butterfield of the acceptance of his resignation as Asst. Treasurer of the United States at New York, and the appointment of ex-State Senator Chas. J. Folger to the position.

SECRETARY OF WAR AND GEN. SHERMAN AT VARIANCE.

The Herald's Washington special says that disagreements have already sprung up between the Secretary of War Belknap, and Gen. Sherman. He has already repudiated the annual report prepared by Sherman, and will unite one of his own.

THE COOLIES MURDERS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—The Lahiti Cotton Company about six months ago sent the bark 'Margaret Conder,' Capt. Blackett, to the Gilbert Islands for a cargo of Coolies. The Captain succeeded in securing about three hundred, and on the return voyage they mutinied and killed the Captain and two officers, horribly mutilating their bodies. The mate escaped to the hold of the vessel and there he placed a keg of powder under the main hatch, and having arranged a fuse he called the Coolies. When the savages had crowded around the hatchway the fuse was then fired, killing nearly all on board, the rest jumped overboard or fell victims to the mate and remaining men.

PEDESTRIANISM.

BOSTON, Nov. 9.—The Walking match of 25 miles for $100 and entrance money, at the skating rink, was won last evening by Mr. Ettrich, beating Mr. Oddy, the English pedestrian, by three or four feet. Time—3 hours, 58 minutes and 30.

PIKE, THE MURDERER, HANGED.

CONCORD, Nov. 9.—Josiah Little Pike, who murdered Thompson Brown and wife, two aged persons, at Hampton Falls, in May, 1868, was hanged to-day in the jail yard in this city. In a speech on the scaffold he said intemperance had decided his fate.

ANOTHER CUBAN EXPEDITION.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The 'Times' says:—"Intelligence was received at a late hour last night, from a reliable source, of the collecting of another Cuban expedition being now in progress in this city, Philadelphia and Baltimore. We cannot say as yet whether the expedition is being formed under the auspices of the Cuban junta or not, but presume that, with their recent ignoble failures staring them in the face, it is not the case. We also learn that one or two very fast steamers have been purchased by parties unknown, and will at an early date, if not stopped, attempt to pursue a course similar to that marked out for the ill-fated Cuban steamer 'Hornet.' Gen. Gosconis, the unfortunate commander of the Ryan and Lillian Cuban expeditions, is expected to arrive in this city, he having been released from the custody of the Nashville officials."

CATTLE PLAGUE RAGING.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 9.—A plague has broken out among the cattle at the Pfeifer distillery at Storrs township. Forty head have already died and the disease is still raging.

EASTERN TRAIN ARRIVED AT SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—The first overland train from the east reached Oakland last evening and was greeted with the firing of cannon, fireworks, bonfires, the illumination of the principal buildings and general jubilee of citizens. Passengers and freight, and the business of the Pacific railroad continues large. The earnings of the Western Pacific for October were $100,000 in coin, and the Central Pacific $623,000 coin.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

BOILS.

Like the volcano, Boils give issue to the foul and fiery contents of the deep interior. To remove the causes of such suffering it is only necessary to vitalize the Blood by supplying it with its Life Element, Iron.

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP,

(A protected solution of the Protoxide of Iron) will do this effectively, and give strength, vigor and new life to the whole system.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM REV. RICHARD S. EDES, OF BOLTON, MASS.

"For years I was a sufferer from Boils, so that my life became wearisome through their frequent and persistent recurrence; lastly a carbuncle formed in the small of my back. During its progress large pieces of decomposed flesh were every day or two cut away, and the prostration and general disturbance of the system were great. Before I had recovered from this attack two smaller carbuncles broke out higher up, and I was again threatened with a recurrence of the sufferings to which I had so long been subjected. It was at this time that I commenced taking the PERUVIAN SYRUP. I continued taking it until I had used five bottles; since then I have had nothing of the kind. For years I was one of the greatest sufferers. Other medicines gave me partial and temporary relief, but this remarkable remedy, with a kind of intuitive sense, went directly to the root of the evil, and its work was with a thoroughness worthy of its established character."

A 32 page Pamphlet sent free. The genuine has "PERUVIAN SYRUP" blown in the glass.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

THE REMEDY FOR CURING

Consumption, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppressions of the Chest or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

IT is action is expectorant, alterative, sedative, diaphoretic, and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm, CHANGES THE SECRETIONS and PURIFIES the BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; and by bringing them to their proper action and imparts strength to the whole system. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction, even in the most confirmed cases of consumption, and not to produce costiveness (as do most remedies) or effect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although an active and powerful remedy for freeing the system. There is no necessity for so many deaths by consumption, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

Wintering Bees.

To winter bees successfully in any climate, you must give them plenty of food, where they can get it; a proper degree of warmth, and air to breathe. The warmth is best secured by having bees enough in every hive to make the cluster large enough to maintain its own heat. If the cluster is small, it must be kept in a warm place in in the coldest weather, or it will grow smaller and smaller until all are gone. There must not only be enough honey in the hive, but it must be so that it can be reached by the bees when it is cold. If it is over the bees, the heat from the cluster ascends to it, and it is always warm and ready for use. For this reason, I much prefer hives that are tall in shape; in them the honey is stored at the top, and the bees naturally cluster below it. But if the hive is low, long and wide, the bees cluster in such a way that the honey, instead of being above them, is at each side, and in cold weather, when bees leave the cluster for food, they find it in frosty combs, and perish in the attempt to reach it. Bees in such hives must always be kept in a warm place. Nothing is colder than sealed honey, and too much of it in a live hive leaves no place for bees to live comfortably in winter. If the colony of bees is large, they will consume much of it between the time when they stop gathering in the fall, and severe weather, and thus empty space wherein to stay through the winter. Many people forget that their bees breathe, and give no ventilation to their hives. The moisture that accumulates for want of ventilation, causes mould; and, worse still, when severe weather follows warmer, this moisture freezes, and I have seen the whole mass of bees a solid lump of ice. An inch hole in the top of the hive would have saved the colony in this case. Such holes should be left in all the hives in the winter. The entrance should be very small, that a draft through the hive be avoided. It is doubtless a great saving of honey to put all bees in a dark house, or cellar, for the three most severe months—but, if this is not possible or convenient, allow from twenty to thirty pounds of honey to each hive. Be sure that the bees are in good force, and give ventilation without a draft, and you may safely leave the hives out of doors. The hive should face north and be protected by a few boards or some corn fodder—not from the cold, but from the sun, which draws many bees out in weather too cold to admit of their safe flight.—Coleman's Rural World.

Albany Lumber Market.

REVIEW FOR THE WEEK ENDING NOV. 3.

The receipts for the week have been large, and those for next week will also be large, being mostly by boats detained by the breaks. After these the receipts will be light for the remainder of the season, owing to the high rates of freight.

The assortment is somewhat broken in market, but as yet nearly all kinds are in fair supply. The sales have been steady and large, with but little improvement in prices, even in those kinds which are comparatively scarce.

The shipments have been large, giving ready freights to all barges and vessels in port. An active trade is anticipated till the close of the season.

The receipts by the Erie and Champlain canals for the fourth week in October, were:—

Year.	Boards and Scantling, ft. M.	Shingles, Timber, Staves No.	Staves No.
1866	18,939,850	619	966 1,121,000
1867	19,013,211	1,490	5,220 491,998
1868	15,013,374	697	250,000
1869	24,007,300	600	250,000

Of the boards and scantling received, 16,887,000 feet were by the Erie, and 6,140,300 by the Champlain canals.

The receipts by the Erie and Champlain canals from the opening of navigation to October 28th, were:

ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY.

SECURITY

SHOULD be THE FIRST CONSIDERATION in INSURANCE TRANSACTIONS.

THE Directors of the Royal Insurance Company have the pleasure of supplying the following information to the public, as evidence of the ample security they afford to their assurers:—

The Capital of the Company, available for the purpose of meeting any unusual calamity happening to the Assured, is

Two Millions Stirling.

The amount actually paid up is £288,495. This, with the Accumulated Funds in Hand, makes the invested resources of the Company upwards of One Million Six Hundred Thousand Pounds, which amount is invested as follows:—

INVESTED FUNDS OF THE ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY, 30th June, 1869.

Real Property owned by the Company, ...	£219,571	11 3
Mortgages on Freehold Property, ...	53,000	0 0

Firstclass English Railway Preference and Guaranteed Stocks, ...	335,479	11 11
Loans to Local Authorities of various towns in Great Britian, who have obtained the sanction of the Secretary of State to borrow the amounts, ...	145,560	12 6
Bonds of the Mersey Docks and Harbour Board, ...	62,341	14 8
Bonds of the British and Irish Magnetic Telegraph Co., ...	10,000	0 0
Bonds of the Liverpool Corporation, ...	5,169	0 0
United States Government Stocks, ...	101,830	7 10
Canada Bonds and Stock, ...	31,106	11 6
Short Loans on First-class English Dividend-paying Stocks with margins, from 20 to 50 per Cent. on market values, ...	477,195	0 0
Loans on Security of Life Policies, ...	63,938	8 5
	£1,672,356	16 11

The above is a complete list of the Investments of the Company at the date specified, in addition to which the funds are still further increased, by amounts constantly varying, at different periods, in the hands of the Bankers and the Company's Agents. At 31st December, 1868, these stood at ... £ 168,089 2 0

For the satisfaction of the Public the whole of the Securities belonging to the Company are annually submitted to the careful scrutiny of two independent Auditors, and the following is an Extract from their Report to the last Annual Meeting:—

"The whole of your Books have been Audited—every Document, every Account, every Voucher, your Bank book, and every Security—all have been most carefully kept, and there is not one doubtful security in the whole."

THE ACCUMULATIONS OF THE LIFE DEPARTMENT,

After payment of Losses, Annuities, and Expenses of every description, have been as follows:

Funds in Hand at the last Quinquennial Valuation, 31st Dec., 1864,	£ 621,434	15 5
Added to 31st December, 1865, ...	103,146	7 3
" " " 1866, ...	124,165	7 5
" " " 1867, ...	128,583	3 10
" " " 1868, ...	144,945	12 2
Total Accumulation of the Life Department on 31st December, 1868, exclusive of Shareholders' Capital, ...	£1,122,275	8 1

The Directors also think it necessary to state that the Business of the ROYAL has never been amalgamated with that of any other Company, and that the Liability of its Shareholders is unlimited.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and better antidote for most of the ills that require a cathartic than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always and may be relied on through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of the remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we will not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither mineral nor any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

Their powerful influence on the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their energies to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Langnor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the offending matter which exists.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be freely but moderately used, to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, thereby curing disease and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Del Dottore F. P. Verri, Prof. of Chemistry, in the of University Padua, Italy.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original preparer at the Monza Exhibition of Verino, Italy, by whose favor Mr. Gianelli obtained the Recipe, and was also awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition of Canada, held at Montreal in September, 1865, is without exception, the most Genuine, Salubrious and agreeable Tonic ever introduced to public notice on this side of America.

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite among the elite of society, being generally used at the Public Drawing Room immediately before dinner, in preference to Vermouth.

Where the ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval on every account.

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, THURSDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 11, 1869. No. 164.

Mr. Gladstone's Speech at the Lord Mayor's Banquet.

LONDON, Nov. 9th, (midnight).

The inaugural banquet of the Lord Mayor of London took place to-night at Guildhall. The members of the Ministry, Foreign Ambassadors, and a large and distinguished company were present.

Mr. GLADSTONE replied to the toast to "Her Majesty's Ministers." On rising he was loudly cheered. He returned thanks for the honor, and said the good feeling of the citizens towards the Government was a good omen, and indicative of the common sentiment pervading the land. He continued:—"Whatever the tendencies of modern civilization, whatever its triumphs may be, I do not underrate them. They have not had, nor are they likely to have, in our day or in our children's, the effect of lightening the responsibilities of the Government. As the standard of our ideas and wants is raised, so is raised and extended the demands on those in office. It is to endeavor to give such a shape to Legislation and public policy as may correspond to that elevated standard. Every social exigency causes us to rely more on the indulgence of our countrymen to give heart and energy to our efforts, and to pardon and forgive our shortcomings. It is satisfactory to know that throughout the country one sentiment prevails in respect to the Queen, the law and institutions of this country. But do not let us seek full consolation in binding ourselves to that island across the channel, which has long been united to us in political and legislative bonds. How melancholy in the face of this great assembly, to be compelled to confess that that island, which we have governed for over 700 years, and over which we have exercised almost unbounded power, has not yet fulfilled the first conditions of a civilized community, has not been brought into harmony with our laws and institutions. It is almost unnecessary to remind you that we were called into office in connection with this important crisis in the affairs of Ireland—a crisis in which the mind of the country was more seriously addressed than formerly, towards making endeavors to put an end to what has been a problem and a speck on the fair fame of our country for so many generations. In Ireland we see society socially diseased; we see the people of noble capacity and quick susceptibility, whose heart in many cases does not beat with warm and lively attachment to her sister countries, and who do not in all respects yield to the authority of the laws which we gladly recognize on this side of the Channel. This year has been marked by the augmentation of agrarian outrages from which this country is singularly free. The general tendencies to crime there acquire painful notoriety and strike the hearts of Englishmen with a deadly chill. As to the causes of those outrages it would probably be premature and difficult now to decide. To those connected with these outrages I would suggest that is not the way to obtain success in the Legislature. The committers of the outrages are enemies to the interest of the country. We are glad to be cheered in our endeavors to give to Ireland the strength and unity which a considerable part of Ireland now enjoys. For that end we shall labor, encouraged by our generous countrymen. In regard to our foreign policy it would be idle to say that this department of affairs has small interest for England. Importunate interference I hope we shall always avoid; a meddlesome and ambitious desire for influence we shall always forswear; but the sentiment of true brotherhood for those countries with which we are united by so many costly ties every monarch is bound to cultivate, and should not venture to renounce. Happily we are discouraged from prosecuting quarrels with the whole world in general, having none to prosecute; but the friendly assistance of England, though not obtruded, is always ready when sought for, and has had no small influence in allaying quarrels and compromising differences which have, and might have arisen, in various parts of the world. His noble colleague, Lord Clarendon, since his return to the foreign office, had received liberal and handsome acknowledgments for his contributions towards the accommodation of such differences. One partial exception I ought to make, and it is an exception which is of the deepest interest to Englishmen, namely, our relations with America; but there is no occasion on which I could more appropriately refer to these relations or better describe them than as those of peace and concord. Were I to attempt to depart from that friendly strain I should be admonished to judge more correctly and to speak more wisely by an event which has happened within this city during the last few days. I refer to the death of Mr. Geo. Peabody, a man whose splendid benefactions will secure immortality for his name in that which he regarded as his old mother country, but whose fame, likewise, and in a broader sense, is applicable to all humanity. He has taught us the most needful lesson—how a man can be master of his fortune, and not its slave; and it is most touching to know what brave learned from his friends that, while some men would have been unhappy at the idea of dying in a foreign land, his affections were so divided between the land of his birth and the land of his ancestors that those which had been his fondest wishes may now be realized—to be buried in America, but to die in England. With Mr. Peabody's country we are not likely to quarrel. It is true that care and skill in diplomacy, animated though it has been by the purest and most upright feelings, although it has not imperilled our peace, has failed to lead to a final issue up to the present moment upon the tangled questions of law which have been in discussion between the two countries. Considerable delay has taken place, yet every delay, instead of leading to danger was prompted by considerate good will, and a desire to allow the intervention of a limited time in order to obviate the difficulties. (Cheers). I believe the world would view with horror a fratricidal strife between England and America, but such a state of things is not likely to arise from our present relations, and my confidence is in the sentiments which I know animate the American government as well as our own, and which also animate the minds of the people of these two great countries.—(Cheers.) Another source of confusion is connected with changes which we witness in every country lately. International public opinion has been growing into a standard of international conduct higher than that formerly set up, and it becomes necessary for our own interests that the conduct of the country not only conforms to our own ideas of its claims and rights, but to that sense which is entertained of international rights and duties by the whole mass of the civilized community.

The Humors of Book Selling.

A Chicago correspondent of the New York Tribune relates the following:—

Country customers often include other articles in their orders for books, and the bonuses here send out and purchase them. One order for two hundred or three hundred popular works contained the item, '1 Smoked Glass.' The clerk who filled it bought and shipped to the customer a pair of colored spectacles instead of the desired book, with the name of which he did not happen to be familiar. For months afterwards the reminding jests of his fellow clerks made the life of that unfortunate young man a burden to him.

Another order enumerated; 'Six primitive Christianity.' It was sent back with the response pencilled opposite that item, and not at all in jest—'No primitive Christianity to be found in Chicago!'

'The Impenitent Dead' is a work by a Massachutts professor of theology. One morning visitors in a leading book house were all startled by the inquiry which one clerk who was filling an order shouted to another in a distant part of the store: 'Have the 'Impenitent Dead' come in yet?'

A rather slow boy had been employed in a great establishment—in which his father was also a clerk—just long enough to realize that he did not know anything and to look bewildered whenever he was asked for an unfamiliar work. One day a fellow clerk, wishing to speak with the elder, asked:

'Bill, where is your paternal ancestor?'

'I'm sure I don't know,' replied the lad, in a tone of despair, 'I never know where half the books are!'

A rather quiet boy, and also a new comer had learned the great lesson of a salesman, always to sell a visitor something whether the store contains what he asks for or not. A dignified gentleman in gold spectacles entered and inquired:

'Have you 'Feutchwanzer's Gems V'—a large treatise on jewels.

The lad had never heard of it, but he instantly produced a little religious volume and replied;

'No sir, but here is a book which may answer your purpose—'Precious Gems of the Heavenly Foundations!'

The astonished inquirer gave one perplexed glance over his spectacles as if in doubt whether the youth was making game of him or not, and then, without a word turned upon his heel and stalked off reluctantly like an ill-used ghost.

New Orleans papers record that one visitor at a hotel in that city, when Jeff. Davis' name was inscribed upon the register, stooped and kissed it with the greatest fervor.

A Yankee editor says: 'The march of civilization is onward—onward—like the slow but intrepid tread of a jackass towards a peck of oats!'

Mr. G. was a most inveterate punster. Lying very ill of the cholera his nurse proposed to prepare a young tender chicken. "Hadn't you better take an old hen?" said G., in a low whisper (he was not to speak loud) "for she would be more apt to lay on my stomach." G. fell back exhausted and the nurse fainted.

THE RECENT FAILURES

OF TWO OF THE LARGEST

ENGLISH ASSURANCE OFFICES,

NATURALLY causing much anxiety in the minds of Assurers in all Companies, the Directors of the

"CANADA LIFE"

Have published a Report and net valuation of all its policy and annuity obligations, by an Actuary totally unconnected with it, the Hon. ELIZUR WRIGHT, of Boston, late Insurance Commissioner for the State of Massachusetts.

This Report, and such a voluntary submission of the Company's position to an eminent and entirely independent Actuary of the Hon. ELIZUR WRIGHT'S well known high character and professional skill, will add to that public satisfaction and confidence which the "Canada Life Company" enjoys.

Copies of Mr. WRIGHT'S Report may be had at the Head Office, or at any of the Agencies throughout the Dominion.

Persons who may be assured in the Companies whose condition is unsatisfactory, desiring to join the "Canada Life," will be dealt with upon such terms as are reasonable and fair.

☞Remember Professor McIntyre's Lecture on "Nelson," to night, in Ontario Hall.

THE RENFREW ELECTION.—The returns so far as received, show that Mr. Hincks has been elected by between 50 and 60 majority.

THE CHRONICLE'S POLITICS.—"We are as much opposed to George Brown as to John "A McDonald." That's the political position of the Chronicle, at least so it says. Very satisfactory. How long will it continue?

ANNUAL CONCERT.—The Moira Fire Company No. 1, intend holding their annual Concert and Ball on Tuesday, the 7th day of December next. The Concert to be conducted by Mr. St. George B. Crozier. A splendid Quadrille Band has been engaged for the occasion.

DISTRICT QUARTER MASTER.—Ex-Sheriff Corbett, says the Whig, has been appointed District Quarter Master in the room of Major Phillips, promoted. What are his claims and why are Volunteer Officers overlooked, are questions asked? We know not, except the fact that the ex-Sheriff Corbett has a son in the army. His antecedents as Sheriff certainly cannot be a qualification.

KINGSTON AND MADOC RAILWAY.—At a meeting of the ratepayers of the Township Sheffield on the 4th inst., a resolution was adopted pledging themselves to the council of the municipality to support the passing of a by-law granting the sum of $10,000 as a bonus to the projected railway from Kingston via Tamworth to Madoc in the county of Hastings, which was carried, only one voting to the contrary. At a meeting of the ratepayers of Tamworth, held subsequently, $1000 additional was voted as a bonus.

LUCID, VERY.—"If he is ashamed of the "actions of Sir John A., he has no right to "bring forward George Brown's peccadil- "loes in order to cover those of his friends." So says the Chronicle. We asked for evidence that we had changed our position as a journalist in reference to Sir Francis Hincks' appointment, and the above is one of the answers. We have heard of the servant who was told by his master to give an evasive answer to those who enquired if he were at home, and when asked what he told the first man, replied that he had told him "to go to old Nick!" An evasive answer truly, but not equal to the courteous writer in the Chronicle.

ROWDYISM.—Last night some rowdies made great havoc with sign-boards and shutters on Front Street The shutters of Mr. A. M. Terwilligar's Store were carried and deposited in the river, some of them being found out in the bay and others not yet found. The shutters of Mr. Jas. McComb were also taken and carried away, the key fastening the bolt being wrenched off. Some signs were also taken down and left in remote parts of the Town. Whether it was done through devilry or spite, the conduct of the rowdies cannot be too strongly deprecated, and it is to be hoped they may be found out and punished. It will be seen by advertisement that Mr. Terwilligar offers a reward of $20 for the apprehension and conviction of the offender. It seems strange that so much depredation could have been committed without the police, who are supposed to be on Front Street, knowing it. Where were they? We also learn that a few nights ago similar depredations were committed, several signs having been taken down and removed. It is about time this species of rowdyism was stopped.

EDINBURGH REVIEW, Oct. 1869. New York, L. Scott Publishing Company. $3 a year.—The following is the list of contents: The Œcumenical Council; Freshfield's travels in the Caucasus; Duke d'Aumale's Lives of the Condes; Thornton on Labour; Count Bismarck; Robinson's Parks and Garden's of Paris; Ferguson on Tree and Serpent Worship; Diaries of Henry Crabb Robinson; Indian Judges, British and Native; The Victorial of Don Pedro Nino; Mill on the subjection of women. Some of the leading topics of the day will be read with deep interest. Especially would we recommend all who take a prospective interest in the proceedings of the great council summoned by Pope Pius IX., to meet at Rome on the 8th of December next, ensuing, to read the very able and well-timed article, entitled "The Œcumenical Council," in which the claims of said Council to be considered as "Œcumenical" or of the whole church, as well as the authority claimed by the Pope of Rome to summon such a council of his own mere motie, without the consent of the civil powers, and the concurrence of his co-equals in religious authority. The Patriarchs of Constantinople and Alexandria are fully canvassed, and the whole matter considered from a sound and liberal protestant point of view. Altogether it is calculated to prepare the minds of men to assign to the dicta of the council their true value; neither being influenced by the show of authority with which they will be ushered forth, nor passing them by as unworthy of notice; but rather receiving them as the authoritative expression of the opinions and dogmas of the dominant party in what is still the most powerful religious organisation of the world. John Murray, the London Publisher, announces that The London Quarterly Review for October will contain hitherto unpublished letters from Lady Byron to Mrs. Leigh, in 1816, which completely disprove Mrs. Beecher Stowe's story. The elder Murray having been Byron's publisher, any statement emanating from this well known house is authoritative. The Review will be published by the Leonard Scott Publishing Co., early in November; and all who wish to secure a copy of this number should make immediate application, either direct to the publishers or to a local agent.

The Local Superintendent and the Trustees.

We did not suppose there was one man in Town, besides the author of the report reflecting upon the conduct of the Local Superintendent of Common Schools of the Town of Belleville, and those who voted for it, who would attempt to justify the extraordinary position therein assumed.—The objections to the course he had pursued were so childish, the reflections upon his conduct were so ungentlemanly and uncalled for, the position taken was so directly at variance with that laid down by the Statute and By-Laws of the Board for the guidance of the Superintendent, that it was no little matter of astonishment to the public, that such a document could have received the cool and deliberate sanction of five sensible men, who were supposed to have an intelligent idea of their duties and responsibilities. So universally did the public condemn this report, and so mortified were the friends and supporters of those who introduced and voted for it, that we supposed the unfortunate affair would not have been referred to again, but have been allowed to sink into oblivion. Some indiscreet friend has, however, taken up the cudgels for the majority of the Board, and in the editorial columns of a cotemporary, pitches into the Rev. Local Superintendent in sledge-hammer style. It is very evident that the writer is in perfect harmony with the views of the author of the report, as well as wofully ignorant of the duties of a Local Superintendent of Schools. It is not our purpose to attempt to convince the public that the Superintendent has done his duty, for that would be to insult the common sense of nine-tenths of the community who are at all acquainted with the facts of the case. The whole matter lies in a nut-shell.

A Local Superintendent of Schools is appointed by the Board whose duties are defined by the Statute, and further by a By-Law of the Board. These duties are comprehensive in their character, as the very term of Superintendent indicates; he is clothed with great powers, and besides having large discretionary powers is obliged to perform certain duties as laid down by a By-Law of the Board; amongst other things, to "make a thorough and "faithful report of the progress of the "Scholars;" to "examine the system of "instruction pursued," "the character and "condition of the buildings and premises," "to offer such advice as he may deem proper "and report the same to the Board."

In the face of these plain instructions, the very men who appoint him, the very men who are bound by their declaration of office as well as by every consideration of honor, to see that these instructions are faithfully carried out and these duties performed, so far forget themselves as to coolly and deliberately adopt a report which says: "Your Committee regret that the Local "Superintendent should have thought it "expedient to give his advice and opinion "respecting the enlargement of Schools, and "the extension and non-extension of the "present School system," and then add the uncalled for insult: "It will be well for the "Superintendent to confine himself to what "has been considered the duties of his office, "especially in his official report."

Put that and that together, and if the "Trustees are perfectly justified in adopting "the report of the Committee," as our contemporary says they were, then the Trustees will be justified in doing anything that is contrary to common sense and common decency, and in violating all the laws which bind men and communities together. In all our experience we don't know of ever having heard a public act of public men so universally deprecated and condemned as this, if we except that other public act of these same men, in vexatiously forcing Smith into a law suit, subjecting the people to an unnecessary tax of nearly $800, and bringing the disgrace upon the Town of having its school property seized and offered for sale by the Sheriff. The people have been very patient hitherto, but we much mistake public sentiment if it will much longer tamely submit to the condition of things which a few misguided men have forced upon us.

With respect to the Local Superintendent and the manner in which he has discharged the duties of his office, we would be neglecting the duty of an impartial journalist, if we did not heartily endorse the sentiment of the resolution proposed by Mr. Shepard, and seconded by Mr. Sawyer, at a late meeting of the Board, "expressing regret that the Superintendent should have had occasion to leave a position which he has filled with so much credit to himself, and honor to the Town." In our long connection with school matters, extending over a period of fifteen years, we know of no man who has labored more faithfully, disinterestedly and efficiently, who has taken a livelier interest in working out the details of the schools, than the Rev. S. Jones; and his retirement from the position of Local Superintendent of Schools in Belleville, cannot but be a serious loss to the educational interests of the Town.—Few men can be found who for the paltry salary of $100, will devote the time required of such an officer by the Statute and By-Laws of the Board, and who will take the interest which has ever been manifested by the present incumbent.

News by Telegraph to-day.

The Central Fenian Amnesty Committee ask Irishmen to give up the use of tobacco until the Fenians are released. By this means they expect to reduce the revenue.

There is still continued excitement in Ireland, in connection with imprisoned Fenians.

The Times questions whether the Ministry is able to cope with the Irish land question. It says the Government has the power, if their courage is equal to their power.

The time of the charter of the Bank of British North America has been extended to June 1881.

The Bank of England is to increase the rate of discount.

A good deal of intriguing is going on in Spain with regard to the future King.

Another insurrection is feared in Spain.

True to Life.

Long experience ought to have taught us that giving the Chronicle credit for having done a cotemporary an unintentional wrong, would not be appreciated; hence we express no astonishment at the reply to our request for proof of charges brought against us. It simply follows the Globe in its line of argument, and therefore requires no reply. Like the Globe, it distorts our wish and hope that Sir Francis Hincks had reformed, though we doubted it, into a recantation of what had been written before. Well, we are not even surprised at this. It is scarcely possible for those who never had a good wish for any one, to do other than accept such a wish as an evidence of approval of his former conduct, and as evidence of a willingness to accept him in the future.

With all the assumed indignation, however, of the Chronicle, it carefully avoids answering our questions whether it did not support Hincks in all that he did before leaving the country, and for which it now condemns him, and abuses others for hoping he had reformed. Well, there is no accounting for the shifts and turns of politicians of the present day.

The Rifle Match

The Association Match was concluded yesterday afternoon. The strong wind and severe cold told against the accuracy of the firing, and had rather a depressing effect upon the competitors. The following were the highest scores:

	Total score.
R. P. Jellett	22
Prt. Griffin, G. T. R.	22
Major Stephens, 15th Batt.	21
Capt. Crouther, G. T. R.	20
Sergt. Bennett, 15th Batt.	20
Capt. S. S. Lazier, 15th Batt	19
Lt. John Taylor, 15th "	19
Lt. Marshall, G. T. R.	18
Prt. Jas. Lloyd, G. T. R.	17
Capt. Hambly, 49th Batt.	16
Lt. Teale, G. T. R.	16
Capt. W. Nunn, G. T. R.	15
Sergt. W. Mills, G. T. R.	15
Sergt. Clarke, G. T. R.	15

There were eleven prizes in this Match, given by the following parties:

1st Prize, Revolver, by Thos. Holden, Esq.
2nd Silver mounted Cane, Lieut. Robertson.
3rd Gold Breastpin, Capt. Nunn.
4th Pair of Lamps, E. Chandler, Esq.
5th Meerschaum Pipe, T. Lockerty.
6th Keg of Ale, Don. Bain.
7th Photographic Album, J. C. Overell, with $1 by the Association.
8th Coffee Pot, B. B. Smith.
9th Box Raisins, J. S. Hurst.
10th Copy of Chronicle for one year, E. Miles.
11th Pair of Porcelain Vases, F. Vanorman.

SECOND DAY.

The third Match was commenced this morning, open only to the active Volunteer Force of the County of Hastings in full or undress uniform. With Government Rifle, Ranges 200, 300 and 400 yards; 5 shots at each range. Entrance fee 25 cents, except to volunteers belonging to the Association, who are free. There were no less than forty-five entries. The wind was not so high this forenoon and the weather not being so cold, firing was much better than yesterday. The match was not concluded until late this afternoon, so that we cannot give the score until to-morrow.

Good Templars.

The Grand Lodge of Good Templars of Canada met at Ottawa on the 9th inst. There were about two hundred delegates present. The Grand Worthy Chief Templar, Dr. Oronhyatekа, presented his address, ably adverting to the principal topics of interest to the order. The Ottawa Times says: "the address throughout was characterized by great ability, and the Order has great cause for congratulation for having so able and so devoted a chief to preside over them.

The Grand Worthy Treasurer's Report, sets forth the state of the Funds, showing the receipts of the year up to the first of the present month to have been $4,044.58 and expenditure to same date $3,770.76, leaving a balance on hand of $273.82.

On Tuesday evening there was a public meeting, which was addressed by Mr. Orne, of Massachusetts, Right Worshipful Grand Templar of the United States, Hon. S. L. Tilley, Rev. J. C. Clark, Dr. Oronhyatekha and others. The meeting was largely attended and was one of peculiar interest to the order.

A despatch from Ottawa, Nov. 10th, says: —The following officers of the Grand Lodge of Good Templars were elected today, a great many changes being made:—G. W. C. Rev. J. S. Clarke, of Grimsby; G. W. Councillor, Jno. Ormiston, Gananoque; G. W. S., J. W. Casey, Napanee; G. W., T. M. Nasmith, Toronto; G. W. Chaplain, Rev. J. C. Ashe, Pakeham; G. W. M. J. Luttrell, Montreal; G. W. A. M., Miss E. Aylesworth, Bath; G. W. I. G., Miss Price, Napanee; G. W. O. G., G. Wampum, Oneida. The retiring G. W. C. T. was presented with a regalia and $200 as an acknowledgement for his past services. The next annual meeting of the Grand Lodge takes place in Montreal. A large amount of business has been transacted. It is expected that the session will continue all day to-morrow.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 10.

The House met to-day at 7:30, a number of petitions had been presented.

REGISTRATION OF CO-PARTNERSHIP.

MR. ATTORNEY GENERAL, in reply to Mr. Boyd, said that it was the intention of the government, if possible, to introduce a a bill this session for the registration of co-partnership.

LAND IMPROVEMENT FUND.

The question of whether the government intend to pay over to the different Crown Land townships in Ontario the amount of the improvement fund due to them, or what course is intended to be pursued as to the said fund.

The ATTORNEY GENERAL explained that the government of Canada had made an appropriation of a certain area of public lands known as school lands for improvement. That same government ten years ago revoked the operation of the application of that fund. Since then frequent applications had been made to the government of Canada by members interested in the appropriation. He could not recognise any obligation to revoke what was done ten years ago, and even if he did there were no funds for the purpose. The matter had been settled before the government came into existence.

COLONIZATION ROAD.

An address was ordered for all contracts on colonization roads, the names of the parties to whom contracts were given, amount to be paid under the names of the superintendents.

OFFICIAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

An address was ordered for the amount paid for official advertisements from the 1st January, 1869, to 1st November, 1869, the name of the journal in which the advertisement was published, etc.

GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS.

An address was ordered shewing the names of all persons appointed to office, whether permanently or temporarily, since the 1st of July, 1867, and the salaries to be received.

CROWN LANDS.

An address was ordered for all orders in Council in reference to the Crown Lands, Mines and Forests, and the terms upon which they were going to be sold to settlers.

BILLS, MOTIONS, ETC.

A number of bills were introduced and read a first time; and a number of notices of motions and questions put upon the paper, and the House adjourned.

The Barley Crop.

Up to November 2nd, the deliveries of Canada Barley at Oswego were 1,993,000 bushels against 1,818,000 in 1867. The price however, presents a wonderful contrasts, for whereas it ruled from 95 cents to $1 50 in Toronto during September and October, 1868, it has never exceeded 80c this year, and a very considerable quantity has been bought at about 60c. A statement of the quantities delivered in Oswego from Canadian ports to the first November, in each of the following years, and the ruling prices for the season in Toronto, is as follows:

	Deliveries.	Ruling prices. for No. 1.
1865	2,475,000 bush.	60 to 80c.
1866	2,278,000 "	45 to 60c.
1867	2,050,000 "	70 to 85c.
1868	1,818,000 "	95 to $1.50
1869	1,993,000 "	60 to 80c.

The aggregate crop of 1869, however, far exceeds that of last year, and, taking everything into account, it is probable that the result of the two years' operations may be about the same to the farmer, while the increased bulk will afford much more business to the railways, the shipping interest, and to forwarders generally.

—Three merchants have absconded from Montreal within the past week.

—Cotton crop in the South is estimated at 3,000,000 in bales.

—A London despatch says that Mr. Geo. Peabody died very happily, being surrounded with friends, and passed away quietly, as if going to sleep. He had suffered very much during the past month, but until recently, refused to obey his physician's orders or take his medicine. He hated to be asked after his health or the expressions of sympathy. He expired in his lodgings in the house of his old friend, Sir Curtis W. Lampson in Eaton square.

COL. DENISON'S BOOK ON CAVALRY.—A Toronto contemporary says:—As an instance of the notice the book has attracted, we may mention that a prominent officer in the Austrian army has written to Col. Denison for permission to translate it. He pronounces it the most valuable work on Cavalry he has ever had the pleasure of reading, and says it would without doubt command a large sale in France, Austria, and Prussia, if translated into the languages of those countries. We believe that the English publisher is already making arrangements to have this done. It is pleasing to have to record this fact respecting a book written by a Canadian volunteer officer. We congratulate Col. Denison on the very flattering success he has attained.

WANTS AN INVESTIGATION.

A Washington special says, "Ex-Asst. U. S. Treasurer Butterfield, had a long interview with Secretary Boutwell, concerning his recent official troubles. He demanded of the Secretary an investigation. He said he felt that if he were allowed one he could clear himself to the satisfaction of the Government and of the whole community.

A HOUSEHOLD REMEDY.—No family should be without some efficacious remedy for the cure of affections, so universally prevalent, as coughs, colds, sorethroat, whooping cough, and croup—some remedy too, which can be relied upon as safe, sure and certain. Dr. Wistar's Balsam of wild Cherry combines this desideratum.

POINT BURWELL, Ont. March 20, 1869. SIRS:—With pleasure I mention the good effect of your Lung Balsam. My wife was in a very serious decline from an affection of the Lungs, and considered incurable, when I fortunately heard of your Lung Blasam, which I at once got and in a very short time her cough was cured, and her health perfectly restored by the use of the Balsam. Respectfully yours, WILLIAM M. COMBS.

THE FENIANS.—Ogdensburgh is now looked upon as the rallying point for the Fenian Circles. The rendevous may be a good one, but the attempt to invade will only hush any whispers of discontent in the Dominion, and rouse that determined heroism and courage so characteristic of the Dominion, whose instantaneous and energetic action is sure to prove victorious, like the triumph of the Great Shoshonees Remedy, for chronic complaints of the lungs, liver &c. Business Notices.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and equally over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came; the room was crowded with anxious expectants; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Avilian Bitters.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—The very agreeable character of this preparation has rendered it a general favourite. The CIVIL SERVICE GAZETTE remarks: "The singular success with which Mr. Epps attained by his homœopathic preparation of cocoa has never been surpassed by any experimentalist. By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills." Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold by the Trade only in ½lb., ¼lb., and 1lb. tin lined packets, labelled—JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England. 94—6m1&8

CURES CROUP OR RATTLES.

DR. BINGHAM, of Utica, New York, says, "I have used Dr. A. Trask's Magnetic Ointment in my practice a number of years, and can say with pleasure I deem it to be one of the greatest discoveries of the age; for the cure of INFLAMMATION of the LUNGS, INFLAMMATION of the BOWELS, INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM, and in CHILD BED FEVER, it operates with perfect success. In cases of Burns, Bruises, Frozen Limbs, it acts like a charm."

DR. J. P. KENNEDY, of Chittenango, N. Y., says, "It has stood the test trial, and has not been found wanting. Its astonishing cures of inflammation of the Lungs and Croup, and its wonderful success in subduing the torturing pains of rheumatism, and relieving Nervous Affections, entitle it to a high rank in the list of Remedies for these complaints."

DR. A. W. SPALDING, of Knowlesville, N. Y., says, "I have used it in several cases of Specific Irritation and for the worst cases of Piles, and sundry other complaints, and find it a superior article, and well worthy the attention of all."

Purchasers should be sure and ask for DR. A. TRASK'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT, and see that the words "A. TRASK'S MAGNETIC OINTMENT" are on the wrapper.

BOILS.

Like the volcano, Boils give issue to the foul and fiery contents of the deep interior. To remove the cause of such suffering it is only necessary to vitalize the Blood by supplying it with its Life Element, Iron.

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP,

(a protected solution of the Protoxide of Iron) will do this effectively, and give strength, vigor and new life to the whole system.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM REV. RICHARD S. EDES, OF BOLTON, MASS.

"For years I was a sufferer from Boils, so that my life became wearisome through their frequent and persistent recurrence; finally a carbuncle formed in the small of my back. During its progress large pieces of decomposed flesh were every day or two cut away, and the prostration and general disturbance of the system were great. Before I had recovered from this attack two smaller carbuncles broke out higher up, and I was again threatened with a recurrence of the sufferings to which I had so long been subjected. It was at this time that I commenced taking the PERUVIAN SYRUP. I continued taking it until I had used five bottles; since then I have had nothing of the kind. For years I was one of the greatest sufferers. Other medicines gave me partial and temporary relief, but this remarkable remedy, with a kind of intuitive sense, went directly to the root of the evil, and did its work with a thoroughness worthy of the established character."

A 32 page Pamphlet sent free. The genuine has "PERUVIAN SYRUP" blown in the glass.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

THE REMEDY FOR CURING

Consumption, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppressions of the Chest or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS action is expectorant, alterative, sedative, diaphoretic, and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS and PURIFIES the BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action and imparts strength to the whole system. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction, even in the most confirmed cases of consumption, and not to produce costiveness (as do most remedies) or effect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no necessity for so many deaths by consumption, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if taken in time. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

Patriotic Song.

The following is one of the many poems called forth by the prize offered by the Caledonian Society, and though the bard was not successful, we have no doubt he would like to be 'known to fame,' and therefore it is presented to the public:—

Fine country, fertile flourishing,
Full of fruit and vegetables nourishing!
When Fenian foes were vanquished quite,
And ran away with all their might,
Who would not fight for such a land,
As long as he'd a leg to stand?
Its lakes are deep, its streams are wide,
And girt by trees on every side;
Its climate is not very much to boast,
For in winter you freeze and in summer you roast,
But in autumn or lake, in heat or cold,
It's a better country than the old.
And I'd rather on whiskey and pork live here,
Than in England on beef and table beer!
Its people are rather a motley crew,
But to the old Flag they'll be ever true!
The cowards who write for Annexation,
Shall be kicked o'er the bounds of this loyal nation,
And the Yankees who think to be masters here,
Will find they have got the wrong sow by the ear!
Then all unite with heart and hand,
To keep for ourselves this mighty land,
And in honor and in truth, in fame and renown!
To preserve this brightest jewel in the British Crown!

Storing Winter Apples.

I saw a statement that you made use of about 2,000 bushels of apples a year and that you hardly knew whether they keep better if picked over when becoming a little specked or not. I have had an extended experience in keeping apples, and am decidedly of the opinion that they keep far better to put them into boxes or barrels as tight as they possibly can be made and keep them as much excluded from air as possible. They will come out in the spring full and plump as when taken from the tree. Many kinds, as the Talman sweet, Spitzenburgh, and those kinds that are not considered as long keepers and shrivel badly will do well, treated in this way. I have found universally that they keep better to let them lie without picking over. It is much better to pile them into a large bin across the cellar, say six or seven feet high and four or five feet wide, and cover up tightly than to lay them on shelves.—I once saw such a bin that a man had kept through the winter. About the first of April he thought he would open the windows on the side of the cellar next the bin to let in the air that they might keep better. I was at his place and he called my attention to the fact. Two windows just over the bin were open about ten days or two weeks, and the apples exactly opposite the windows about one-third rotted for as much as a foot in depth, and the remaining part on either side were not rotted at all.

Another instance: A neighbor of mine had about 500 bushels in a pile in a cellar. As they became a little specked he commenced picking over, when about half done picking and concluded to let them go; when marketed about six weeks after found that about one-third of those picked over were not fit for market, while all but about one twentieth of the others were good. This I have seen in numerous instances. If you wish to try the experiment make a box as tight as a carpenter can make it, and when picking from the orchard fill it and nail it fast. Let it lie in the orchard till it is in danger of freezing then put it in the cellar. Put the same quantity on shelves for trial. I am pretty sure one experiment will convince.—[Harvey Smith on Laws of Life].

A Singular Suicide.

From Canneltown, Indiana, came the story of a boy named Stanley Clark, who a few days ago committed suicide because his mother would not give him money to attend the Owensboro, Fair. He was sitting in company with his widowed mother and the children in the family sitting room, when the subject of the fair came up incidentally. Not the slightest apparent importance was given to the matter; it was talked of like any other thousand and one little topics which we talk of daily around our firesides, when Stanley remarked: "Mother, I wish you would let me have a little money; I believe I'll go to that fair." To this his mother replied "Stanley, I do wish you would not ask me for money to go there. I wish you would not go. You are only eighteen years old, and I do not think it wise or safe for you to be keeping so much company. I want you to stay at home with us, and you know I want to make home as pleasant for you and all of us as I can. As your mother I dread the idea of your getting into bad company or temptation." To this he father smartly answered: "You will let me have it, mother, I know," or words to that effect, while he turned into his private room, where, before we can tell it, the family were shocked by the discharge of a pistol, and rushing in, they found him on the floor, lying on his back, stark, pulseless and gory, the red current of his life still streaming from the fatal orifice.—N. Y. Times.

Business Notices.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and sizable over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came; the room was crowded with anxious expectants; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters.

	£1,672,356 16 11

The above is a complete list of the Investments of the Company at the date specified, in addition to which the funds are still further increased, by amounts constantly varying, at different periods, in the hands of the Bankers and the Company's Agents. At 31st December, 1868, these stood at..... £ 168,089 2 0

For the satisfaction of the Public, the whole of the Securities belonging to the Company are annually submitted to the careful scrutiny of two independent Auditors, and the following is an Extract from their Report to the last Annual Meeting:—

"The whole of your Books have been Audited—every Document, every Account, every Voucher, your Bank-book, and every Security—all have been most carefully kept, and there is not one doubtful Security in the whole."

THE ACCUMULATIONS OF THE LIFE DEPARTMENT,

After payment of Losses, Annuities, and Expenses of every description, have been as follows:

Funds in Hand at the last Quinquennial Valuation, 31st Dec., 1864,	£ 621,434	15 5

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain may be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more certain and thorough remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of the remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Langnor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstruction which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive organs.

ROYAL ITALIAN BITTERS

OR TONICO REALE.

Del Dottore F. P. Verri, Prof. of Chemistry in the of University of Padua, Italy.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original preparer at the National Exposition at Turin, Italy, by those in charge—has since obtained the Recipe, and was also awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition of Canada, held at Montreal in September, 1869, is without exception, the most Genuine, Salubrious and agreeable Tonic ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America.

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite among the élite of society, being generally served in the Drawing Room immediately before dinner, in preference to Vermouth.

☞ The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval on every account.

The Proprietor has no idea of parading or puffing it before the public, but merely asks a sound and unprejudiced trial.

Kept by the principal Wine Merchants, Druggists, and Grocers in Canada.

Prepared and sold wholesale by the Proprietor,

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, FRIDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 12, 1869. No. 165.

George Peabody.

PERSONAL ANECDOTES AND INCIDENTS OF HIS LIFE.

From the Boston Transcript, Nov. 5th.

In personal appearance Mr. Peabody resembled a professional rather than a business man.

Mr. Peabody's great interest in education doubtless partly arose from the fact that he was taken from school at the early age of eleven years, and was thus deprived of what in that day was known as grammar school instruction.

The first money Mr. Peabody earned outside of the small pittance he received as a clerk was for writing ballots for the Federal party in Newburyport. This was before the day of printed votes.

When Mr. Riggs invited Mr. Peabody to be a partner, the latter said there was one insuperable objection, as he was only 19 years of age. This was no objection in the mind of the shrewd merchant, who wanted a young and active assistant.

Our esteemed fellow citizen, James Reed, was the first merchant who gave George Peabody credit. The purchase was for a thousand dollars, half of it on credit. The amount was promptly paid, and the transaction led to a long business relation and life-long friendship.

Two gentlemen are living who were friends of Mr. Peabody in boyhood, and who willingly paid his share of the cost of sailing and fishing parties, ten pins, &c., during the war of 1812-14—his excellent company being considered more than an offset to his lack of funds.

The late Rev. Daniel Dana, D. D., of Newburyport, was the clergyman whose preaching first attracted Mr. Peabody's attention when a lad. Mr. Dana was uncle to Mr. Samuel T. Dana, of this city, who has been Mr. Peabody's agent of late years.

Mr. Peabody did not bestow many gifts to relieve individual poverty or distress.—He thought that much of the money thus contributed, only tended to increase the evil it sought to alleviate.

Mr. Peabody was a beautiful penman. His letters were unusually brief and very much to the point.

Mr. Peabody was strongly opposed to fraud in little matters. The conductor on an English railway once overcharged him a shilling for fare. He made complaint to the directors and had the man discharged. "Not," said he, "that I could not afford to pay the shilling, but the man was cheating many travellers to whom the swindle would be oppressive."

When Mr. Peabody first resided in London he lived very frugally, taking breakfast at his lodgings and dining at a club house. His personal expenses for ten years did not average £600 per annum.

Mr. Peabody had a very retentive memory, particularly in regard to names and places. He would give the most minute particulars of events that occurred between fifty and sixty years ago.

Mr. Peabody first appeared in print as the champion of American credit in England, at the time our State securities were depressed on account of the non-payment of interest by Pennsylvania.

Mr. Peabody administered many severe rebukes to prominent Southern men for the manner in which their States treated public creditors.

Essex County, where Mr. Peabody was born, has five public buildings erected by his liberality. They are consecrated to the uses of education, science and religion.

Mr. Peabody leaves a sister, Mrs. Daniels, formerly Mrs. Russell, of Georgetown. He has several nephews and nieces, to all of whom he has been very generous.

Mr. Peabody was very fond of singing, Scottish songs being his favorites.

The toast Mr. Peabody sent to the Danvers celebration in 1852 was:

"Education—A debt due from present to future generations.'

Mr. Peabody was a good talker; at the table few men were his equal. His idea of a pleasant dinner party was where there was a great deal of talk and he could take the lead in conversation.

The favorite games of Mr. Peabody were backgammon after dinner, and whist in the evening. He was as fond of the latter and as vigorous a player as Charles Lamb's friend, Sarah Battle, who neither gave nor took quarter.

About a quarter of century ago Mr. Peabody was so much pleased with an American lady visiting London that he offered her his hand and fortune, which were accepted. Learning a short time after ward that she was already engaged, a fact of which she had kept them in ignorance, he rebuked her lack of sincerity and broke off the engagement.

Mr. Peabody visited, incognito, the houses erected by his munificence, for the poor of London, to see if those in charge of the charity properly attended to their duties. He asked the wife of the superintendent the name of her child, and was answered, "George Peabody." This promoted a present to the infant, which the mother quickly interpreted, and announced to her neighbors the presence of their distinguished benefactor, who gladly took refuge in a cab to be rid of their benedictions.

Letters by hundreds were daily received by Mr. Peabody of late years. They were first looked over by a secretary and only a few ever reached the eyes of the great banker. He received one of thirty-six foolscap pages from a decayed English gentleman who solicited a loan of a few thousand pounds to establish the claims of his family to an estate. Mr. Peabody wrote in reply substantially this: That you should have written such a letter, would surprise your friends; that I should have read it, would indeed surprise mine."

Chief Justice Shaw paid Mr. Peabody the compliment of remarking that a business document, written by him, was one of the clearest and most comprehensive papers that had ever been presented to our Supreme Court.

By temperament, religious training, early education, political bias and business connections Mr. Peabody was conservative.

The last time Mr. Peabody spoke in public was at the National Peace Jubilee in Boston. It was a fitting place and occasion for one whose long and useful life had done so much for peace and concord.

Several years ago Mr. Peabody selected his grave in the beautiful cemetry near his native place called "Harmony Grove," where the remains of many of his kindred are buried.

Mr. Peabody always cherished the memory of his mother, to whose comfort he ministered in early life. One who knew all the circumstances alluded to them in the following words:

"Might we invade the sanctuary of his early home, and the circle of his immediate connections, we could light around the youthful possessor of a few hundred dollars—the wrails of the most severe and untiring efforts—a brighter halo than his elegant hospitalities, his munificent donations, or his liberal public acts now shed over the London banker."

Mosquitoes.—One night we took a wrong passage, and found ourselves in the cul de sac of a large lagoon; and after fruitless attempts in the dark to extricate ourselves, we anchored, hoping that the mosquitoes would have better manners than molest weary benighted travellers. But alas! we had not been there very long before they swarmed off in myriads, laid siege to and penetrated the outworks, finally took possession of our bodily citadels, and began to bore holes in every conceivable part of the same, entering therein their sharp proboscis, and, like vampires, drawing off our life's claret. I never saw anything like it. Our faces were quite veiled with them, all sucking away most cruelly; and when brushed off would return to the feast with a perseverance worthy of a better cause.—We had a sleepless night, and in the morning our faces were like plum pudding. Our men were nearly driven mad, suffering tortures indescribable, and but for the alligators would have jumped overboard anywhere to avoid the pest. The poor ladies were much to be pitied, but more to be admired, since they bore it so bravely, so much better than the men. The biting of the mosquitoes was only part of the annoyance; their continual buzz resembling fifty hives of bees let loose in a small room, kept me in continual terror, and made one's flesh shiver.—Cruise of the Gorgon.

"Squire Johnson" was a model lawyer as the following anecdote will show:

Mr. Jones once rushed into the Squire's office in a great passion.

"That infernal scoundrel of a cobbler, Smith, has sued me, Mr Johnston—sued for five dollars I owe him for a pair of boots!"

"Then you owe him the five dollars?"

"To be sure I do—but he has gone and sued me sued me!"

"Then why don't you pay, if you owe?"

"So I would if he had not sued me," but now I will stand him a law suit. Will you defend me?

"Yes for $10.

All right! There's the X. Now go ahead!"

No sooner was his client gone, than Squire Johnson stepped across to his neighbor Smith and offered to pay the bill, on condition that the suit should be withdrawn. The shoemaker gladly acceded—all he wanted was his pay. The lawyer retained the other five for his law fee, and as the case was not troublesome, made no further demand upon his client.

Ten days after, Jones came to see how his case was getting on.

"All right!" said the lawyer. "You won't have any trouble about that. I put it to Smith so strongly that he was glad to withdraw the suit altogether."

"Capital!" cried the exulting Jones. "You've done it up brown! You shall have all my business."

Russell of the Times, Denounced.—Mr. Russell, of the Times, does not appear to have given satisfaction either to Northerners or Southerners, but you do not hear of any one being dissatisfied with the "Canadian Pain Destroyer," which is sufficient proof that it is all it is represented to be.

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, NOV. 12.

FAILURES.—A telegram from Kingston to the Globe says: "Several failures are reported in consequence of over speculation in Barley."

GRAND TEMPLE OF GOOD TEMPLARS.—During the sitting of the Grand Temple of Good Templars, in Ottawa on the 11th Nov., a resolution was passed appropriating $1,500 for lecturing purposes, and to co operate with other bodies for securing legislation for prohibition, and to co-operate with the temperance union for starting a journal of temperance.

THE KINGSTON AND MADOC RAILWAY.—At a meeting of the ratepayers of Camden, held in the Town Hall, Centreville on the 15th inst., there was a resolution submitted to the electors of Camden to grant a bonus of $10,000, and $5,000 in stock, which was carried with the understanding, that the road would run through that portion of the Township that would most benefit a majority of the rate payers."

MISS RYE AND HER PROTEGES.—This lady arrived at Toronto on the 11th Nov., with seventy little girls, of ages ranging from six to twelve years, whom she intends providing with accommodation for the winter in the old jail at Niagara, which has been fitted up as a Home for their reception. All the little girls, the most of whom are robust looking juveniles, were safely placed on board the vessel, which shortly after steamed out of the harbor for Niagara.

SABBATH SCHOOL ASSOCIATION.—We are glad to learn that the preliminary steps have been taken towards organizing a County Sabbath School Association, in accordance with the recommendation of the late Provincial Convention. A meeting for this purpose is to be held on Tuesday afternoon next, at 2 o'clock, in the Wesleyan Methodist Church, Bridge Street, when it is to be hoped there will be a large representation from each congregation in the Town.

PROF. MCINTYRE'S LECTURE.—Professor McIntyre of Albert College, delivered a lecture on the evening of the 11th Nov., in the Ontario Hall; subject—"Nelson." The lecturer gave evidence of a thorough knowledge of his subject, and treated it in a masterly manner, at times truly eloquently. The sentiments breathed in this lecture were such as to commend themselves to every hearer, of whom we regret there were not a larger number. Prof. McIntyre has by this lecture established a reputation, which will fill the Hall upon any future occasion.

THE HUDSON'S BAY COMPANY.—The Canadian News of the 28th inst., says: "We are in a position to state that the payment of the £300,000 by Canada to the Hudson's Bay Company will be made on or before the 1st of December next, so that day the North-West territory will be included by proclamation as part of the Dominion. The money will probably be immediately raised by loan on the market under the Imperial guarantee, or, failing this, the Hon. Mr. Rose is authorized to make other arrangements, so that the money under any circumstances may be handed over to the company before the 1st of December next."

TAXATION IN THE UNITED STATES.—An illustration—if any be needed—of the amount of taxation which the people of the United States are suffering from, may be found in some figures just now completed in Chicago. From these it seems that the inhabitants of that city have paid during the last seven years no less a sum than $31,104,695. This pertains exclusively to taxes demanded by the central government, and does not include the taxes of the state or of the municipality. It is a noteworthy fact, too, that the taxes of the current year up to the end of last month sums up to more than the whole of any of the preceding years. The heaviest year was 1866, when they amounted to $6,668,479, and for the ten months of this year they are $6,711,168. What do the advocates of annexation say to this? Perhaps they would like to lighten the burdens of the Chicago people, and help to pay these demands of the Washington administration.

The Silver Movement.

We learn that another effort is being made to permanently reduce the rate of discount on silver, by exporting it to the United States. Mr. Weir, of Montreal, was here yesterday, and has secured tenders for about twenty thousand dollars. The silver is to be delivered to J. W. Thompson, Esq., Express Agent here, in stated smounts per week at the rate of five per cent discount.

As this movement will reduce the rate of discount to a low figure, it is to the interest of all concerned to assist in carrying out the arrangement. The present low rate is caused principally by the large amount of silver paid out for grain all over the country, and which will, in all probability, be again put in circulation during the next two weeks, when the discount will be increased.

Mr. Sisson's Resolution to Raise the Wind.

Our comments a few days since upon the resolution moved by Mr. Sisson at the last meeting of the Board of School Trustees, generously authorizing certain parties to make and endorse a note to raise money to pay costs incurred in the suit of Smith vs. the Trustees, were based upon the records of the books of the Board, and as there was no resolution on record to shew that Mr. Sisson had even suggested the Chairman as the proper person to negotiate notes, we asked the question why he was not named instead of the Secretary; but we find by a report of the proceedings of that meeting as published in the last Chronicle, that Mr. Sisson did attempt to get the Chairman to give his personal note for the money, and that he refused to do so. Precisely what we stated he would do, being too old to be caught by such chaff. Out of this the Chronicle attempts to make a point, and talks quite glibly about "cunning," "dishonesty," and other characteristic epithets. Was the Chronicle honest in its attempts to fasten dishonesty upon us in this matter, when it knew that we had no reporter at that meeting, and that our remarks were based upon the proceedings as recorded in the Board Books?

Apart from all this, Mr. McAnnany did quite right in refusing to give his personal note, knowing that as a Board they had no power by law to negotiate notes and raise money by such means. This point has been decided in our Courts. And would not he, or any one else, be exceedingly childish to burn their fingers in such a way, knowing that the law would not compel the Board to pay the note? Besides who guarantees had he that another Board would not do precisely what the present one has done, in reference to the acts of its predecessors; repudiate their acts and leave him to the glorious uncertainties of another law suit? The present Board might be desirous of seeing him harmless; but from the example set in another particular, there is no telling what an incoming Board might do. There was a time in the Board when notes to meet pressing demands might, and were with safety given, for it was known then that every Trustee was sincere and honest in his endeavors to do that which in his judgment was for the benefit of the schools; but now a man would be fit for a berth in the lunatic asylum who would do any such thing. It is this feeling we doubt not, together with a determination not to be in any way personally responsible, that led the chairman to refuse signing, and Mr. Sawyer endorsing any such note. Who, under all the circumstances, will not say they were right?

But what is to be done in the meantime? Every particle of moveable property in the schools, even to the fuel, has been seized by the Sheriff and is advertised for sale in a few days, if the costs in this worse than frivolous and vexatious defence are not paid. With no money in the Treasurer's hands, not even sufficient to pay the back salaries of the Teachers, for we learn some of them are not yet paid in full, and all the moveable property of the Board advertised for sale, and a prospect of the schools being closed, what's to be done? In all fairness, the Trustees who have determinedly brought these difficulties upon the town, should finance the Board out of them. Surely Mr. Sisson, whose financial abilities shone out with such effulgent luster in the last scheme of his, ought to be able to suggest a relief. It is quite bad enough that the town should be mulcted out of half the value of the lot, without having the schools closed, in order to raise money to pay costs incurred through the perverseness of these Trustees. Why not apply to the Town Council to advance the money? We see no reason why that corporation should not come to the relief of the Board. It must not now be a question of who was the cause of incurring these costs, but one of keeping the schools open. If the Town Council refuses, then the Trustees who incurred the costs should bid in all the property at a price sufficient to cover the execution, and then sell back to the Board, waiting until a requisition could be made upon the town for the money, for their pay. In the meantime the tax payers if they felt inclined, could test the question as to the personal responsibility of these Trustees. We throw out these hints with a hope that they may be of service, though we have grave doubts that they will be accepted, particularly by those who have been in the main instrumental of driving Smith into this suit.

Father McMahon in his True Character.

If there was any doubt that the liberation of Father McMahon was an unwise act, that doubt will be removed by reading the following which we take from the Toronto Telegraph:—

"That Father McMahon in the penitentiary, was "the right man in the right place," we have now abundant evidence. At a Fenian meeting recently held in Philadelphia, the Rev. Father appeared as a speaker. He acknowledged that he was present at Ridgeway, not as a priest but as a Fenian. He strongly advocated another attack on Canada, and promised that whenever it was made he would be found among the "boys in green." Gen. O'Neil also addressed the meeting, paying a high tribute to the "courage and patriotism" of McMahon, who he said, had made good use of his rifle against the Queen's Own. After this no one can doubt the renegade priest's guilt. He deserved the penitentiary, and his release therefrom was a mistake."

The Rifle Match.

VOLUNTEER MATCH.

The ranges in this Match were 200, 300 and 400 yards, five shots at each range, and on account of the large number of entries, 45, occupied the greater part of the day. There were twenty prizes, the following being the successful competitors:—

1st. Lt. Marshall, G. T. R., Cooking Stove by Lt. Col. Brown.
2nd. Corporal Wilson, G. T. R., Silver Enfield Rifle Ball, J. R. Mason.
3rd. Capt. Nunn, G. T. R., Revolver, Captain Hanbidge.
4th. Capt. Crowther, G. T. R., Portrait, Notman, H. R. H. Prince Arthur, Major Stephens.
5th. Corporal Kennedy, G. T. R., Silver Fruit Knife, A. & J. McFee.
6th. Sergt. Mills, G. T. R., Concertina, E. Harrison.
7th. Prt. Griffin, G. T. R., Meerschaum Pipe, Lieut. Taylor.
8th. Prt. Lloyd, 49th Batt., Pair of English Buck Mittens, J. S. Meudell.
9th. Sergt. Bennett, 15th Batt., Barrel of Apples, Capt. Falkner.
10th. Sergt. Clark, G. T. R., Pair Brahma Chickens, Capt. Crowther.
11th. Prt. Northcott, G. T. R., Parlor Lamp, Capt. Holden.
12th. Prt. D. Bain, 15th Batt., Bag of Barley, E. Davy.
13th. Prt. Jarvis, G. T. R., Two bottles of Pickles, Legate & Abbott.
14th. Major Stephens, 15th Batt., Sett Skate Straps, P. Beckett.
15th Ensign Stewart, 15th Batt., 50 cts.
16th. Sergt. Gerow, G. T. R., 50 cts.
17th. Lt. Veale, G. T. R., 50 cts.
18th. Capt. Lazier, G. T. R., 50 cts.
19th. Capt. Hulme, 15th Batt., 50 cts.
20th. Prt. Woodcock, 49th Batt., 50 cts.

The highest aggregate scores in the three matches already reported, are as follows:

1st. Prt. Griffin, G. T. R., Silver Medal by Lt. Col. A. A. Campbell, 15th Batt.
2nd. Sergt. Bennett, 15th Batt., $5.
3rd. Lt. Marshall, G. T. R., $4
4th. Capt. Crowther, G. T. R., $3.
5th. Prt. Lloyd, 49th Batt., $2.
6th. Major Stephens, 15th Batt., $2.

CONSOLATION MATCH.

The Consolation Match was next competed for, resulting as follows:

1st. Prt. Northcott, G. T. R., Cabinet-size Photograph of winner, by Forrest.
2nd. Sergt. Chambers, G. T. R., Silk Hat, by Wm. Johnson.
3rd. Sergt. Burke, 15th Batt., Fancy Pipe, by W. Johnson, and $1.
4th. Prt. Middlemas, G. T. R., Fancy Pipe, by W. Johnson, and 50 cts.
5th. Prt. Bond, G. T. R., 50 cts.

The Tournament closed by the unsuccessful competitors firing for a prize of $5 contributed by Thos. Kelso, Esq. It was won by Prt. Geo. Thompson, 15th Batt.—Considering that the weather was so unfavorable the firing was highly creditable, and the Match may be put down as very successful. Capt. Hulme, who was the Field Officer, performed his duty admirably, and received a vote of thanks from the Council. Mr. A. Webster acted as Secretary, and was highly complimented for the manner in which he performed his duties.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

Nov. 11th, 1869.

PETITIONS.

A number of petitions were presented, among them were five praying for the passing of an act to enable Mr. Macdonald, the owner of the Alexandria Mills, "to cut a canal, erect dams and flumes to obtain a supply of water from Lake Garry in said county, by which a large majority of the inhabitants of Glengarry, as well as those of a portion of the county of Prescott, will be greatly accommodated.

HURON SHIP CANAL.

A petition was presented praying for the appointment of a select committee to investigate into the present position and practicability and advantages of the proposed Lake Huron and Ontario Ship canal.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

An Act to regulate the Sale of Poisons, and for the regulation of chemists and druggists.

A Bill for the Registration of the Copartnership Act of 1869.

An Act to amend the law of Evidence in Civil Causes.

A Bill respecting the public notices and registration of Trading Partnerships.

PROVINCIAL MONEYS.

An address to his Excellency the Lieutenant-Governor was ordered for a return, showing all provincial moneys, (if any) invested by government during the current year, and the nature of the securities; together with a statement of all amounts on the 1st November, 1869, on deposit, and the name of the bank or banks in which the same may be deposited.

SCHOOLS.

Some correspondence between the Superintendent of Education and the government having been ordered,

The House adjourned.

Kingston Correspondence.

From our own Correspondent.

KINGSTON NEWS—THE RAILWAY—REV. WM. STEPHENSON'S LECTURE—THE ORANGE HALL—PRINCE OF WALES' RIFLES—BRIGADE MAJOR—DISTRICT QUARTER MASTER —COL. JARVIS—NOM DE PLUME.

KINGSTON, Nov. 10th, 1869.

An occasional contribution to the columns of the INTELLIGENCER from old Kingston may not prove uninteresting to some of your readers. How frequently I may send you a letter depends altogether upon circumstances; I will endeavor, however, to keep you posted in Kingston matters at such intervals as may be most opportune.

The action of the Corporation in the interest of the Madoc Railway, has, I believe, the warm support of the monied men of the city and the inhabitants in general. The general impression is that the road will be constructed, but there are a few to be found whose anticipations in regard to the success of the project are not of a very sanguine character. That the making of such a road would materially benefit the city there can be no doubt whatever, and it is pleasing to Kingstonians to observe the activity which characterizes the action of the most of the leading business men in relation thereto. Many are in favor of an iron road, but the question of expense is the great impediment; all, however, are in favor of a wooden road rather than none at all. But as the readers of the INTELLIGENCER are doubtless better acquainted with this subject than I am, I don't consider it necessary to say more regarding it at this time.

Last week the Rev. Wm. Stephenson, of Toronto, lectured in aid of the building fund of the new Orange Hall, to a large and respectable audience, on "Mountains of this times." I need only say that the subject was treated with Mr. Stephenson's usual ability. Excepting Punshon, Canada has no abler lecturer than Mr. Stephenson, who is highly popular wherever he goes. The exterior of the Orange Hall has been completed some time, but funds are required to finish the interior. The Orangemen are anxious to have the entire building in a state of readiness when the Grand Lodge meets here in June. The building is a credit to the city, and it is to be hoped that ere long it will be not only finished, but free of debt.

The departure of Lt.-Col. Paton from the city will vacate the command of the 14th P. W. O. Rifles, which was filled up by the appointment of Major Callaghan. Many changes have taken place in the Battalion of late, the members of which are now performing their annual drill. The officers have offered a prize of $40 for the best drilled company, to be decided at the end of the season. According to the 'British Whig,' Major Phillips, District Quarter Master, has been appointed Brigade Major, Lt.-Col. Shaw having been appointed Government Emigration Agent for Scotland. For the office of Brigade Major there were a large number of applicants, many of whom had no claims whatever. I heard of one lawyer, who never did an hour's drilling in his life, expressing what he performed in the Military School, who had the 'cheek' to solicit the appointment; but then I must remember the adage, 'never venture, never win.' Rumor says that a certain ex-official of Frontenac is to succeed Major Phillips, and I am inclined to think that the rumor is correct; but on this subject more anon. It is to be hoped that Lt.-Col. Jarvis will remain in England, as Lt.-Col. Macpherson is a very popular officer, and the Volunteers of the District don't desire another change at present.

Thinking what would be the most suitable 'nom de plume' to adopt, I have concluded to do without any, it being a matter of no consequence either to your readers or myself.

QUEEN VICTORIA AND GEO. PEABODY.

A special cablegram states that Queen Victoria had invited the late George Peabody to visit her at Windsor, and have a quiet talk just immediately prior to the approach of his fatal attack of illness, and that Her Majesty would have been present at his bedside had not the sudden termination of his disease by death prevented her.

"My dear Lucy, I am surprised at your taste in wearing another woman's hair on your head," said Smith to his wife. "My dear Tom," replied the wife, "I am equally astonishsd that you presist in wearing another sheep's wool on your back."

A noble lord asked a clergyman once, at the bottom of his table, why the goose, if there was one, was always placed next to the parson. "Really," replied the clergyman, "I can give no reason for it; but your question is so odd, that I shall never see a goose again without thinking of your ordship."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

BOILS.

Like the volcano, Boils give issue to the foul and fiery contents of the deep interior. To remove the cause of such suffering it is only necessary to vitalize the Blood by supplying it with its Life Element, IRON.

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP,

(a protected solution of the Protoxide of Iron) will do this effectively, and give strength, vigor and new life to the whole system.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM REV. RICHARD S. EDES, OF BOLTON, MASS.

"For years I was a sufferer from Boils, so that my life became wearisome through their frequent and persistent recurrence; finally a carbuncle formed in the small of my back. During its progress large pieces of decomposed flesh were every day or two cut away, and the prostration and general disturbance of the system were great. Before I had recovered from this attack two smaller carbuncles broke out higher up, and I was again threatened with a recurrence of the sufferings to which I had so long been subjected. It was at this time that I commenced taking the PERUVIAN SYRUP. I continued taking it until I had used five bottles; since then I have had nothing of the kind. For years I was one of the greatest sufferers. Other medicines gave me partial and temporary relief, but this remarkable remedy, with a kind of intuitive sense, went directly to the root of the evil, and did its work with a thoroughness worthy of its established character."

A 32 page Pamphlet sent free. The genuine has "PERUVIAN SYRUP" blown in the glass.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

THE REMEDY FOR CURING

Consumption, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppressions of the Chest or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS action is expectorant, alterative, sedative, diaphoretic, and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS and PURIFIES the BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action and imparts strength to the whole system. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction, even in the most confirmed cases of consumption, and not to produce costiveness (as do most remedies) or effect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no necessity for so many deaths by consumption, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

NEW CHEMICAL PRINCIPLES APPLIED IN THE CURE OF Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine (free from all nauseating or disagreeable) effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the most choice products of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other foreign roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Heat, Fat-making medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care at the proper season, from the native soil, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co.—so that no spurious admixtures or worthless root can possibly be mixed with the pure.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this branch alone. But the wonderful improvements it has secured to the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the

pays for the outlay over and over again; for never in the history of medicine was such a medicine that so completely builds up, repairs, and makes sound strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful withal, the weak and broken-down constitutions, as

Dr. RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

It supplies the blood with nourishment.
IT CONTAINS TISSUE-MAKING AND FLESH-MAKING QUALITIES.
It supplies the system with caloric or heat-making properties.
It cures all Eruptive and Ulcerated diseases of the Eyes, Ears, Mouth, Throat, and Skin and body.
It increases the weight and appetite.
IT STOPS ALL WEAKENING DISCHARGES.
It increases the repairs and diminishes the wastes.
It exterminates the products of decay.
It resolves Tumors, Nodes, Hard Lumps.
It makes the skin clear and beautiful.
It heals Fever Sores and Ulcers.
It cures Gravel, Gleet, and Stricture.
It makes the water clear and pass freely.
It cures Barrenness, and invests with the vigor of manhood those who, from weakness or disease, are deficient or exhausted.
It rescues woman from the perils incident to change of life—cessation of Menses.

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if their systems are still in a condition to receive nourishment, and their LUNGS LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wasted beyond the process of repair, or if capable of sustaining the reparative process of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can be either restored to health, or the wastes and decompositions stopped, and the elements of decay that now exist be dismissed from the system.

Extreme cases, where the LUNGS, KIDNEYS, and other organs are wasted, ulcerated, and their functions interrupted and secretions altered beyond the reparative power of medicine, may, and will, by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, continue to live perhaps for years; for no matter how low the vital forces may be, if the system can be brought under the influence of this tissue and flesh-making medicine, the repairs will be greater than the wastes and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poison of Venereal, are developed through the process of deposits from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic Glands, Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a marked change in her health for the better after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure, rich, strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution its natural constituents, the deposits of Tuberculous matter and other elements of disease, decomposition and decay will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs; and each of these Organs will secrete their proper constituent secretions. Instead of Urine Bile, the Pancreatic Juice and other fluids being absorbed in the circulation, these secretions will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If medicine fails in its influence on the system, to correct these secretions, and to assist each organ or secreting gland in discharging its proper functions, health can never be restored; happily for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this important want that has heretofore existed in all these remedial agents advertized as Blood Purifyers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones disease and corruption may be, the influence of this powerful agent on the blood and other fluids that supply the living body with repairs, will so charge the system with such constituents as to resolve and exterminate the dead and decomposing matter, and supply its place with sound and living structure, nourished by rich, pure, and strong blood. By the chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during its process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, before it is made blood, as well as the nourishing constituents it converts into blood, and its specific action when entering in the circulation, it exterminates every atom of virus from the blood, and resolves away all deposits of disease, whether caused by the action of some specific poison, or virulent disease, or Mercury, Corrosive Sublimate, i. e. the Corrosive Chloride of Mercury, Calomel, and other agents that may have accumulated in the bones, tissues cartilages, or joints, or from some transmitted family complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, Syphilis, uncured and badly treated Venereal in its many forms. Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Life Principle, are within the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Strictures and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy, Diabetes, and all who are inconvenienced by Stoppage of Water, or Painful Discharges, are quickly relieved and effectually cured through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Denault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his side that resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, aided with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and used, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctored for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., told me of his knowledge of your medicine. His son, aged 13 years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all. I saw him in September last, and he was the most revolting and diseased object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills. One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruption of the Skin, Boils, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Threatened Consumption, Night Sweats Bleeding from the Lungs, cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WIDDER STATION, Ontario, Canada West, March 11, 1868.

DR. RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was cured, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatened Consumption have disappeared. I feel my health fully recovered.

JONATHAN FREELAND.

N. B.—This gentleman was well known to have been under the treatment of the best physicians in Sarnia—he received no benefit from any medicine until he commenced the use of your Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

Putting up Stoves.

In consequence of the arrival of cold weather once more, about these days there is a universal puttiug up of stoves preparatory to the winter campaign, and undoubtedly a great deal of profanity is indulged in. One who has considerable experience in the work of putting up stoves says the first step to be taken is to put on a very old and ragged coat, under the impression that when he gets his mouth full of plaster it will keep his shirt bosom clean. Next he gets his hands inside the place where the pipe ought to go, and blacks his fingers, and then he carefully makes a black mark down one side of his nose. It is impossible to make any headway, in doing this work, until his mark is made down the side of the nose. Having got his face properly marked the victim is ready to begin the ceremony. The head of the family—who is the big goose of the sacrifice—grasps one side of the bottom of the stove, and his wife and the hired girl take hold of the other side. In this way the load is started from the woodshed toward the parlor. Going through the door the head of the family will carefully swing his side of the stove around and jam his thumb nail against the door post. This part of the ceremony is never omitted. Having got the family comfortably in place the next thing is to find the legs. Two of these are left inside since the spring before. The other two must be hunted after for twenty five minutes. They are usually found under the coal. Then the head of the family holds up one side of the stove while his wife puts two of the legs in place, and next he holds up the other side while the other two is fixed, and one of the first two falls out. By the time the stove is on its legs he gets wreckless, and takes off his old coat regardless of his linen. Then he goes off for the pipe and gets a cinder in his eye. It don't make any difference how well the pipe was put up last year, it will be found a little too short or a little too long. The head of the family jams his hat over his eyes, and, taking a pipe under each arm, goes to the tin shop to have it fixed. When he gets back he steps upon one of the best parlor chairs to see if the pipe fits, and his wife makes him get down for fear he will scratch the varnish off from the chair with the nails in his boot heel. In getting down he will surely step on the cat, and may thank his stars if it is not the baby. Then he gets an old chair and climbs up to the chimney again, to find that in cutting the pipe off the end has been left to big for the hole in the chimney. So he goes to the woodshed and splits one side of the end of the pipe, with an old axe, and squeezes it in hand to make it smaller. Finally he gets the pipe in shape and finds that the stove does not stand true. Then himself and wife and the hired girl move the stove to the left, and the legs fall out again. Next it is to move to the right. More difficulty with the legs. Moved to the front a little. Elbow not even with the hole in the chimney, and he goes to the woodshed after some little blocks. While putting the blocks under the legs the pipe comes out of the chimney. That remedied, the elbow keeps tipping over to the great alarm of the wife. Head of the family gets the dinner table out, puts the old chair on it, gets his wife to hold the chair, and balance himself on it to drive some nails into the ceiling. Drops the hammer on to wife's head. At last gets the nails driven, makes a wire swing to hold the pipe, hammers a little here, pulls a little there, takes a long breath, and announces the ceremony completed. And never put up any stoves. It would have ruined his reputation if he had.—N. Y. Tribune.

	£1,672,856 16 11

The above is a complete list of the Investments of the Company at the date specified, in addition to which the funds are still further increased, by amounts constantly varying, at different periods, in the hands of the Bankers and the Company's Agents. At 31st December, 1868, these stood at ..... £ 168,089 2 0

For the satisfaction of the Public, the whole of the Securities belonging to the Company are annually subjected to careful scrutiny of two independent Auditors, and the following is an Extract from their Report to the last Annual Meeting :—

"Your Auditors have been Audited—every Account, every Voucher, your Bank book, and every Security—all have been most carefully kept, and there is not one deficient Security in the whole."

THE ACCUMULATIONS OF THE LIFE DEPARTMENT,

After payment of Losses, Annuities, and Expenses of every description, have been as follows:

Funds in Hand at the last Quinquennial Valuation, 31st Dec., 1864,	£ 621,434 15 5
Added to 31st December, 1865, ...	103,146 7 3

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. It wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil with a handkerchief, yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic. No one ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this unrivaled purgative. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that when it does cure it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. Hence the thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, which are constantly known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal organs to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, where alone they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure :—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaints in its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice, or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppressions a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists, to take them, for they will, often find that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

ROYAL ITALIAN BITTERS

OR TONICO REALE.

Dei Dottore P. P. Verri, Prof. of Chemistry in the of University Padua, Italy.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original preparer at the National Exposition at Torino, Italy, by whose favor Mr. Gianelli obtained the Recipe, and was also awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition of Canada, held at Montreal in September, 1865, is without doubt the most valuable, pleasant, Salubrious and agreeable Tonic ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America.

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite among the upper ten of society, being generally served in the Drawing Room immediately before dinner, in preference to Vermouth.

☞ The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval on every account.

The Proprietor has no idea of parading or puffing it before the public, but merely asks a sound and unprejudiced trial.

Kept by the principal Wine Merchants, Druggists, and Grocers in the city.

Prepared and sold wholesale by the Proprietor,

LET THERE BE HARMONY IN THINGS ESSENTIAL—LIBERALITY IN THINGS NOT ESSENTIAL—CHARITY IN ALL.

VOL. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, SATURDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 13, 1869. No. 166.

For the Intelligencer.

Chosen in Christ ere time began,
Or sin commenced to shine,
Or angels learned to know or scan
The mystery divine.

Before the stars were fixed on high,
Or years their courses ran,
Or planets sparkled through the sky,
Or lived the creature, man.

Ere worlds came forth from empty space,
Or streams began to flow,
Before the hills assumed their place,
Or vales were spread below—

From out the sullen caves of earth,
Or from its briny flood,
The heirs of glory have their birth,
To see and walk with God.

Like treasure hid beneath the ground,
Or pearls of priceless worth,
The jewels lost at length are found,
Grace seeks and finds them out.

Without good works or worthiness,
But full of guilt and sin;
Without one spark of holiness,
Impure, depraved, unclean.

The trophies of redeeming love,
Through faith (that heavenly grace),
Were fixed and chosen from above,
From earth's dark wilderness.

While on the journey to the tomb,
The Spirit's quickening breath
Awakes them from the midnight gloom,
In the dark shades of death.

To Thee, O Thou, the Crucified,
We come for daily food,
Even that which came forth from thy side,
The water and the blood.

The Comforter, the Holy Ghost,
Who came on earth to stay,
Shall gather all the heavenly host,
To reign in endless day.

For persevering grace we seek,
For overcoming power,
And though we are by nature weak,
Shall strength gain for the hour.

To Him who full atonement made,
To Him shall ever be
Unceasing adoration paid
To all eternity.

The Dying Drummer Boy.

Two gentlemen were going over the battle-field at Donaldson, assisting in caring for the wounded. Suddenly they paused before a sight touchingly beautiful where all was either pathetic or horrible. A fair-haired boy, with his head pillowed on a stone, lay before them, surrounded by dead or mangled bodies, in every conceivable form of mortal agony. His face was calm. Almost a smile lingered around the sweet mouth. Death seemed to have come to him bereft of its terrors. As they bent reverently to raise the slender form, the boy's pale lips moved and they heard a faintly whispered prayer:

"Still all my song shall be,
Nearer, my God, to Thee,
Nearer to Thee—Jesus—to—Thee."

There was one fluttering sigh, and his spirit fled upwards on the wings of the prayer and a smile of surpassing sweetness settled around the half closed lips.

The drummer boy had fought his first and last battle and gone to his reward.

Deeply moved and interested, Mr. Moody made inquiries about the lad and learned that he had been a faithful Sabbath school scholar. There were those who remembered how earnestly he had listened to his teacher's instructions, often joining in singing the Sabbath school song which was the solace of his last hours. We give one verse from the song, singularly appropriate to his condition. Indeed the whole song might have been written for just the circumstances in which he was placed, so perfect is its adaptation and so fully does it express his probable emotions:

"Though like a wanderer,
Daylight all gone,
Darkness be over me,
My rest a stone;
Yet in my dreams I'd be
Nearer, my God, to Thee,
Nearer to Thee."

Mr. Moody is well known for his devotion to the Sabbath school, and related this to prove that the seed sown there is not lost.

The First Pair of Boots.

'O, mother, mayn't I have some boots?' exclaimed little Summer H., as he bounded into the log cabin where Mrs. H. sat sewing, trying so hard to make new clothes out of old.

'Do say I may, 'cause Leland Ives has got some, and I'm most as old as he is.'

'But, my child, I've no money to buy them,' and she sighed, for it was the autumn of 1857, that terrible year for emigrants.

'Money! money! Dear me, I wish I was made of money. But can't you think of any way you can get some?'

Poor mother, she had thought till she was dizzy headed.

'Isn't there any way I can earn some?' and the little four year old straightened himself up proudly.

'Yes,' she said finally. 'You may sell all the eggs you can find in the corners of the fences——'

He was off before she could finish the sentence. Three hours afterwards he came back, flushed with fatigue, but so happy! He had found a dozen and carried them to town—a mile across the prairie—and returned with a dime!

'How many of them will it take for a dollar and a half?'

'Fifteen.'

'O dear! Well, if the hens don't stop laying, I'll get my boots, though!'

Fifteen times did that little Hawkeye boy trudge across the prairie with his dozen of eggs—then he came back, O, how proudly for in his hand were his first pair of boots. He did not wear them for a week, but he carried them wherever he went; he ate with them; he played with them; he showed them to every neighbor; they were in his arms when he said his prayers; they were in his arms when he went to sleep. The first pair of boots! Will any thing he may earn in manhood give him so much pure joy?—The Guiding Star.

Frightful Accident.

THREE MEN KILLED AND ROASTED TO ASHES.

We take the following details of a recent accident at Sherbrooke, Quebec, from the Sherbrooke Gazette:—

"One of the saddest accidents that ever occurred in Sherbrooke happened at the new gas house of the Paton Manufacturing Co's factory, in upper Town, on Wednesday last, by the explosion of the gasoline, of which the gas is made, and the instant death of three men, and the severe wounding of the fourth.

"Shortly before noon the bells sounded the alarm of fire and the townspeople at once turned out and hurried to the scene of the disaster. The engines were promptly on the ground, but, owing to the usual inefficiency, were behind in getting up their quenching powers. The crowd needed no urging to work, as all knew that three human beings were lying in the midst of the roaring flames and that they must exert themselves to the utmost if they would rescue any alive; but it was of no avail; again and again was the attempt made to gain the inside, but the fierce flames drove all back, made all the more fierce by the water that was showered upon them. Explosions took place at intervals as the flames reached the vats containing the gasoline.

"The bodies could be seen as they were being devoured by the remorseless flames, but no help could reach them and when the fire got under and the remains taken out nothing but contracted bones and crisped flesh was left of what before was young and vigorous manhood.

"The explosion is believed to have been caused by the want of sufficient force of air from the 'blower' into the 'generator' which allowed the gas to run down the pipe into the 'generator,' and thus becoming ignited when a match was applied to the pipe.

"The following are the names and residences of the unfortunate young men:—Robert Brown, machinist, Sherbrooke; Joseph Crowther, finisher in the factory; John A. Callins, gas fitter, New York city. Charles Bryant, an employee at the factory, was badly burned and miraculously escaped with his life.

"The funerals of Crowther and Brown took place from the town hall yesterday; and were attended by a very large number of sympathizers and friends—the shops along the route all closing.

Crowther was a Freemason, and his funeral was attended with masonic honors, the funeral services being conducted by R. W. Borlase, P. D. D. G. M."

DENOMINATIONAL OXEN.—A gentleman travelling in Texas, met on the road a waggon drawn by four oxen, driven by a countryman who in addition to the skilful flourish and crack of whip was vociferously encouraging his horned horses after this fashion—"Haw, Presbyterian!" "Gee, Baptist!" "Whoah, Episcopalian!" "Get up, Methodist!" The traveller stopped the driver, remarking to him that he had strange names for his oxen, and he would like to know why he thus called them. Said the driver—"I call this ox Presbyterian, because he is true blue and never fails, pulls through difficulties and holds out to the end; besides, he knows more than the rest. I call this Baptist because he is always after water, and seems as though he'd never drink enough; then again he won't eat with the others. I call this ox Episcopalian, because he has a mighty way of holding his head up, and if the yoke gets a little tight, he tries to kick clear out of the traces. I call this ox Methodist because he puffs, and blows, and bellows as he goes along, and you'd think he was pulling all creation but he don't pull a pound unless you continually stir him up."

Two Scotchmen, turning the corner of a street rather sharply, came into collision. The shock was rather stunning to one of them. He pulled off his hat, and laying his hand on his forehead, said, 'Sic a blow, my head's ringing again.' 'Nae wonder,' said his companion; 'your head was aye hoss (empty), that makes it ring; my head disna ring a bit.' 'How could it ring,' said the other, 'seeing it is cracked?' Cracked vessels never ring.'

What are Cloves.

Cloves are the unopened flowers of a small evergreen tree that resembles in appearance the laurel or the bay. It is a native of the Maluca or Spice Islands, but has been carried to all the warmer parts of the world, and is now largely cultivated in the tropical regions of America. The flowers are small in size, and grow in large numbers in clusters at the very ends of the branches. The cloves we use are the flowers gathered before they have opened, and whilst they are still green. After being gathered, they are smoked by a wood fire, and then dried in the sun. Each clove consists of two parts, a round head, which is the four petals or leaves of the flower rolled up, inclosing a number of small stalks or filaments; the other part of the clove is terminated with four points, and is in fact the flower cup and the unripe seed vessel. All these parts may be distinctly shown, if a few cloves are soaked for a short time in hot water, when the leaves of the flowers soften, and readily unroll. The smell of cloves is very strong and aromatic; but not unpleasant; their taste when untreated with other substances, is pungent acrid and lasting. Both the taste and smell of cloves depend on the quantity of oil they contain; that is so great that it may be pressed out with the finger. Sometimes the oil is separated from the cloves before they are sold, and the odor and taste in consequence is much weakened by such unfair proceedings.—Chamber's Treasury of Knowledge.

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, NOV. 13.

MAN NEARLY KILLED.—We learn that after the fire last night there was a good deal of rowdyism exhibited on Front Street, and that several fights occurred. About four o'clock this morning Mr. John Bennett, machinist, was attacked by three ruffians on Front Street, who kicked him on the back, pounded him on the head, and left him on the sidewalk in an insensible condition. One of the parties was heard to say, "If he is killed, let us get away from here." Dr. Knight was called and did everything possible for the injured man, who was removed this morning to his home. The Dr. pronounces his injuries of a serious character, and that his life is in a precarious condition. It is not known positively who the parties are who made the murderous attack. It is to be hoped that prompt and vigorous efforts will be made to discover the ruffians, so that they may be punished as their crime deserve.

FIRE.—A fire broke out last night about ten o'clock in the waggon shop of Mr. D. G. Colling, Mill street, and before the engine could get to work the whole building was in flames. The fire communicated to the Foundry of Mr. A. L. Smith on the east side, and to the brick building on the west, owned by Mr. James McCuaig, of Picton, the upper part of which was occupied by Mr. John Lake, and Mr. Carpenter, the lower part being used as a wareroom in connection with the pottery.—The fire was confined to the roof of the brick building. Considerable damage was done to the furniture of the occupants, by water and removal. There was no insurance on this property. Smith's foundry was damaged to the extent of about $150; no insurance.—The heaviest loser is Mr. Colling, who lost in addition to a quantity of lumber, all his tools, ten cutters and a buggy, besides the building. His loss is probably $1,000, on which there is an insurance of $600 in the Commercial Union. The fire was kept well under, through the well directed exertions of the firemen, who deserve the thanks of the community for the manner in which their gratuitous services are always given.

A Covert Threat.

"The private professional business of a professional man is not a proper subject of newspaper comment. The INTELLIGENCER was once taught a lesson on the same question. It is to be trusted he will not allow it to be repeated."—Hastings Chronicle, Nov. 10th.

We know of no way of stricking under the belt so effectively as by insuendo. Why did our cotemporary state in what way we had interfered with "private profession business?" For our own part we are at a loss to know, or in what particular we have transgressed the legitimate bounds of newspaper criticism, either in our remarks in reference to school matters or otherwise.—When the Chronicle will condescend to deal in particulars, we shall be happy to set him and ourselves right. At present we are not aware of having discussed any point, other than those suggested by public documents. What "lesson" has been "taught" us upon this point? The Chronicle will oblige by letting us know. In the meantime we repudiate the insinuation, and treat the covert threat, implied in the last sentence, with contempt.

—Thos. Fraser, a farmer in the township of Carradoc, was walking on the G. W. Railway track on the 13th inst., and was struck by an engine and instantly killed.

—The Dominion Government are forwarding bugles for the use of the different volunteer corps. New clothing is also said to be on its way from England, and as soon as it arrives will be served out to the men.

A Flat Denial.

"The books of the Board did not contain a copy of the estimates in question. There was no copy of them, or the first word in the books stating that they were under seal. And yet the INTELLIGENCERS asks, referring to this very document, "Did not these books contain a copy of the estimates, and did it not state that the document was under seal?" To both these questions the true answer is No.—Chronicle, Nov. 10th.

This is the answer given to our query suggested by Mr. Blake's letter, complaining that certain documents were not laid before him at the early stage of the suit brought by Mr. Smith against the Trustees. The answer is on a par with the whole defence set up by the Board, with the slight exception that after losing the case, those who urged it on are becoming so desperate as to deny more than they did before the cause was tried. It was never pretended that the estimates were not recorded in the books of the Board, but simply that the seal was not attached to these estimates. If any tax payer will take the trouble to look at the Secretary's Books, he will find recorded the proceedings of the Board of the 26th of July, 1867, among which are the estimates to which we refer, and they contain the following words, "For purchasing School premises," etc. Yet the Chronicle says, "the books did not contain a copy of the estimates in question." Surely our contemporary could not have examined the books, or he would not have made so sweeping a denial. It is true, however, these estimates say nothing of the seal, but if he will turn to the proceedings of the Board of the 27th July, 1868, there may be found a by-law with an item of $8,000 asked for building a School in Baldwin Ward, which estimate closes with the following words, "Signed by my hand and sealed with the Corporate seal, the 27th day of July, 1868;" and immediately following are a series of resolutions based upon this by-law which close with the words, "Signed by my hand and sealed with the corporate seal," etc.

Not satisfied with one denial, a second emphatic "No" is given to impress the force of that denial upon the minds of its readers, that the books did not even contain copies of the estimates. We regret that such was the style of defence set up from the beginning. But why so much stress upon this point now? Is it not well known that the principal cause of defence set up at first, was, that there was no resolution ever passed authorizing the purchase of the lot? and that the question of a seal was an after consideration? Supposing that all this were correct, did not Mr. Dougall, Mr. Smith's lawyer, write to the Board under date of Feb. 24th, 1869, which letter was read to the Board at a meeting held the 1st of March, informing the Trustees that subsequent acts of the Board which were under seal, had acknowledged the purchase of the lot, and thereby made itself liable? Not satisfied with giving his opinion, Mr. Dougall actually quoted a case in point. We quote from that letter. He said:—

"Even if no resolution of your Board had ever been passed, which I do not admit it has been held, that 'although no previous authority may have been given by the principal to the agent to enter into and sign the contract upon which the principal is sought to be charged. Yet if there be subsequent acts of assent or acquiescence on the part of the principal, he is as much liable upon the contract as if a previous authority had been given.' Your books not only show acquiescence, but part payment, which is the strongest kind of contract."

Yet in the face of this the defence was continued, a defence of which Vice Chancellor Mowatt said, "A more purely technical "defence would be IMPOSSIBLE." The Judge also says in the same judgment, "I "am not at present prepared to decide that "a seal is essential for the purpose of a suit "of this kind."

Yet we now have a fuss made about an exceedingly small affair to cover a most ignominious defeat, in order to shift the odium and responsibility upon the shoulders of others.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

FRIDAY, Nov. 12th, 1869.

The following were appointed as the general election committee:—Messrs. Scott (Ottawa), Cumberland, McMurrich, Clarke, Boyd and Beatty.

A number of petitions were presented.

The following were appointed the Library committee;—Hon. the Attorney General, Messrs. McKellar, Blake, Lauder, Ferrier, Cumberland, Scott (Ottawa) and Rykert.

Attorney-General Macdonald introduced a bill entitled the Ontario Drainage Act. The bill was read a first time and the second reading fixed for Tuesday next.

Attorney-General Macdonald obtained leave to introduce a bill respecting sheriffs' sales for taxes. The bill was read a first time and the second reading fixed for Tuesday next.

In reply to Mr. Christie, Attorney General Macdonald said it was not the intention of the government during the present session to introduce a bill under which Mutual Fire Insurance Companies may be incorporated.

In reply to Mr. Carnegie, Mr Cameron said it was not the intention of the government to refer these bills to a select committee with power to enquire into the position of Upper Canada College.

In reply to Mr. Ferguson, Attorney-General Macdonald stated that it was not the intention of the government to introduce a bill to amend the assessment law of last session.

Attorney General Macdonald also said (in reply to Mr. Ferguson) that it was not the intention of the government to amend the license law of last session.

In answer to a further question from Mr. Ferguson Attorney General Macdonald informed the House that the subject of the establishment of county fairs was under the consideration of the government.

The House adjourned at 3.25.

Condition of the Deaf and Dumb.

To the Editor of the Daily Intelligencer.

SIR.—I am given to understand that the mental, moral, and physical condition of the Deaf and Dumb has lately attracted public attention in the eastern part of the Province, and that anxious enquiries relative to the causes which operate to produce the calamities of deaf-dumbness and its kindred maladies, blindness, idiocy, insanity, &c., are being made with the laudable object of lessening the number of those unfortunates. I cannot say that the subject is one of popular or even general interest, but its importance in a social point of view is indisputable, when we reflect that we have in this highly favored Province, no less than 850 deaf mutes, including those who are also afflicted with paralysis, and consequent idiocy; one thousand insane; six hundred blind, and about one hundred and thirty idiots. Were the infirmities of our population confined to the number of persons thus afflicted, we would have good cause to be thankful, but, alas! we have a large proportion of our race and kindred labouring under "strumous taint," in other words, scrofulous affection—a most prolific source of the evils which afflict humanity, as I shall in my next letter prove.

To take measures for the removal of producing causes of deaf-dumbness, &c., &c., is indeed a philanthropic work, and paramount: to that labor of love which aims to mitigate human suffering, by special provision for their education and training, care, &c.

The deaf mute, degraded as he is, by his uncontrolled passions, is frequently the victim of cruelty and injustice, and being wholly incapable when uneducated, of properly understanding, or duly appreciating the truths of religion, in respect of which he is even in a worse condition than our uncivilized aboriginal inhabitants. Alone in the world, shut out from the privileges of social communication, with those around him, and by legal disabilities, debarred the right of holding property, signing a contract, deed, or will, or even recovering his hard earned wages, he claims in an especial manner the sympathies of all.

The causes which have produced such a fearful deprivation of those faculties which minister to his happiness in this life, and buoys our hopes on a fulfilment of the promises of God, are confined to His word of light and life, as follows:—

1st. Intermarriage of Cousins.

2nd. Family predisposition to give birth to Deaf mutes.

3rd. Scrofulous affection.

4th. Mental impression of women during the earlier period of pregnancy.

The result of the above causes is, with few exceptions, congenital deafness, (i. e.) born deaf. Accidental deafness acquired during childhood and boyhood, may be truly ascribable to Bymatic diseases acting locally on the organs of hearing, as scarlet fever, measels, &c., &c., and to sporadic diseases and accidents affecting the brain or nervous system, as typhus and other fevers, hooping cough, convulsions, fright, &c., &c. It may be well to observe in this connection that medical men distinguished for research in Pathology and Physiological science, agree in classifying the various causes which produce loss of hearing before and after birth to the above mentioned diseases. My opinion is, that the parents of deaf mutes labour under some physical defect which is transmitted to the progeny, and that Bymatic and Sporadic diseases are not the proximate but remote causes. Scarlet and other fevers produce by far the largest amount of acquired deafness. Indeed personal investigations on "Hereditary transmission," impress me with the conviction that these diseases hasten the malady. A boy's strength of constitution will enable him to struggle through an attack of illness, though with the loss of hearing, when the feebler consitution of a girl would succumb and she would die.

The letter of your Stirling correspondent on this vitally important subject, is well worthy of consideration, for, as he in effect says that many children are laid prostrate by scarlet fever before medical aid is called in, some are consigned to a premature grave, and some lose their hearing, though their lives be saved, but who can tell how greatly the virulence of the disease might have been modified if such aid had been promptly afforded? And I think that a due consideration of these circumstances promises strong hope that with hygienic treatment—a knowledge of the laws which govern and regulate health—and with watchful care over the patient when convalescent, we may look forward to a considerable diminution in the number of those cases in which both the loss of precious lives and the loss of the faculties of hearing and of speech in those, who have, like ourselves, been born in the full possession of all their senses. In my next letter I shall, with your kind permission, give your readers the result of twelve year's observation and researches in Canada, illustrating special cases to prove the correctness of my views on Cousin Marriages, Hereditary transmission of physical defects, family predisposition to give birth to deaf mutes, &c., &c., &c.

I would in conclusion observe, that the great evil we shall afflicts humanity in the deprivation of those faculties which makes life enjoyable, is Prostitution, and here permit me the privilege of stating that in seven cases out of ten Scrofula is Constitutional.

Yours,

J. B. MCGANN,
Supt. D. & D. Institution, Hamilton.

P.S.—As I purpose prosecuting enquiries on "Vital Statistics" during the months of January and February, in the Counties of Hastings, Leeds and Grenville, Carleton and Lanark, I shall be happy to know that Editors of the Press in those Counties take notice of this letter.

Harrietsville Cheese Factory.

The cheese factory at the village of Harrietsville continues in a flourishing condition, and under the efficient management of Mr. Facey, is expected producing about five hundred pounds daily. The following is the monthly statement of its operations from the beginning of May last to the end of September:—

	No. of lbs.	Price. per lb.
May	12 938	12½c
June	19 953	11 c
July	21 653	10 c
August	21,990	12½c
September	19,355	13 c

The stock on hand is about 20,000. In the neighborhood of such factories the keeping of cattle is found to be an employment of considerable profit. During the past summer one farmer who supplied the Harrietsville factory netted $40 per cow.

Mr. Gladstone and the Fenians

The following letter has been addressed by the Premier to Mr. Butt, Q. C.:

HAWARDEN, Chester, Oct. 23.

SIR.—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of an address adopted at a great meeting of the citizens of Dublin and others on the 10th current, which expresses a strong desire for the release of the persons still confined in Ireland on account of political offences.

"Will Her Majesty's government, for the purposes of the address, I have respectfully to refer you to a letter addressed by me on the 18th to the representatives of a meeting called with a similar object at Limerick.

"I think it my duty, however, to notice a portion of the address in a special manner which refers to a publication of mine, in the year 1851, with regard to the political prisoner in the Kingdom of Naples, and which constitutes a particular and personal appeal.

"It is desired that I should bring to the consideration of the lately pending Irish Question the same strong sense of justice which induced me to raise my voice on behalf of the political prisoner of other lands.

"I should be sorry indeed to suppose myself capable of advising, or desiring that a severer measure of justice should be applied to Ireland than to Naples. But I hope not irreverable, fellowmen, that I was led to ask on behalf of any personal suffering elsewhere.

"Permit, me, however, to observe that, saving the fact that in each case the persons concerned were within prison walls, in no particular can the two cases be said to correspond. In due course of justice, as fixed by the law of the land, the Fenian prisoners are, in their free and open trial, under lawful government, and they were found guilty by juries of their fellow countrymen. The prisoners in the kingdom of Naples were arrested and imprisoned without due legal process, were in a vast proportion not tried at all, and when they were tried, were tried largely by exceptional, not regular tribunals. When they were condemned, they were condemned not by the free verdict of a popular body, but by sentences of judges dependent on the Government for their bread; on a government, moreover, of which the title rested on a flagrant breach of the most solemn oaths, and of the written legal constitutional of the country.

"The acquaintance Sir, which you possess of Italian history and affairs, in addition to your many other distinctions, renders me glad to have the opportunity of addressing to you this reference to facts.—I have the honor to remain, Sir, your very faithful servant.

"Isaac Butt, Esq." W. E. GLADSTONE.

Business Notices.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and equable over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came; the room was crowded with anxious expectants; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Arabian Bitters.

TO THE

DEAF AND DUMB INSTITUTE, BELLEVILLE

The building, for the Deaf and Dumb Institution, is to be erected at Belleville, immediately west of the town, on the shores ... bay. The building is designed in the domestic style ... architecture, modified to suit the requirements of the climate. The style is particularly well suited for an institution of the kind, being collegiate in appearance, and capable of being erected more economically than any other of the same dimensions. The main building is 208 feet long, with an average width of 50 feet. In the rear of the main building, but connected with it by a covered passage, is the dining room, which is 60 feet long, and 30 feet wide; a kitchen 32 feet long, by 24 feet wide; also, a store-room, pantry, and cook-room; over the dining-room is the lecture room, having the seats raised at the rear, radiating from the teacher's platform, behind which are large slates built in the walls for writing on. Over the kitchen extension are the male and female sick ward, each having separate entrances, and supplied with baths, and water closets. There will be three entrances in the front, the principal one in the centre of the building being for the superintendents and visiters; the two side ones for the male and female students respectively.

The centre hall is twelve feet wide, and runs through and connects with the dining-room. In this hall are the principal stairs, at the first landing of which is a passage connecting with the lecture room.

The main corridors are six feet wide, run across the centre hall, and connect with the school-rooms at each end of the building, each of which is sixty feet long by thirty-seven feet wide, with two class-rooms in the rear of each. There will be ten class-rooms in all, four in the centre portion of the first floor, and six on the ground floor. On the ground floor of the main building are also, the superintendent's apartments, reception room, and clekrs' rooms.

The first floor is wholly occupied with dormitories, matron's and students' rooms, assistants' rooms, clothes rooms, and class rooms.

The second and attic floors are taken up with dormitories, which have ceilings fourteen feet high, and are thoroughly ventilated.

There will be accommodation for over 350 pupils of both sexes; particular ... been taken in arranging the building, to have the sexes completely isolated. The dining-room is entered by covered passages from the male and female halls.

There will be ample play yards on each side of the building, enclosed with high fences, for the males and females; also, large covered sheds for play in winter and wet weather.

The building will be heated with steam, the boiler room being away from the building, but so arranged as to connect with the fuel cellars, under the kitchen extension. The ventilating flues will connect with the boiler chimney stack in such a way as to secure perfect ventilation.

The buildings are to be erected with brick and stone, which can be procured in the neighborhood, and will present a facade of over 200 feet in length, and about 50 feet high to the eaves. The roof will be of the Mansard construction ... windows and gallets, and is covered with slates and galvanized iron, and surrounded ... iron railings.

The front will be in five divisions, the ends and centre projecting six feet from the main wall; the lower windows will be arched, with brick buttresses between them; the upper windows will be grouped, or in pairs, with flat arches, and connected together with strong string mouldings.

The front entrance is under the tower, and is arched, with small arched windows on each side, and flanked with massive buttresses; over the central doorway are two grouped windows, and then a large Tracery window, and the whole is finished with a tower, with very steep roof and spire termination, with ornamental wrought-iron vane.

JAMES SMITH,
Architect.

OUTBUILDINGS.

The outbuildings of this institution will consist of a stable for four horses, cow-house with stalls for six cows, harness room and carriage house in one building ninety feet by twenty-three feet, with hay loft. This building will be constructed of brick. Also a framed wood shed eighty feet by twenty feet, and twelve feet high, and a brick barn sixty feet by thirty feet, and twenty feet in height.

These outbuildings will be placed about two hundred feet in the rear of the main building, and macadamized roads twenty feet in width will be constructed to the same from the front and side roads.

An average 60 feet in width will be constructed from the Trenton Road, to be planted on each side, and to have a gravelled sidewalk; the length of the avenue will be six hundred feet.

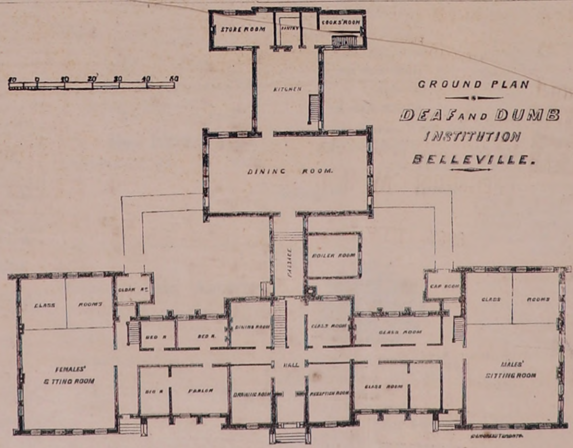

A brick lodge and handsome gate entrance will be constructed at the Trenton Road, and the lot will be enclosed with a strong picket fence eight feet in height.

The water will be pumped from the bay, on the east side of the lot, through an iron pipe two inches in diameter, by means of a steam pump of five horse-power, to be enclosed in a brick engine house.

The main drain, 1,400 feet in length, will convey the surface water and the overflow from the farm-yard and main building to the bay on the west side of the lot.

The cost of land and buildings all complete will be $75,000.

but can be either restored to health, or the wastes and decompositions stopped, and the elements of decay that now exist be dismissed from the system.
Extreme cases, where the LUNGS, KIDNEYS, and other organs are wasted, ulcerated, and their functions interrupted and secretions altered beyond the reparative power of medicine, may, and will, by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, continue to live perhaps for years; for no matter how low the vital forces may be, if the system can be brought under the influence of this tissue and flesh-making medicine, the repairs will be greater than the wastes and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.
CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poison of Venereal, are developed through the process of deposits from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE GEO. PEABODY—DETAILS OF THE CEREMONY.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—The obsequies of the late Geo. Peabody, took place this afternoon. The funeral procession formed at the mansion of Sir Curtis Lampson, in Eaton Square. It consisted of the hearse and five mourning coaches.

Among the mourners were Gen. C. Grey, Her Majesty's private Secretary representing the Queen; Minister Motley, Bon]. Moran, Secretary of American Legation; Freeman H. Morse, American Consul at London; Russell Sturgis and J. S. Morgan. Following the procession were carriages of the Queen, Prince of Wales, Sir Curtis Lampson, Lord Mayor and Aldermen of London; High Sheriff of London, and of the Countess of Middlesex and Surrey, Duchess of Somerset, Marquis of Towsecud, Lady Franklin, Miss Burdett Coutts, and many others.

The funeral cortege passed slowly through the streets which were lined with silent crowds of spectators to Westminster Abbey.

The venerable structure was completely filled with people who had been admitted by tickets and were all dressed in mourning.

The choir was hung with black and the sombre aspect of the interior was only relieved by the richly decorated robes of the Lord Mayor and Sheriff, standing near the sacrarium.

As the body was brought in near Gladstone, Lord Clarendon, the Dean of St. Paule, the Rev Thos. Bruney, a dissenting Minister, Dr. Geo Edward Day and John Bright, a flood of sunshine poured through the windows of the choir at the moment the procession entered the building.

The coffin, which was placed on a bier at the end of the choir, was plain and unornamented and covered with black cloth. On the lid was a brass plate with the inscription giving the name of deceased and pastor, and date of his birth and death. The sermon was read by the Arch-Dean of Westminister.

As soon as the ceremony within the Church was over, the procession formed again and advanced to the spot near the western doorway where a temporary grave had been prepared and an excavation of two to three feet had been made, the sides of which grave were lined with black drapery. Here the body was deposited and will remain until it is transported to America.

Lord John Thynne read the remainder of the burial service at the head of the grave. On the right stood the mourners, including the American Minister, and on the left were Gen. Grey, Gladstone, Lord Clarendon, Lord Mayor, High Sheriff and Clergy of Westminster and St. Paul.

The solemnity of the occasion was profoundly felt by the vast assemblage. Many present shed tears during the choral service, which included the singing of the anthem.

His body is buried in peace but his name liveth evermore. After the coffin had been lowered into the grave, a floral cross was placed upon it. This act was witnessed in profound silence, and served to increase the emotion which pervaded the congregation.

The people then passed around the coffin and took a last look at the features of the deceased.

The Bishop of London will preach the funeral sermon on Sunday next.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

BOILS.

Like the volcano, Boils give issue to the foul and fiery contents of the deep interior. To remove the cause of such suffering it is only necessary to purify the Blood by supplying it with its Life Element, IRON.

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP,

(a powerful solution of the Protoxide of Iron) will do this effectively, and give strength, vigor and new life to the whole system.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM REV. RICHARD S. EDES, OF BOLTON, MASS.

"For years I was a sufferer from Boils, so that my life became wearisome through their frequent and persistent recurrence; usually a carbuncle formed in the small of my back. During its progress large pieces of decomposed flesh were every day or two cut away, and the prostration and general disturbance of the system were great. Before I had recovered from this attack two smaller carbuncles broke out higher up, and I was again threatened with a recurrence of the sufferings to which I had so long been subjected. It was at this time that I commenced taking the PERUVIAN SYRUP, and continued taking it until I had used five bottles; since then I have had nothing of the kind. For years I was one of the greatest sufferers. Other medicines gave me partial and temporary relief, but this remarkable remedy, with a few bottles, went directly to the root of the evil, and did its work with a thoroughness worthy of its established character."

A 32 page Pamphlet sent free. The genuine has "PERUVIAN SYRUP" in the glass.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

THE REMEDY FOR CURING

Consumption, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppressions of the Chest or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, Whooping Cough, and Pulmonary Organs.

ITS action is expectorant, alterative, sedative, diaphoretic, and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm; CLEANSES THE SECRETIONS and PURIFIES the BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to a proper action and imparts strength to the whole system. It is warranted to give relief in one hour, even in the most confirmed cases of consumption, and not to produce costiveness (as do most remedies) or IRRITATE the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no necessity for so many deaths by consumption, when this valuable remedy will prevent it, if only taken in time. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN

RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine of the day from all nauseating or disagreeable effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the main choice principles of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other foreign roots yielding extract that is richer than the compounds of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Herb, Fat-making medicine is selected with the greatest care and worked with the greatest care in the proper season, from the native soil, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co.—so that no spurious substitutes or worthless root can possibly be mixed with the pure.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

It says Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of Scientific Botanists in the branch alone. But the wonderful improvements it has secured to the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the pays for the outlay over and over again; for seven in the history of medicine was such a medicine that so completely builds up, repairs, and makes sound strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful withal, the weak and broken-down constitutions, as

GENERAL SESSIONS.

14th June, 13th December.

The Closing Scene.

BY T. B. READ.

Within the sober realm of leafless trees,
The russet year inhaled the dreamy air;
Like some tanned reaper, in his hour of ease,
When all the fields are lying brown and bare.

The gray barns looking from their hoary hills
Qer the dun waters widening into view,
Sent down the air a greeting to the mills,
On the dull thunder of alternate flails.

All sights were mellowed and all sounds subdued,
The hills seemed farther and the stream sang low,
As in a dream the distant woodman hewed
His winter log with many a muffled blow.

The embattled forests, erewhile armed with gold,
Their banner bright with every martial hue,
Now stood like some sad, beaten host of old,
Withdrawn afar in Time's remotest blue.

On sombre wings the vulture tried his flight;
The dove scarce heard his sighing mate's complaint;
And, like a star slow drowning in the light,
The village Church vane seemed to pale and faint.

The sentinel cock upon the hillside crew—
Crew thrice—and all was stiller than before;
Silent, till some faint gnome within the mew
Ills allen horn, and then was heard no more.

Where erst the lawn, within the elm's tall crest,
Made garrulous trouble round her unfledged young,
And where the oriole swung her swaying nest,
By every light wing like a censer swung,

Where sang the noisy martens of the eaves,
The busy swallows circling ever near—
Foreboding, as the rustic mind believes,
An early instinct and a plenteous year;

Where every bird that waked the vernal feast,
Shot its heavy slumber from its wings at morn,
To warn the hour of rosy east—
All now was useless, empty and forlorn.

Alone, from out the stubble, piped the quail,
And crooked the crow through all the dreary gloom;
Alone the peasant, drumming in the vale,
Made echo in the distance to the cottage loom.

There was no bud, no bloom, upon the bowers,
The spiders muted their thin shrouds night by night—
The thistle down, the only ghost of flowers,
Sailed slowly by—passed noiselessly out of sight.

And all this, in this most dreary air,
And where the woodbine sheds upon the porch
Its crimson leaves, as if the year stood there,
Firing the floor with its inverted torch.

Amid all this, the centre of the scene,
The white-haired matron, with monotonous wheel,
Plied the swift wheel, and with her joyous mien
Sat like fate, and watched the flying thread.

She had known sorrow. He had walked with her,
Oft supped and broke with her the ashen crust,
And in the dead leaves still heard the stir
Of his thick mantle trailing in the dust.

While yet her cheek was bright with summer bloom,
Her country summoned, and she gave her all;
And twice war bowed to her his sable plume—
Regave the sword to rust upon the wall.

Regave the sword, but not the hand that drew
And struck for liberty the dying blow;
Nor him who, to his sire and country true,
Fell 'mid the ranks of the invading foe.

Long, but not loud, the droning wheel went on,
Like the low murmur of a life at noon;
Long, but not loud, the memory of the gone
Breathed through her lips a sad and tremulous tone.

At last the thread was snapped, her head was bowed;
Life dropped the distaff through her hands serene;
And loving neighbors soothed her careful shroud,
While death and winter closed the autumn scene.

Wit and Humor.

"Sy, you say that walking sticks came in use very long ago?" "Not a doubt of it; don't we read that Adam had a Cain?"

A married lady, being asked to waltz, gave the following answer: "No, thank you I have hugging enough at home.

When a lady is said to be of a certain age, you may take it for certain that her age is very certain. The certainty is that she is forty, if she is a day.

A Question—When may young ladies be said to be economical? When they resort to tight lacing to prevent waist fulness.

If brooks are, as poets call them, the most joyous thing in nature, what are they always 'murmuring' about.

The man who always leaves Church before service is over, in speaking of an 'ancient' single lady, said she was 'fearfully and wonderfully maid.'

An Irishman recently soliloquized: 'What a waste of money to be buying mate when you know the half of it is bone, while you can spend it for whiskey that hasn't a bone in it.

Mr. Muggins says there is no country in the world where wives are more worship ped than in France. He regrets however that all the adoration comes from somebody else's husband.

An advertisement in a Far Western paper reads as follows: 'Runaway—A hired man named John, his nose turned up five feet eight inches high, and had on a pair of corduroy pants much worn.

From a Moody Contributor.—To Harvey undoubtedly belongs the great discovery of the circulation of the blood, but who, we ask, originated the circulating library?

THE HOP TRADE.—Mr. Emmet Wells, the well known merchant of New York, who is well posted and possesses good opportunity of knowing, speaks favorably of a rise in the hop market. Of late, symptoms of excitement have prevailed, and advances have been made of fully 5c. @ 8c. on the finer grades. Transactions are as yet limited, owing to the indisposition on the part of holders to sell at current rates, with prospects of a rise. Quotations at New York a few days since were as follows: New York state, new, at 20c. to 27c.; Eastern, new, at 16c. to 23c.; Ohio, at 15c. to 23c. for common to fair; Wisconsin, at 18c to 25c.; Yearlings at 6c. to 10c.; Old Olds, at 2c. to 3c. per lb.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, this Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. It wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil the whitest cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use. In every quarter of the civilized globe, and in all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative, Ayer's Pill. The obvious reason is that it is a sure remedy and far more effectual than any other. Those who have tried it know that it is worthy of their confidence, and will employ it when they need a cathartic. It rarely if ever fails to cure the ordinary derangements of the stomach and bowels which require a purge, and all are benefited by its occasional use. Many suffer from the fact that there is a cathartic which will not disappoint or distress them, and they therefore neglect to take any. This pill is that cathartic. Its sugar coating renders it pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable it is harmless, and acts from the first dose to the last with undiminished power.

Their agreeable and thorough operation in the natural process of digestion, secures them the confidence of those who know their composition and virtues, and the cures they perform are literally beyond number. Disordered stomachs, impaired digestion, foul breath, and the countless symptoms of indigestion, are speedily relieved by them. Every dose makes them more and more appreciated, and as their sugar coating preserves them in any climate, they retain their full power to the last. Being entirely vegetable, they are perfectly safe to take at any time, with any diet, and in any quantity, without interfering with business or pleasure. Their extraordinary power to cure the following complaints, which those pills have made known, is proof of their virtues:

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken, moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Bowel Complaints, they are an appropriate remedy, Billious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Gravel, Inflammation, Billious Colic and Billious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the disordered action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, no proper case of which is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Kidneys, they should be continuously taken, according to directions, to change the action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken to excite the absorbents and cause the rapid absorption of the dropsical matter.

For Suppressed or Painful Menstruation, a dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two of Ayer's Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

As an occasional stimulant to the stomach and bowels, they derange the system, create appetite, and invigorate the health. Hence in all cases where advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels himself better for taking them is the best evidence that they are working correctly. Many who are suffering from chronic diseases, in their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

ROYAL ITALIAN BITTERS
OR TONICO REALE.

Del Dottore F. P. Verri, Prof. of Chemistry, in the of University Padua, Italy.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original preparer at the National Exposition at Torino, Italy, by whose favor Mr. Gianelli obtained the Recipe, and was also awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exposition of Canada, held at Montreal 12 September, 1865, is without exception, the most Genuine, Salubrious and agreeable Liquor ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America.

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite among the elite of society, being generally served in the Dining Room immediately before dinner, in preference to Vermouth.

☞ The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval on every account.

The Proprietor has no idea of parading or puffing it before the public, but merely asks a sound and unprejudiced trial.

Kept by the principal Wine Merchants, Druggists, and Grocers in Canada.

Ocean Steamships--Interesting Facts.

IRON SCREW STEAMERS.

When the Cunard and Collins lines were perfected, it was believed that the traffic which would be carried on by steam across the Atlantic would be limited to first class passengers, paying high fares, and to a very limited quantity of costly cargo, upon which a very high rate of freight could be paid. As this traffic would necessarily be limited in quantity, by the inability of the steamers of those days to carry more than a few hundred tons of cargo, the traffic receipts could not be expected to cover the heavy cost of working the expensive paddle steamers of the period. Government bounty, in the shape of a mail subsidy, was therefore an indispensible preliminary condition to the starting of a new Transatlantic steam line. The application of iron and the screw to the construction and propulsion of ocean steamers, was followed by a great reduction in the cost of working ocean steam lines, especially on routes where moderate speed would serve the trade requirements. Iron screw steamers were built for the American trade, and started out to try their fortunes without a subsidy. The first that went from Liverpool to New York was the Sara Sands, under the command of that skilful and popular shipmaster and genial and true gentleman, Captain William C. Thom pson, of New York. The Sara Sands was doing well in the New York and Liverpool trade, when the rush for California broke out, and she was withdrawn and sent to the Pacific. The establishment of the Glasgow and New York screw line, and of the Richardson Brothers' (now the Inman) line, from Liverpool to Philadelphia, followed upon the experiment with the Sara Sands. It was soon found that the screw ships could make money carrying a traffic which the mail paddle ships—the autocrats of the ocean at that day—rejected. Cabin passengers were taken at reduced fares, and steerage passengers and cargo were carried at a profit at rates which the owners of the mail ships could not look at. Emigrants and the better description of merchandise were drawn away from the American packet ships and transferred to the screw steamers. Before the screws commenced the only loss to the packet ships had been in cabin passengers. The Inman line seriously interfered with their steerage passenger and fine goods traffic, throwing them back upon the transportation of rough and comparatively cheap cargo, and the next step, as we shall presently see, was to deprive the packets of even that last resource and drive them from the trade altogether.

The success of the Inman Line Company naturally started up competition, and the promoters of the new lines determined to go a step in advance of Inman, and build steamers that would carry twice as much cargo as his ships, on a lower scale of working expenses. In other words, they resolved to do with the Inman line as Inman had done with the Cunard and Collins line, and build steamers that could earn a profit in carrying cargoes at rates of freight lower than the rates at which the Inman steamers would pay. The National Company started under unfavorable conditions. It paid an exorbitant price for its steamers, and suffered various disasters and difficulties at the outset. It is now under excellent management, and is one of the most profitable and successful steam companies in the kingdom. The Liverpool and Great Western Company has been a great commercial success from the start. Its managers here and in New York have such a long and thorough experience in the New York and Liverpool trade, that it would be strange indeed if they did not succeed. The introduction of the large freighting steamers of the National and Liverpool and Great Western was the third advance in Transatlantic steam navigation, and gave the coup de grace to the sailing ships. Even the rough and heavy freight is now taken from them, and between this port and New York there is no description of cargo which cannot be carried by steam at rates which are more advantageous to the shipper than the rates which sailing vessels are forced to charge if they expect to live. The new steamer Italy, building near Glasgow for the National Company, will cost, as I am informed, about £85,000 sterling. Completed for sea, she certainly will not cost £90,000 when she sails from Liverpool for New York. I mentioned the Italy in my letter from Glasgow, and estimated her capacity at 7,000 tons of assorted cargo. On comparing the Italy's dimensions and model with those of the largest steamers of the same Company, I am satisfied that my estimate is a very moderate one, and that she will stow more than 7,000 tons. The cost of a voyage of the Italy to New York and back need not exceed £6,000 sterling. Carrying 1,500 emigrants at £3 per head, with 4,000 tons of cargo at ten shillings sterling per ton, she can make £6,500 out to New York; and with 7,000 tons at ten shillings sterling per ton, she can make £3,500 home, earning upon the round voyage, without counting cabin passage money, £10,000 or £4,000 over her disbursements. She can make eight voyages per year, and lay by four weeks for overhaul and repairs, and £32,000 per annum will give a dividend of twenty per cent on £90,000, and leave £14,000 for repair and depreciation fund. No other class of ships can carry freights as cheap and earn money. I have put the rates of both freight and passage far below the current rates, to show that steamships of the Italy, France and Idaho class are able to carry cargoes at the lowest sailing ship rates, and earn over 20 per cent per annum. Giving her a full freight of passengers and cargoes both ways, at the current rates, say 1,500 emigrants at £5 per head—£9,000; cargo, 4,000 tons at 25s per ton—£5,000; cabin passage money, £800; total out, £14,800; freight home, 7,000 tons, at £1 per ton, £7,000; cabin and steerage passage money home, £1,000; total receipts for the round voyage, £22,800; excess over expenses, £16,800 per voyage; and on eight voyages, for one year's work, £134,400 per annum. At this rate of profit the Italy can pay for herself in six months. The freight and passenger rates are not excessive, and are, in fact, very much below the rates at which steamers of the old style can afford to carry goods and steerage passengers. All that a steamer like the Italy needs, to accomplish the startling and almost fabulous results quoted above, are full cargoes both ways at the now current rates. Reducing the average profit throughout the year down to £6,000 per voyage, which can be earned with average receipts of £12,000 only, the eight voyages will sum up a profit of £48,000, over fifty p r cent. on the cost of the steamer.

The steamers of 4,000 to 5,000 tons' cargo capacity are actually earning fifty per cent, per annum on their cost, and have done so for some time. One or two have been more fortunate than the others, and have done better even than this—one ship that cost about £70,000 sterling having paid for herself in eighteen months. The disbursements of this class of steamers have been reduced to less than £5,000 sterling for the round voyage, and it is not an unusual occurrence for them to stock £12,000 sterling on a voyage. They only require to average £9,000 per voyage to leave £4,000 for profit, and on the fifty-two voyages which six steamers can make in the twelve months, the earning reach £304,000 or about fifty per cent. upon the cost of the six vessels. There is probably no transportion business in the United States which pays as well as this upon a large scale, and in abandoning it to the merchants of Liverpool, our shipowners are heavy losers in money as well as in prestige. The men who successfully managed the packet lines between New York and Liverpool and London were eminently well qualified for the management of an emigrant and cargo steam line, and it is reasonable to suppose that they would not have suffered the business to pass entirely from their control if they had been in a position to buy the right description of steamers with which to carry it on. The owners of the existing British lines are constantly adding new vessels to their fleets and increasing the number of departures.

Advantages of Crying.

A French physician is out with a long dissertation on the the advantages of groaning and crying in general, and especially during surgical operations. He contends that groaning and crying are two grand operations by which nature allays anguish; that those patients who give way to their natural feelings more speedily recover from accidents and operations than those who suppose it unworthy a man to betray such symptoms of cowardice as either to groan or to cry. He tells of a man who reduced his pulse from one hundred and twenty-six to sixty, in the course of a few hours, by giving full vent to his emotions. If people are at all unhappy about anything let them go into their rooms and comfort themselves with a loud boo-hoo and they will feel a hundred per cent. better afterward.

In accordance with the above, the crying of children should not be too greatly discouraged. If it is systematically repressed, the result may be St. Vitus' dance, epileptic fits, or some other disease of the nervous system. What is natural is nearly always useful; and nothing can be more natural than the crying of children when anything occurs to give them either physical or mental pain.—Good Health.

Little Things.—Springs are little things, but they are sources of large streams; a helm is a little thing, but it governs the course of a ship; a bridle is a little thing, but see its use and power; nails and pegs are little things, but they hold the parts of a large building together; a word, a look, a smile, a frown, are all little things, but are powerful for good or evil. Think of this and mind little things. Pay that little debt; if it is a promise redeem it—if it is a shilling, hand it over. You know not what important events hang upon it. Keep your word sacred—keep it to children; they will mark it sooner than any one else and the effect will be as lasting as life. Mind all the little things.

A Mother to Her Daughter on Marriage.

You are now, my beloved child, about to leave those arms which have hitherto cherished you, and directed your every step and at length conducted you to a safe, happy, and honorable protection, in the very bosom of love and honor. You must now be no longer the flighty, inconsiderate, haughty, passionate girl, but ever, with reverence and delight, have the merit of your husband in view. Reflect how vast the sum of your obligation to the man who confers upon you independence, distinction, and, above all, felicity. Moderate, then, my beloved child, your private expenses, and proportion your general expenditure to the standard of his fortune, or rather his wishes. I fear not that with your education and principles, you can ever forget the more sacred duties, so soon to be your sphere of action. Remember the solemnity of your vows, the dignity of character, the sanctity of your condition. You are amenable to society for your example, to your husband for his honor and happiness, and to heaven itself for those rich talents entrusted to your care and your improvement; and though in the maze of pleasure or the whirl of passion the duties of the heart may be forgotten, remember my darling child there is record which will one day appear in terrible evidence against us for our least omission.—Moor's Rural New Yorker.

PHILIP PHILLIPS.—We understand that this great Singer will shortly give a Concert in Belleville, particulars of which will be given.

BRIGADE MAJOR.—Major W. P. Phillips, District Quarter Master, has been gazetted Brigade-Major of the 7th Brigade Division, Military District No. 3, vice Shaw resigned.

POST OFFICE SAVINGS' BANK.—The deposits in the Post Office Savings' Bank on the 31st October amounted to $1,991,569. The excess of deposits for October over withdrawn cheques paid was $49,221.

NEWFOUNDLAND.—Telegrams from the Lower Province say the elections in Newfoundland, though not complete, indicate that the anti-unionists will have a majority in the House. So far as heard from, 12 anti's have been elected by heavy majorities, and five Confederates by pretty large majorities. However, it is impossible to say positively what is the actual result of the contest. There was considerable excitement, and a pretty heavy vote was polled. Some of those returned as anti's are not opposed to union on any terms, but simply object to the terms now before them.

TIME EXTENDED.—The time to which proposals in the Standard Life Assurance Company in order to secure the advantage of this year's entry to the profit scheme, has been extended to the 9th December, 1869. Standard is one of the oldest and most successful Life Institutions in Great Britain. It has done an extensive business in Canada and its exhibit shows a large amount to be divided amongst policy holders in November 1870. All those who want to share in the advantage of these profits can do so by handing in their proposal to the Agent in this Town, L. H. Henderson, Esq. For further particulars see advertisement.

SUICIDE.—We regret to learn that Mr. Henry Easton, Collector of Customs at, Cobourg and formerly of Belleville, committed suicide yesterday afternoon, the 14th inst., at his residence, Cobourg, by shooting himself in the side. Death was almost instantaneous. What makes this occurrence more distressing is the fact that Mrs. Easton was absent, having left Cobourg for Belleville Saturday evening on hearing of the death of her brother, W. H. Coleman, Esq., Mr. Easton we learn has been ill for some time past, and it is supposed that during a temporary depression of spirits, committed the fearful act of self-destruction. He was about fifty years of age and leaves three sons and one daughter.

MELANCHOLY ACCIDENT.—A very melancholy accident occurred on Saturday evening, which brings home to every one of us the truth of the sentiment that "in the midst of life we are in death." Mr. W. H. Coleman, grocer, was out riding with a party testing the qualities of a horse he was negotiating for, and shortly after coming out of Doyle's yard the horses started suddenly to go into Kyle's yard, when Mr. Coleman caught hold of one of the horses which suddenly drew the horses to one side, causing the carriage partially to upset, and throwing both of the occupants violently to the ground. Mr. Coleman was picked up in an insensible condition and carried into the store close by. Dr. Knight was called, but he was already dead. It was found on examination that the neck was broken, which produced almost instant death. One of his legs was also broken a short distance below the knee. Mr. W. H. Coleman was about 38 years of age; he was a son of the late Col. Thos. Coleman, and was connected with some of the oldest families in this County. His sudden death cast a gloom over the whole Town.

LONDON SOCIETY.—We have received from Mr. E. Harrison, bookseller, the November number of this popular English monthly. The Œcumenical Council.

In the month of June, 1868, the Pope of Rome issued his summon to the Bishops and other ecclesiastical dignitaries of the Christian world, to meet in solemn assembly at the Vatican, on the 8th day of December, 1869, and there to hold an Œcumenical or general council of the universal Church of Christ, of which he claims to be the absolute ruler and head. In the encyclical (circular) letter in which this summons is conveyed, he admonishes all those who have fallen away from the Romish Church, and to be reconciled to their mother Church, and to attend the deliberations of the Council, which are represented to be fraught with unusual interest and importance.

Of course the publication of such a document from such a source, created no small excitement in the ranks of the reformed Churches, and some of the most eminent divines of the various protestant denominations communicated with certain of the highest Romish authorities, and even with His Holiness himself, to inquire upon what footing they would be received, and whether it would be allowed them to discuss the points upon which they differed from the Roman Church. The authoritative reply was that no discussion could be tolerated upon any matter on which the Church had already pronounced her verdict. That not only must they surrender all points at issue in dispute, but must accept the decisions to which the Council might come upon any other points that might be raised, absolutely and without objection or reservation.

Of course this at once put a stop to all hope of reconciliation; the excitement which had been produced in the protestant communities died out, and the meeting of the Council ceased to be anticipated with the interest which it deserves and demands.

In order to prepare our readers to view the action of the Council in its proper light, and to form a due estimate of its importance as it bears upon the political situation of Europe, we shall inquire what it assumes to be—what it really is—what functions it has to perform, and for what purposes it has been called together.

First, it assumes to be an Œcumenical Council. But what is an Œcumenical Council? It is simply as its name implies, a family council; a council of the household of Our Lord; i. e., of the universal church of Christ, in which every member of that church has a natural and indefeasible right to be present, personally or by representative; and if one member be omitted in the summoning, it ceases to have the authority, or to deserve the name of "General Council of the family." This the Pope himself has virtually admitted by addressing his summons to the head of the Eastern or Greek Church, the Patriarchs of Constantinople and Alexandria, both of whom have refused to obey his call, or to acknowledge his right to issue such a summons upon his own sole authority; and indignantly repudiate his assumption of superiority in any thing beyond precedence in right of the seniority of his See. The refusal of these Hierarchs to join in the Council, and the total ignoring of the Protestant churches, effectually remove all right of this Council to be considered as being entitled to the name, and possessing the authority of "Œcumenical."

But if it cannot rank with the seven Councils of the Church which were held before the final destruction of the Western Roman Empire, and which were truly "Councils of the whole Household," with no greater propriety can it be taken as a legitimately constituted Council of the Western or Latin Church; for the eleven Councils which were held after the fall of the Western Empire were all summoned, (equally with the preceding ones) with the consent, and by the authority, and in the names of the Emperors and Princes of Christendom; and the laity were represented in them as well as the clergy, the civil as well as the religious element. So that the forthcoming Council can rank as nothing more than a convocation of the clergy of the Romish Church.

The motive with which it has been called together may be easily and plainly discovered by tracing the progress of Pius IX. through his papal career. Step by step he has assumed the loftiest and most arrogant claims to universal domination advanced by his predecessors; and in equal measure has his ambition grown to distinguish himself as the champion who is to arrest the progress of decay, and to restore the supremacy of the pontificate over both temporal and spiritual matters throughout the world—the worthy successor of the Hildebrands, the Innocents, Clements, and the Urbans, by whom in former times the Horn of the Church was exalted, and he has finally summoned this Council to register and confirm the various dogmas, both of faith and discipline which he has introduced or of which he contemplates the introduction.

So far then as the Pope himself and the dominant party in his Church are concerned, the lesson inculcated by their proceedings up to the present time, is this, that the march of events, deeply as it has changed both the surface and the constitution of the social and political systems of the Christian world, has effected no change in the Church of Rome. That now when her Government is only maintained in the "Eternal City" by the power of France; when one-third of Europe has fallen away from her grasp; when the growth of Russia has raised the Greek Church to an equal, or perhaps a superior position; and when in human probability her final destruction seems rapidly approaching, her pretensions have suffered no abatement, but are the same to-day as they were seven centuries ago, when the foot of the priest was on the neck of the kings of the earth,—when the crosier was a more dreaded weapon than the sword, and the mitre a surer defence than the helmet.

Fire on the Trent.

FORD'S PAPER MILL, AND GORDON'S FLOURING MILL, AND 3,000 BUSHELS OF WHEAT, DESTROYED.

A fire occurred near Trenton on Sunday morning, which destroyed the Paper Mill of Mr. Peter Ford, and the Flouring Mill of Mr. Geo. Gordon, of Trenton. The fire originated about three o'clock in the morning in the Paper Mill, and this structure was soon in ashes. There were seven tons of paper in the Mill, and with all the valuable machinery, was totally destroyed. The loss to Mr. Ford was about $3,000, on which we regret to say there was no insurance. The building was owned by Mr. Geo. Gordon, and was insured in the "Queen" for $500.

The fire speedily communicated to the Flouring Mill adjoining, owned and occupied by Mr. George Gordon. Being a frame building it soon fell a prey to the devouring element. In the mill was stored over 3,000 bushels of wheat which was all destroyed. The grain was insured for $2,000, in the "Western," which will not cover the loss. The Mill was owned by Mr. Gordon, and was valued at $8,000. Insured in the "Queen" for $4,500. The total loss sustained by Mr. Gordon above the insurance will be about $4,000. The total loss to the community in that section of the country will be great, as it was one of the best Mills in the county, and a large number of people depended upon it for grinding purposes.

The Assault Case.

James Bulger and Joseph Cattarack were arrested on Saturday, charged with being concerned in the recent brutal assault case on Front street, and were brought before the Police Magistrate, A. Diamond, Esq., Monday forenoon, for examination.—The evidence of Mr. John Taylor, who identified the parties implicated, and of the surgeon who attended the injured man, was taken, and the case was adjourned until the 25th inst., when it is expected Bennett will have sufficiently recovered to be able to give his testimony.

JOHN TAYLOR, sworn.—On saturday morning last after the fire, I heard talking outside of my house; I heard one person go down my gangway; another came and called "Jack"; the other came up and said "who was calling me;" I heard kicks and blows, and I looked out and saw four men on the sidewalk; I raised the window and said, "you had better let the man go; I know you all;" they let go, and I recognized Bennett's voice; he said, "Boys, it is too bad;" I called out "police," and came down; recognized Cattarack looking for his hat and coat, and followed right after him; afterwards I saw Bennett from 25 to 30 feet from where I saw him first; I went over to him; Bulger came up and said he would assist in raising him up; I told him not to put his hand on him; I said, "I think you have done enough to him to-night, already;" Bulger then attempted to take hold of Bennett a second time; I told him I would not have it; I did not want his assistance; just then I heard R. B. Bennett's voice asking me what the matter was; I told him that three ruffians had almost beaten poor Bennett to death; Bulger said "no, not ruffians!" I answered him, "yes, ruffians;" by this time R. B. Bennett came up, and Bulger walked away; we then helped Bennett in; R. B. Bennett said he recognized Robt. McCormick as one of the parties; Bennett was badly bruised about the head and body.

Cross-Examined by Mr. R. P. Jellett.—I did not see a blow struck; when I looked from the window first, all four were on the ground saw them strike several blows which sounded as if they were hitting with a fist; afterwards the blows sounded as if they were pounding his head on the sidewalk; the reason why I did not allow Bulger to help me, was because I thought Bulger wanted to give Bennett another sly dig; it took place on the sidewalk immediately underneath my window; the only words I heard Bennett say were, "Boys, this is too bad;" it was about a quarter to four when the occurrence happened.

O. KNIGHT, M. D., sworn.—Was called upon professionally to visit John Bennett about half-past six o'clock Saturday morning; he was in R. Bennett's saloon; found him lying down, unable to move, except his upper extremities; his lower limbs he could move with difficulty; on examination I found two large black and blue spots in the region of the lumbar vertebræ, resembling bruises from kicks, which caused stiffness in the back and inability to move; his face and head were considerably pounded; his face was much swollen and the back of his head was as bad as his face; thought at first the case would terminate fatally; found that one of the spine of the vertebræ was fractured; I don't think now the case will terminate fatally; I consider him out of danger; he may suffer for a number of years from the injury received; I think he will be able to give his evidence about a week from to-morrow.

Cross-examined,—The injury to his back might have been caused by falling on a hard lump or stone; he said he had been drinking but was not drunk; there were no cuts on his face or head; his eyes were black and his nose swollen.

To the Court.—The back of his head was bruised as if it had been pounded as Taylor says, on the sidewalk, by lifting it up and down; one bruise on the back looked as if it had been inflicted by the toe of a boot; his face was nearly twice the usual size.

The case was then laid over until Tuesday, the 23rd inst., and the prisoners remanded to Gaol. Bail was refused.

We are informed that Mr. McCormick was arrested at Ox Point to-day by the Chief of Police and Sergt. McCrudden. He was brought here and will be examined before the Police Magistrate to-morrow.

Mexico.

FEARFUL CATASTROPHE—OVER ONE HUNDRED MINERS WITH THEIR WIVES AND FAMILIES BURIED ALIVE—ANOTHER HORROR—THIRTY-FOUR PERSONS DROWNED.

NEW YORK, NOV. 10.—The Sun's Mexico special says:—The most horrible catastrophe that has occurred during the last half century in any silver mine in the world, happened within the old mine of Jesus Maria, near the city of Guanajuat, on the 9th of October. While the laborers were seated in one of the broader chambers, eating their noonday meal they were startled by a sudden crumbling sound above them, caused by the giving way of an immense portion of shelving rock which formed the roof of the chamber. With them were their wives and children, who had brought them their meals, and were waiting to return with their pails and baskets. Scarcely a second intervened between the instant the alarming sound was heard from above and the crash upon the chamber floor below, followed by a cloud of dust and he mingled cries of a thousand voices. Twenty five thousand tons of rock, in a body, had buried in an instant, upward of an hundred miners, their wives, sisters, and children. By counting the whole number who entered the mine in the morning, and missing women who had carried meals to relatives and friends it was ascertained who had been buried in that horrible mausoleum.

The day following that on which the Jesus maria silver mine disaster occurred, sixteen women, children, and twelve men, were drowned in the River Mercedas, state of Michoacan. They had reached the river brink, and sat down to rest before undertaking to ford the river, which had been swollen by late rains. The bank upon which they sat overhung an angry current, and suddenly slid off from the main land into the stream. Every one perished.

The Drainage Bill.

The following is a synopsis of Attorney-General Macdonald's Drainage Bill.

1. The treasurer may advance any sum or sums of money not exceeding $——, to be expended in improvements in the way of drainage, under the provisions of an Act passed in the thirty second year of the reign of Her Majesty, entitled "An Act respecting the Public Works of Ontario."

2. The Commissioner of Public Works shall keep a separate account of all sums of money received, paid, and expended on account of drainage.

3. As soon as convenient after the completion of any drainage works, the Commissioner shall draw up an instrument in writing, describing the land so drained, the several lots, and proprietors, and the amount expended, and shall transmit such instrument with maps plans, sections, and other documents, to the arbitrators under the aforesaid Act.

4. Upon receipt of the instrument, plans, maps, &c., the arbitrators shall inspect said lands, and prepare draft of an award setting forth the proportions of sums expended, payable in respect of the several lots drained, and specifying proportion in which the proprietors of lots shall be annually charged towards future expenses in maintaining drains.

5. Draft of award shall be printed and distributed to parties concerned—and a copy deposited with the registrar for inspection by any person on payment of cents. Arbitrators to insert advertisement in Ontario Gazette and one or more newspapers in the county, notifying all parties desiring to lodge objections to award; to transmit the same to such address as specified, and specifying time and place to hear objections which may be lodged.

6. Arbitrators to attend at specified time and place, and examine into objections, hear evidence, and make such alterations in award as they see fit.

7. Every award, when settled with plan annexed, to be deposited with Commissioner of Public Works—and a duplicate registered in the county or counties where lands are situate. When registered, award to be binding and conclusive on all parties.

8. The arbitrators shall at the same time deliver a copy of such final award to the clerk of every municipality in which the lands so drained or improved are situated, to remain deposited in the municipal records for ever and to be open for inspection to any one on payment of ten cents. And the Municipal Council shall order by by-law that the amount required to be collected and charged on these lots shall be added to the next collector's roll issued after receipt of the copy of the award, for the purpose of collection.

9. The respective sums specified by the award as the proportions payable on the drained lots, shall be charged on such lots with propriety over all incumbrances on such lots, in the following manner:—Each lot shall be charged with a rent charge after the rate of —— rent for every $100 and so in proportion for any lesser amount, to be payable for the term of 22 years.

10. Every such rent charge shall be entered by the clerk of the municipality in a separate column of the collector's roll, and be collected in all respects as municipal rates and taxes are collected under the "Assessment Act of 1869," and the amount remitted to the Treasurer of Ontario within one month after the same shall have become exigible. The Municipal Council to levy upon the whole rateable property within its jurisdiction, a sufficient sum to enable them to pay the amount to the Treasurer of Ontario, which shall be payable whether it shall have been recovered from the parties charged with the same or not. The amount due the Treasurer of Ontario to be the first charge upon the funds of the Municipality, no other sum to be paid until the amount due the Government in respect of such rent-charge is paid. Any municipal officer paying any sum out of the Municipal funds while such rent-charge due the Government, is to be guilty of misdemeanor. Any Reeve or Councillor omitting to see foregoing provisions carried out, to be personably liable.

11. In case any leasehold land shall be improved by drainage, arbitrators shall determine amount of increased rent to be paid to owner.

12. Whenever a rent charge shall have become charged on Crown land, it shall not be collected by the Municipal Council, but shall, as it falls due, be paid over by the Commissioner of Crown Lands to the Provincial Treasurer, and the sums so paid shall be entered as a separate account.

13. If any difference shall arise between any parties interested in any land to be drained or improved, it shall be lawful for the arbitrators, by examination of witnesses on oath, or by any sufficient evidence, to examine into and determine the same, and such determination shall be binding and conclusive upon all parties for the purpose of this Act, but no further.

14. Act to be called "The Ontario Drainage Act," and may be amended or repealed by any Act passed in the present session of the Legislature.

Said a decipie of Bacchus, who, with a comrade, had floundered one rainy night into a gutter: "Come, Jim, let's go to another hotel. This roof leaks."

FACTS about FURS.

THE following FACTS are attested to by scores of Ladies, who are competent judges.

That for years the FURS manufactured in Belleville, by the would be monopolists have been miserably cut, poorly matched, and badly shaped.

That for these badly manufactured goods they have had to pay extraordinary high prices.

That the FURS which I have in Stock, in cut, finish and fit, are all that the most fastidious can expect.

That the sale of these well manufactured goods has already been so great as to excite the "green eyed monster" in those who would, if they could, monopolise all the business, and charge their notoriously high prices.

These facts, are given on the authority of those who have related their "victimised" experience to the subscriber.

I shall always be happy to show my FURS, tell my customers their real value, (which not ask them $10 more than their price, and then as a great inducement throw $10 off,) will be glad for them to "look round," convinced that the price and superiority of my goods will be such as to secure their return.

PEABODY'S MUNIFICENCE.

LONDON, Nov. 13th.—A few days previous to his death, Mr. Peabody gave an extra hundred and fifty thousand pounds to the Peabody fund.

OPPOSITION TO BISHOP TEMPLE.

Meetings have been called to organize opposition to the confirmation of Temple as Bishop of Exeter.

PEABODY'S FUNERAL SERMON.

In accordance with the announcement of Friday, the Bishop of London to-day delivered the funeral sermon on the late George Peabody, at Westminster Abbey. The interior was still hung with mourning. An immense congregation was present and listened with manifest emotion to the eloquent and pathetic words of the preacher in eulogy of the great philanthropist. The Bishop said that he untitled commoner ever drew around his grave so large a concourse of sincere mourners as George Peabody. The reason was that through a long life he had labored for others, especially the poor; simple in his habits, and unambitious of rank or power, he found his enjoyment in beneficence. It was his business to gather wealth, and his joy to give it away. His name would be a heritage of the two great nations, and would form another strand of the cords binding England and America.

SOUTHAMPTON, Nov. 13.—The steamer 'Rhein' from New York for Bremen, arrived to-day.

ARREST OF A BISHOP.

MADRID, Nov. 14.—The Bishop of Havana has been arrested at Cadiz.

SOUTH AMERICA.

LISBON, Nov. 14.—South American advices state that a new conspiracy had been formed against Lopez in consequence of the number of executions ordered by him. Several Paraguayan officers had come into the allied lines. They all described their situation as desperate. The Paraguayan troops were demoralized and deserting in large numbers. President Lopez was convinced that a plot existed against him in his own army, and had shot several officers and soldiers. The allies considered the war ended, and were taking measures to increase the power of the provisional government and to complete the tranquillization of the country. On the other hand the Parguayans assert that the allied forces were utterly unable to follow up their success, that they lack provisions, munitions of war, and means of transportation. It is claimed that since Lopez established his new levies, his forces have increased eight hundred men and he has forty pieces of artillery.

RAILWAY ACCIDENT.—17 KILLED AND 20 WOUNDED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—A few minutes past 2 o'clock this morning, the eastern bound train on the Western Pacific Railroad, composed of eight cars including one sleeping car, collided with the Almeda Ferry train, of four cars, near San Leandor. Both trains were going at the rate of 20 miles an hour. The engines are a perfect wreck, and the cars smashed and driven through one another. 17 dead bodies have been recovered from the wreck, and it is estimated that there are at least 20 wounded. The scene is described as heart-rending in the extreme. There was great difficulty in getting the passengers out of the ruins, and many could not be extricated. The legs of one man were amputated before being released from the cars.

Business Notices.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and squable over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came; the room was crowded with anxious expectants; the will was opened and to the unexpressible joy of all the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Vulcan Bitters.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—The very agreeable character of this preparation has rendered it a general favourite. The CIVIL SERVICE GAZETTE remarks; —"The singular success which Mr. Epps attained by his homœopathic preparation of cocoa has never been surpassed by any experimentalist. By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills." SPECIAL NOTICES.

BOILS.

Like the volcano, Boils give issue to the foul and fiery contents of the deep interior. To remove the cause of such suffering it is only necessary to vitalize the Blood by supplying it with its Life Element, Iron.

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP,

(a protected solution of the Protoxide of Iron) will do this effectively, and give strength, vigor and new life to the whole system.

—EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM REV. RICHARD S. EDES, OF BOLTON, MASS.

"For years I was a sufferer from Boils, so that my life became wearisome through their frequent and persistent recurrence; finally a carbuncle formed in the small of my back. During its progress large pieces of desomposed flesh were every day or two cut away, and the prostration and general disturbance of the system were great. Before I had recovered from this attack two smaller carbuncles broke out higher up, and I was again threatened with a recurrence of the sufferings to which I had so long been subjected. It was at this time that I commenced taking the PERUVIAN SYRUP. I continued taking it until I had used five bottles; since then I have had nothing of the kind. For years I was one of the greatest sufferers. Other medicines gave me partial and temporary relief, but the remarkable remedy, with a kind of intuitive sense, went directly to the root of the evil, and did its work with a thoroughness worthy of its established character."

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

THE REMEDY FOR CURING

Consumption, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppressions of the Chest or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

IT is action is expectorant, alterative, sedative, diaphoretic, and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and thus relieves the lungs by throwing off the phlegm; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS and PURIFIES the BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives new action to the secretive organs; brings the liver to its preperation and imparts strength to the whole system. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction, even in the most confirmed cases of consumption, and not to produce dizziness (as do most remedies) or effect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no necessity for so many falling by consumption, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

NEW CHEMICAL PRINCIPLES

APPLIED IN THE CURE OF

Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine (free from all nauseating or disagreeable effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the most choice products of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian Resolvent thus yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Flesh, Fat-making medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care in the proper season, from the native soil, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co.—so that no spurious admixtures or worthless root can possibly be mixed with the pure.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this branch alone But the wonderful improvements it has secured to the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the

pays for the outlay over and over again; for never in the history of medicine was such a medicine that so completely builds up, repairs, and makes sound, strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful without, the scent and the human constitution, as

Dr. RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

IT SUPPLIES the blood with its worn elements.
IT CONTAINS TISSUE-MAKING AND FLESH-MAKING QUALITIES.
It supplies the system with caloric or heat-making properties.
It cures all Eruptive and Ulcerated diseases of the Eyes, Ears, Mouth, Throat and Skin and body.
It increases the weight and appetite.
IT STOPS ALL WEAKENING DISCHARGES.
It increases the repairs and diminishes the wastes.
It eliminates the products of decay.
It resolves Tumors, Nodes, Hard Lumps.
It makes the skin clear and beautiful.
It heals Fever Sores and Ulcers.
It cures Gravel, and Stricture.
It makes the water clear and pass freely.
It cures Barrenness, and invests with the vigor of manhood those who, from weakness or disease, are deficient or exhausted
It secures women from the perils incident to change of life—cessation of illnesses.

To Those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if their systems are still in a condition to receive nourishment, and their LUNGS LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wasted beyond the possibility of repair, or if capable of sustaining the reparative process of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can be either restored to health; or the waste and destruction be stopped, and the elements of life and decay that now exist be checked from its extension. Those whose LUNGS, KIDNEYS and other organs are wasted, worn out, and their functions interrupted and sometimes altered beyond the reparative power of medicine, may, and will, if the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent be persevered in for two years for years; for no matter what the disease may be, if the system can be built up, and nature can be assisted to throw off disease under the influence of the tissue and flesh-making sustaining and life-giving principles that the wastes and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its conditions, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION. SCROFULA. Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS. SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poison of Venereal, are developed through the process of deposits from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic Glands Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will soon feel a marked change in her health after a short time after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. The blood becomes more pure, rich, clean, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution all the constituents, the deposits of Tubercle—the matter and other elements of disease, decomposition and decay will be diminished in the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys and other Organs; and each of these Organs will secure their proper normal secretions—the Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this important result—it has heretofore existed in all these wonderful agents advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones disease and corruption may be, the influence of this powerful agent on the blood and other fluids that sustain the living body will assert itself as change is effected in with such constituents as to resolve and expel from the blood and constitution all the humors, and supply its place with sound and living structure, nourished by rich, pure, and healthy blood. It is this chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach, during its process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, before it is made blood, as well as the blood itself, which invests it converts into blood, and its specific restorative influence on the blood, circulation, it deposites every atom of waste from the blood, and resolves them into all degrees of decay, rottenness, and death, as a Means of some specific poison, or virulent disease, as Mercurial, Syphilitic, Scrofulous, Cancerous, Cutaneous, Chronic Rheumatism, Mercury, Colonel, and other agents that may have been administered to the system in various forms, such as Pills, Powders, or from some transmitted family complaint as Scrofula, Salt Rheum, through hereditary descent.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, uncured and badly treated Venereal in its many forms, Glandular Diseases, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumors; Nodes in the glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Erysipelas, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Pimples, Face, Blotches, Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all wasting and other painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Life Principle, yield to the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either or all these forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Strictures and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy, Diabetes, and all who are incapacitated by Stoppage or Water, or Painful Discharges, will be quickly, safely and effectually cured through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Denault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his leg. Had resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, aided with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and applied, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which in three weeks cured him. He has since had no occasion to employ a doctor, and has previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctored for nine years, and could not get less than five dollars for

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, had a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., told me of his knowledge of your medicine. His neck and breast was covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, neck, chest, back and limbs. He was in September last, and he was the most revolting and diseased object I ever saw. After I spoke to him about the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills—One month after, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruption of the Skin, Boils, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of

DR. RADWAY.—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was cured, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatened Consumption have disappeared. I feel my health fully restored. JONATHAN FREELAND.

GENERAL SESSIONS.

14th June,	13th December.

Keep Warm.

NOTIONS OF A QUIET PERSON.

In my quiet life I have few interests and few excitements. It is given to some to have a little of peace, and we look with pity upon the restleness of those who crave excitement, as one in health regards the tossings and moanings of another burning with fever.

And this reminds me of a talk I had with our doctor. You must know—though you need not know much about me—that I have grown very intimate with the new doctor who has come to our quiet town.

We rather like him, this Doctor Sanatere He is not very young; but his knowledge is fresh, as he is not many years out of the schools and hospitals.

And he will talk, and what is more, talk sense. I don't think he is quite dependent upon his practice. If he be, he stands very much in his own light, for his manner and skill in his own calling people how to keep themselves well. He gives you reasons, and explains the why and wherefore, so that you do not blunder along in the dark, and regard medical science as a kind of magic art.

And this is a bit of one of his talks.

It was a cool, fresh autumn morning, after rather a sudden change. Unless you were warmly dressed or very busy, you were a little inclined to be chilly.

'Keep warm,' said he, "whatever you do. Heat is life, and cold is death.'

'This is just the season for people to be ill. They will have dysentery, or some such disturbance. Perspiration is checked, digestions hindered, and then the mischief is thrown in upon the internal organs. But if people will only keep warm, there is little danger. Put on more clothing. Keep warm. If there is pain or irritation, put a piece of extra flannel on the bowels. They understood that for our soldiers, and those flannel aprons saved many life.

'Keep the feet warm. If the circulation is languid, that is one of the first signs—coldness of the extremeties. And people often have an idea that they will toughen and harden themselves, which is all very well, if they will not harden themselves into their graves.

'Many a one tries to sleep with the feet cold. It's no use; such sleep does little good. Keep warm. Have a hot brick, a bottle of hot water, a soapstone.

'No, there is little danger of forming the habit of depending on it. In time, the circulation may be better, and the extra heat only resorted to when it is needed. But half the people live with cold feet, and then they have headaches and all sorts of disturbances, and they want medicine forsooth—as if any magic of medicine would creep up into their brains and draw away the pain.

'How to restore the circulation?

'Well, the best remedy I know for cold feet is, plenty of exercise and good digestion. But if you can't live on exercise and have to write, for instance, this will help. It is the best thing I know:

'Have a pail of hot water and one of cold, side by side. Plunge the feet into hot water, as hot as you can bear it for five minutes. Then straight into the cold water for one minute or less. Then rub them briskly, and put on warm, dry stockings. They will glow as if they had been into a Russian bath, as, indeed, they have.'

'But, doctor, is not one liable to take cold?'

'Take cold? No. No danger of taking cold, unless there is in some way a chill or interrupted circulation.

'Keep warm, and usually a cold, as you call it, may be averted. You have been chilled, and in some way the healthful processes interrupted. Now restore the action as speedily as possible. In many cases the death chill comes from being wet or cold and remaining so. If it be possible get thoroughly warm, into a respiration—that is, restore the action of the skin, and relieve the lungs or other internal organs, and your 'cold' disappears. It has not had time to fasten itself on any tissues, and so merely proves a slight disturbance.

'Keep warm. In our climate with its sudden changes, very few can do without the protection of flannel next the skin. Of that each one must judge for himself, if he only will give up the absurd idea of hardening himself, in spite of being sensitive.

'Who was the British naval commander who kept his fleet waiting, when under sailing orders for the West Indies—for what? Flannel shirts, a quarter of a yard longer than the regulation size, for his men. It sounded absurd, but he saved his men and had no sickness on his ships.'

'Well then, doctor,' says we, 'you approve of thick, strong boots. Surely that is a sensible fashion.'

'My dear sir—I am sorry to say it—it is not the business of fashion to be sensible. The foot is made elastic for motion. Now, how much elasticity has a foot laced up in a stiff boot, with a sole like a small board? No, the foot is better kept dry, but a shoe should better be kept soft, and accommodate itself to the foot. As it is, with the toes crowded together, the ankle laced tightly, and the whole fitted up on a small pair of heels, they are brave feet that keep up any circulation at all. Women go further in this fashion than men; and it is positively painful to see deformed, pinched feet, and the stoop and awkwardness produced by the effort to preserve the equilibrium. But as of no use talking. I suppose they would wear rings in their noses if it were only the fashion. Women in Syria mount themselves on 'kuhkobs,' but those are at least level, and they are easily slipped off. Perhaps the Druse horn is a better parallel to tight boots and high heels. Wondrous merit there is in self-restraint. Good night.'

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to liable protector against disease and to young children, it is under certain circumstances the most powerful remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a prompt relief against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, as indeed should all are exposed to sudden colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although so reliable and so safe, to be thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been restored to health, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral, after the best skill of the doctors, or do men over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection in it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in the intervals of recumbents.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of cures, or do more than to assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Dumb Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The combined importance of these terms in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures it effects in these direful cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed. Unacclimated persons, on first coming to reside in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, stands upon the firm basis of which are truly its virtues. Innumerable cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, and ready to perish, have been cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were positively afflicting, have been radically cured by it with great promptness. Almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or use.

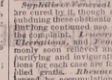

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and carries the seeds of death to some fatal disease, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and there, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, numerous cases may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or thrown forward in the liver, or it shows its presence in eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcers on some exposed part. Such is the fearful and universal use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advised, even when no external symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints, generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore, Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions of the skin, arising from a scrofulous habit. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Neuralgia, Kidney Complaint, and the various Uterous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilitic Venereal and Mercurial Diseases need not long resist it, if directed fairly and fully. For subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. Purifying contagious taint of blood, medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Obstructions, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its searching and invigorating power. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of poisonous matter in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Dropsy, Erysipelas, Congestion of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the same cause, poison in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great remedy for the rooting out of disease from the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, Low-spirited, or afflicted with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Nervousness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

ROYAL ITALIAN BITTERS
OR TONICO REALE.

Del Dottore F. P. Verri, Prof. of Chemistry, in the of University Padua, Italy.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original proprietor at the National Exposition at Torino, Italy, by whose favor Mr. Gianelli obtained the Recipe, and was also awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition of Canada, held at Montreal in September, 1865, is without exception, the most Genuine, Salubrious and agreeable Tonic ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America.

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite among the elite of society, being generally served in the Drawing Room immediately before dinner, in preference to Vermouth.

☞ The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval on every application.

The Proprietor has no idea of parading or puffing it before the public, but merely asks a second and unprejudiced trial.

Kept by the principal Wine Merchants, Druggists, and Grocers in Canada.

Father McMahon in New York.

HIS STATEMENT.

Father McMahon received a public reception in New York, upon his release from the Penetentiary, Mayor Hall in the Chair. He was introduced to the audience amid a scene of the greatest excitement, men cheering, and ladies waving their handkerchiefs. He advanced to the front of the stage and said :

I return you my sincere thanks for your kind invitation, and still kinder reception. I shall never forget it. I suppose you all know about my long imprisonment and my sufferings. In June, 1866, I left Madison, Indiana, to see after the affairs of my brother who had died in Canada. I found myself on the Canadian side surrounded by soldiers of the Irish army. They stopped me, asked who I was, where I was going to, and what was my business. I told them. The moment they found I was a a priest, they explained who they were, what was their mission, and, saying they needed a chaplain, asked me to go with them. As a Catholic priest, I at once said "Yes !" (Great cheering.) I went with them : was present at the battles of Limestone Ridge and Ridgeway, ministered to the dying soldiers of both sides, and, I trust, saved a few souls. What is there more noble than a soldier, what more necessary, what more brave and generous, and I would now ask what more just and right than to minister to him when wounded or dying, to save his soul or preserve his life ? This was all I have done and all I have suffered for, and I thank God I had fortitude enough to do so. My medical advisers in this city and Philadelphia cannot allow me to speak much, and the secretary, Mr. Daly, will read you my statement. I have only to say that I did my duty as a priest on the battle field, and I did no more. (Cheers.)

Mr. Peter Daly then read the following statement :

Ladies and Gentlemen : When I received the kind invitation to meet with you to night and discuss the justice of my arrest, trial, sentence of death, imprisonment, and tortures inflicted upon me by English officials in Canada, I hesitated whether I should accept or decline it. Not that I would shrink from any sacrifice—even death, if necessary—to give my native land liberty, or preserve it in this, the land of my adoption. But, if freedom of speech, guaranteed and pledged to me here in the United States, makes me a fellon whenever I tread the soil over which that tyranical emblem, the English flag, floats, that I should decide carefully ere I exercise the freedom of speech so far as to criticise the acts of the English government, or royal offsprings, and willing minions, Canadian officials, no one will deny. I have weighed the matter well, and decided that it was my duty to come here to-night and lay before you Canadian justice—so called—as administered by English officials, not only upon Irishmen, but Americans as well, when the tranquility of English despotism is disturbed, either by their speeches or acts. Although the United States government has been and is tardy in behalf of her citizens, I firmly believe the day is rapidly approaching when England will be compelled, not only to recognize and respect the rights of American citizens but the right to all people to self government. Thus believing, I have decided to excise freely and fearlessly my right as an American citizen upon American soil, to discuss English officials, treatment of American citizens, and the injustice of their imprisonment. In the early part of June, 1866, with the permission of Bishop Luers, I set out from Madison, Indiana, to visit Montreal, Canada, to arrange the affairs of my then deceased brother, Peter McMahon. When I reached Fort Erie, Canada, I was met by several officers of the Irish army, commanded by General John O'Neil. They questioned me as to who I was, where I was from and where I was going. I briefly answered their questions. When they learned that I was a clergyman they informed me me who they were and the mission they were on, and asked me if I would go with them as they needed the services of a chaplain. I desiring a clergyman and an Irishman, of course answered yes, and went with them. At the battle of Limestone Ridge the wounded and killed on both sides was one hundred and twenty—thirty of the Irish soldiers and ninety of the English forces. As a clergyman and man of peace, I attended the wounded and dying of both armies. As an Irishman and an enemy to tyrants and tyranny, I attended first the wounded and dying of the Irish army, who were fighting for liberty and Erin. The English troops were routed and driven to Ridgeway four miles from where the first battle took place. Here they baulted ; but, learning that General O'Neil and his forces were following them up, and knowing that there is no rest for the wicked, they took to their heels again, leaving a portion of their wounded behind. My services were again required, not only for the Irish soldiers, wounded and dying, who were brought to Ridgeway, but for many of the English troops, who were stricken down from exhaustion, caused by making such good time running from the victorious and pursuing Irish army. While in the company of and caring for the wounded and dead of both armies, I was arrested by six of her Majesty's soldiers, who believed in, and practiced the day before, the maxim, "He who fights and runs away, lives to run again some other day." When arrested, I was taken to the new Toronto jail, stripped, and forced into an ice-cold water bath ; there I was kept one hour, which resulted in sending me to the hospital, with chills and fever, where I remained nearly four months. From there I was taken to the old Toronto jail, and there kept until I was brought to trial. I was tried before Justice John Wilson. Now bear with me for a few moments, and you will learn what John Wilson's justice was. I was arraigned on three charges : First—I was an American citizen ; Second—I must have went to Canada with hostile intent ; Third—That I was in company with evil disposed persons in Canada. The jurors summoned to try me were English and Scotchmen. The witness es introduced by the prosecution were ten in number—but equal to a hundred in swearing—who testified that they heard me titled Father McMahon, and my dress de noted that I was a clergyman ; that they saw me administering to the wounded and dying of both armies. The soldiers who arrested me testified—for they could not do otherwise, as hundreds of the Canadians saw and knew it—that when they arrested me I was found in company with the wounded and dead. Here the prosecution, but not the persecution, closed. This, as I have stated it, was the case of the Canadian English Government against me. My counsel, Mr. Cameron, would have rested my case with the evidence introduced by the prosecution, being satisfied that, before an honest jury, with such evidence, I would be acquitted. But knowing that the jurors were English and Scotch subjects—which Webster defines as slaves—and which they have ever proven to be, to English despotism, he determined to show beyond question or cavil, that I was not amenable to, nor did I by any act violate International, English or Canadian law. The testimony first introduced in my behalf was a letter from Bishop Leurs, the Bishop of the diocese where I was located as parish priest, showing that he had given me permission to visit Montreal on matters pertaining to the death of my brother. A letter from my bishop to the clergyman of St. Jacques, stating that I was on my way there, was also laid before the court, but was not permitted to be read. Evidence was introduced on my behalf, also proven by two witnesses for the prosecution, that when arrested I was armed—armed with what every Catholic priest is armed with when visiting the sick or attending the dying—the blessed sacrement and holy oil. With evidence of my character and calling, my defence was closed, and the case given to the loyal jury—not packed ; for, as Webster describes them, it is unnecessary to pack English or Scotch slaves to convict American citizens, more especially if they happen to be of that land that never lets, nor never will let, England rest until she has freed Ireland. Did you anticipate the verdict ? Certainly you did. You knew it before you read it in the press, as my counsel and I knew it before it was announced. I was found guilty on the 12th of November, 1866, and sentenced to be hung on the 13th of December, 1865, just five weeks from the date of my conviction. In the outset of my statement I referred to my treatment while in prison previous to my trial, and, with your kind permission, I will resume and conclude the statement of the treatment I experienced during my imprisonment and up to the moment of my release. After conviction and sentence of death, I was hurried back to prison. Great care was taken to keep me secure, as there were rumors of an attempt to rescue me. This precaution was exercised until the clemency of the crown changed the mode of killing me from hanging to slow death by torture and starvation in Canadian dungeons for life. They began the starving process immediately after my death sentence was changed from the gallows to death in the dungeon. For breakfast the prison official brought a stipulated quantity a pint, for it was precious, called coffee, and a piece of baked bran, called bread. This stuff it was impossible to use ; starvation was preferable. I refused and would not use it. Dinner, consisted of a cup of soup which I'm sure was innocent of ever being in company with meat, was acceptable, not because it was fit for a human being but necessity forced me to welcome even that dinner, which was an improvement upon the breakfast I rejected. Then came supper, which was different from dinner and breakfast, by being worse than both. The supper was brought and left with me in my dungeon over night. This was a great source of annoyance, as my cell was infested with rats. The supper brought and left in my cell was the signal for the rats to congregate there and entertain themselves in royal style upon the delicacies of the season I have described, and furnished by Her Majesty's butler, the warden of the prison. I suffered so much from the rats and vermin brought together in this way that I told my jailer I did not use the supper rations, and that it was unnecessary to bring them. He then stopped bringing supper rations, but whether he learned or surmised why I objected to the rations being left in my cell over night I know not. But in a short time he resumed the custom, and continued to do so until I was released. I think I am justified in charging my jailor with seeking to torture me at night as well as by day, by swarming my dungeon with rats and vermin. In the winter months, I was subjected to cold water baths, which always resulted in sending me to the hospital. One instance in particular: on the 2nd of February, 1867, which is supposed to be the coldest winter month in Canada, I was taken from my cell, stripped, cropped, and shaved, in the presence of several (English) military officers who were visiting the visiting the prison; then forced into a cold water bath, kept there upwards of an hour, during which time the English officers and my jailors indulged in the lowest and coarsest kind of levity, unfit to be repeated here. This bath brought on a severe cold and fever, which confined me to the hospital for nine weeks. The cell or dungeon which I was confined in had all the modern improvements of torture. It was eight feet long, barely high enough to allow me to stand erect, and only twenty-eight inches wide. This coffin was so constructed as to prevent ventilation in summer and permit the winds of winter to play "Rule Britannia" through the doors and bars. This treatment was surely doing the work my English torturers expected—hastening me to my grave. So apparent and shocking were their cruelties that Doctor Dixon, the prison physician, was at last compelled to cry out against it, and reported to the chief warden of my treatment; also that I was not getting sufficient food to sustain me. The doctor's protest brought neither change of treatment nor diet. These haters of liberty, slaves and toadies to English power, threw open my prison doors, ceased the authority to longer starve and torture me when satisfied by my shattered physical condition that I walked from their dungeon to my grave. In conclusion, I ask the careful attention of every person in this hall to-night to the facts in my case. I was tried on three separate counts. First, that I was an American citizen; second, that being an American citizen, I went to Canada to levy war; third, that I was found in the company of evil disposed persons in Canada. To the first I pleaded guilty, and repeat here, that I am an American citizen. To the second, I answer by the death of my brother, the testimony of Bishop Luer's the clergymen of St. Jacques, and Mr. Rodier, a lawyer in the city of Montreal, which shows beyond doubt that my visit to Canada was to settle the property affairs of that deceased brother, Peter McMahon. To the third and last count, I answer that, while her Majesty's power is admitted and respected by all nations, I have yet to learn of the act of national justice or mercy she has been guilty of that entitles her, or her Christian and humane officials, to the special divine gift—the power to judge of men's thoughts. To sum up the whole case, it is apparent to the most indifferent listener here, or reader who read the evidence against me that I was tried and convicted; the penalties and torture of starvation, baths and close confinement, for a period of three years and three months, because I, an Irishman born, a free man, an American citizen dare perform my duty as a clergyman to those who had but a few moments ere they were summoned to that tribunal on high, there to meet their Creator, where the wicked cease to trouble, and the weary are at rest, will be admitted by every lover of liberty and justice throughout the length and breadth of this broad land. That I have taken from or added to a single sentence used against me or in my behalf, I am ready to corroborate at any moment, if desired. And I stand here to-night, not so much to appeal for a redress of the wrongs imposed upon me, as for those I left behind me in the dungeons of Canada, twenty-two in number. And I ask the government of this great and noble people, American citizens of all political and religious opinions, but with one political creed, liberty of conscience, how long will you permit English tyranny and falsehood to incarcerate and torture truth, justice and liberty—which those twenty-two brave men, now lying in English dungeons, are the personification of? In conclusion, allow me to return my sincere thanks for the sympathy which I have received from the good citizens of New York and Brooklin—which has been expressed in more ways than one. May they receive the reward which ever attends upon charitable actions, and may they also be instrumental in destroying that power which, knowing neither charity justice, or mercy, maintains its unhallowed ascendancy by crushing the helpless, and outraging every law, human and divine.

—A serious railway accident occurred at the railway crossing, in Kingston, on the 16th instant. A man named Clyde, with his two sisters, were returning from church in the city, when his horse took fright at an approaching train, and rushed upon the track. The animal was cut in two, and Mr. Clyde and one of his sisters were seriously injured, and the other one had her shoulder fractured. It is stated by several who witnessed the accident, that no signal was given by those on the train.

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, TUDSDAY, NOV. 16.

PERSONAL.—Mr. S. B. Burdett of Belleville having passed a highly creditable examination before the Law Society, was duly called to the Bar, on the 15th Nov.

ONTARIO COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.—The evening classes at the above Institution, commence this evening at half past seven. Those interested will please bear it in mind.

FINANCIAL SETTLEMENT WITH THE TOWN. The special committee appointed at the last meeting of the County Council to effect a settlement of the Financial affairs between the Town and the County, have been in session yesterday and to-day. A basis of settlement has been agreed upon so far as the County is concerned, and it is likely there will be a meeting of both the Town and County Committees at an early day.

TROUBLE IN RED RIVER.—It will be seen by telegraphic items in another column that the half breeds in the North West Territory are beginning to arm themselves against what they consider an encroachment upon their rights. We trust this may be but a temporary affair, and that as soon as Governor McDougall arrives, he may be able to allay the fears of the malcontents who fancy that the whole country is theirs by right of possession.

THE RAILWAY AT NEWBURG.—There was a meeting held on the 6th Nov. in Newburg to consider the question of granting a bonus in aid of the Madoc and Kingston Railway, and the following resolution was passed: "That in the event of the contemplated Railroad between the City of Kingston and Village of Madoc, passing within the limits of this municipality, that a bonus of $5,000 be given, and stock to the amount of $5,000 be taken by this municipality."

INQUEST.—An inquest was held on the body of Henry Easton, Esq., whose melancholy death we noticed in our issue of yesterday; and from the verdict rendered it will be seen that the Jury were of opinion that death was caused by the accidental discharge of a gun. The following is the verdict:—"That the said Henry Easton came to his death by a gun-shot wound, received by him accidentally, while in a state of mental aberration, under circumstances to the Jurors aforesaid unknown."

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION.—A telegram from Hudson, N. Y. Nov. 15th says: "A terrible boiler explosion occurred in Storm's paper mills, at Catskill Village, at 11:30 this a.m. The village was completely demolished, and several lives lost. It is impossible to tell the full extent of the disaster. The explosion not only destroyed the mill but shattered various buildings in the immediate vicinity. The ice houses of Hiram Van Steenburg adjoining caught fire and were destroyed. The loss of life may be greater than at first anticipated."

The Assault Case.

Robert McCormick, who was arrested yesterday at Ox Point, charged as being one of the parties who committed the assault on John Bennett, on Saturday, was brought before the Police Magistrate to-day. To the charge the prisoner pleaded Not Guilty. Mr. R. B. Bennett, the principal witness against McCormick, being out of Town, the evidence in this case given yesterday was read over to the prisoner.

The Magistrate remanded McCormick until to-morrow, when it was expected that R. B. Bennett would be here.

Mr. J. W. Diamond, who appeared for McCormick, contended there was no evidence against him. He asked that bail might be taken. Bail was refused.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, Nov. 10.

A number of petitions were presented.

THE ASSESSMENT LAW.

Mr. Trow introduced a Bill to amend the Assessment Law, the first amendment he proposed to make was to tax revenues derived from rents; the second was based on what he considered was an error in the present law, that lands attached to parsonages are not liable to taxation. So that it might happen that in the country several thousands acres could be held which are not liable to taxation. He proposed to limit the amount in towns to a quarter of an acre and in the country to four acres, and also to provide that the land must be the property of the congregation and not the private property of the minister. The third amendment he proposed would arise out of the fact that parties holding stock in companies are liable to be assessed, but not if the same is converted into mortgages for then only the income was liable to taxation. He could not see that any difference ought to be made. The next amendment had reference to an error as he considered it in the wording of the statute, when town and county treasurers should notify the clerks and municipalities of exemptions and arrears of taxes. Some towns took advantage of this, and he wished to remove the responsibility. Another point was somewhat similiar to this, when the Mayor of a town may extend the time for the payment of taxes. Now there might be debentures coming payable, and in that case considerable difficulty would arise out of this power. Those he believed were the principal changes which he had considered requisite. A number of Bills were introduced, and some routine business transacted, when the House adjourned.

Father McMahon in New York.

This liberated Fenian has been feted by his brethren, and politicians who seek to secure what is termed the "Irish vote" of New York City; and those who always delight in denouncing and listening to denunciations of "perfidious Albion." Upon this occasion some 5,000 persons were provided over in Cooper Institute by the Mayor of New York, surrounded by well known Fenian celebrities, Horace Greely, and others of that ilk. The Mayor, in introducing Father McMahon, among other things, said: "I am here, not as a partisan, "not as a politician, but as Mayor of this "great city, to welcome Father McMahon "to this country; to welcome him on his "release from the yoke of despotism, to "press his hand (suiting the action to the "word amid immense cheering,) and to "assure him, as I do, that the heartfelt "sympathies of the citizens of this city are "with him." After the Mayor had delivered himself of a quantity of such trash, he introduced the Rev. Father, whose remarks we give in another column, in order that our readers may better appreciate the man who has been liberated by our kind and generous rulers. It will be seen that he does not pretend any ignorance of the intentions of the Fenians in coming to Canada, but justifies his joining them in their murderous predatory expeditions into Canada, on the ground of his being a Priest and an Irishman, as they might require spiritual aid and consolation. From his introductory remarks one would be led to the conclusion that he had crossed into Canada before he was surrounded by "soldiers of the Irish army." Now every one knows, who knows anything at all of that section of the country, that if he were on his way to Montreal, he had no business to cross at Buffalo, and that his crossing there must have been for other purposes than to proceed to Montreal. The lie is so transparent, that one wonders in amazement at the audacity of the man. He says: "The "moment they found I was a priest, they "entrusted me with my what was their "mission, and saying they needed a chap-"lain, asked me to go with them. As a "Catholic priest, I at once said 'yes.'"

As a "Catholic Priest," was it not his duty, knowing that the Bishops and dignitaries of his church had denounced the Fenian organization, to have endeavoured to dissuade these misguided men, rather than urge them on by his presence to invade a country where every man enjoys equal rights and privileges, to plunder, burn and murder. To give his countenance and aid, was not the duty of a Christian Minister, any more than to aid in any other species of crime. Yet this man rejoices in having assisted in the murders of Ridgeway. In his whole statement it will be seen that he not only rejoices at the part he acted in that drama, but he indulges in the most abominable falsehoods in respect to Canadian officials and Canadian prisons. The only fault is that he was used too well. His ravings might be amusing, were it not that we know he has just been pardoned by the very power he denounces in gross and infamous language and calumniates with the foulest falsehoods. He denounces the "English flag" as a "tyrannical emblem;" talks glibly about "English despotism," and then informs us that at Lime Ridge the wounded and "killed on both "sides was one hundred and twenty—thirty "of the Irish soldiers and ninety of the "English forces." The English and Scotch he denounces as "slaves," and says he was put into a cold bath in February and kept there for one hour, that he "was stripped, "shaved and cropped, in the presence of "several (English) military officers," who, during the hour he was kept in the bath, "indulged in the lowest and coarsest kind of levity, unfit to be repeated,"—that his cell "was so constructed as to prevent ven-"tilation in summer, and permit the winds "of winter to play 'Rule Britannia' through "the bars and doors." He next accuses the officers of the prison with having "swarmed his dungeon with rats and vermin in order to torture him." We shall not pursue this priest's ravings further, but ask a careful perusal of his statement to learn what a viper has been set at liberty to create further difficulties, by leading his more honest, though misguided, countrymen into further acts of pillage and murder.

"All Pleased."

So says the Globe in reference to the election in Renfrew. It will be remembered that this same journal denounced the INTELLIGENCER in unmeasured terms, which denunciation was taken up and echoed by the small fry, for daring to express a hope that the new Finance Minister during his absence in Europe had reformed. What will they say now to their leader, who in his issue of the 15th Nov., not only says "all" "pleased," but adds, "we feel that this election (Hinck's) affords us also, great grounds for congratulation." What a consummate humbug this Globe must be. If "the result of the contest in North Renfrew" "affords him great grounds for congratulation," why all the venom and writings for months to try and defeat him? Probably the Globe thought its opposition was the surest way of securing Hincks' election, which may account for the violence with which it denounced him, and every one else, who did not think proper to follow up their opposition in the wake of and style of the Globe.

Now that it is all over, and the contest is satisfied; it is the first crumb of comfort it has had for some time. We shall soon it has had for some time. We shall soon hear the pop-guns following suit and rejoicing in unison with their master.—Which position is honest? That taken by the Globe before the election, or its rejoicing after? Its readers are no doubt satisfied?

Public Accounts of Ontario.

Mr. WOOD, Provincial Treasurer laid before the House on the 15th inst., the public accounts of the Province for 1868 and nine months of 1869.

The total receipts for 1868—the fiscal year ending on the 31st December—were $2,260,176. Of this amount the subsidy from the general government came to $1,-233,750; receipts from Crown lands $184,-693; from Clergy lands $133,873; from Common School lands $115,437 and from Grammar School lands $2,260,176. The total expenditures were but $1,182,388—$170,000 less than the estimated expenditures. This shows a very great economy and excellent management, but of course, this does not give a correct idea of the normal surplus for the year, since no account is taken of the interest on the provincial debt, which will, probably, be from three to four hundred thousand. There was a considerable surplus, however; and the investments during that year amounted in all to $850,000—500,000 in 6 per cent Dominion debentures, purchased at 98, $350,000 in 6 per cent. Dominion stocks, bought at 101.

The returns for the nine months of this year only partially indicated the character of what the year's transactions will be. So far the receipts have been $2,061,811, but it must be remembered that the whole of the subsidy from the government at Ottawa being payable half-yearly in advance is taken into the account. The receipts for the whole year will, no doubt, foot up considerably beyond those of 1868. The expenditures for the nine months reached $1,-008,806, so that they promise to be increased for the whole year as well as the receipts.

Further investments have been made this year. First, there is a sum of $658,519 "salted down" in 5 per cent debentures of the Dominion at discount rates varying from 69½ to 95½; something like $50,000 more in the same class of securities at 90; and there is a "special deposit" besides of $500,000—making a total investment up to the present time of $2,065,644. It speaks well for our position and the government management that there have been such large investments coincident with considerable expenditures upon necessary public works, such as a new lunatic asylum a new deaf and dumb asylum, improvement of internal navigation and the like. We fear the surplus wouldn't last long if the Grits got their needy hands on it.—Leader.

Gov. McDougall in Trouble.

The following despatches will be read with interest:—

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—A private letter from Fort Garry says:—Upon hearing that the Canadian Government had appointed a Governor for the new Colony of Winnipeg, the half-breeds organized to prevent his entrance into that settlement, and hearing of his approach formidable band of buffalo hunters went down to Pembina to prevent His Excellency from crossing the line. They were prepared to use violence to any extent to compel his retreat. This action arises from the hostility of the Indians to the Confederation and its plans for territorial dominion. Bands of Chippewas at Leret Lake are reported dissatisfied and disposed to make trouble.

SECOND DESPATCH.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—A special dispatch to the Tribune from St. Paul, says the account telegraphed this morning on the strength of a private letter from Fort Garry, that the half-breeds had opposed the entry of the new Governor to the new colony of Winnepeg, is exaggerated. A mob of 100 started to interrupt the new Governor, and prevent his entry, but the number diminished by desertion to fifty, who barricaded the road over which Governor McDougall was to pass, but on his arrival a short conference satisfied them that their demonstrations were uncalled for. The mob then removed the barricade from his path, and escorted him with every mark of respect to the capital of his new dominions.

It is one of the disadvantages of confederation that we will have to take on ourselves the burden of controlling the Indians. It is possible that what Australia has to go through with regard to the Maoris we will have in connection with the red men.

—Quebec Legislature opens on the 23rd inst.

—Eight horses were burned to death in Louisville, Ky., on the 14th inst.

—President Grant is to urge return to specie payments in his next message.

—The Rebellion in Cuba continues. Several cane fields have recently been burned.

—The filibustering crew of the 'Cuba' have been discharged. As was expected.

—Madame Anna Bishop has again appeared on the stage in New York.

—The Stanbrooke and Kennebec Railway is to be of the narrow guage, 3 feet 6 inches.

—The customs revenue in Montreal, for the week ending Saturday 13th, amounted to $94,-080.

FACTS about FURS.

THE following FACTS are attested to by scores of Ladies, who are competent judges.

That for years the FURS manufactured in Belleville, by the would be monopolists have been miserably cut, poorly matched, and badly shaped.

That for these badly manufactured goods they have had to pay extraordinary high prices.

That the FURS which I have in Stock, in cut, finish and fit, are all that the most fastidious can expect.

That the sale of these well manufactured goods has already been so great as to excite the "green eyed monster" in those who would, if they could, monopolise all the business, and charge their notoriously high prices.

These facts, are given on the authority of those who have related their "victimised" experience to the subscriber.

I shall always be happy to show my FURS, tell my customers their real value, (will not ask them $10 more than their price, and then as a great inducement throw $10 off), will be glad for them to "look round," convinced that the price and superiority of my goods will be such as to secure their return.

A TREATY BETWEEN FRANCE, AUSTRIA AND PRUSSIA.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The Times has a cable special from St. Petersburg of the 13th, which says that a project for a treaty of alliance, offensive and defensive, between France, Austria and Prussia, has been submitted by Prince Gortchakoff to Fleury, the French Minister, and sent by the latter to Napoleon. The duration of alliance is to be three years, and it is to be renewable upon six months notice. Each party is to keep a certain standing army.

POSTAL AND TELEGRAPHIC SURVEILLANCE IN FRANCE.

The Paris correspondent of the Times states that the refusal of the French Government to permit the landing of the shore end of the U. S and continental telegraph, will cause the French authorities serious embarrassment. The question will be brought before the Corps Legislatif, and a fierce onslaught established over the Post Office and telegraph. All American papers are subjected to surveillance, and a copy of every telegraphic dispatch, whether in cypher or otherwise, is kept in the office of the minister of the interior. It will be impossible for the Government to resist the arguments for a removal of all further interference with freedom of the postal and telegraphic communication. Senators Chandler and Ramsey are in Paris, the latter was to leave about the 7th for home, having been unsuccessful in his efforts to conclude a treaty.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

BOILS.

Like the volcano, Boils give issue to the foul and fiery contents of the deep interior. To remove the cause of such suffering it is only necessary to vitalize the Blood by supplying it with its Life Element, Iron.

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP,

(a protected solution of the Protoxide of Iron) will do this effectively, and give strength, vigor and new life to the whole system.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM REV. RICHARD EEDES, OF BOLTON, MASS.

"For years I was a sufferer from Boils, so that my life became wearisome through their frequent and persistent recurrence; finally a carbuncle formed in the small of my back. During its progress large pieces of decomposed flesh were every day or two cast away, and the prostration and general disturbance of the system were great. Before I had recovered from this attack two smaller carbuncles broke out higher up, and I was again threatened with a recurrence of my sufferings, which I had so long been subjected. It was at this time that I commenced taking the PERUVIAN SYRUP. I continued taking it until I had used five bottles; since then I have had nothing of the kind. For years I was one of the greatest sufferers. Other medicines gave me partial and temporary relief, but this remarkable remedy, with a little care, has entirely and directly to the root of the evil, and did its work with a thoroughness worthy of its established character."

A 32 page Pamphlet sent free. The genuine has "PERUVIAN SYRUP" blown in the glass.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

THE REMEDY FOR CURING

Consumption, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppressions of the Chest or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

IT is action is expectorant, alterative, sedative, diaphoretic, and diuretic, which renders it one of the most perfect remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES the BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action and imparts strength to the whole system. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction, even in the most confirmed cases of consumption, and not to produce costiveness (as do most remedies) or effect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no necessity for so many deaths by consumption, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

NEW

CHEMICAL PRINCIPLES

APPLIED IN THE CURE OF

Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN

RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine (free from all nauseating or disagreeable) effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the main choice products of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other forces now yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Bone, Flesh-making medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care as the proper season, from the native soil, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co.—so that no spurious admixtures or worthless root can possibly be mixed with them.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this branch alone of their extensive business. It has secured to the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the page for the outlay over and over again; for never in the history of medicine was such a medicine thus to completely build up, repair, and make sound strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful withal, the weak and broken-down constitutions, as

Dr. RADWAY'S
SARSAPARILLIAN
RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

It supplies the blood with nourishment.
IT CONTAINS ESSENCE-MAKING AND FLESH-MAKING QUALITIES.
It supplies the system with caloric or heat-making properties.
It cures all Eruptive and Ulcerated diseases of the Eyes, Ears, Mouth, Throat and Skin and Scalp.
It increases the weight and appetite.
IT STOPS ALL WEAKENING DISCHARGES.
It increases the repairs and diminishes the waste.
It exterminates the products of decay.
It removes Tumors, Nodes, Hard Lumps.
It makes the skin clear and beautiful.
It heals Fever Sores, Ulcers.
It cures Gravel, Gleet, and Stricture.
It makes the water clear and pass freely.
It cures Barrenness, and invests with the vigor of manhood those from whom weakness or disease, are deficient or exhausted
It restores woman from the pecils incident to change of life—cessation of Menses.

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if their systems are still in a condition to receive nourishment, and their LUNGS, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wasted beyond the process of vascular, or if cystic or ulcerating the repairing power of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can be either restored to health, or the waste and decomposition stopped, and the elements of decay that now exist be dismissed from the system. Consumptives, whose LUNGS, KIDNEYS and other organs are wasted, ulcerated, and their functions interrupted and secretions altered beyond the reparative power of medicine, may, and will, by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, continue to live perhaps for years; for no matter how low the vital forces may be reduced, so long as there is life under the influence of this tissue and flesh-making medicine, the remedy will be greater than the waste and the BLOOD will receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poison of Venereal, are developed through the process of deposits from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic Glands, Womb, or Urinary Organs, will, after experiencing a marked change by the use of the better effect, the blood becomes more pure, rich, strong, and wasting, and is enabled to resist all its actions constituents, the deposits of tubercle are neither formed other elements of disease, for the blood being vitalized will be diminished to the point where the Lungs, Liver, Skin and other Organs; and each of these important organs, Skin and their proper constituent secretions. Instead of Urine Bile, the Pancreatic Juice and other fluids being absorbed in the circulation, these organs are built to and directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If medicine fails to its intended on the system, to correct these secretions, and to assist each organ or secreting gland in its duties, by supplying the proper functions, health can never be restored. Radways for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this important result, and has hereafter existed in all these remedial agents, advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones disease and corruption may be, the influence of this powerful agent on the blood and other fluids that support the living body with repairs, will compel the system with such constituents as to resolve and expel from the blood and tissues every corrupt matter, and supply its place with sound and living structure. Being assimilated by rich, pure, and healthy blood, the chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach, digestive process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, before it is made blood, as well as the nourishing and assimilating elements it converts into blood, and its specific action when entering in the circulation, it exterminates every atom of virus from the blood, and restores every organ of digestion, secretion, excretion and nutrition of some specific poison, or vitiated disease, as Mercury, Cancerous Humors, Scrofula, Erysipelas, Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Blotches, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all wasting and painful Discharges. Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Life Principle, are within the curative range of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of the above forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Stricture and all Complaints of the Kidneys, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy, Diabetes, and all weaks of the urine influenced by Stoppage of Water, or Painful Discharges, are speedily cured and effectually cured through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Travelling Montreal.

G Denault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his leg. He had last resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, along with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and used, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man who had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctored for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont.

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly one half the Hotel and a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., told me of his knowledge of your medicine. His son, aged 13 years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, from head to the entire body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all; a sore but in September last, and he was the most revolting and diseased object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills. One month since, on my return from a visit to the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many cures of Scrofula, Fever Sores, Eruption of the Skin, Boils, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Threatened Consumption, Night Sweats Bleeding from the Lungs, cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WINDSOR STATION, Ontario, Canada West, March 11, 1869.

DR. RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was cured, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatened Consumption have my health is restored, and I am fully recovered. JONATHAN FREELAND.

N. B.—This gentleman was well known to have been under the treatment of the best physicians in Sarnia—he received no benefit from any medicine until he commenced using your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. GEO. MILLER.

A Singular Cattle Disease.

A correspondent of the Rural New Yorker addresses the following communication to that journal:

"There is a singular and wide spread disease among cattle prevailing in Monroe county, and perhaps other sections of Western New York. It is rarely fatal as yet, but troublesome. It broke out suddenly and at once nearly every farmer found some animals in his herd infected. It is not communicated from one animal to another—at least such are not its means of spreading, for it appears in herds, that have been isolated from others the entire season. I said it has been rarely fatal, yet some animals have died with it. The first symptom is usually under the dew claw. Perhaps there is a crack on the back side of the knee joint. Other sores show themselves on the fore legs. Inflammation sets in and the legs swell; meantime blisters appear on the udder and teats, followed by lumps and raw sores.—The animal is inclined to lick the sores, and the poison is communicated to the lips and mouth, and they swell and become raw. If the disease runs its course, the legs swell to the body and the animal soon dies, evidently poisoned by the virus. All classes of cattle are liable to be attacked.

Happily, few cases, as yet, have been fatal. The disease seems to yield readily to remedies. Sulphur and saltpetre are given internally, and hot tar applied to the lower sores on the legs, and camphor and alum ointment to the udder, &c.—Various other remedies are used. Something healing, and that will keep away the flies seems be best.

We should very much like to know what the disease is, and all about it. Some attribute it to the flies, which have been terrible the latter part of this season, in conjunction with so much wet. But it prevails on hills as well as lowlands, and unless we have some new specie of fly, why should they be more venomous than before?

If the animal is in high condition, make no change in its feed; if, on the contrary it is in a low state of health, give nourishing food, such as sliced Swedish turnips and mangel wurtzle, in equal proportion twice a day, and give a large wine glass full of cold drawn linseed oil in a drench, early in the morning, before the cow has been fed in the stall. Dress the cracks with creosote liniment twice or even thice daily and shelter the animal from all extremes of weather. In from five to fifteen days all symptoms of the disease will have disappeared.

The cause of this disease is supposed to be the bites of flies that have feed on putrid matter and, resting on the cattle in swarms, have bitten them so severely as to effect the blood. In 1864, the heat was excessive for some weeks at the end of summer and during the early part of autumn, in the south of Ireland, and the disease appeared in all the herds. The high bred short horns suffered the most. We know of scores of cases, none of which ended fatally. All sufferers were cured by the above course of treatment. In one instance, a pure bred short horn cow, that was not treated for several days after the disease broke out, shed her hoofs and horns the following spring. She having licked the sores, her blood was impregnated with the animal poison, yet she recovered.

Another Convent Scandal.

A new scandal has been drawing together the people of New Jersey in large numbers. One Edith O'Gorman, a lady who has lately given up convent life, and with it the name of Sister Therese, has been lecturing upon her experiences. She says it is a mistake to suppose that the inmates of a convent have no desire for any but a celestial husband. She has known 'six nuns to be in love with one Jesuit, and the most violent jealousies arising among them in consequence; while the priests, who are supposed to pass their time in holy offices, really employ it in making love with the sisters.' She also details acts of cruelty, especially to children, which are common in the convents. If Sister Therse's statements are true, she is doing a goodly service to the community in making them; if false, Therese deserves to be mobbed, as some of the New Jersey people threaten. In either case the matter should cleared up.

—The State of Connecticut is stocking its small lakes and ponds with the fine game fish the black bass of the St. Lawrence, Gristes Nigricans Agassis. Mr. E. S. Woodford of West Winsted, who has given much attention to the cultivation of this fish, has under, the direction of the Commissioners on Fisheries, stocked about 20 ponds during the present season with 2,000 bass, one, two and three years old. For the proprietor of the Cattskill Mountain House, he has stocked his ponds on the Mountain with 125 bass, and for the Commissioners of Maine, several ponds near Bangor. The wonderful fecundity of this fine fish will soon produce a great amount of delicious and wholesome food.

Thare haint been a bug made yet in vain nor one that want a good job; there is ever lots of human men loafing around blacksmith-shops and cider mills, all over the country, that don't seem to be necessary for any thing but to beg plug-tobacco and swear, and steal watermelons, but you let the cholera break out once, and then you will see the wisdon of having jist sich men laying around; they help count.

"Biddy," said a lady to her servant, "I wish you would step over and see how old Mrs. Jones is this morning." In a few minutes Biddy returned with the information that Mrs. Jones was just seventy-two years seven months and two days old.

	£1,672,356	16	11

The above is a complete list of the Investments of the Company at the date specified, in addition to which the funds are still further increased, by amounts constantly varying, at different periods, in the hands of the Bankers and the Company's Agents. At 31st December, 1868, these stood at .... £ 168,089 2 0

For the satisfaction of the Public, the whole of the Securities belonging to the Company are annually submitted to the careful scrutiny of two independent Auditors, and the following is an Extract from their Report to the last Annual Meeting:—

"The whole of your Books have been Audited—every Document, every Account, every Voucher, your Bank book, and every Security—all have been most carefully kept, and there is not one doubtful Security in the whole."

THE ACCUMULATIONS OF THE LIFE DEPARTMENT,

After payment of Losses, Annuities, and Expenses of every description, have been as follows

Funds in Hand at the last Quinquennial Valuation, 31st Dec., 1864,	[illegible]

A YEAR'S TRIAL.

The Montreal Tea Company: MONTREAL, 1868.

GENTS.—It is nearly a year since I purchased the first chest of Tea from your house. I have purchased many since, and I am pleased to inform you the Tea has in every case proved most satisfactory, as well as being exceedingly cheap.

Yours very truly,
F. DENNIE.

Montreal Tea Co:

GENTLEMEN,—The Tea I purchased of you in March has given great satisfaction, and the flavor of it is very fine. It is very strange, but since I have been drinking your Tea I have been quite free from heart-burn, which would always pain me after breakfast. I attribute this to the purity of your Tea, and shall continue a customer.

Yours respectfully,
FRANCIS T. GRENE,
54 St. John Street, Montreal.

Montreal, April 1868.—To the Montreal Tea Company, 6 Hospital Street, Montreal; We notice with pleasure the large amount of tea forwarded for you to different parts of the Dominion, and we are glad to find your business so rapidly increasing. We presume your Teas are giving general satisfaction, as out of the large amount forwarded we have only had occasion to return one box, which, we understand, was sent through a mistake.

G. CHENEY,
Manager Canadian Express Company.

Montreal Tea Company: HOUSE OF SENATE, OTTAWA.

GENTLEMEN,—The box of English Breakfast and Young Hyson Tea which you sent me gives great satisfaction. You may expect my future orders. Yours, &c.,

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, WEDNESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 17, 1869. No. 169.

An Armed Insurrection at Red River.

ATTEMPT TO INTERCEPT THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

(From the Nor' Wester, 30th ult.)

What we have long expected has at last taken place. Ever since the commencement of the last negotiations for the transfer of this territory to the Dominion of Canada, a few individuals, who no doubt glory in their disloyalty to the Queen, and their hatred of the Dominion and all connected with it, have been exceedingly busy in their efforts to create a spirit of opposition to the proposed transfer among this people. With the English speaking portion they have been eminently unsuccessful; inasmuch as they can read for themselves, and have a better understanding of the ins and outs of the whole question than was anticipated by those who were endeavoring to tamper with the loyalty and good sense. Failing here, they then turned their whole attention towards our French fellow colonists, and wherever there was an opportunity and an ear to listen, the occasion was not lost to stuff them with an almost inconceivable tissue of misrepresentations and lies. The principal misrepresentations were concerning the Canadian system of taxation; and among the most prominent lies was the assertion that the new Government intended to immediately oust the French from their lands and homesteads. Coming, as these assertions did, from men of some apparent consequence amongst us, it is little wonder that they found a number among the French who would believe them and proceed to act upon them. Believing as they do that their informers have told them the truth from motives of friendship and good will, these men have naturally determined to resist any such encroachments upon their rights.—Without inquiring as to the truth or falsehood of what has been told them, some considerable excitement began to manifest itself among them ever since the news of the bargain and sale of the company's rights reached us. Reports of various kinds have been flying about as to their intentions in the matter, but as many of them seemed too incredible for belief, we waited quietly to see what the termination would be; relying upon their good sense when they should calmly think the matter over.

Week before last they despatched a couple of agents among the English speaking portion of our people who live upon the Red River below this place. We were down immediately after, and found that they had not met with a single sympathizer along the whole line of their peregrinations. A flying rumor then began to prevail that the French intended to stop Governor McDougall whilst en route to the Settlement from Pembina, and to prevent him from coming in at all unless indeed he would accede to a long list of demands, the most of which are too preposterous to entertain, and many of which he will not have the power to grant. This report, apparently of so serious an aspect, created little excitement, inasmuch that it was not credited. But intelligence of an unmistakable character reached this place on Friday last. On that day information was laid before the authorities, and was sworn to in the form of an affidavit, that the French were already in arms upon the road between Stinking River and Pembina. That such of them as took an active part in the uprising were adopting every precaution to intercept Mr. McDougall on his way in. They were fully organized, and were sufficiently under military discipline to throw out scouts upon all the approaches to the settlement from the South, and to post picquets and sentries at night. These fellows had billeted themselves upon the inhabitants at their various places of rendezvous. These parties being stationed at Stinking river, Scratching river, and near Pembina, severally. Upon Friday last they threw a barricade across the road at Stinking river, and would allow none to pass until they had undergone an examination. Upon the arrival of the news considerable excitement was manifested, but no steps of any kind have been taken by our people, as they depend upon a call from our authorities.

The Council of Assiniboia met yesterday to consider the matter, and they used their utmost endeavors to persuade the leaders of the movement to desist, but without avail. We are happy to be able to state that this movement is confined to a very few among our French fellow colonists; and before any further action be taken, the council have determined to engage the services of the loyal and intelligent French to meet and to endeavor to persuade those now in arms to go peaceably to their homes, and to allow Governor McDougall to come in and to institute his government, and to give that government a fair trial before resorting to extreme measures. This would be by all means the sensible course to adopt; and we are certain that those who fear that some tyrannous outrage is to be attempted against their just rights will be most agreeably mistaken. We regret to learn that the government surveying party under the immediate charge of Mr. Webb, employed in surveying a base line over towards Oak Point, has been obliged to cease work on account of the opposition offered by the French half breeds. These men, in a band of eighteen or twenty, met the surveying party while running the line at a point some miles south of the Assiniboine, and eight or ten miles from Fort Garry, on the 11th inst., and, claiming all the country south of said river for the French, threatened violence if the survey was not at once discontinued. Mr. Webb, acting under written instructions on this point, previously given him by Colonel Dennis, ceased operation for the time, and reported the facts to the officer named.

Col. Dennis at once laid the matter before Dr. Cowan, J. P., the magistrate, and counselling with him, it was thought best under the peculiar circumstances at present existing to endeavour by persuasion rather than by force to remove any further opposition to the survey being proceeded with.

Dr. Cowan, accordingly, with Mr. Goulet, associate, had the leader of the gang brought before them, but found it impossible, after repeated endeavours, to get the party to listen to reason. The aid of Governor McTavish was then sought and rendered, and finally even that of the authorities of St. Boniface but all without avail.

Thus the matter stands till the arrival of the Lieut. Governor from Canada, who is expected in a few days.

In the meantime Mr. Webb's party has been withdrawn to the north side of the Assiniboine, to commence the survey of the lots granted along the Red River.

We sincerely hope that the respectable portion of the half breeds of the nationality mentioned, and which it is only proper to say the parties who have committed this outrage do not represent to any extent whatever, will take prompt steps to repudiate all connection with an act which can only have the effect of bringing discredit upon all parties connected with it, and particularly of prejudicing the claims of that party generally to consideration at the hands of the incoming Government.

Divorce.

The divorce system of the United States has led to some wonderful results. The other day we heard of one where a wife found herself divorced without her knowledge. Since then a case has occurred in Chicago where an application for a divorce was made before a judge without the knowledge of either husband or wife; and now we hear of one in which the plaintiff, a woman, sued for a divorce upon the ground that her husband was of the same sex as herself! There was no difficulty here about granting the divorce but many knotty points have arisen out of it—as, for instance: is the wife, who has property, to be responsible for debts incurred by her husband? And, again, what punishment is to be inflicted upon the husband for contempt of law, and for forgery committed in signing the marriage contracts and other documents under an assumed sex? What a rich treat for the lawyers such a complication offers. Mrs. Stanton, one of the "he-women" of New York, advocates that men should shave and that women should dress as men, so that the sexes cannot be distinguished. We are afraid if that advice were followed there might be many ladies mistaking their sex as some do now. So, with this divorce before us, we cannot advocate trousers for the ladies.

A Rash Promise.

The Portland Argus tells the following story of a young lady who is a pupil at one of the schools in that city, and has aleady, it seems, beaten her father in mathematics:

She modestly proposed that if her father wouly give her only one cent on one day and double the amount on each successful day for just one month, she would pledge herself never to ask of him another cent of money as long as she lived. Pater familias, not stopping to run over the figures in his head, and not supposing it would amount to a large sum, was glad to accept the offer at once, thinking it also a favorable opportunity to include a marriage dowry in the future. At the twenty-fifth day he became greatly alarmed, less if he complied with his own acceptance he might be obliged to be "declared a bankrupt on his own petition."

But at the 30th day the young girl demanded only the pretty little sum of $5,368,809 12! The astonished merchant was only too happy to cancel the claim by advancing a handsome cash payment for his folly in allowing himself to give a bond—for his word he considered as good as his bond.—without noticing the consideration therein expressed, and by promising to return the old custom of advancing smaller sums daily until otherwise.

A most disgusting exhibition, was given in Boston last week by professional gormandizer, Reynolds by name. Reynolds made a wager of ten dollars with Jerry Desmond that he (Reynolds) could eat within an hour all the smelts that Desmond could catch in twelve hours. The result of Desmond's fishing were ninety four smelts, which he cooked using a pound of lard and an equal amount of meal. The fish weighed when cooked, eight pounds. In forty-five minutes after Reynolds sat down to his dinner the last had disappeared, and then he offered to eat two pounds of beefsteak if any one would pay for it. Nobody being willing to foot the bill, he finished his meal on bread, and then wanted to bet that he would sleep twenty-three hours a day for two successive days. The Boston papers are jubilant over their "Champion Feeder."

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, NOV. 17.

SALE OF SCHOOL PROPERTY.—The Sale advertised to take place to-day has been postponed, the Sheriff having doubts, we believe, as to his right to sell School property.

SEVERE STORM.—A very severe storm prevailed last night, which extended west as well as east. In Toronto and vicinity, it was particularly severe. It is feared several disasters will be reported. Owing to the storm the wires are down in several places and no telegrams have been received.

The Cabinet Filled.

Telegrams from Ottawa say the vacancies in the Cabinet have been filled, and that an extra Gazette will give the appointments and changes as follows:

Hon. Sir John A. Macdonald, K. C. B., Premier and Minister of Justice.

Hon. Sir George E. Cartier, Bart, Minister of Militia and Defence.

Hon. Sir Francis Hincks, K. C. M. G., and C. B., Minister of Finance.

Hon. Wm. Macdougall, C. B., Minister of Public Works.

Hon. H. L. Langevin, C. B., Secretary of State.

Hon. Joseph Howe, Secretary of State for the Provinces.

Hon. S. L. Tilley, C. B., Minister of Customs.

Hon. Edward Kenny, President of the Council.

Hon. J. C. Chapais, Receiver-General.

Hon. Peter Mitchell, Minister of Marine and Fisheries.

Hon. Alex. Campbell, Postmaster-General.

Hon. Christopher Dunkin, Minister of Agriculture, Statistics and Immigration.

Hon. Alexander Morris, Minister of Inland Revenue.

It is understood that it was also decided at the meeting of the Privy Council, that so soon as the North-West Territories become formally incorporated in the Dominion, the Hon. William McDougall will receive his appointment as Lieutenant-Governor. Mr. McDougall will be succeeded as Minister of Public Works by Hon. Mr. Langevin, and the officer of Secretary of State, thus rendered vacant, will be filled by Hon. Mr. Aikens.

Messrs. Morris, Dunkin and Aikens, are valuable accessions to the Ministry. In the selection of the latter gentleman Sir John A. Macdonald has done something to mitigate the error committed in the selection of Hincks as Finance Minister; and while we approve the selections thus made, particularly that of Mr. Aikens, we cannot but express our astonishment at their consenting to become colleagues of Hincks. Explanations will be looked for with no little interest.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 17th, 1869.

A large number of petitions were presented.

Mr. McKellar introduced a Bill to render ineligible certain persons for seats in the Ontario Legislature.

Some Returns were laid on the table.

The consideration of the Drainage Bill was deferred.

Mr. Carnegie moved for the appointment of a select committee to enquire into and report upon the usefulness and cost of wooden railways as a means of furthering the settlement of the country.—Agreed to.

A motion by Mr. Evans to appoint a Committee to consider and report upon the working of the present system of remunerating registrars, created considerable discussion and and was finally withdrawn.

Some returns were moved for and the house adjourned at 4.40.

Attempt to Murder a Sentinel.

On Tuesday morning an attempt was made to murder Private Laferty, Queen's Own, a sentinel on duty at the drill shed, Toronto. He was about 12 yards from the sentry box, when he heard the sharp report of a rifle, and feeling the wind created by the ball, at once felt satisfied that an attempt was made on his life. He immediately fired in the direction of Front St., and heard the sound of retreating footsteps. The guard turned out but could not discover the would be assassin. The Leader's account says:—An examination was then made to find the direction the ball had taken, and it was discovered that it had passed through the sentry box about two feet from the floor, and then passed through the board fence and either buried itself in the mud on Wellington street or went over the fence into the government grounds. The bullet passed in its course through not less then six inches of pine boarding, which leads to the belief that it must have been fired from a very small-bore rifle instead of a large sized revolver, as some suppose. The circumstance has created a sensation among the volunteers and indeed the citizens generally, who feel convinced that there are yet among us a number of villainous Fenians, whose insatiate thirst for blood can never be appeased. The guard was doubled on the drill shed last evening in order to be better prepared for a similar event, in case it transpired.

Upon Whom is the Onus?

In the report of the proceedings of the Common School Board of the 2nd inst., Mr. N. B. Falkiner is reported in a contemporary to have used the following language: "He could not allow any member "of the Board to fasten the onus of the "suit upon himself, and those who voted with "him," and further: "I'll have the "answer yet from all who had anything to "do with keeping back the documents, "and forcing the Board into a law suit."

What are the facts? Mr. Falkiner first took his seat as a member of the Board of School Trustees, on the 18th of January, 1869. At the next meeting of the Board on the 27th January, 1869, the persecution of Mr. James Smith, a former member of the Board, was commenced by the adoption of the following resolution:

Moved by N. B. Falkiner, seconded by Jas. Robertson, That application be made forthwith to Jas. Smith, to refund all monies paid out of School funds of this Board on account of the purchase by him of the property known as the Blacklock lot, and that the said James Smith be requested forthwith to pay, or cause to be paid, all sums of money and costs attending the collection of same, over to the Secretary and Treasurer of the Board, and that a copy of the resolution be delivered to Mr. Smith.

Mr. C. L. Coleman at that time believed that the Blacklock lot belonged to the Board, and that Mr. Smith was shabbily treated. Indeed he went so far as to advise Mr. Smith to bring the action against the Board, and Mr. Smith stated in his affidavit that "it was with Mr. Coleman's sanction and consent, and by his advice" that he began the action. With this view of the matter it was natural that Mr. Coleman should second the following amendment to the foregoing resolution:

Moved in amendment by Mr. Sawyer, seconded by Mr C. L. Coleman, That the amount due on the Blacklock lot be paid to save law costs, and then that the said lot be advertised for sale, that this Board may get the money paid on it.

The amendment was, however lost, the original resolution carried, and the following also was carried at the same meeting:

Moved by E. J. Sisson, seconded by Mr. Tennant, That a committee be appointed with full power to act and take such steps and measures as may be deemed necessary and expedient, to carry out the resolution of this Board as to the repayment to the School funds of all monies expended on account of Mr. Smith's purchase of the Blacklock lot, and that in case of Mr. Smith refusing or not complying with the said resolution, that said committee be further authorized to take all necessary steps to compel the refunding of said monies either by sale or otherwise, of said property. Said Committee to be composed of the seconder and mover and N. B. Falkiner.

At the next meeting on the 5th of Feb., 1869, on motion of Mr. Sawyer, seconded by Mr. Coleman, the resolutions quoted above, respecting the Blacklock lot, were rescinded.

Mr. Smith was continually harrassed by lawyer's letters, demanding the payment of the instalments due, was threatened with law suits, and finding a majority of the Board determined to subject him to all possible annoyance and trouble, refusing to acknowledge that he had been the authorized agent of the Board, and neglecting to pay the amounts as they fell due on the lot, saw there was no other course left for him but to take steps to compel the Board to carry out the solemn agreement it had entered into with him.

He consequently brings the suit. At the meeting of the Board on the 2nd of April, 1869, the following resolution appears on the record book as having been moved by Mr. Falkiner, and strange to say, seconded by Mr. Coleman, who had in the meantime completely changed his position:

Moved by Mr. N. B. Falkiner, seconded by C. L. Coleman, and resolved, That the Bill filed by James Smith against the Board and Geo. D. Dickson, respecting the Blacklock lot, be laid before John Bell, Esq. by the Secretary of this Board on to-morrow, with all the facts and such information as the said John Bell may require, which are within the Secretary's knowledge or control, in order to obtain the opinion and advice of the said John Bell in the premises, and if he thinks proper taking the opinion of Chancery Council with all possible dispatch for the information and guidance of this Board, and that the Secretary do act upon this resolution accordingly.

YEAS—Messrs. Coleman, Falkiner, Tennant and Sisson. NAYS—Messrs. MacAnnany, Shepard and Sawyer.

The minority of the Board who had every reason in their power to get rid of this eye-sore and source of heart-burning, supported the following amendment:

Moved in amendment by Mr. Sawyer, seconded by Mr. Shepard, that the Board pay the balance due on said lot and save further costs.

YEAS—Messrs. Sawyer, Shepard and McAnnany. NAYS—Messrs. Coleman, Falkiner, Tennant and Sisson.

The amendment was lost, however, and the defence which Vice-Chancellor Mowat in his judgment on the case thus characterized: "A more purely technical defence would be impossible," and which has cost the Town such a large sum of money, was commenced.

Let us follow this matter a little farther, and see how far Mr. Falkiner's statement is sustained by what occurred. On the 20th April there was a meeting of the Board, at which the following proceedings took place:

Moved by N. B. Falkiner, seconded by C. L. Coleman, That this Board having read the letter of Messrs. Irons, Bell & Holden, containing the opinion of Edward Blake, Q. C., the Equity Council, whose opinion was obtained in pursuance of a resolution of this Board of School Trustees upon the suit brought by Jas. Smith against this Board of School Trustees and Geo. D. Dickson, in reference to the Blacklock lot, and whereas Mr. Blake is of opinion that if this Board contest the suit with Smith that they will succeed;

Resolved, That Messrs. Ross, Bell & Holden, be instructed to defend the suit brought by Mr. Smith against this Board, and that the Secretary and Treasurer be instructed to supply Messrs. Ross, Bell & Holden, with all the papers and information that they may require in defending the suit.—Carried.

YEAS—Messrs. Coleman, Tennant, Falkiner and Sisson. NAYS—Messrs. Sawyer, Shepard and McAnnany.

On the 28th of April another meeting was held at which the answer to the Bill fyled in Chancery by Mr. Smith was read, and the following motions made:

Moved by N. B. Falkiner, seconded by C. L. Coleman, That the Secretary and Treasurer of this Board of School Trustees be instructed to affix the corporate seal of this Board to the answer in the Bill filed in Chancery against this Board and Geo. D. Dickson, in reference to the Blacklock lot, forthwith.

YEAS—Messrs. Coleman, Tennant, Robertson and Falkiner. NAYS—Messrs. Shepard, McAnnany and Sawyer.

Mr. Shepard moved, seconded by Mr. Sawyer, the following amendment:

Moved by Mr. Shepard, seconded by Mr. Sawyer in amendment, That all after the word That, in the original resolution be struck out and the following inserted in lieu thereof, in our opinion this suit has been carried too far already, and to continue the litigation by ordering the answer to be made, would be most vexatious and dishonest towards Mr. Smith, and particularly so when part of the answer is untrue.

YEAS—Messrs. Shepard, McAnnany and Sawyer. NAYS—Messrs. Coleman, Tennant, Robertson and Falkiner.

This amendment was lost, the original resolution was carried and the suit went on, with what result is known. And yet with this record against him, Mr. Falkiner is reported to have tried to make the people believe he is not responsible for the suit, that no onus rests upon him. Will not our readers agree with us that Mr. Falkiner's statement is not borne out by the facts, and that the sole responsibility of the defence rests upon him and those who supported him.

Sabbath School Association.

Pursuant to an invitation by circular from the County Secretary of the County of Hastings, in connection with the Provincial SabbathSchool Association, the following gentlemen met yesterday for the purpose of organizing a County Association for the County of Hastings:

Hon. B. Flint, President of the Provincial Sabbath School Association, Dr. R. Holden, one of the vice Presidents of the Association; Rev. W. McLaren, Rev. W. Cobb, Rev. J. E. Howell; and Messrs. J. J. B. Flint, B. H. Vandervoort, W. A. Shepard, E. S. Vandewater, J. Forin, J. Foster, W. Wood, R. F. Pegan, J. Cass, and C. Bateman, Secretary.

Moved by Hon. B. Flint, seconded by Mr. Forin, and resolved, "That the following persons be appointed the Executive Committee of the County Association; Hon. B. Flint, Rev. W. McLaren, Rev. G. R. Sanderson, Rev. J. C. Smith, Rev. J. Wild, Rev. S. Jones; Messrs. A. G. Northrup, W. A. Shepard, W. Johnson, J. Forrester, A. F. Wood, W. Wood, J. Ross, J. Foster, P. D. Conger, G. Geen, F. McAnnany, A. Thomson and R. F. Pegan."

A. G. Northrup, Esq., was appointed Chairman of the Committee, when the meeting adjourned, to be called together at the instance of the chairman.

The Assault Case.

Robert McCormack who was remanded yesterday, was brought up before the Police Magistrate to-day for examination.

R. B. BENNETT, sworn,—I remember the disturbance on the street on Saturday morning last; there was a continual disturbance; saw a fight; the parties were on the opposite side of the street from my place; I heard some say, 'go for him!' another said, 'if you will hold my coat I'll go through him;' I was standing in my own door; could not recognize them from where I was; there were four or five, or five or six of them; I saw Taylor and Bulger up his window and call for the police; the parties seemed to be all on one man; they seemed to be pounding his head on the sidewalk; recognised Robt. McCormick coming across towards my place; he had a coat over his shoulder; after Taylor shouted 'police' the parties ran away, some of them down the gangway; one man said, 'if this man is killed don't mention any names—let us get out of this.' I don't know positively who it was; think from his voice the man who used those words was John Quinn. When Mr. Taylor and I met, James Bulger was holding up John Bennett's head; Taylor told him to go away and he left; we carried Bennett into my house and laid him on the floor, bathed his head, and afterwards laid him on the lounge; it was about half-an-hour afterwards before he became conscious.

Cross-Examined—I know both McCormack and John Bennett well; they were together after the fire and appeared to be friendly together; Bennett, McCormack, John Quinn and others started to go up to the corn; they appeared to be sober so far as I could see; some time after No. 2 Company came to my house and shouted "whiskey or a row;" I told them they could not have any of former, but they might have some of the latter if they were very anxious; there were about 30 of them; it was then about three o'clock; the Company is commanded by Capt. Jas. Cumming; at the time of the row, when I heard a voice saying, "Go for him;" another said, "I will go through him by——, hold my coat;" one of the constables, Mr. Downs was looking out of Mullen's window during the time of the row; think Downs told me the next day that he (Downs) looked out of the window; thinks Downs said he heard the row and got up and looked out of the window; I saw Bennett get up twice, and go about six feet each time and then fall down; there were five or six parties; some of them ran down the gangway; there was some wrangling between them; could not say by whom; I heard repeatedly the words "go for him." When Bennett became conscious his mind was rambling; he talking about target shooting; his eyes appeared to be set; he appeared to be sober; I recognized no voice except Quinn's; I could not distinguish the persons across the street; McCormick was standing about twenty feet from where the fight took place; they left him and went towards the gangway; and upon Quinn making use of the remark, "If this man is killed, don't mention any names, let us get out of this." McCormick came across to where I stood, and the rest left.

Dr. Knight, who was present in the Court, in answer to the Police Magistrate said Bennett was worse this morning, the difficulty is in his back; he was scarcely able to move in his bed; there is inflammation of the kidneys; my opinion is that he will not be able to give his evidence on Tuesday of next week; the case is a serious one.

McCormick was remanded until Tuesday next. Bail was refused.

Kingston Correspondence.

From our own Correspondent.

DISTRICT QUARTER-MASTER—MILITARY SCHOOL—ROYAL CANADIAN RIFLES—"GLOBE" CORRESPONDENT—FATHER MCMAHON.

KINGSTON, Nov. 16th, 1869.

If the information supplied by the "Whig" is correct, Mr. Thomas A. Corbett, ex-Sheriff of Frontenac, is to succeed Major Phillips as District Quarter-Master. What his claims are, or what his qualifications, nobody seems to know. Mr. Corbett is an old man, by no means active; in a word, he is not at all suited to the position. Why Volunteer officers of experience should be overlooked in this appointment, I am at a loss to know. Surely there are a sufficient number of officers in the District from whom a good selection might be made without having to search among outsiders. It is anything but encouraging to men who have spent both time and money in the interests of the service, to find themselves utterly ignored in such a case as the present one. General dissatisfaction is felt here in consequence of this appointment, or at least anticipated appointment, as Mr. Corbett has not yet been gazetted.

The opinion is becoming general that the Military Schools have served their purpose and should therefore be closed. The Kingston School has become nothing more or less than an institution of accommodation for boys out of employment, who enter for the purpose of gaining $50, which on being received is, in many cases, used to do their passage to the United States. You would be amused to see the children that are now in attendance on the School here, many of whom, judging from appearances, are incapable of bearing arms. But the boys are not always to blame; their parents send them, and after they leave, the $50 received goes to family purposes. A large number of these youths never intend to give the country an hour's service. Originally the training of officers was the object of establishing Military Schools, but now it seems that they are for the purpose of giving every Tom, Dick and Harry a chance to make the $50. The entrance examination is of too low a standard (reading and writing) and low as it is, I have heard of individuals who were allowed to enter who could scarcely satisfy the examiners that they knew anything at all about the most ordinary military education. The "Whig" properly asks, 'How long is this farce to last?' Major Sharpe, R. C. R., for a long time Adjutant of the School, has sold out, and has been succeeded by Lieut. Smith, R. C. R. Major Sharpe was a very popular officer and always treated cadets with great respect, as many Belleville officers can testify.

In military circles it is now regarded as certain that the Royal Canadian Rifles will be disbanded in April. This action of the Imperial Government is in the meantime to be followed by the withdrawal of the Mounted Rifles, a question which is occupying considerable interest. The suggestion to send Cadets to the Red River is regarded with much favor, and as far as I can learn, would be acceptable. Kingston is dull enough as it is; but when the military leave it, it will be much more so. By the way, what can be the object of the Imperial authorities leaving the colonies almost wholly defenceless? Is the present state of political agitation in Europe, reducing the strength of the army, closing dockyards, &c., to be no means a wise policy.

The correspondents of the Globe have no great reputation for truthfulness. The Ottawa one is at the head of the list, and the rest follow in his footsteps. The gentleman who telegraphed the news from Kingston to the effect that there had been several failures here in consequence of the speculation in grain, &c., stated simply what was untrue. It is really surprising that an influential journal would publish such trash as come from these correspondents, and as items of news; but, that is their business, not mine.

So McMahon has been letting himself out in New York. That his statement lies in the beginning, lies in the middle, lies all over, it would not be hard to prove. This is the poor old man who was to have sought seclusion and after Taylor shouted 'police' the parties ran away, some of them down the gangway; one man said, 'if this man is killed don't mention any names—let us get out of this.' I don't know positively who it was; think from his voice the man who used those words was John Quinn. When Mr. Taylor and I met, James Bulger was holding up John Bennett's head; Taylor told him to go away and he left; we carried Bennett into my house and laid him on the floor, bathed his head, and afterwards laid him on the lounge; it was about half-an-hour afterwards before he became conscious.

Cross-Examined—I know both McCormack and John Bennett well; they were together after the fire and appeared to be friendly together; Bennett, McCormack, John Quinn and others started to go up to the corn; they appeared to be sober so far as I could see; some time after No. 2 Company came to my house and shouted "whiskey or a row;" I told them they could not have any of former, but they might have some of the latter if they were very anxious; there were about 30 of them; it was then about three o'clock; the Company is commanded by Capt. Trouble in the North-West.

GOVERNOR McDOUGALL OBLIGED TO RETURN TO THE STATES.

ORGANIZATION OF A PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT.

From the Daily Telegraph.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 15.

Letters from reliable parties at Pembina, published in the St. Paul Press, confirm the rumor of the expulsion of Governor McDougall and party from the Red River Territory.

The Governor had advanced two miles beyond the frontier and stopped at the Hudson's Bay Company's post, sending Mr. Provencher forward to confer with the insurgents, who numbered about 600.

Mr. Provencher was made prisoner, Mr. McDougall was surrounded in the fort. Owing to the numbers of the attacking party no defence could be made. On the 2nd Nov. the governor was escorted across the line, and is now encamped near Pembina, in Dakotah territory.

The insurgents, who consisted of French and half breeds, did not offer any violence. A Provisional Government has been organized, and the determination of the insurgents to resist Canadian domination is loudly expressed. Their proceedings are supposed to have been instigated by American emissaries, with the view of bringing about annexation.

Governor McDougall is said to have applied to the Ottawa Government for troops. His family intend returning to Canada.

The Hudson Bay Company's officers and the Scotch and other British settlers will support the Governor, but it is uncertain whether they will organize a military force in his support.

The insurgents are only partially armed and equipped.

LATER.

ST. PAULS, MINN., Nov. 16.—Recent advices from Red River Territory state that the insurgents remain encamped about four miles beyond the frontier. They are receiving considerable accessions to their numbers. A French half breed, named Pierre Loranger, is the leader of the party. The British settlers are reported to be organizing for a movement on the insurgents, and if the latter do not disperse serious consequences are apprehended. The American residents of the territory, who desire annexation, are supposed to have stirred up the half breeds to insurrection, desiring to retain the trade with the territory, and prevent its passing into Canadian hands. It is hardly probable that Gov. McDougall will be able to enter the territory until spring.

Business Notices.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and squable over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came; the house was crowded with anxious expectants; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—The very agreeable character of this preparation has rendered it a general favourite. THE CIVIL SERVICE GAZETTE remarks:—"The singular success which Mr. Epps attained by his homœpathic preparation of cocoa has never been surpassed by any experimentalist. By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills." SPECIAL NOTICES.

BOILS.

Like the volcano, Boils give issue to the foul and fiery contents of the deep interior. To remove the cause of such suffering it is only necessary to vitalize the Blood by supplying it with its Life Element, IRON.

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP.

(a protected solution of the Protoxide of Iron) will do this effectively, and give strength, vigor and new life to the whole system.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM REV. RICHARD S. EDES, OF BOLTON, MASS.

"For years I was a sufferer from Boils, so that my patience wearied me through their frequent and persistent recurrence; finally a carbuncle formed in the small of my back. During its progress large pieces of decomposed flesh were every day or two cut away, and the prostration and general disturbance of the system were great. Before I had recovered from this attack two smaller carbuncles broke out higher up, and I was again threatened with a recurrence of the sufferings to which I had so long been subjected. It was at this time that I commenced taking the PERUVIAN SYRUP. I continued taking it until I had used five bottles, since then I have had nothing of the kind. For years I was one of the greatest sufferers. Other medicines gave partial and temporary relief, but this remarkable remedy, with a kind of intuitive sense, went directly to the root of the whole system.

"I am 32 page Pamphlet sent free. The genuine has "PERUVIAN SYRUP" blown in the glass.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

THE REMEDY FOR CURING

Consumption, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppressions of the Chest or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

IT is action's expectorant, alterative, sedative, diaphoretic, and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the throat. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS and PURIFIES the BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action and imparts strength to the whole system. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction, even in the most confirmed cases of consumption, and not to produce costiveness (as do most remedies) or effect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although safe and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no necessity for so many deaths by consumption, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine Cures from all nauseating or disagreeable Taste spoken of here, Dr. Radway's is prepared on a new principle by Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the more choice products of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other foreign roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Heat, Life-making medicine are selected and, gathered with the greatest care as to the proper season, maturity and, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed exclusively by Radway & Co.—so that no spurious substitutes or worthless roots can possibly be mixed with the pure.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this branch alone for the wonderful preparations it has secured to the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

pays for the outlay over and over again; for never in the history of medicine was such a medicine that so completely builds up, repairs, and makes sound strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful withal, the weak and broken-down constitutions, as

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic, Glands Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a marked change in her health for the better after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure, rich, strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution its natural constituents, the deposits of Tuberculous matter and other elements of disease, decomposition and death will be diminished in the Lungs, Ki neys, Skin and other Organs; and ends of health will be restored to their proper constituent secretions. Instead of Urine, Bile, the Pancreatic Juice, Blood and other Fluids absorbed in the circulation, these secretions will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If medicine fails in to influence in the system, to correct these secretions, so as to aid each organ or secreting gland in discharging its proper functions, health can never be restored. In supplying humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent science has furnished to all these remedial agents advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones disease and corruption may be, the influence of this powerful agent on the blood and other fluids that supply the living body with repairs, will so change the system with such constituents as to create and to sustain the sound and decomposing matter, and to replace it in place with sound and healthy structure, in the shape of rich, pure, and strong blood. By the chemical principles which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during its process of digestion and assimilation with the food, it is made to change as well as the nourishing constituents it converts into blood, and to modify some other agency in the circulation, to exterminate every atom of vegetable matter, or the germs of disease, among all departments of the system, whether caused by the action of some specific poison, or irregular action, as Mercury, Corrosive Sublimate, i. e. the Corrosive Chloride of Mercury, Calomel, Lead, Arsenic, Nitrate of Silver, or from some other cause, in the bones, cartilages, or joints, or from some constitutional family complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, mercurial and badly treated Cancers, Cancerous humors, Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the Breast, Groin and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancer in the Womb, and all weakening and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Life Principle, are within the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Stricture, and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy, Diabetes, and all who are incommoded by Stoppage of Water, or Painful Discharges, are quickly relieved and effectually cured through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Benoit, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his side that resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, aside with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and used, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which effectually cured him. Here is a man who had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctored for nine years, and cured as a cost of less than two dollars. "ONE SOLID SCAB."

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont.

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., told me of his knowledge of your medicines. His son, aged 12 years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, commencing on the entire body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all. I saw him in September last, and he was the most revolting and diseased object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills One month since, I met returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have used Radway's Fever Sores, Eruption of the skin, Boils, Ulcers, Sore Heads, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Threatened Consumption, Night Sweats Bleeding from the Lungs, cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WINDSOR STATION, Ontario, Canada West, March 11, 1869.

DR. RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep a good deal better, for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was cured, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatened Consumption have vanished. I am now in health and fully recovered. JONATHAN FREELAND.

N. B.—The gentleman was well known to me, and have been under the treatment of the best physicians in Sarnia—he received no benefit from their advice until he commenced using your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. GEO. MORTIMER.

Second.—There will be a few eklipses ov the Sun, kaused by the old gentleman cutting off the supplys ov Charles Fitz Henry Augustus. (Bully for the old gentleman.)

Third.—There will be domestik eklipses (visibel only tew the naked eye) kaused bi the new Comet Sorosis jumping out ov her pasture, and cantering around promiskuss.

Forth.—There will be tectotal eklipses during the whole ov the year 1870, ov all other Alminaxs, throughout the earth, upper and lower kanads, and sum parts ov Nu Jersee, kaused bi the immense circulashun ov the Josh Billings' Farmers' Alminax.

Albany Lumber Market.

REVIEW FOR THE WEEK ENDING NOV. 10.

The receipts of the week have been large, but will fall off for the balance of the season, owing to the high canal freights. The sales of the week active, and the shipments very large, the cold weather hurrying up the lumber. Dealers are about stationary and do not advance as much as was anticipated by some.—They are firm on the whole line, with a scarcity of hemlock and spruce, and a fair assortment and stock of other kinds.

The receipts by the Erie and Champlain canals for the year in November, were:

Year.	Boards and Scantling, ft. M.	Shingles, No.	Timber, Staves, &c. ft.	Lath.
1866	13,717,703	869	1,140	1,995,200

1868	13,115,770	906
1869	19,043,200	498		1,161,000

Of the boards and scantling received, 18,240,200 feet were by the Erie, and 9,815,000 by the Champlain canals.

The receipts by the Erie and Champlain canals from the opening of navigation to November 8th, were:

ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY.

SECURITY

SHOULD be THE FIRST CONSIDERATION in INSURANCE TRANSACTIONS

THE Directors of the Royal Insurance Company have the pleasure of supplying the following information to the public, as evidence of the ample security they afford to their assurers:—

The Capital of the Company, available for the purpose of meeting any unusual calamity happening to the Assured, is

Two Millions Stirling.

The amount actually paid up is £288,495. This, with the Accumulated Funds in Hand, makes the invested resources of the Company upwards of One Million Six Hundred Thousand Pounds, which amount is invested as follows:—

INVESTED FUNDS OF THE ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY, 30th June, 1869.

Real Property owned by the Company,	£219,571 11 3

Loans on Security of Life Policies,	68,968 8 5
	£1,672,356 16 11

The above is a complete list of the Investments of the Company at the date specified, in addition to which the funds are still further increased by amounts constantly varying, at different periods, in the hands of the Bankers and the Company's Agents. At 31st December, 1868, these stood at ..... £ 168,089 2 0

For the satisfaction of the Public, the whole of the Securities belonging to the Company are annually submitted to the careful scrutiny of two independent Auditors, and the following is an Extract from their Report to the last Annual Meeting:—

"The whole of our Books have been Audited—every Document, every Account, every Voucher, your Bank-book, and every Security—all have been most carefully kept, and there is not one doubtful Security in the whole."

THE ACCUMULATIONS OF THE LIFE DEPARTMENT,

After payment of Losses, Annuities, and Expenses of every description, have been as follows

Funds in Hand at the last Quinquennial Valuation, 31st Dec., 1864,	£ 621,434 15 5
Added to that Fund in 1866,	194,347 0 0

to Montreal Tea Company: MONTREAL, 1868.

GENTS.—I nearly a year since I purchased the first chest of Tea from your house. I have purchased many since, and I am pleased to inform you the Tea has in every case proved most satisfactory, as well as being exceedingly cheap.

Yours very truly,
F. DESNOYER.

Montreal Tea Co:

GENTLEMEN.—The Tea I purchased of you in March has given great satisfaction, and the flavor of it is very fine. It is very strange, but since I have been trying your Teas I have been quite free from heartburn, which I was very much troubled with before. I attribute this to the purity of your Tea, and shall continue a customer.

Yours respectfully,
FRANCIS T. GREENE,
84 St. John Street,
Montreal.

Montreal, April, 1868.—To the Montreal Tea Company, 6 Hospital Street, Montreal. We notice with pleasure the large amount of tea forwarded for you to different parts of the Dominion, and we are glad to find your business so rapidly increasing. We presume your Teas are giving general satisfaction, as out of the large amount forwarded we have only had occasion to receive one box, which, we understand, was sent through a mistake.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything been so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men, it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the most obstinate affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protection against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand by every family. And those who are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with it, for these often, if neglected, end in consumption, which Cherry Pectoral will counteract, and in most cases cure. Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still many apparently hopeless cases of this disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the lungs and throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach the case, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Nowhere in the whole country can find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So general are the complaints of which we treat that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Autumnal Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of the cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe it has entirely banished the Fever and Ague disease. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases of chronic disease which had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through those localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination of the blood, they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in a short time by this agent. In the solution of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. It is the most common and universal use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even to those in apparently good health, to prevent disease. Persons afflicted with the following complaints may confidently expect relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA:—St. Anthony's Fire, Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and, other eruptions or humors of the skin, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, and in more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Rheumatism, Gout, Liver Complaint, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the mucous and nervous systems.

Syphilitic or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long and persevering course of it is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of it in such cases will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Obstructions, Female Weaknesses, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its use. In all cases where the Mineral Poison or Impurities for each cause are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis, Liver Complaint and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, will be relieved by this remedy. Also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the presence of poison in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great remedy for the cure of Nervous Diseases. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Horrible Apprehensions of Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find unbounded relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, THURSDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 18, 1869. No. 170.

Wooden Railways.

The following discussion on Wooden Railways, took place on the 16th inst., in the Ontario Legislature.

Mr. Carnegie moved the appointment of a Select Committee to enquire into and report upon the usefulness and cost of wooden railways, as a means of furthering the settlement of the country; said Committee to be composed of Messrs. Carling, Richards, McMurrich, McKellar, Cumberland, Boulter, Barber, Williams (Durham), Graham (Hastings), Craig (Russell), Cockburn, Sinclair, Greely, Hooper, Calvin, and the mover. He said his object in making this motion was to bring prominently before the House the subject of wooden railways, as a cheap and available means of furthering the speedy settlement of the country, and also that this House might, through a committee of its members thoroughly examine into the merits and demerits of these roads. If the report should be favorable it would, no doubt, be of great assistance to those who were promoting such railways; while, if unfavorable, it might on the other hand be the means of preventing the useless expenditure of a very large amount of money. At the present time throughout the country, from one end to the other, projects of this kind were springing up. It would be not only unnecessary, but an insult to the intelligence of hon. gentlemen, that he should take up their time in discussing the advantages which must inevitably flow from the construction of railways through the newly settled parts of the country. As to that, he thought there could not be two opinions, and the regret was universal that hitherto we had not been able to devise any practicable means for the construction of such railways. By resorting, however, to the system of wooden railways, he was satisfied that we had placed within our means the construction in poorer localities of roads which would secure the end we all so much desired. During the past summer he had had occasion to devote a good deal of attention to this subject, and he had also visited the wooden railway which had been in operation for three or four years in the State of New York, known as the Utica Railway. From what he had seen, he was satisfied that these railways were capable of performing all that was claimed for them, and many other gentlemen of practical experience and having an intimate knowledge of railways had visited this work, and had come to the same conclusion as to the merits of the system. We had also before us the action of the Quebec Legislature and people, who were now pushing vigorously forward several projects of this kind. He thought, if we followed their example, we would be doing something that would very materially benefit this Province. He might also mention that he was informed that, at a short distance from Clifton, they had commenced to build another wooden railway. This afforded strong proof that those who had the best opportunity of judging of the merits of these works were satisfied that they were capable of doing all that was represented. He thought it was quite unnecessary that he should take up time further in arguments to show that this Committee ought to be granted in order to examine into this subject.

Mr. Hayes remarked that the Committee as named by the hon. mover, was an almost purely eastern Committee.

Mr. Carnegie—We take most interest in the subject in the east.

Attorney-General Macdonald said, if this were an ordinary matter, having reference to the amendment of a railway charter or a petition for the incorporation of an ordinary Railway Company, the proper course would be to send it to the Committee on Railways. But his hon. friend proposed —and he, (the Attorney-General) thought, very properly—that a special report should be made to this House on the advantages which would be derived from a cheaper kind of railroads than any that had been introduced into this country hitherto. There could be no objection to having a committee on the subject. Of course, if the committee were to recommend any public grant, they would be transgressing the legitimate bounds which the adoption of this motion would give them. Their function, as he understood it, would simply be to report to this House, such information as they might collect, shewing the advantages which were to be derived from wooden railways—and, that being the view, he had no objection to the committee being organized. He supposed his hon. friend would be prepared to bring forward such information and such statistics as would at all events enlighten the House as to the practicability of adopting that system of railroads, at least in that particular part of the country in which the hon. gentleman was more particularly interested.

The motion was agreed to.

—Mr. Jones, of Hartford, thought he smelt gas the other night, and lighted a match to see it. The next thing he remembers was being rolled in the gutter by a friendly policeman.

Adventure of three Men in the Moon.

Some time since there occurred near Los Angelos, Cal., a most strange and unaccountable phenomenon, described as a "shower of blood, flesh and hair." No explanation of the cause has ever been made unless the following purporting to be a communication from the spirit world be accepted as such. The story is certainly a piece of ingenious and plausible "moonshine."

The moon though it appears to man black and desert as a recent volcanic flow of lava, and is subject to great vicissitudes of climate, is inhabited by beings adapted to the soil and climate. Being destitute of the dense atmosphere that shrouds the earth, they are light and beautiful in form, and breathe the cold pure ether; consequently, their nervous organization is more acute and they possess a higher order of intelligence than the inhabitants of the earth. Their clothing consists of a soft downy hair, and their subsistence is of a light aerial character, such as is produced by our satelite. Having no immediate atmosphere to obstruct the vision our earth appears much nearer to them than the moon appears to us, and to a spectator in that arid orb, the earth resembles a mist covered island in the blue empyrean.

"The philosophers of the moon have long been anxious to visit our earth, and various voyages have been undertaken but as yet without any result, and only attended with disastrous consequences, being light in their organization, they have only to overcome the slight gravitation which attaches to the moon, and they can soar unobstructed through ether and find no obstruction until they encounter the earth's atmosphere, which inevitably proves fatal. By its pressure and the force of gravitation they are invariably torn to pieces and their remains showered and scattered over the earth's surface. The phenomenon near Los Angelos, was caused by this destruction of three savans of the moon who had made one of these voyages of discovery.—It is but a repetition of what has frequently happened upon the earth's surface—indeed much more frequent than man imagines, and as long as curiosity and a thirst for scientific discovery exists in our satelite, it will be repeated. To the moon's inhabitants the earth is a bourne whence no traveler returns, and until they invent some means to overcome earth's atmospheric pressure, they will never succeed in comparing notes with our philosophers.

Curiosity as a Mollifer.

A correspondent relates the following as his own personal experience:

I left New York for Albany in no very pleasant mood. Getting up for an early train is neither customary or agreeable with me; the coffee was muddy and the toast abominable. I got into a muss with a hackman about my fare to the depot, my finger was jammed in the car door, and a fat man stepped on my toe as I moved to my seat. My face I knew looked forbidding, and though the car was full, the seat beside me was not taken. We had gone past one or two stations, when a tall, broad-shouldered, farmer-looking fellow got into the car, and without a "By your leave," or "Is this seat engaged," down he sat by me. I gave him a severe look that ought to have annihilated him, but it didn't. Then I looked out of the window, and the car moved on. By-and-by my attention was attracted by a gentle touch.

"Pleasant day."

I gave him to understand in a curt way, that I didn't care if it was. After a while he reached his long neck out by me and said:

"Looks as if we should have some rain soon."

I let the remark pass without reply, determined he should not draw me out. After some miles he again spoke:

"Killed a hog last night."

"Well, what's that to me!" I said sharply.

"Guess how much it weighed."

"Well, say a hundred pounds." The challenge to guess had a trifle of interest in it, but in a moment, ashamed of having shown any at all, thrust my head out of the window, awaiting my sturdy associate's further advances. He made none; and after riding some ten or fifteen minutes, I looked round. He was staring out of the window, apparently lost in reflection.

"How much did your cussed hog weigh, anyhow?" I asked, as surly as I could.

"His face didn't change a muscle, though I thought his eye looked a trifle mischievous, as he replied:

"Don't know; we didn't weigh him."

"Fortunately for my peace of mind, he got out at Rhinecliffe station. I could not have endured him another mile."

—Sim,' the Chief of the Washoe Indians, is dead. A newspaper published among the Rocky Mountains says of him obituarily, "He was a good, though dirty red man. He possessed a well balanced head of hair, and stomach enough for all he could get to eat. His regard for truth was notable—he never meddled with it. He left no will, and his estate consisted of a pair of boots."

A Human Fiend.

AN INFANT BURNED TO DEATH BY ITS NURSE.

From the Lynchburg (Va.) News.

A lady from Bedford county gives us the subjoined particulars of one of the most atrocious and horrible crimes we have ever been called upon to record. It appears that Mr. Henry Creasey, living in the meadows of Goose Creek, in Bedford county, some short time since had the misfortune to lose his wife, who died, leaving an infant child. The infant was placed under the care of Mr. John Morgan, its grandfather, and was nursed by a colored girl aged about fifteen years. Two or three days since Mrs. Morgan had occasion to scold this girl for some delinquency, at which she showed marked signs of anger and resentment. The next day Mrs. Morgan visited the neighbor's house, a short distance off, leaving the child with the nurse. During her absence the fiendish and brutal nurse, to gratify her anger against Mrs Morgan, deliberately threw the child into the fire, and let it remain there until both of its legs were burned off above the ankle, causing its death. When Mrs. Morgan returned in a few hours, she was horrified to see the innocent little babe burned almost to a crisp, its distorted features indicating the terrible agonies it had endured. The nurse, who still remained at the house, was at once taxed with the deed, but denied it bitterly, stating that the child's legs had been eaten off by a dog, while she left it only for a few moments. This was wholly disproved by the plain marks of the fire, and the brute being threatened with severe punishment, finally confessed that she committed the horrible deed in the manner above stated, and assigned as her reason for it, her dissatisfaction with Mrs. Morgan. She was then conveyed to Liberty and committed to jail for trial.

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, NOV. 18.

NEWFOUNDLAND.—News received at Ottawa from Newfoundland confirm the report that the elections have gone against the Unionists. Mr. Shea being defeated by over 1,000 majority.

BETTER.—We understand that John Bennett, who was severely beaten on Saturday last, is somewhat better this morning. The attendant physician, Dr. Knight, thinks he will be able to appear at the Police Court in about two weeks to give his evidence.

NO NEWS FROM GOV. MCDOUGALL.—A telegram from Ottawa of Nov. 17th, says: The Government has not received anything official from the Hon. Mr. McDougall relative to the reported opposition to his entry into the North-west territory. No application has as yet been made for an armed force to escort him.

THE ASSAULT CASE.—John Quinn, one of the parties supposed to be implicated in the late murderous assault on John Bennett, was arrested yesterday and brought before the Police Magistrate for examination. It appearing from the injured man's statement as made to the Police Magistrate, that Quinn was not amongst the crowd, at least before he became unconscious, the Magistrate remanded Quinn on his own recognizance, to appear on Tuesday next.

FATHER HYACINTHE.—This Carmelite Priest having been invited to visit Montreal to explain the causes of his rupture with the Carmelites, has answered as follows :—" My sentiments agree with yours on ultramontanism, which I regard as the most dangerous enemy of the Church at the present moment, and if I do not accept your pressing invitation to denounce it in Canada, it is because the time for it is not come. What God requires of me just now is silence, prayer and expectation."

Marine Disasters.

As was feared there have been a good many disasters by the late severe gale. The following was telegraphed last night :

PORT HYRONE, Nov. 17.—The schooner Lizzie White, of Port Burwell, in trying to get out of the harbor here yesterday after noon, got ashore and is now full of water, lying on the west side of the pier. She had on board about 6,500 bushels of wheat for Buffalo.

PICTON, Nov. 17.—The schooner Montezuma went ashore last night on the west side of Point Peter, near the light house. She is from Toledo bound to Ogdensburg, loaded with 176,000 feet black walnut lumber. Unless the sea goes down soon she will go to pieces. She is pounding hard now. She is insured in the "Albany City Company" for $10,000. All hands were saved.

—Commissioner Delano received the other day a letter from Cincinnati, inclosing a large amount of revenue stamps, which read as follows:—"Dear Sir,—Inclosed please find three hundred and sixty dollars worth of stamps which I stole. I've reformed."

The Denial.

There are some lawyers who succeed admirably in deceiving themselves and clients by raising quibbles, basing their opinion, if they ever had any, upon them; but when they come to be sifted by a clear headed judge, the chaff is easily discovered and the quibbler exposed; so precisely is it in the case of our cotemporary. He first denied that the Books of the Common School Board contained a copy of the estimates, to which we answered by copying from the books a part of an estimate, in which a sum of $1,570 was included for "purchasing school premises." Now it is well known there was no other school premises purchased but the Blacklock lot, and consequently no other lot could have been meant. The Chronicle retorts by saying the words, "for a Central School, contracted for and agreed to be paid," were omitted in such estimate, but were in the estimates presented to the Town Council and produced in Court; and, therefore, the estimates were not recorded. Any one reading this defence will see the quibble. The estimate as quoted by us, show conclusively that the law in dispute was the property referred to in the estimate, and that the defence set up was precisely what the Judge designated it to be, the most technical that could be made. The Chronicle carefully avoids any reference to the two documents quoted by us, in which it was shown they were under seal. The reason is obvious. This same paper, with characteristic fairness, puts our former questions and explanations in juxtaposition, but purposely avoids giving the grounds upon which these questions were put, and the reasons assigned for the explanations. Very like the defence set up by the Board, and in perfect keeping with the whole transaction. We wish them joy of it.

Armorial Bearings.

An extra official Gazette was published in Ottawa on the 17th, containing a despatch from the Duke of Buckingham and Chandos, under date 14th October, 1868, forwarding a certified copy of Her Majesty's warrant of assignment of armorial bearings for the Dominion and Provinces of Canada, which have been duly enrolled in Her Majesty's College of Arms; also a description of armorial designs, as follows:—For the Province of Ontario—a sprig of three leaves of maple, slipped or on a chief; argent, the Cross of St. George. For the Province of Quebec—Orgon a fess, gules between two fleur de lis, in chief arms, and a sprig of three leaves of maple slipped vert in baz a lion passant guardant or. For Nova Scotia—Or on a fess, wavy azure between three thistles; proper, a salmon naiant argent. For New Brunswick—Or on waves, a typhad or ancient galley with oars in action proper on a chief, gules a lion passant guardant or.

As the same are severally depicted in the margin hereof to be borne for the said respective Provinces on seals, shields, banners, flags, or otherwise, according to the laws of arms. It is further declared that the united Provinces of Canada, being one Dominion under the name of "Canada" shall, upon all occasions use a common seal to be called the great seal of Canada, such seal to be composed of the arms of said four Provinces quartered. The five seals for the Dominion and Provinces of Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, were despatched on the 8th of May.

Another despatch commands the return of the old seals for the several Provinces, that they may be defaced.

An order in Council was passed on the 16th November, authorizing the use of the great seal for all things which shall require the great seal of the Dominion.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 17.

A number of petitions were presented.

BILLS.

Hon. Mr. Cameron introduced a Bill to incorporate the "Toronto House Building Society."

Mr. Fitzsimmons introduced a Bill to amend the Act respecting Municipal Institutions of Ontario, and explained that its intention was to confine the period to which councillors for cities and towns are elected to office to one year.

RULES.

Hon. Atty. Gen. Macdonald moved to have the Rule requiring eight day's notice of Private Bills amended, and four substituted, which was carried.

Red River Troubles.

The Montreal Daily News says:—We had private information last August, the purport of which we made known, that if Mr. McDougall appeared at Red River in his official capacity, serious trouble would supervene. He had rightly or wrongly made himself obnoxious to the Indians.—They regarded him as despoiling them of their lands. They say that Sir Francis Head, in the name of Her Majesty, gave them the Manitoulin Islands, as their exclusive and unchangeable property while grass grew or water run. That Mr. McDougall, in utter scorn of that gift, ordered the White Commissioner of Crown Lands to survey some portions of Manitoulin.—While they aggravate the alleged outrage by imputing to him that he dispossessed them to enrich connections and relations. The News adds—We tell the Ottawa Government that it made one mistake when it named Mr. McDougall, Governor. Let it not perpetuate that blunder by retaining him at the North West. Recall him, and avoid, as a last and desperate alternative, sending troops thither. There are in this Province many gentlemen boasting Indian blood. They are the men the Government should consult until colonization has been organized.

For The Intelligencer.

MR. EDITOR.—On reading the evidence of R. B. Bennett, as appears in your issue of yesterday on the trial of McCormick, I notice that he said "No. 2 Company came to my house, and shouted 'whiskey or a row,' It was then about 2 o'clock." Why No. 2 Company's name was mentioned, or what it had to do with the beating of John Bennett, is more than I can tell.—As Captain of that Company I feel it my duty to state the facts in relation to the call at Bennett's house. As Captain I was requested by Mr. Smith, (whose property we had been playing on,) to go to Bennett's and get a barrel of beer for the men. We went down to Bennett's saloon, (it then being half-past one, not three o'clock as Mr. Bennett states,) Mr. Bennett was not there and we could not get in; there was no demand of "whiskey or a row;" I then took the Company up to charles Fapheaus and there found R. B. Bennett; I then spoke to him about the beer; he replied he had not the key; we then had a drink, and the Company dispersed quietly. There was no row of any kind that I heard.

Yours truly,

JAMES CUMMINS,
Capt. No. 2 Fire Company.

Belleville, Nov. 18, 1869.

To the Editor of The Daily Intelligencer.

Fifty-One Years Ago.

MR. EDITOR,—My remembrance of 51 years ago has brought me a letter from an old friend, James Bickford, Esq., of Oswego, and thinking it might be interesting to some of your readers, I give you the greater portion of it for publication. Mr. Bickford says, in reference to some of my letters, as follows:—

"I think as far as you go, you are quite correct in your history of Methodism, but I could go back to the time I first came into Belleville in 1818. The only place of worship was a small school house near the old M. E. Church." [The very old dilapidated school house I wrote about.] "In 1819, I think, Mr. Reynolds with the help of a few others built the first Methodist Church. The Church of England was built soon after. We had many glorious meetings in the old Chapel, and a quarterly meeting was in those days a great event, bringing out the old veterans of the cross for forty miles, and we never expected one to close until some souls were saved. I love to think of former days in Belleville, for it was there I found the Saviour of sinners, there I found kindred spirits who journeyed with me more than twenty years towards the Heavenly Jerusalem, and I have watched and prayed as one by one they have passed over the River, and oh, how soon will the last of that holy band gather at the River and pass over. I arrived in Belleville in August, 1818, put up at Mother Simpson's Hotel, when I found her two sons, John and George, who soon introduced me into 'society,' not exactly composed of that element I should now seek, but I will say I was always treated kindly by the people of Belleville, and by John and George in particular. At a camp meeting at Presque Isle, under the labors of Elder Ryan I was convinced of sin, and in the spring of 1823 was converted to God, and joined the M. E. Church, and tried to serve my blessed Master there until I left in 1839 and joined the M. E. Church here, and am still trying to hold on my way. I was called to date as a class-leader; my class was then composed as near as I can recollect of the following names: James Bickford, leader, Rev. John Reynolds, Mary Reynolds, Abel Gilbert, Dinehy Gilbert, James Ross, Mrs. Ross, Mrs. Meacham, John Cannif, Mrs. Cannif, Jonas Cannif, Mrs. Cannif, Phebe Zwick, C. J. Mitz, Mrs. Mitz, Mary Ann Mitz, Eliza Bickford, Abigail Gilbert; 18 in all. After the great revival about 1827, the Society was composed of about 150 names (including probationers)." [I would mention that a large number of those belonged outside of Belleville, but were enrolled on Belleville books belonging to the Circuit.] "After your arrival in town we added yours, Mrs. Flint, Mrs. Holden and sister," [this was in 1829] "Walter Ross, Mrs. Ross, and many other persons—names that will live in memory as long as life lasts." [From the way Mr. Bickford connects the names of Walter Ross and Mrs. Ross, it might lead to the conclusion that they came to Belleville at or just after I came in 1818, but this is not the case, as I found them in Belleville and members of the Churchon my arrival, and they must have been here before 1827.] Mr. Bickford goes on to state that he "was privileged to help organize the first Sabbath School in Belleville, and was glad to know that the little seed then sown has grown to be a large tree, with broad branches spreading all over your Town and County. I am ready to exclaim with Wesley, 'What hath God wrought?' I helped to organize the first Temperance Society (this was in 1829) in Belleville, and also raised the first building there without whiskey, thanks be to God. May I strike hands with my dear Belleville friends on the other side of Jordan. I have long wished to live to see the day when the Methodist Churches in Canada may be one. Can it not be done?"

In answer to the last sentence I would say I believe the people are willing. What do the Ministers of the various branches of Methodism say? Shall it be done?

Mr. Bickford has lately met with the loss of his youngest daughter, but neither he nor those of his kind family, though so sorely afflicted, mourn without hope. Her end was peace.

Yours, &c. &c.,
BILLA FLINT.

Fatal Railway Collision Near Collinsby.

TWO MEN KILLED.

From the Kingston News.

Early this (Wednesday) morning the mixed train going east on the Grand T. Railway was from some accident or other brought to a stand-still on the track, about a half a mile above Collinsby, a station distant some six miles from Kingston. There was no signal sent back to warn approaching trains till to late; and the signal was not seen till the night express going east was just upon it. The passengers on board the mixed train heard or saw the approach of danger by the arrival of the express, and jumped off in time to save themselves. There was a terrible collision, the engine and tender of the express "telescoping" the rear car of the standing train. The cars were driven over each other, torn from their trucks, and smashed, an occurence likened by railway men to the closing of the joints of a telescope. The engine driver of the express train, named Scott, was instantly killed, and the stoker named James Andrews had both of his feet taken off and some of his bones broken. The stoker was immediately removed to the Kingston Hospital, but he died five minutes after reaching it. His body has been sent to the railway station at the request of Dr. Barker, the corner, so that one inquest may be held on both.

What is most extraordinary is the escape from injury of the passengers on board the express train. Of the hundred and twenty passengers not one suffered any serious injury, or any other effect than a severe shaking, and the natural alarm felt at their critical position. The express had only just began to slacken speed, and put on the brakes as the accident happened; but the full momentum of the train was spent upon the standing cars, which, being empty, saved most fortunately an appalling loss of life. The passengers were afterwards brought to Kingston station, and most of them passed on subsequently to their destination.

The engine of the mixed train had some of its machinery started by the force of the collision, and it ran without any body on it nearly to Kingston station before it stopped through lack of steam. So another accident was near happening, for if the engine had been under high steam a collision would most likely have happened at Kingston station or perhaps elsewhere.

An inquest was held at the Kingston Depot this afternoon on the bodies of the engine driver and stoker by Dr. Barker, who had been notified of the fatality.

Some six witnesses were examined, viz., Mr. Neilson, the station master at the Kingston station; Mr. Wm. Crowther, Mr. Dewey, a passenger; Mr. John Waddington, a passenger, who was also a jurryman. The evidence went to show that about six o'clock this morning the mixed train going east was stopped near Collinsby owing to the breakage of a coupling link. Mr. Frederick White, the conductor in charge of the train, was very anxious to get it started again, and did all he could to remedy the defect as speedily as possible, but he neglected to observe the by-law of the company, which requires in such cases men to be sent out with signals a distance of eight hundred yards, both in front and behind a train at a standstill on the track. It was also proved that he was conscious that the express was past due, and therefore to be expected every minute. He himself, expected to get his train started sooner than he did. After an hour had elapsed (one of the witnesses said after twenty minutes) he sent a man back with a signal.—This man had gone a distance of one hundred yards in rear of the train when the express came upon him, and first saw the danger to which it was exposed. It had only this short distance in which to slacken speed. Then followed the collision as already detailed, the time of the occurrence being about seven o'clock.

Frederick White, the conductor, made his statement before the jury after being cautioned by the coroner. Mr Joseph Reid baggage master also testified before the jury.

The following verdict arrived at unanimously was rendered:

"That the deceased, James Scott came to his death on the morning of the 17th, he being driver of express train No. 3, coming to Kingston, through running into a mixed train, stopped on the way at Collinsby, and that his death was caused by the culpable negligence of Frederick White, conductor of mixed train so stopped, in not signaling train No. 3 in sufficient time."

On this the coroner committed the conductor, F. White, for trial on a charge of manslaughter. It is stated that he will be liberated on bail by the County Judge.

The unfortunate deceased both leave families. Mr. Scott lived in Kingston.—Andrews, the fireman, had his home in Toronto.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

BOILS.

Like the volcano, Boils give issue to the foul and fiery contents of the deep interior. To remove the cause of such suffering it is only necessary to vitalize the Blood by supplying it with its Life Element, IRON.

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP,
(a protected solution of the Protoxide of Iron) will do this effectively, and give strength, vigor and new life to the whole system.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM REV. RICHARD S. EDES, OF HOLTON, MASS.

"For years I was a sufferer from Boils, so that my life became wearisome through their frequent and persistent recurrence; finally a carbuncle formed in the small of my back. During its progress large pieces of decomposed flesh were every day, or two or three, and the prostration and general disturbance of the system were great. Before I had recovered from this attack two smaller carbuncles broke out higher up, and I was again threatened with a recurrence of the sufferings to which I had so long been subjected. It was at this time that I commenced taking the PERUVIAN SYRUP. I continued taking it until I had used five bottles; since then I have had nothing of the kind. For years I was one of the greatest sufferers. Other medicines gave me partial and temporary relief, but this remarkable remedy, with a kind of intuitive sense, went directly to the root of the evil, and did its work with a thoroughness worthy of its established character."

A 32 page Pamphlet sent free. The genuine has "PERUVIAN SYRUP" blown in the glass.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.
THE REMEDY FOR CURING

Consumption, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat Bronchitis, Pains and Oppressions of the Chest or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

IT is action is expectorant, alterative, sedative, diaphoretic, and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS and PURIFIES the BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction, even in the most confirmed cases of consumption, and not to produce costiveness (as do most remedies) or effect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no necessity for so many deaths by consumption, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

NEW

APPLIED IN THE CURE OF
Chronic and Wasting Diseases.
DR. RADWAY'S
SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine (free from all nauseating or disagreeable) of modern days, Dr. Radway's is prepared on a new principle of Chemical Chemistry, from the active curative principles and vegetable properties of the most choice products of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other ROOTS and gentle barks that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Nerve, Bone, and Skin-making medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care as to the precise season in the year, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co., so that no spurious admixtures or worthless rots can possibly be mixed with the parts.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this branch alone for the wonderful improvements he has made in the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the pays for the outlay over and over again; for never in the history of medicine was such a medicine as so completely subdues, conquers, and makes sound strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful withal, the weak and broken down constitution.

Dr. RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

It supplies the blood with nourishment.
IT CONTAINS THE TISSUE-MAKING AND FLESH-MAKING QUALITIES.
It supplies the system with calorific or heat-making properties.
It cures all Eruptive and Ulcerated diseases of the Eyes, Ears, Mouth, Throat and Skin and body.
It increases the weight and appetite.
IT STOPS ALL WASTING BY BLOOD DISCHARGES.
It cleanses the repairs and diminishes the waste.
It reconstitutes the products of decay.
It resolves Tumors, Nodes, Hard Lumps.
It makes the skin clear and healthful.
It heals Fever Sores and Ulcers.
It cures Gout and Rheumatic Fever.
It makes the water clear and pass freely.
It cures Barrenness, and invigorates the virgor of manhood those veins from weakness or disease, are deficient or exhausted.
It rescues woman from the perils incident to change of life—at such times it is priceless.

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if their systems are still in a condition to respond to medicine, and their LUNGS, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wasted beyond the process of repair, but that RADWAY'S sustaining the reparative process of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can in either catarrhal ill health, or the worst decomposition stopped, and the elements of decay that now are being daily and hourly dragged from the system, in each case, where the LUNGS, KIDNEYS, and other organs are not entirely wasted, and their functions destroyed and secretions altered beyond the forms interrupted of medicine, may, and will by the reparative power of RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT, continue to live perhaps for years! no matter how low the vital forces may be, if the system can be brought under the influence of this wonderful remedy, and the BLOOD WILL receive more than double the strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to take in health(ful) solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poisons of Venereal, are developed through the process of deposits from the blood either in the Lungs, skin, Kidneys: Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and cured by the use of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Scrofula, Venereal Wounds, or Urinary Difficulties, will experience a marked change in his health after having used or taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more purified by the use of this wonderful blood purifier, and is enabled to hold in solution its nutritive constituents, the deposits of Tubercles, Ulcers, and other elements of disease, internal and external, will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Liver, and other Organs; and each of these Organs will derive their proper constituent secretions. Instead of Tubercles, Pus, Purulent matter, and other fluids to be absorbed in the circulation, these secretions will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If medicine fails in its influence on the system, to correct these secretions, one or the other each organ or secreting gland in discharging its proper functions, health can never be restored. Happily for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures the important end that has heretofore existed in all these remedies sought and advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones of bone disease and corruption may be, the influence of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent is such that it will reach the living body with repairs, and so change the system with such evidences of its renovating power, that minute the dead and decomposing matter, and supply its place with sound and healthy tissue, as established by rich, pure, and strong blood. By the chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during the process of digestion and Chyme and Chyle, before it is made blood, as well as the nourishing constituents it conveys into the blood, and its specific action when entering in the circulation, it exterminates every atom of poison in the blood, and removes, in a way all deposits of disease, whether caused by the scrofulous or venereal poisons, or from the effects of Mercury, Corrosive Sublimate, i. e., the Corrosive Poisons of Mercury, Arsenic, Nitrate, and other poisons that may have accumulated in the bones, tissues, cartilages, or blood, from mercurial poisoning or family complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, uncured and badly treated Venereal is the many forms of Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Barber's Itch, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all wasting and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Life Principle, are within the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of Disease, the potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Strictures, and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Dropsy, Diabetes, and all who are incommoded by Stoppage of Water, or False and Discharges, are quickly relieved and effectually cured through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Denault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for seven years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his side that resisted all kinds of medicine and which is the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Feb. he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, along with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and used, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, mixed with warm water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctored for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB."

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont.

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., had used his knowledge of your medicines. His son, aged 13 years, was covered With one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all. I saw him in September last, and he was then quite free from any diseased aspect I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent and Ready Relief and Pills. One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was entirely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Boils, Tetter, Salt Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Threatened Consumption, Night Sweats Bleeding from the Lungs cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WINDSOR STATION, Ontario, Canada West, March 11, 1869.

DR. RADWAY—DEAR SIR:—I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was cured, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use the bottle and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatened Consumption have disappeared, and I feel myself fully restored. JONATHAN FREELAND.

N.B.—This gentleman was well known to have been under the treatment of the best physicians in Sarnia—he received no benefit from any medicine until he commenced using the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. GEO. MORTIMER,

The Professional Toper.

HOW HE GETS HIS MORNING DRINK.

There are professional topers, and topers who are not professional. There is the toper who gets his drink and pays for it, and the toper who gets his drink and don't pay for it. These latter are the professionals, and only differ in the different ways in which they inveigle the bar keeper. Some are mean men, whose dispositions never suggest to their stomachs the facts that the barkeeper would much rather give them a drink than have them order it; and then, after fumbling around in a long empty vest pocket, make the discovery that they have changed their clothes, and left their money in the other ones; or that they have forgotten they were 'just out of pocket change," or some other frivolous excuse that bears the lie upon its face. But there are jolly-going good-natured topers, who has seen better days, and who, with all his faults, we can not help but admire, and whose wrangling humor and odd old jokes we cannot help but admire. Sometimes however, he falls, Tray-like, into the bad company of some unprincipled loafer, who uses him as a stepping-stone to the good graces of the man who sets out the bottles. Arm in arm they go in together just as the bar-man has opened his doors for the accommodation of the early customers.

'Come, barkeeper, give us a drink, won't you I' said the good-natured fellow.

'Not without the money, this morning, Colonel,' says the barkeeper; 'I'm 'broke' here for another man, and always like to do right by him.'

'Oh, I know Captain Pierson; just tell him that you gave me and my friend a drink, and it'll be all right. If he was here he'd give me one in a minute.

'I dont dozbt that; but he has told me never to let anybody have drinks without the money, and I must obey orders.'

'Oh, come, never mind 'orders' this time; I'm dry, and haven't had a drink since three o'clock this morning.'

'Can't do it.'

'Here the chances for 'wetting his whistle' becoming very slim, the other fellow, who has so far been watching quietly the course of events, puts in:

'Give the Colonel a drink, barkeeper; I don't wish any myself.'

'Don't you f'

The barkeeper then stops and thinks, scratches his head, surveys the Colonel, and taking pity on his condition, sets out one glass and the bottle.

'Hello, Bill,' says the Colonel, 'ain't you going to drink with me f'

'No, I don't care about it this morning; you drink, yourself, and I'll watch you.'

'Well, I'll be hanged if I drink without you. Come barkeeper, set out another glass here.'

Having been pulled so far in the mud, the circumvented barkeeper succumbs and puts out another glass, when the parties drink, and the Colonel is quickly deserted by his friend, who has no further use for him.

This is the way the professional toper gets his morning drink.

—Horace Greely says that the darkest day in any man's earthly career is that wherein he fancies that there is some easier way of gaining a dollar than by squarely earning it.

MONTREAL, 1868.

Montreal Tea Company:

GENTLEMEN.—The Tea I purchased of you in March has given great satisfaction, and the flavor of it is very fine. It is very strange, but since I have been drinking your Tea I have been quite free from headaches, which would always come on after breakfast. I attribute this to the purity of your Tea, and shall continue a customer

Yours respectfully,
G. CHENEY,
Manager Canadian Express Company.

MONTREAL, April 1868.—To the Montreal Tea Company, 6 Hospital Street, Montreal: We notice with pleasure the large amount of tea forwarded for you to different parts of the Dominion, and we are glad to find your business so rapidly increasing. We presume your teas are giving general satisfaction, as out of the large amount forwarded we have only had occasion to return one box, which, we understand, was sent through a mistake.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deservingly the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its unfailing power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a specific for those affections. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is unquestionably the most effectual remedy that can be given for Incipient Consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of croup, it should be kept on hand in every house. Indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds, and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured by this powerful remedy. Even in such cases, Cherry Pectoral has no complaint in its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, but is the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could relieve the patient, the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known, that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully sustained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marshy, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it is harmless to any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Where Quinine is gradually losing its reputation, we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through the Ague districts, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all around the world.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, which had baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians, and resisted the power of all known remedies, have been completely and permanently cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were supposed to be the scrofula constitution until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that its virtues must be known or it is useless to attempt to enumerate them.

Scrofulous poisons lurk in the most destructive enemies to our race. Often, this unseen and untold tendency to organic disease undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of overwhelming fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of the danger. Again, it seems to breed in the blood throughout the body, and then, on some one part, where it can most rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, center on the organ of all others the vitals. In the latter, before its work of death is completed in the lungs or throat, or glands formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or by ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasion for a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is not always evident when no active symptoms of disease appear. Even then, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels the latent humor, and thereby prevents future suffering. Go to your druggist and get a bottle of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. It Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Salt Rheum or Tetter, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and the various eruptions of the skin, are Scrofulous diseases. Also in the more concealed forms of Scrofula, as Dropsy, Tumor, Disease, Pain, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the numerous Ulcerous affections of the mucous or internal tissues.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for purifying the abused blood, and building up the system. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Ulcerous Affections, and Female Diseases, are commonly cured by it. Rheumatism is expelled from the system by purifying and invigorating action. Minute Directions for each case are contained in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism is caused by the blood containing the accumulations of extraneous matter. Ayer's Sarsaparilla will Purify, Cleanse, and Invigorate the blood, and thereby cure Rheumatism. Constipation, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and the various Bilious Complaints they produce. Also in the more concealed forms of Scrofula, as Dropsy, Tumor, Disease, Pain, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the numerous Ulcerous affections of the mucous or internal tissues.

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA FRIDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 19, 1869. No. 171.

Poisoned Liquors.

(From the Montreal Gazette.)

In the columns of a contemporary a correspondent of the paper called public attention to a class of criminals who carry on their nefarious calling in every street and alley in the city, and in every village and township in the Dominion. We allude to the licensed and unlicensed adulterators of spirituous liquors, beer and wine, that is to say, to those who daily administer poison to the people, their fellow-citizens.

The subject, for what reason we cannot tell, has hitherto attracted but little attention. We enact laws, and enforce them too, against bakers who venture to sell bread short of the legal weight; we watch the measurement of fuel, we fine those whose scales or weights are unstamped by the proper authorities, or which may be false, yet we suffer to go unwhipt of justice scoundrels who habitually mix deadly poison with the daily beverages of the people.

In case we should be accused of using language stronger than the subject warrants, we quote a striking passage from the pamphlet published the other day in London by Mr. Greenwood, the famous "Amateur Casual." Anything connected with crime, or suffering, or fraud, or poverty in the British Metropolis, which falls from his pen, is of high authority, and what he says of the effects of the adulteration of the liquors in daily use in England, may be assumed as true in Montreal. In the publication to which we allude, called the Seven Curses of London, under the heading Drunkenness, he says: "Alcohol "has enough to answer for, but there can "be no doubt that for one victim to its "intoxicating qualities two might be "reckoned who have come to their death "bed through the various deadly poisons it "is the publican's custom to mix with his "diluted liquors to give them a fictitious "strength and fire." So if this be true, and from various other sources we have every reason to believe that there is no exaggeration in the statement, can any language of ours be strong enough to denounce the heartless wretches who, from miserable greed, thus poison the unsuspecting victim who either uses or abuses alcoholic drinks?

We do not pretend to say anything new on this subject. But we are sure that a heavy responsibility rests upon the legislature in this very matter, and that it is high time the strong arm of the law was brought to bear on this most atrocious crime. We, therefore, in that behalf, join in arousing public opinion that the desired legislation may be obtained.

Only look at a list of some of the known poisons which are daily dispensed in our taverns—opium, cocculus indicus, nux vomica, that is, strychnine, yew tops, vitrol, henbane, green copperas, tox glove. All these are deadly poisons, producing intoxication, nausea, languor, nervous excitement, death; many other substances are used for the purpose of improving colour, flavour, head, and so forth, while all tend to create thirst.

Of course we know that amongst our respectable Innkeepers and Publicans, no such adulterations are practiced, but we also know that in many of the low groggeries which abound in our city, and throughout Canada, the want of skill to concoct the horrid brew is the only check to the use of some or all of the poisons we have named. But people who are in the habit of drinking spirits, wines, or malt liquors, have an undoubted right to be protected from the fraudulent dealer and poisoner. We have no idea of making drunkenness either pleasanter or easier. God knows the horrors this vice occasions, and surely we would do all in our power to destroy the curse, nevertheless, all who take a glass of beer are not drunkards, and yet all are liable in so doing to be injured by some deleterious drug. We fine and expose dishonest bakers and grocers. They cheat us, it is true, but they do not bring us to the grave, and yet we have no means of protecting ourselves against these wholesale poisoners. Society has a right to demand that this traffic should be regulated by law on behalf of the consumer. The Legislature derives a large portion of the revenue of the country from the importation and manufacture of all kinds of liquors, the municipalities have their share of income from the licenses which they sell without much reference to the character of the license; is it then too much to ask that in so far as the law can, the consumers should be protected in their lives? One class of fellow citizens, whose opinions and whose efforts in the cause of temperance are worthy of all respect, will tell us that the remedy is in one's own hands, that one need not drink beer and so escape Cocculus indicus; but nine-tenths of the world around us do drink, and will drink beer; must they on that account be compelled to swallow poison fraudulently administered? But more than this, the poor drunkard is as much entitled to protection as the more sober. Great as the evils of drunkenness may be, miserable and degraded as an inebriate may be, still his crime is not a capital one, and even if it were, a sure poverty would be hardly justified in having him put to death by any scoundrel who can pay to the Corporation a sum of Fifty Dollars for a license to sell grog mixed with strychine.

Again, and here we address ourselves to our temperance friends. These adulterations, injurious as they are to health, are the most fruitful causes of drunkenness. The moderate consumers of beer, for instance, are the rule, the immoderate consumer is the exception; but as we have seen, one great object in the use of adulteration, is to cause thirst so as to tempt to a further demand for the drugged glass.—The sober man is thus often drawn into the vortex by a devlish skill, which he had no means of detecting, and no reason to suspect. It is in vain to say, abstain altogether. Men will not go without their wine or their beer; and so long as they demand this gratification it is the duty of the law-giver to declare, that he who sold poison, when licensed to sell wine, should be deemed guilty of felony, and punished as a felon.

It is not our purpose, nor is it at all necessary, for us to point out the means by which the crime may be detected, so far at least as licensed dealers are concerned. Every medical man of ordinary education can detect the presence of the poisons used for adulteration, and were every tavern keeper subject, like bakers, to a visit from a policeman, he would hardly dare to sell what might, after analysis, send him to punishment.

There is much to [illegible] on this subject; the public weal requires legislation to protect the health, morals as well as physical, of the people, and we earnestly hope that the abominable adulteration of the nation's habitual and daily beverages may be visited with serious punishment, because it is a deadly evil in our midst, which can and ought to be put down.

Effects of Candy on Children.

From the Note-Book of an Eminent Physician.

As the town enlarges and the confectionery shops increase, I see more and more the ill effects of candies on children.

'My child is so restless and thirsty at night,' said Mrs. B——. 'What can be the matter with her stomach?'

'Do you allow her to eat candy?' I questioned.

'O dear! yes,' was the reply, 'I wouldn't deprive her of the happiness of anticipating and receiving the package of candy which Grandpa brings every night for any thing. She is so fond of candy that she offers part of it to her dinner. But you wouldn't believe how much water she drinks at night. I always place a large pitcherful by my bed, and sometimes she will drink it all before morning. And then this thirst makes her so restless and wakeful that we are all disturbed by her. Can't you give her some medicine for her thirst?'

The subject of this appeal was a slender, waxen faced little girl, with thin, sharp features; a dusky yellow half circle under her eyes; hands so thin as to be translucent, the blue veins standing prominently out; the tongue of an angry red color, showing an inflamed stomach; bowels tumid—the group of symtoms indicating a sub-acute inflammation of the stomach, excited by indigestible substances (candies in her case), and followed necessarily by loss of appetite, thirst, and an impoverished condition of blood.

I have so frequently had to advise in this class of cases lately that I have learned that success is not to be obtained by a direct attack upon candy, but by a more general argument thus: "You know that the stomach of a child is very delicate, very sensitive—quite as much so as the eye; it will bear milk, so will the eye; but if you add to the milk pepper, the eye is inflamed, red, and so does the stomach. Cold water is grateful to the eye, to relieve this inflammation, and it is equally so to the stomach. Now, candy is but little less irritating than pepper; it creates the same redness, the same grade of inflammation, and there is the same demand for water to quench the inextinguishable flame. In such a stomach health digestion ceases; the appetite fails; the blood becomes poor and watery, and the tissues are all improvished. It is not the sugar that does the harm, for pure sugar is healthy; it forms part of the milk of the infant, and enters largely into many of our best vegetables. It is the sugar mixed with various other articles, often poisonous, and the process of manufacture, that render candy so injurious.

"You mean to do well by your child, but you are slowly and surely effecting her ruin. At this critical period of her life, when, for proper development and growth she needs a supply of nourishing easily-digested food, you give her these detestible compounds of burnt sugar and poisons, which not only slowly poison her system, but worst of all, deprive her of appetite and even of the power of digestion. If you persist in this course, it is not difficulty to predict the result; the chances that your child will reach womanhood will be diminished ten fold; if she reach adult years, it will rarely prove adult life in her case, but rather a dwarfed and imbecile maturity. Her certain inheritance will be dyspepsia, a morbid appetite for crude and indigestible articles, and chronic and incurable diseases which will render her irritable and peevish, and lead to premature old age and death in mid-life.

'The cure is certain, and the remedy is at hand; remove the particle of dust from an inflamed eye and the redness soon disappears; so cease to apply to the surface of this inflamed stomach the foreign substance which irritates it and it will recover; the thirst will subside; her appetite will be restored; her lips and cheeks will become red, and she will regain the flesh which belongs to her.'—Hearth and Home.

THE TRUE CURE FOR CONSUMPTION FOUND AT LAST—LIVING OFF A SISTER'S DEAD BODY.

In the southern part of the town of New Malboro, near the Connecticut line, lives a family by the name of F——. It seems this family are predisposed to consumption. About the first of last January one of the family Emily, a girl 11 years old, died of this disease and was buried at Cornwall, Hollow, Conn. The mother and a brother Charles are now fast wasting away with the same disease. During the summer a man by the name of Case, who lives in a town to the east, was in this section hiring cattle pasture. He met this family of F——and told them some awful stories of how persons nearly dead with consumption had been cured by the digging up of some relative who had died with the same disease, taking out the liver, lung, heart &c., where fresh blood would be found, and burning them; after this the sick ones would improve until health was restored. The reason assigned was that there was a sort of vital current existing between the living and dead, that these organs in the dead body that contained fresh blood and appeared to be alive, would continue to live until the vitality of the living subject is exhausted, unless said organs were taken out and consumed by fire.

Eliza heard and believed these stories, and if they ever appeared absurd they soon became a matter of fact to her. Dr. S., of an adjoining town was importuned to do the dissecting—no rest could be obtained until the thing was accomplished. Strange the doctor consented. On the 10th of August the doctor and half a dozen friends dug up the body of Emily, cut out the liver and a portion of the lungs, took them some distance from the grave and burned them. The heart and a portion of the lungs supposed to be destroyed before her death—and fresh blood was found in the liver, enough to thoroughly besmear the doctor's hands. These are facts and they say Charlie's lungs was begun to improve.—Bennington Courier.

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, NOV. 19.

FROZEN OVER.—The bay about a mile east of Belleville, was frozen over last night. The wind this morning, however, soon broke the ice up.

HOME AGAIN.—We are glad to observe that W. H. Wallbridge, Esq., who has been in Europe during the last summer, has returned, looking much improved.

SLEIGHING.—Snow fell to the depth of six or eight inches in the back Townships, during the late rain storm here which made capital sleighing. A number of persons came in Town to-day on runners who report good sleighing within a few miles of Belleville.

THE LONDON QUARTERLY.—The October number contains the following interesting papers: Islam—Isaac Barron—Higher and Lower Animals—The Byron Mystery—The Water Supply of London—Lord Lytton's Horace—The Reconstruction of the Irish Church—Sacerdotal Celibacy—The Past and the Future of Conservative Policy. For terms, &c., of the British Quarterlies and of Blackwood's Magazine, see advertisement.

EDITORS.—The Napanee Standard in commenting upon newspaper organs, says:—"By holding with the government on all occasions, shown an editor to be of a sneaking, "cowardly, servile disposition, that he has "no opinion of his own, or that he waits an "offer for his services from government."—Not far wrong, friend Standard, but do not your remarks apply with equal force to those who can never see any good in a Government?

WESTMINSTER REVIEW.—The Leonard Scott Publishing Company, New York. $8 a year. Oct. 1869.—The contents of this number are: The Quakers—The Poems and Prose Remains of Arthur Hugh Clough—Water Supply of London—Sunday Liberty—The Afghan Tribes on our Trans-Indus Frontier—The National History of Morals—The Albert Life Insurance Company—Compulsory Education—Prostitution: its Sanitary Superintendence by the State.

THE DEAF AND DUMB ASYLUM.—The contractors have pushed ahead with this work more rapidly than many supposed. The main building is roofed in, and a portion of it slated, and if there are a few more fine days the rear buildings will also be enclosed this fall. Already a portion of the inside is in possession of the carpenters. The heating pipes are to be laid forthwith, and the whole inside of the building will be heated, so that work can be proceeded with during the winter.

"Some of our exchanges say the wife of a storekeeper in Belleville, mother of five children, has eloped with a solicitor. Who are they?"—Trenton 'Courier.'

The Belleville referred to must be one of the many Towns of that name in the United States, there being no such characters here, nor have there been.

The New Grammar School Bill.

The new School Bills introduced into the Ontario Legislature will, if they become law, effect some important changes in the working of the public schools, both Grammar and Common.

The proposed Grammar School Act enacts that after a certain date Grammar School Boards shall cease to exist, and provides that Grammar and Common Schools in cities, towns and villages, shall be under the management of "Boards of Public Trustees," which shall have all the powers now enjoyed by Grammar and Common School Boards. The members of these Boards are to be elected in the same manner as Common School Trustees at present. The elections to take place on the first Wednesday in July, instead of in January as now. In addition to the Trustees so elected, it is provided that the Municipal Council of any city, town or incorporated village where a High School exists, or may hereafter be established, shall have power to appoint four additional Trustees, and to determine their continuance in office. This duty is not made compulsory on the part of the Corporations, power is only given to them which they can exercise if they think proper; a discretion which should not exist. Councils should be compelled to make these appointments, and the law should provide for their retirement from office in the same manner as other Trustees, or one each year. The name "Grammar Schools" is abolished, and designates them "High Schools," in which the higher branches are to be taught, including Latin and Greek. All the powers given in the Grammar School Act are given to the High School Boards, and the Trustees are given all the additional powers of Common School Trustees.

The Grammar School Funds are to be applied exclusively in aid of High Schools conducted according to regulations provided by law; but no sum is to be given unless there has been at least an average attendance of twenty pupils; and not then, unless a sum equal to that apportioned by the Government be provided from local sources. No High School to receive less than $300 nor more than 1,000 per annum. Grammar Schools not in operation, are to be held to be High Schools, and the Lt.-Governor in Council may establish additional High Schools, provided the funds will admit. Pupils to be admitted after proper examination, and pupils from any part of the County to be admitted upon the same terms as those living in Town, provided the Council contribute pro rata towards the support of the School.—The Inspector of Grammar Schools is after the passing of this Act to be known as the Inspector of High Schools.

Power is given to County Councils to form the whole or parts of one or more Townships, towns and villages, within its jurisdiction, into a High School, appoint the times for holding the elections, etc., which Trustees are to have all the power of Boards of Public Trustees.

An important provision is made for the establishment of "Superior Classical Schools." The Governor in Council is authorized to bestow upon any High School in which there are not less than sixty male pupils, who study Latin or Greek, the name of "Collegiate Institute," and to appropriate a sum not exceeding seven hundred and fifty dollars out of the Superior Education Fund, in support of such "Collegiate Institute." If the average attendance falls below sixty, and there be less than four teachers in such High School, then the grant is to cease, and if this continues for four years, then the name becomes forfeited.

On the whole the proposed Grammar School Act is a decided improvement, and with one or two amendments, we hope it may become law. As it will accomplish in a great measure what all real friends of education desire, a centralization and classification of pupils so necessary to success in all public Schools.

Muddled.

The man who now does the Chronicle, has been muddling his brain in the old fyles of that paper, to prove that he never supported Hincks, and arrives at the satisfactory conclusion that he can find extracts to sustain his position. That was not necessary, we would have acknowledged that without giving him the trouble, as readily as we would the other position. For we assure the new man that there are very few questions upon which that journal has not been upon both sides. After that satisfactory labor had been performed, he takes a more congenial topic and attempts to convict the editor of the INTELLIGENCER of something he knows not what, by exclaiming "what an amount of virtuous "indignation, for which we gave the editor "every credit at the time, believing him to be "honest, was expended on the Militia question, and more especially in the case of the "suspension of Major Shaw, who was most "arbitrarily suspended, and how quietly he "dropped his motion for a return of the cor-"respondence in the case, because Sir John A. "had no wish to have it published." Here is a muddle for you. The editor and the members for North Hastings are nicely jumbled together, without regard to truth or anything else, save a hit, like the Irishman who went into a fight and was instructed to hit a head wherever it could be seen, so with this ingenious man who throws the goose quill in the Chronicle. When he will inform us what he means about a motion, we shall be ready to explain. In the meantime, we know of no "motion dropped by the editor" of the INTELLIGENCER to please any one, simply because he never made any such motion as that to which reference is made. Will the Chronicle give the motion or retract?

The Chronicle next asks, "why was Col. "McDougall removed, and another put in "his place? and why was a berth made for "Col. Shaw in order to remove him and place "Major Phillips in his office as Brigade "Major?" And then follow: "And the editor still supports Sir John!" Wonderful logic, truly. What does he mean? Does he wish his readers to understand that the editor of the INTELLIGENCER was the cause of having Col. McDougall removed; and Col. Shaw reinstated after suspension; and then of having his services acknowledged by being promoted to a better berth? If so, he gives us credit for greater power in the state than we should ever have thought of claiming. If all this has been done to please the editor why should he not support Sir John A.? What more could he ask than to have the lightest officials in the land removed at his will, and others promoted at his beck and nod? Tough such are the logical deductions of the chronicle's article, we are convinced the compliment was never intended, but the old lyes so muddle his brain, that he must say something, and that something was intended to be severe. There are numerous other pints of a like character in the article befor us, but we should be wasting both time and space to notice them.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THURSDAY, Nov. 8.

A large number of petitions were presented.

The report of the select Committee upon wooden Railways was adopted.

Mr. Trow asked for leave to introduce a bill to amend the game laws. He explained that the object of the bill was to extend the time to the 1st of January, which date he had fixed in accordance with the wishes and opinions of leading sportsmen.

The bill was read a first time, and the second reading fixed for this day week.

Mr. Christie moved, seconded by Mr. Carneige, for a select committee consisting of the Hon. M. C. Cameron, the Hon. J. McMurrich, and Messrs. Coyne, Hays, Craig (Russel), Lauder, Beatty, McGill, Scott (Ottawa), Carnegie, Rykert, Graham (Hastings), and the mover, to inquire into and report upon the endowment and utility of Upper Canada College and its relation to our educational system, and also that the petitions presented upon the subject last session and the evidence laid before the committee of last session should be referred to that committee.

A lengthy discussion took place, a number of members contending that the old Committee of last year should have been reappointed. Mr. Ferguson's motion to have the following committee appointed, was carried.

Messrs. Cameron, McMurrich, and Messrs. Blake, Boyd, Carnegie, Christie, Coyne, Craz, (Russell), Crosby, Cumberland, Ferguso, Ferrier, Greely, Lauder, Macdougall, McGi, Monteith, Pardee, Rykert, Scott (Ottawa), Sinclair, Tett, Williams (Durham).

The House adjourned at 5:30 p.m.

Marine Disasters.

The following additional disasters are reported:

PICTON, Nov. 18.—The schooner 'Thurston,' from Port Dalhousie to Oswego with 4,000 bushels of wheat, went ashore last night on Nicholson's Island. She is in bad shape, leaking and pounding hard.

The Monteagle, reported ashore yesterday at West Point, is breaking up and the lumber is coming ashore. Every exertion is being made to save it.

The schooner Prince Edward was froze in while sailing down Long Beach the night before last and had to remain till the steamer Rochester, which was on her way to Kingston, broke up the ice.

AMHERSTBURG, Nov. 18.—The schooner Eagle Wing, was wrecked last night on Lake Erie near Oxford. All hands were saved except the steward, who it is supposed fell from the rigging. Other vessels were lost but we have no particulars.

To the Editor of the Daily Intelligencer.

SIR,—In reference to Capt. James Cummins' letter in your last issue, respecting my evidence given at the Police Court on Wednesday last, about a portion of the whole of No. 2 Fire Company "hallooing" at my place, "Whiskey or a row," the statement made by me can be substantiated by two respectable residents of this town, who were in my house at the time. By inserting the above you will much oblige,

Yours respectfully,

R. B. BENNETT.

Operation on the Eye.

MR. EDITOR,—I desire to publicly express my gratitude to the medical profession by stating the following: About three years ago, my little girl now aged eight years was discovered to be blind in the right eye. A white spot could be discovered deep in the eye. After a while the white spot seemed to advance and was streaked with small blood-vessels. The whole eye became somewhat inflamed and enlarged, with severe headache. At this stage I consulted Dr. G. W. Howell, of Tweed, who recommended the extirpation of the whole eye. At length the whole eye burst, and a most offensive growth gradually protruded down on the cheek. I again consulted Dr. Howell, who again repeated that the only remedy was taking out the whole eye, to which I reluctantly consented, and he, assisted by Higginbotham of Bridgewater, performed the operation, taking out the whole eye and the muscles attached. I feared the consequence, but I am happy to say the operation was exceedingly successful. My child that was three months ago rapidly wasting away, and would no doubt have been in her grave are this, is now healthy and rugged; and I feel that I am deeply indebted to the surgeons for thus saving my child from an early grave. For the interest of the public, and for the credit of the medical profession, I send the above for publication.

JOHN VELSNOTT.

News Condensed.

—Good sleighing in Montreal.

—Sleighing is good in Quebec.

—On the 17th Nov., snow was a foot deep in Quebec.

—The Street cars in Montreal have been placed upon runners.

—Sleighing is good in the back part of this County.

—The printers in the Ottawa "Citizen" Office are on a strike.

—Incendiary fires have been frequent in Cobourg recently.

—4,000 Volunteers for Cuba sailed from Madrid on the 17th inst.

—Rochefort is to commence a new journal in Paris to be called "La Marseillaise."

—Eighteen vessels were wrecked at the mouth of La Plata, South America, on the 17th inst.

—At a fire on Tee's bedstead factory, Montreal, on the 17th inst., thirty mechanics lost their tools.

—It is reported that George Peabody has left an estate of $16,000,000, which is distributed by will among twenty-nine persons.

—London has extended $25,000, St. Marys $10,000, and Stratford $11,000, towards the silver export project of Mr. Weir.

—Mr. Bedard, advocate, of Quebec, has been named European Emigration Agent for the Province of Quebec. He leaves by next steamer for Belgium.

—La Minerve, Cartier's organ inveighs against that false and wicked priest Father McMahon, in whose innocence it had previously believed, but from whose face the mask has now fallen.

—The early winter is frightening the farmers in many parts of Quebec Province, and there is consequently a great slaughter of young cattle, and a large supply of the thinnest and toughest of beef.

—Ice formed in the river at St. John, N. B., on the 16th inst. One steamer only left on the 17th. It is expected to be the last trip. It is blowing hard from the South-east with heavy squalls, hail and sleet.

—Orman Humphurp, a farmer in Fredericksburgh, was thrown from his wagon on the 17th Nov., and killed. He got into his wagon without taking hold of the lines, and before he could secure them the horses started.

—After six o'clock last evening, one of the largest meteors ever seen in Toronto, illuminated the eastern portion of the heavens. It seemed like a large globe of pale fire, its course being from South-west to east.

A young lawyer was examining a bankrupt as to how he had spent his money. There were about $2,000 unaccounted for, when the attorney put on a severe, scrutinizing face, and exclaimed, with much self-complacency: 'Now, Sir, I want you to tell this court and jury how you spent those $2,000.' The bankrupt put on a serio-comic face, winked at the audience, and exclaimed: 'The lawyers got that!' The judge and the audience were convulsed with laughter, and the counsellor was glad to let the bankrupt go.

GOUGH.—When Gough goes lecturing he takes a writing desk filled with paper and envelopes, and writes a letter to his wife every day, and she also sends one to him. He also has a private secretary or attendant with him, whose duties include, among other things, that of waking up the distinguished lecturer from his afternoon nap. The latter takes only one "square meal" per day—dinner; for breakfast and supper he has a light diet, say tea, with bread and butter. About three, p. m., he takes a nap, and sleeps till the "last minute." Were he not obliged to get up by some one determined to do it, he would sleep till nine o'clock. But one of the greatest of his peculiarities is the way he puts on different suits of clothes throughout, three or four times a day. It is one for the morning, another for dinner, a third for supper, a fourth for the lecture, and a fifth when he returned home. A cup of tea, and then he is ready to talk and joke till midnight.

Business Notices.

☞R. M. Clarke & Son received to-day another lot of Ladies and Misses French Calf Balmorals. 1t

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and squabble over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came; the room was crowded with anxious expectants; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—The very agreeable character of this preparation has rendered it a general favourite. The CIVIL SERVICE GAZETTE remarks:—"The singular success which Mr. Epps obtained by his homœopathic preparation of cocoa has never been surpassed by any experimentalist. By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills." Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold by the Trade only in ½lb., ¼lb., and 1lb tin lined packets, labeled—JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England. 94—6m T&S

THE LATEST.

FENIAN DEMONSTRATION.

DUBLIN, November 18.—A Fenian demonstration was made at Waterford, last night. There was a torch-light procession, in which nearly 8,000 men took part. The Bands played Fenian airs. The streets were crowded with spectators, and an extra police force was on hand, but did not interfere with the proceedings; and there was no disturbance.

PRESIDENT LOPEZ.

LONDON, November 18.—According to the latest accounts from Paraguay, President Lopez had transferred his head quarters and seat of Government to San Joaquim. It was reported that Lopez had killed his mother, one of his brothers, and other persons, in consequence of suspicion that they were engaged in a conspiracy against his life. The allies had as yet made no movement, and it was supposed that active operations would be still longer deferred.

SUEZ CANAL.

The Shipping Gazette discussing the practical operation of the Suez Canal, says: "Whether points of difficulty remain to be overcome here or there, before the canal be available for vessels of the largest tonnage is merely a question of detail to be settled by the constructors of the canal. As far as we are concerned, we can only point to the fact, that the French Engineers have redeemed their promise. The canal is open and is a magnificent success.

A ROWING MATCH.

The four-oared match between Tyne and the Thames Crews was rowed to-day on the River Tyne, over a course of 3¾ miles. The race was won by the Tyne crew; the winners of the last race on the Thames.

THE PORTE AND VICEROY OF EGYPT.

VIENNA, Nov. 18.—The Presse asserts that when the celebration of the opening of the Suez Canal is terminated, the sublime Porte will send another ultimatum to the Viceroy of Egypt, ordering him to accept the Turkish proposals without condition, or to consider himself suspended from the Viceroyalty.

OPENING OF THE SUEZ CANAL.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The following despatches have been received from the Isthmus of the Suez:

ISMAELIA, Wednesday night.—The trip of the first detachment of the fleet with visitors, was made from Port Said to this place in eight and a half hours. Four steamers have just arrived from Suez, the southern terminus of the canal, and met those from Port Said. The town, banks of the canal, and vessels, are illuminated, and the night is given up to festivities and rejoicing.

ISMAELIA, Thursday noon.—Thirty-four steamers have arrived here and others are expected. At the shallowest point between Ismaelia and Port Said, the water in the Canal is 26 feet deep, and the depth is generally from 25 to 30 feet along the whole line. The festivities here are continued with great magnificence and enthusiasm. An immense crowd of visitors from all parts of the world are here. The number of guests who have been specially invited by the Khedive, will exceed 3000 Europeans and 25,000 Orientals. The expenditure of money is unlimited. The entire fleet will start for Suez tomorrow.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The "Journal Official" publishes the following telegraphic account of the progress of the Empress of the French:

PORT SAID, Nov. 16.—Her Majesty arrived at Port Said to-day, where she was received and subsequently visited on board the yacht 'Aizle,' by the Viceroy of Egypt and the Emperor of Austria, the Prince Royal of Prussia, the Prince and Princess of Holland, and the Commanders of the Men-of-War in the harbor. The Empress subsequently landed and assisted at a tedium and at the Mussulman prayer, which were chanted on the occasion of the inauguration of the Canal. In Germany the shipping in the harbor were illuminated, and there was a display of fireworks on the sea and shore.

THE FRENCH EMPEROR.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The Emperor gave a reception yesterday at Compegne. He was cordial in his manner towards Mr. Washburne, the American Minister, and paid him constant attention, which is much commented on in political circles. The probability that Emile Ollivro will soon be appointed to a position in the Cabinet, is again talked of.

Gen. Figery, French Minister to Russia, telegraphs from St. Petersburg that the Czar has agreed to meet Emperor Napoleon this winter.

A DUEL.

The threatened duel between the editor of Le Pays and Henri Richefort, has been averted, the latter having made satisfactory explanations.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

BOILS,

Like the volcano, Boils give issue to the foul and fiery contents of the deep interior. To relieve the system of such suffering it is only necessary to vitalize the Blood by supplying it with its life Element, IRON.

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP,

(a protected solution of the Protoxide of Iron) will do this effectively, and give strength, vigor and new life to the whole system.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM REV. RICHARD S. EDES, OF BOLTON, MASS.

"For years I was a sufferer from Boils, so that my life became wearisome through their frequent and persistent recurrence; finally a carbuncle formed in the small of my back. During its progress large pieces of decomposed flesh were every day or two cut away, and the prostration and general disturbance of the system were great. Before I had recovered from this attack two smaller carbuncles broke out higher up, and I was again threatened with a recurrence of the sufferings to which I had so long been subjected. It was at this time that I commenced taking the PERUVIAN SYRUP. I continued taking it until I had used five bottles; since then I have had nothing of the kind. For years I was one of the greatest sufferers. Other medicines gave me partial and temporary relief, but this remarkable remedy, with a kind of curative sense, went directly to the root of the evil, and did its work with a thoroughness worthy of its established character."

A 32 page Pamphlet sent free. The genuine has "PERUVIAN SYRUP" blown in the glass.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

THE REMEDY FOR CURING

Consumption, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat and Chest, Colds and Oppressions of the Chest or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

IT IS action is expectorant, alterative, sedative, diaphoretic, and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm, CHANGES THE SECRETIONS and PURIFIES the BLOOD and other fluids in the parts; gives strength to the digestive organs, brings the liver to its proper action and imparts strength to the whole system. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction, even in the most confirmed cases of consumption, and not to produce costiveness (as do most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no necessity for so many deaths by consumption, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

NEW
APPLIED IN THE CURE OF
Chronic and Wasting Diseases.
DR. RADWAY'S
SARSAPARILLIAN
RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great question, (free from all nauseating or disagreeable) "Tecta spoken of here, Dr. Radway's is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the vital chemic products of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other vegetable roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of its wonderful Blood, Tissue, Heat, Flesh-making medicine are selected and gathered in the greatest perfection in the proper season, from the native soil, under the supervision of its discoverer. Combining the principles, employed exclusively by Dr. Radway & Co—that no spurious substitutes or worthless root can possibly be mixed with the pure.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in his employ, to find the wonderful improvements it has secured to the curative range of Dr. Radway's remedies, more especially the

now for the making over and complete renovation in the history of medicine was such a medicine that so completely builds up, and restores to perfect health strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful withal, the weak and broken-down constitution, as

Dr. RADWAY'S
SARSAPARILLIAN
RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

It supplies the blood with nourishment.
IT CONTAINS THE ELEMENTS OF NEW AND FLESH-MAKING QUALITIES.
It supplies the system with caloric or heat-making properties.
It cures all Syphilitic and Ulcerated discases of the Eyes, Ears, Mouth, Throat and Skin and Scrofula.
It increases the weight and appetite.
IT STOPS ALL WEAKENING DISCHARGES.
It increases the repairs and diminishes the wastes.
It exterminates the products of decay.
It resolves Tumors, Boils, Hard Lumps.
It makes the skin clear and beautiful.
It heals Fever Sores.
It cures Gravel, Gleet, and Stricture.
It makes the water clear and copious.
It cures Barrenness, and invests with the vigor of manhood, the system suffering from weakness or disease, are deficient or exhausted.
It causes a vacuum from which perfect health to change of life—cessation of Menses.

To those who seek Health.

There is but one way to health, when severe wasted by disease, if their systems are still in a condition to be restored, and that is by purifying the LUNGS, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wasted beyond the process of repair, or of supplying or sustaining the requisite elements of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can be either restored, to health, or the waste and decomposition stopped, and to the diseases decay that now exist be dismissed from the system.

Extreme cases of DISEASES OF THE LUNGS, KIDNEYS, and other organs are wasted, ulcerated, and their functions interrupted and secretions altered beyond the reparative power of medicine, may, and will, by the use of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT, in the course of five perhaps for years; for no matter how low the vital forces may be, if the system can be brought under the influence of this tissue and flesh-making medicine, the remedy will be greater than the wastes and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poison of Venereal, are developed through the process of deposits from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of people's hall, the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., for those of his knowledge of your medicine. His son, aged 13 years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all. He was blind in September last, and he was the most revolting and diseased object I ever saw. At my request I have put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent and Radway's Relief and Pills. One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was entirely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Erosion of the Bones, Salt Rheum, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Threatened Consumption, Night Sweats Bleeding from the Lungs, cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

DR. RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking two bottles I was enabled to sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding at the lungs and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use at bottles and now am glad to say that every symptom of Consumption have disappeared. I feel my health fully restored. JONATHAN HELAND.

N. B.—The gentleman was well known to have been under the treatment of the best physicians in Sarnia—he received no benefit from any medicine until he commenced using your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. GEO. MORTIMER.

Evening at the Farm.

Over the hill the farm boy goes,
His shadow lengthens along the land,
A giant staff in a giant hand;
In the poplar tree, above the spring,
The katy-did begins to sing.

The early dews are falling:—
Into the stone-heap darts the mink;
The swallows skim the river's brink
And home to the woodland fly the crows,
When over the hill the farm boy goes,
Cheerily calling,
"Co,' boss! co', boss! co'! co'! co'!
Farther, farther, over the hill,
Faintly calling, calling, calling still,
"Co' boss! co' boss! co'!

Into the yard the farmer goes,
With grateful heart at the close of day;
Harness and chain are hung away;
In the wagon-shed stand yoke and plough,
The straw's in the stack, the hay in the mow,
The cooling dews are falling;
The friendly sheep his welcome bleat,
The pigs come grunting to his feet,
And the whinnying mare her master knows,
When into the yard the farmer goes,
His cattle calling—
"Co', boss! co' boss! co', co'!
While still the cow-boy, far away,
Goes seeking those that have gone astray,—
"Co', boss! co' boss! co', co'!

Now to her task the milkmaid goes,
The cattle come crowding through the gate,
Lowing, pushing, little and great;
About the trough, by the farm-yard pump,
The frolicksome yearlings frisk and jump,
While all unheeded, the dews are falling:
The new milch heifer is quick and shy,
But the old cow waits with a tranquil eye,
And the white stream into the bright pail flows,
When to her task the milkmaid goes,
Soothingly calling,
"So, boss! so, boss! so! so!
The cheerful milkmaid takes her stool,
And sits and milks in the twilight cool,
Saying, So! so, boss! so! so!"

To supper at last the farmer goes,
The apples are pared, the paper read,
The stories told, then, taper-led,
Without one look at the world's ceaseless song
Makes shrill the silence all night long.
The heavy dews are falling.
The house-wife's has turned the hall-clock,
Drowsily ticks the—clock,
The—wife sinks to deep repose,
But still in sleep I hear the voice at close,
Singing, calling—
"Co,' boss! co', boss! co! co!
And oft the milkmaid, in her dreams,
Drains to the pail-rim frothing streams,
Murmuring, "So, boss! so!"

Extraordinary Sale of Oats.

Probably the most profitable ten acres of any description ever raised in Genesee county, was the season grown by Mr. Wm. L. Bishop of this place. Last spring he purchased at a New York seed store enough Norway oats to sow nine acres, for which he paid ten dollars per bushel. They were duly harvested, and a portion of them have been threshed, giving him an estimated crop of 140 bushels to an acre—1,125 bushels for nine acres. And now comes the agreeable portion of a farmer's life: He has just received from a Chicago seed firm the nice little offer of $10 per bushel for the entire lot—$11,250 for the product of this small patch of ground. The offer was immediately accepted, and they will probably be shipped to the great seat of gigantic speculation—Chicago. The firm of whom Mr. Bishop obtained his seed had a few days previous sent him an offer of $6 per bushel for these oats—enough, in all conscience, but it is his privilege to sell to the highest bidder, and most of us would probably do likewise.

Mr. Bishop will put in a large crop the ensuing spring, which, with a good season, will no doubt prove remunerative; but the present speculative price will hardly be reached.—Le Roy Gazette.

A gentleman on board a steamboat with his family, on an excursion the other day was overheard to give the following very minute and lucid description of the machinery and its principles: "You see my dear, this thingumbob here, goes down through that hole and fastens the jigamaree, and that connects with the crinkumcrankum, and then that man, the engineer, kind o' stirs up the what-do-you-call-it with a long poker, and the boat goes ahead.

The "Bible war" is being carried on with unrelenting vigor in Cincinnati.—From the Police reports of that city we learn that on Saturday last one old and respectable citizen met another old and respectable citizen much church time, and gently inquired his views on the Bible question. Old and respectable No. 2 was not in the best of humors and growled out a profane expletive concerning the sacred book, which so provoked the holy wrath of t'other old and respectable, that he gave the irreverent citizen a facer that stretched him on the pavement. The Bible defender sacrificed twenty five dollars on the altar of justice, for excess of zeal.

TO THE WEAK, THE WORN, AND THE WEARY, the editor of the Boston Recorder says, "We can most unhesitatingly recommend the Peruvian Syrup, a protected solution of the protoxide of iron, to all the weak, the worn, and the weary, having richly experienced it benefits. It possesses all the qualities claimed for it by its proprietor."

THE RECIPROCITY TREATY.—Again rumors reach us that the Reciprocity Treaty is in danger, and we have reason to fear there is some foundation for these statements, but we have every faith in the 'Canadian Pain Destroyer' in cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Burns, Bruises, &c. Can be had in every city, town or village at 25 cts. per bottle. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.—Is warranted to break up the most troublesome Cough in an incredible short time. There is no remedy that can show more evidence of it's merit—from the hideous, tor-curing Consumptive Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, &c.—Physicians having Consumptive patients, and having failed to cure them by their own prescriptions, should not hesitate to prescribe this remedy. It has cured cases when all other remedies have failed.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a positive protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a protection against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, as indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

In short, wherever its virtues are known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure.

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the Ague Districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicines. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in or travelling through, Fever and Ague districts, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy. Many cases of many years' standing have been cured by it, when other medicines had failed.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys is derived from its cures. many of which are truly marvellous. In scrofula cases of the worst degree, where the system is saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by its scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers as almost every section of the country can furnish the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofula is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism inherited from ancestors, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting suspicion of its presence. Again it rests to breed infection throughout the body, and then, at some favorable conjuncture, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or in the internal organs. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or a dropsy its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some parts of the body. Whatever the occasion or place of its development, Sarsaparilla is not vinibed, even when no active symptoms of disease appear, its virtues speedily expel the lurking germ; plaints generally find immediate relief, and, in many cases, the use of this SARSAPARILLA-LA St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Itch, Salt Rheum, Scaly or Rough Eruptions, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or blotches upon the skin, are speedily cured. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Rheumatism, Liver Complaint, Kidney Disease, and the various Ulcerous affections of the mucus and glandular systems.

Syphilitic Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are radically cured by it. Many cases of supposed Consumption, which are really Scrofula in the lungs, are completely cured by this powerful blood purifier. But long continued use of the medicine will cure all forms of disease arising from impurity of the blood. Thus Uterine Obstructions, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured, by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case, are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of the excretory matter in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Urinary Complaints, when originating in Torpor or Infirmities of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising from the absorption of bile. Worms lodge in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great remover of the strumous and vices of the system. Those who are languid, low-spirited, Debilitated, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections or symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Night on the Deep.

Night on the deep and man, proud man is there;
Enchanted with Hope, he rides the swelling wave,
And vaunts of schemes that wakes the deepest care,
Or lulls that dread which danger makes her slave—
Forgetting all, how brief the little span
Between the crest of joy and that of woe;
Unheedful still, how easy erring man
Becomes the dupe of fate or fulsome show.

Night on the deep, and man, frail man is there,
All mournful fraught, embat'ling fiercest waves
In darkness clow'd—with winds, begirt, to share
Red ruin's curse—to feel how vexing craves
The love of life, when nearing to its goal,
And how each tie clings closer, high its end
As fate impels new griefs upon the soul
From out that realm, which mortal eye ne'er ken'd.

Night on the deep, and man, poor man is, where?
The lagging winds scarce kiss the wave;
The storm is spent, and calmness robes the air,
And Neptune smiles as if no horrid grave
E'er yawned upon his limpid, tidal line—
As if, forsooth, no sorrow mark'd the spot
Where life, to death gave o'er her fond desire,
And sought the nether deeps—"to lie forgot."

The Drunkard's Dying Child.

BY REV. JAMES R. DUNN.

Mrs. B.——— sat near a scanty pallet, on which was extended the suffering little Freddy, her bright and beautiful boy, reduced to skin and bone. His large mysterious eyes were turned upward, watching the flitting of leaves, and the filaments of sunshine that peered through the foliage of the multicaulis. An infant about a month old, meager, weary of its existence, lay on her bosom, and she in vain trying to charm it to repose.

'Mamma,' said Freddy, reaching out his wasted hand, 'take me to your bosom.'

'Yes, love! soon as Maria is still.'

'Mamma, if God had not sent us that little cross baby, you could love me and nurse me as you did when I was in Cincinnati. My throat is hot, mamma, I wish I had a drink in a tumbler, mamma, and I could look through it.'

'Dear, you shall have a tumbler,' cried Mrs. B——, her lip quivering with emotion, and a wild fire in her eye.

'Yes, mamma, one cold drink in a tumbler and your poor little Freddy would fly up, up there where the little bird sits. Will papa come to night and get us some bread? You said he would. Will he get me a tumbler of water? No, mamma, he will be drunk. Nobody gets drunk in heaven, mamma?'

'No, no, my son, my angel.'

'No one says cross words, mamma?'

'No, bless your sweet tongue.'

'And there is nice cold water there, and silver cups?'

'Oh, yes, my child, a fountain of living water.'

'And it never gets dark there?'

'Never, never!' and the tears fell in streams down the mother's pale cheek,

'And nobody gets sick and dies?'

'No, my love.'

'If they were to, God would let the angels bring them water, I know he would, from the big fountain. Oh, mamma, don't cry—Do people cry in heaven, mamma?'

'Oh, no, sweet one; God wipes away all tears,' replied the weeping mother.

'And the angels kiss them off, 'spose.—But tell me, mamma, will he come there?'

'Who, my son?'

'You know, mamma,; papa.'

'Hush, Freddy, dear, lie still; you worry yourself.'

'Oh, my throat! Dear me, if only had a little water in a tumbler, mamma, just one little mouthful.'

'You shall have it,' and, as the mother said this, the poor child passed away into the arms of Him who shall evermore give it of the bright waters of everlasting life.

Elegance does not make a Home.

I never saw a garment too fine for a man or maid; there was never a chair too good for a cobbler, or cooper or king to sit in; never a house too fine to shelter the human head. These elements about us, the gorgeous sky, the imperial sun, are not too good for the human race. Elegance fits man. But do we not value these tools of housekeeping a little more than they are worth, and sometimes mortgage a home for the mahogany we would bring into it? I had rather eat my dinner off the head of a barrel, or dress after the fashion of John the Baptist in the wilderness, or sit out on a block all my life, than consume myself before I got to a home, and take so much pains with the outside that the inside was as hollow as an empty nut. Beauty is a great thing, but beauty of garments, house and furniture, is a tawdry ornament compared with domestic love. All the elegance in the world will not make a home, and I would give more for a spoonful of real hearty love than for whole shiploads of furniture, and all the gorgeousness that all the upholsters in the world could gather together.—Theodore Parker.

Old Age.

Beautiful, is old age, beautiful as the slow, drooping, mellow autumn of a rich, glorious summer. In the old man, nature has fulfilled her work; she loads him with the fruit of a well spent life; and surrounded by children, she rocks him away softly to the grave, to which he is followed by blessings. God forbid that we should not call it beautiful!—There is another life, hard, rough and thorny, trodden with bleeding feet and aching brow, a battle which no peace follows this side of the grave; which the grave alone is to finish before the victory is won; and strange that it should be so, this is the highest life of a man. Look back along the great names of history; there is none whose life is other than this.

McMahon's Statement.

REPLY OF T. J. O'NEILL.

(From the Ottawa Citizen.)

SIR, I have just read, and with some surprise I confess, an address delivered in New York, reported to have been the production of the Reverend John McMahon, lately liberated from the Kingston Penitentiary.

It is strange indeed, that sufferings of the nature represented, should have been borne with so much patience, for the long period of two or three years and not elicit a complaint, and that, in not a single instance have they reached the ears of the Directors, Warden, or other officers of the prison. The whole story would seem like the hallucinations of a distempered mind, were it not that, amongst a class with whom abuse of Britain and British institutions is always a telling subject, such an address as Father McMahon's may prove a paying speculation.

Now, the actual facts of Father McMahon's case are, that from the hour he entered the prison until he was liberated, he never did one day's labor. He was saved from contact with the convict mass by being kindly spared by the Warden, at once, to the Catholic chapel, where his whole duty was simply to read his brevia-ry, or any book from the library—which was under his hands. During my numerous visits I never saw him engaged at labor of any kind. Once I saw him with a broom in hand, but whether he had been using it, or intended to use it, I could not say.

Had Father McMahon but an ordinary share of gratitude, he would have abstained from stating such baseless calumnies, sensible that he was only prisoner in that vast multitude, of those able to work, who was exempt from labor of some kind or other.

In no prison on this continent are prisoners better treated than at the Kingston Penitentiary; In England none, I believe, so well. The diet is better than the soldiers of the British army enjoy. Their clothing and bedding is comfortable and abundant, and always suited to the seasons. In a word, I would ask Father McMahon what has been left undone which could contribute to the moral or physical advancement of the convicts? He could hardly state the omission, and yet, he tries to excite ill feeling and hostility, a class of persons already ill-natured enough against everything British and Canadian.

Is such, I would ask, the patience, the forbearance, the forgiveness of a good priest?

He knows that for the benefit of the convicts a physician of the highest eminence is attached to the prison. A Catholic and a Protestant chaplain, who incessantly labor for the spiritual improvement of their respective flocks. A schoolmaster is engaged from morning until night in the instruction of both young and old. The female convicts have a Catholic matron; whilst the Protestants have their Protestant ones. Of the Keepers and Guards, some thirty are Catholics—fearless, upright, conscientious men, who, if they err at all, do on the side of humanity towards the convicts, by occasionally overlooking faults when they are thought to occur rather by accident than bad intention.

A library of Catholic books is provided for the Catholics, and of Protestant books for the Protestants, with a considerable number of miscellaneous books common to both. Those who distinguish themselves by their good conduct and industry, enjoy the reward of occupying a lighted wing of the prison in which they have permission to read until half-past nine o'clock at night. They walk in the prison square on Sunday afternoons. They have the privilege of writing their letters in the main hall, in association (but silent) when all is still and quiet, and in addition, their good conduct and industry are made the means of earning the remission of a sixth part of their sentence.

Will Father McMahon deny that those privileges exist, or that they are enjoyed by all who earn them without partiality or distinction of race, color, religion, or nationality.

For over thirty years the doors of the Penitentiary have stood open to admit every visitor whether for curiosity or for critical inspection, that desired admission. Is it not strange that in all that time the cruelty, tyranny, and ill-usage complained of have never come to light. Those, of the United States who have visited it, have been no less eloquent in praise of its management, than the inhabitants of the British Provinces, or those from abroad.

The charges made against the Penitentiary and its conductors are simply the fancies of Father McMahon's heated imagination, and to undertake to refute them would be simply absurd. He is but speaking for a purpose, and he knows the subject that will take best with his auditory. His stories of the food are untrue in fact. For several months the meat used daily by the convicts has cost ten dollars per hundred pounds, and the flour is of an equal quality with that used by the highest officers of the prison. The bran bread is no more than the bread of pure flour with the bran unsifted from it, and such as is served in the best hotels of the country as the ordinary brown bread. The rats exist only in the poor priest's dreams, for more than a solitary rat or mouse running through the corridors in the course of months is not known. It is not impossible but such a visitor might make his way to the lower part of the building, as in private houses, but I repeat such occurs only at long intervals. The case of the bath is intitled to equal credit to the rat story.

Now how grave is not the reflection on the good Bishop, who as chaplain, was in daily intercourse with Father McMahon and the other Catholic prisoners, and on the noble hearted Archbishop of Halifax, who, at much toil, inconvenience, and expense travelled from his far off home to the Seat of Government, to join the good Bishop chaplain in supplicating the Government for the priest's liberation. What a reward for such saintly zeal in his behalf! to have it trumpeted through the sporting halls of New York that that distinguished and self sacrificing prelate, who would not leave the exercise of the spiritual duties of chaplain in the hands of one of his priests, but took them upon himself that he might the better win a way to the hearts of his prodigal flock—that his priestly services were but a sham, for that he was indifferent to their comfort and welfare, and cared not how much of cruelty and injustice was practised on them.

If such outrages are committed on the convicts, is it not strange that the Directors who are in monthly attendance at the Penitentiaries, never hear of them? Father McMahon knows well the Directors ever lend a willing ear to the complaints of the convicts—that a convict is never refused a hearing. With two-thirds of the Board of Directors Catholics, the Warden a Catholic, and some thirty of the keepers and guards Catholics, did not a single chance ever offer of his stating his grievances, and seeking redress? It never did offer, for the whole statement is every word an invention, one that Father McMahon could not have the boldness to bring to the notice of the Directors.

But are not such statements in the highest degree criminal, tending as they do to excite feelings of animosity already bitter enough? Is it not the exercise of such exciting and wicked appeals that is prolonging the incarceration of the Fenians in England and in Ireland; and, as a consequence, in this Province also. The unfortunate Fenians have no greater enemies than those who at the expense of truth and sober common sense are keeping excitement alive. No, Jemmy O'Brien of the present day, as Corydon and his co-traitors are, is more instrumental in keeping the unfortunate Fenians firmly under bolt and key, than those, who, like father McMahon, are inflaming the minds of the people against a Government willing to extend forgiveness if but permitted to do so.

I am, sir, yours,
T. J. O'NEILL,
Chairman of Directors of Penitentiaries.
Ottawa, Nov. 18th, 1869.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

FRIDAY, Nov. 19.

A number of petitions were presented among others, one by Mr. Calvin from Frontenac, praying for the consolidation and revision of the municipal laws.

A number of Bills were introduced, among them one by Mr. Greely to allow solemn declarations in place of oaths in certain cases; and a Bill to provide for the payment of Justices of the Peace who might be summoned by Sheriffs to assist in drafting panels of jurors. The law at present does not provide for their remuneration, and the object of the Bill is to effect the alteration here stated.

Attorney-General introduced resolutions respecting members' indemnity.

Mr. Cameron presented an address shewing the number of persons appointed to office, since July 1867.

Atty. Gen. Mcdonald, moved the second reading of a Bill respecting appointment of notary public. The Bill is to place these appointments in the hands of the Lieut. Governor instead of the Governor General.

After some discussion in which the Attorney General hoped they would begin work in earnest next week, the house adjourned until Monday.

To the Editor of the Daily Intelligencer.

MR. EDIT R.—The letters which have recently appeared relative to the conduct of No. 2 Fire Company on the morning when poor Bennett got so badly beaten, bring to my remembrance the conduct of that Company at the fire which burnt the Club Rooms and stores of Messrs. Wright and Scholes. It is a notorious fact that on that occasion many of them were more engaged in hauling away kegs of wine and drinking their contents, than they were in trying to subdue the fire. The general opinion then was, and their general conduct still justifies it, that the sooner the Corporation takes the Engine away from them, the better for the town.

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, NOV. 20.

ISSUE OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.—Andrew Glass Esq., Stirling, has been appointed Issuer of Marriage Licenses at Stirling. A good appointment.

MISSIONARY MEETING.—Remember that the annual missionary services in connection with the Rev. Mr. Wild's Church, takes place to-morrow and on Monday evening next.

TO FISHERMEN.—Fishermen will remember that it is not lawful to fish for or catch white fish in any manner between the 10th November, and the 1st of December. The penalty is $20.

THE RED RIVER DIFFICULTY.—A telegram to the Toronto Telegraph from Ottawa says: The Government is supposed here to have received intelligence from Red River, but the purport of it is carefully kept from the public. It is known, however, that Mr. McDougall is positively on United States territory.

Y. M. C. A.—We are glad to learn that the Young Men's Christian Association have after considerable difficulty, succeeded in procuring a place suitable for their proposed Free Reading Room. The front part of Neilson's Hall has been engaged, and in a few weeks we hope to see the Association occupying it.

NORTH RENFREW.—It having been reported that Mr. Thomas Deacon had retired from the contest in North Renfrew, that gentleman announces that he is in the field as a candidate for the representative of that constituency in the Ontario Legislature. We hope he may be elected.

POOR MARKET.—The terrible storm which prevailed last night and this forenoon, made it so uncomfortable out of doors that comparatively few farmers were on the market to day. Everything in the shape of eatables was gobbled up at prices more satisfactory to the producer than to the consumer, and still the demand exceeded the supply.

ENGLISH IMPORTS OF WHEAT.—From the Board of Trade returns for September it appears that the amount of wheat imported into the United Kingdom during that month was 3,487,239 quarters, against 2,259,430 quarters in the same month last year, and 3,067,662 quarters in September, 1867; being an increase of 1,127,809 quarters over the imports of September, 1868, and of 319,577 over those of September, 1867.

THE TWO-HEADED GIRL.—This wonderful creature or creatures, is to be exhibited in Ontario Hall, on Tuesday next, afternoon and evening. The anatomical union is shown to every visitor; the two recite, sing and dance, converse with their visitors, sell photographs and biographies, and the lecturer gives an account of their peculiarities. Some doubt having been expressed in Montreal respecting the genuiness of them union an examination was made by some of the leading medical gentlemen of that City, who pronounced the union genuine. The exhibition is certainly one of the most wonderful ever exhibited, and no one should neglect seeing them.

PERSONAL.—The Stratford Beacon of the 19th says:—One of the "old landmarks," Mr. John Stewart, barrister at law, has left Stratford to take up his residence with his daughter at Belleville. Mr. Stewart has been with us so long—ever since the county was set apart—that he was looked upon as firmly rooted in our midst. But fickle fortune determined otherwise. "In wit a man, simplicity a child." The description suits him exactly. Mr. Stewart's erudition and eloquence have instructed and charmed many an assembly, and he had always a smile and a good word for the young.—All will miss him, and the good wishes of every one will accompany him to his future abode."

PRIEST MCMAHON.—Mr. T. J. O'Neil, one of the Prison Inspectors, a Roman Catholic, has published a letter denying the correctness of Father McMahon's statement, relative to his treatment in the Penitentiary, and says that he was specially exempt from the hardships which other prisoners had to undergo. The public will with propriety ask why an exception should have been made of him? Are we to understand that the higher position a man occupies in the world, the less punishment he is to receive for his crime? If so, it is reversing the order of things. We have been led to suppose that man's punishment should be in proportion to the intelligence he possesses. But in this case the poor ignorant man, whose mind becomes imbued with fancied wrongs is put to hard labor, while the man who poisons his mind and leads him on to crime, is treated with special care and attention.

—J. B. Livernois, a Frenchman of Montreal, has applied for a divorce on account of his wife's adultery. This is the first Frenchman who ever applied in Canada to cut the 'Gordian knot.'

—Another batch of Zouaves is to be enlisted in Quebec for the Pope. Did it never occur to our authorities that the Cubans might with just as much propriety enlist men for their cause, as for the Pope to recruit for his army in this public manner?

The Common School Law.

The Hon. Mr. Cameron has introduced his new Common School Act. It is in a somewhat modified form from that proposed by the Chief Superintendent during the last Session. It commences with abolishing the office of Local Superintendents in certain cases, and providing for the appointment of County Superintendents. In cases where there are upwards of sixty schools, no may be appointed, and one for every fifty schools over one hundred. Superintendents are also to be appointed in cities and towns, and to possess all the powers of County Superintendents, with the exception of those which pertain to trustee election complaints, which are referred to the County Judge. All Superintendents to hold a certificate of qualification, which is granted after having passed an examination prescribed by the Council of Public Instruction. This is a capital provision, as it will ensure a class of Superintendents who are fitted for their duties, in some respects at least. County Councils and each Board of Public School Trustees in a city or town, to have the power of appointing Superintendents, while the power of dismissal for "misconduct or inefficiency," is vested in the power which appoints, and in the Lieutenant Governor in Council; the latter authority having the power to fill the vacancy until the next meeting of the Council or Board. No person who has been dismissed to be re-appointed without the consent of the party dismissing him. Power is given to County Councils to change the circuits of Superintendents in Counties where there are more than one. Each Superintendent in Townships and Villages to have the oversight of all Schools, and all the power which is now given them by law. Their remuneration in cities and towns, to be determined by the party appointing; but in Counties "it shall not be less than five dollars per school per annum," payable quarterly; the Council is also to provide "the allowance for travelling expenses." It is also provided that the Lieut. Governor in Council may advance an additional $5 per school per annum to each County Superintendent. Why is a distinction made between City and Town Boards and County Councils? Are not the latter quite as capable of judging of the sums which should be paid to a Superintendent as the former?

The next provision is so important that we copy it in full:—

"The County Superintendent shall have authority to decide upon the adequacy and suitableness of school accommodations; in conformity with regulations which shall be prepared according to law; and should any School Corporation not provide satisfactory accommodations within six months after they have been notified by the County Superintendent of the inadequacy or unsuitableness of the school accommodation provided, such School Corporation shall not be entitled to share in the Legislative School Grant; Provided always, that in every such case there shall be the right of appeal from the decision of the County Superintendent to the Chief Superintendent of Education."

Here again is a distinction made between cities and towns, and county Superintendents. If the powers vested in Superintendents by this clause be necessary in the country, are they not just as necessary in cities and towns? Most decidedly! Or is it supposed that Trustees in towns and cities are more likely to provide "adequate and suitable school accommodation" than those in the county? If such be the theory we would advise those who think so, to visit the old hospital school in the enlightened town of Belleville. Take this county where the people are able, the school houses are a credit to the Dominion. There may be a few exceptions which time will remedy. Apart from all this, we object to this arbitrary power proposed to be vested in Superintendents, which may be used to oppress the people in new settlements.—True, this power is to be used "in conformity with regulations which may be prepared according to law;" which, we take to mean, that the law will give power to the Board of Education in Toronto, to make these regulations; and it is here where the danger lies. People who know little or nothing of the ability of the people to pay in certain sections of the country will put their wise heads together and establish regulations, totally unfitted for the requirements of this class of people; and until these regulations are laid before the House, the clause should not be adopted.

The next provision of the law commends itself to any one having had any experience on Boards of Public Instruction. City and County Councils are to appoint two persons, properly qualified according to regulations by the Council of Public Instruction, who with the Superintendents, shall constitute Boards of Examiners to examine and license teachers. The clause following is of jectionable, because it steps in between the employers and employes, by providing that the minimum of a first-class male teacher's salary shall not be less than $300, second-class $250; a third class $200 per annum; and that of female teachers $200, $160, and $125 per annum. We do not say these salaries are too high, on the contrary they are low enough; but what right has the law to step in and regulate the salaries of School Teachers, any more than journeymen printers, carpenters, or clerks in shops? These are questions which must and should regulate themselves. If this rule be adopted then to be consistent with itself, provision should be made that teachers should be compelled to accept situations wherever a section may require them.

No section is to be entitled to any portion of the Government grant, in aid of pool schools, unless an amount has been levied and collected by taxation within such section which amount when added to the usual apportionment from the Common School grant, shall be equal to half a cent on the dollar of the assessed value of the taxable property in the section, and applied in payment of teacher's salaries. In sections where the minimum salary provided to be paid by the Act exceeds the amount so raised then the section shall be entitled to further government aid, in order to make up the required sum necessary to pay the salary. It must be borne in mind this half cent in the dollar is in addition to any levy that may be made to provide school accommodation, ordered by the Superintendent.

Power is given to Councils to establish Township Boards of Trustees at the request of the majority of School Sections expressed at the annual meetings. No section to be formed or organised after 1870, which has not 50 resident children between the ages of five and sixteen, unless the area of such section shall contain more than four square miles. Members of Councils who refuse or neglect to establish school sections, to be subject to fine by a Magistrate; the majority of Trustees, or any three rate payers may appeal to the County Council against the formation or alteration of sections, and the Council must appoint a Committee to investigate such complaint. Power is given to Councils upon petition to vary or change any section, but Councillors who assisted in establishing such sections not eligible to serve on said Committee. No alterations in the boundaries of any section to take effect until the close of the year in which they are made.

In cases where land is required for school purposes, and the owner refuses to sell or asks too much for the land, then an arbitration is to take place, and the owner compelled to accept the award, and the Trustees take possession.

The Superintendent must notify Clerks of all municipalities interested, of any change or alteration in any Common School Section. Any Clerk who neglects or refuses to prepare and furnish a map of the school divisions of his municipality, subjects himself to a fine of $10.

All Common Schools to be free, and all Councils shall levy and collect sufficient to defray the expenses of such schools, as determined by the Trustees thereof. Here an important question arises, whether in cities and towns it would not be better to give Trustees power to levy and collect their own taxes. Difficulties are constantly occurring between Trustees and Councils, arising out of requisitions for money, made by Trustees. A Councillor who never gave the questioh of school requirements a thought in his life, takes it into his sapient head that the schools should be conducted and managed cheaper, and so throws difficulties in the way. A mandamus follows, and the town or city is mulcted in the costs, ill-feelings engendered, and the efficiency of the schools impaired. Look at our law reports, and it will be seen that numerous suits have arisen out of the very causes to which we here alluded. Let the Trustees who know what is wanted take the responsibility of levying their own tax, and it will be the surest way of keeping the people informed of the actions of the Board; and it will relieve Councillors of what they consider a disagreeable duty.

All children between 7 and 12 years of age, to be compelled to attend some school under a penalty imposed upon the parent or guardian, except in cases of extreme poverty or a residence of too great a distance from a school, and where a child is being otherwise educated. In cases where parents or guardians refuse or neglect to procure proper text books, the Trustees are empowered to purchase them, and add the price, and 50 per cent for costs to the roll, and collect the sum, in the same manner as other taxes are collected; except in cases of indigence.

Trustees are authorized to furnish residences for teachers. A report of receipts and expenditures to be laid before the annual school meeting. When a Clerk of a Board neglects or refuses to call a meeting, a Trustee can do so. All moneys to be paid into the Secretary Treasurer's hands, and Trustees responsible that proper security be taken from the Secretary Treasurer. The Chairman of a Board to make the declaration of office in the presence of the Secretary. Where any one party fails to appoint an arbitrator in cases of dispute, the Superintendent and the other arbitrator shall determine the award; the Superintendent to have a second vote in case of a disagreement. All disputes hereafter between Teachers and Trustees, to be decided at the Division Courts by the County Judge instead of by arbitration as formerly. Right of appeal given.

The summer vacation of all PublicSchools to be from the 15th of July to the 15th of August inclusive. All acts inconsistent repealed.

PETROLEUM BUSINESS.

BREMEN, Nov. 19.—At a meeting of the petroleum merchants of this city, Hamburg, Antwerp and other towns resolved that exporters of the United States, be recommended to adopt the custom of branding on their casks the tare and weight, and of making an allowance of two pounds by absorption by the cask.

MINISTERIAL CHANGES.

PARIS, Nov. 19.—The Journal Official denies that there is any foundation for the rumor that ministerial changes are contemplated.

THE SUEZ CANAL.

ISMAILIA, (evening).—The inauguration of the fleet has arrived at the light house in the Bitter Lakes, and has anchored there for the night. The fleet will reach the Red Sea tomorrow.

American Despatches.

A RINK CRUSHED.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Wabash Avenue Rink was crushed to the earth to night by the weight of snow on the roof.

A WRECK.

The propeller Thomas A. Scott' struck a reef in the Straits of Mackinac on Tuesday night and was wrecked. She was a new boat, having been built in Buffalo last spring for J. & E. T. Evans, and had on board 2,000 bbls flour, 27,000 bus. wheat and variously assorted merchandise. Cost, $85,000; insured for $50,000.

DETROIT, Nov. 19.—A private letter reports a fire had taken place at Fort Sully, Dacotah, and destroyed government property to the amount of one million dollars. The entire post narrowly escaped destruction.

GREAT HURRICANE.

BUFFALO, Nov. 20.—A terrible hurricane prevailed in Albany this morning, blowing roofs from houses and scattering them all over the streets. Broadway is blockaded in some places with the rubbish.

—The recent storm on the Western Lakes is reported never to have been exceeded in fury, the sea running to a tremendous height, and the snow and sleet being completely blinding.

—On the 16th inst., during a severe gale, a train of cars was blown from the track on the Harlem railroad, New York, going over an embankment 70 feet high. Several persons were killed.

—Some Yankee sympathizer in British Columbia has got a petition signed by forty residents of Victoria, asking Gen. Grant to annex British Columbia to the United States. They complain that Union with Canada is not wanted, and that great dissatisfaction exists. Bah!

Marine Disasters.

The following additional disasters are reported:—

PORT ROWAN, Nov. 19.—There are three vessels on the point, high and dry. The "J. C. Hill," of Buffalo, loaded with staves; "Anna O. Hanson" and "Quick Step," both of Chicago, collided, just off this port in the storm, both light, they drifted on the beach. All three vessels will be a total loss. Crews all saved.

PORT STANLEY, Nov. 19.—The propellor Bruno arrived last night reporting a bark at anchor off Port Burwell, with foremast, bowsprit and all her head gear gone, and the brig Goward, of Detroit, sunk about three miles from shore off Port Bruce. Capt. Gaskin, of the Bruno, rescued three men off her mast head, who had been clinging to it for about forty hours. One of the men, W H. Riley, of Charleston, U. S., had his feet very badly frozen. Thos. Conner, of Detroit, who was mate, has his feet frozen slightly. The other man, Oliver Matton, of Buffalo, is all right. The rest of the crew, five in number, consisting of Capt. McFay, Mary English and her daughter, Mary Jane English, the sailing master and one man were drowned. The names of the rest of the latter are unknown. Capt. Gaskin also reports seeing a propellor, with two lights at her mast head, drifting down the lake on the night of the 17th, in an apparently helpless condition, but he was unable to render her or the barque any assistance. The gale of the 17th was the severest ever witnessed in the neighborhood. It is blowing a gale now from the southwest.

Business Notices.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—UNRIVALLED AND COMFORTING.—The very agreeable character of this preparation has rendered it a general favourite. THE CIVIL SERVICE GAZETTE remarks, —"The singular success which Mr. Epps attained by his homœopathic preparation of cocoa has never been surpassed by any experimentalist. By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many DOCTORS' BILLS." Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold by the Trade only in ½lb., ¼lb., and 1lb. tin lined packets, labelled JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England. 91—6m T&S

SPECIAL NOTICES.

BOILS,

Like the volcano, Boils give issue to the foul and fiery contents of the deep interior. To remove the cause of such suffering it is only necessary to vitalize the Blood by supplying it with its Life Element, Iron.

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP,

(a protected solution of the Protoxide of Iron) will do this effectively, and give strength, vigor and new life to the whole system.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM REV. RICHARD S. EDES, OF BOLTON, MASS.

"For years I was a sufferer from Boils, so that my life became wearisome through their frequent and persistent recurrence; finally a carbuncle formed in the small of my back. During its progress large pieces of decomposed flesh were every day or two out away, and the prostration and general disturbance of the system were great. Before I had recovered from this attack two smaller carbuncles broke out higher up, and I was again threatened with a recurrence of the sufferings to which I had so long been subjected. It was at this time that I commenced taking the PERUVIAN SYRUP. I continued taking it until I had used five bottles; since then I have had nothing of the kind. For years I was one of the greatest sufferers. Other medicines gave me partial and temporary relief, but this remarkable remedy, with a kind of intuitive sense, went directly to the root of the evil, and did its work with a thoroughness worthy of its established character."

A 32 page Pamphlet sent free. The genuine has "PERUVIAN SYRUP" blown in the glass.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

THE REMEDY FOR CURING

Consumption, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppressions of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

IT is action is expectorant, alterative, sedative, dispersive, and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the matter in the case to throw off phlegm; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS and PURIFIES THE BLOOD; tones the digestive parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action and imparts strength to the whole system. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction, even in the most confirmed cases of consumption, and not to produce costiveness (as do most remedies) to effect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no necessity for so many deaths by consumption, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

NEW
APPLIED IN THE CURE OF
Chronic and Wasting Diseases.
DR. RADWAY'S
SARSAPARILLIAN
RESOLVENT

N.B.—The principles of it are from all nauseating or disagreeable) effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the main principles of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other forest roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Heath, Rule-making medicine are selected and, guided by the principles above named, in the proper season, from the native soil, under the supervision of intelligent, experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co.—so that no spurious substitutes or worthless trash can possibly be mixed with the pure.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this branch alone But the wonderful improvements it has secured to the curative powers of Dr. Radway's Medicines, more especially the

pays for the outlay over and over again, for never in the history of medicine was such a medicine that so completely subdues disorders, and restores the strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful withal, the weak and broken-down constitutions, as

Dr. RADWAY'S
SARSAPARILLIAN
RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the
SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT
It supplies the blood with nourishment.
IT CONTAINS THE ELEMENTS MAKING AND FLESH-MAKING QUALITIES.
It supplies the system with iron or heat-making properties.
It heals Fever Sores and Ulcers.
It cures Gravel, Gleet, and Stricture.
It makes the weak clear and pass freely.
It cures Barrenness, and invests with the vigor of manhood those who, from weakness or disease, are deficient or exhausted
It renews woman into the healthful habit to change of life—cessation of Menses.

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however old and decrepit they may be, suffering from the affliction to receive nourishment, and their LUNGS or KIDNEYS, or any other vital organ are wasted beyond the process of repair, and if possible a sustaining the repository process of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can be either restored to health, or the waste and decomposition stopped, and the elements of decay that now exist be dismissed from the system.

Extract of Sarsaparilla, Iodide of Potash and Mercury, or Calomel, and other agents that may have accumulated in the bones, tissues cartilages, or other parts of some wrecked family complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, mercurial and badly treated diseases of the Mucous and Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumours, Sores in the Glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Fever Sores, Scald Heads, Ringworms, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all uterine ailments, and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Life Principle, are within the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Stictures and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Kidneys, Bladder, Wounds, Dropsy, Diabetes, and all who are incapacitated thereof by Stopping off the Pale Painful Discharges, are quickly relieved and effectually cured through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Denault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years, LOATHSOME ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his side. Last resort all kinds of medicine, and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last fall, he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, aided with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and said, as a token, a wash of the Ready Relief, and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctoring for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont.

Mr. Durrell, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owned nearly half the town, besides a number of Passaic Mills. He took a dose of two or three spoonfuls of pure medicine, in all, in all years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, saving the entire body—head, trunk, limbs, hands and all. I saw him in September last, and he was the most rotting and diseased object I ever saw. A few days after I was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills. One month since on returning to Canada I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Threatened Consumption, Night Sweats Bleeding from the Lungs, cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WIDDER STATION, Ontario, Canada West,
March 10, 1869.

DR. RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvents. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep, a blessing for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was stopped, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, gone and my friends in Consumption have disappeared. I feel my health fully restored. JONATHAN ENGLAND.

N. B.—This gentleman was well known to have been under the treatment of the celebrated Dr. Sarnie—he received no benefit from any medicine until he commenced using the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. GEO. MORTIMER,

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Stomach, Spermatic Glands or Womb, or Urinary Affection, will experience a marked change in his health for the better after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes supplied with the elements of nourishing, and it enabled to digest, strong and sound constituents, the deposits of disease in another and other channels of circulation, or wasted and worn out will be diminished in the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys and other Organs; and each and every disease will start on their proper and direct secretions, and in a short time Life, the Vital Principle, will be renewed, disease absorbed in the circulation, then secretions will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If ulcerative forms in the throat, in the system, in external parts, or in the womb, and such organ or secreting gland is discharging its proper functions, heals the ulcerated surface, and stop pain for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent is proved to be a topical tonic that has heretofore existed in all these remedies upon advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bony tissue and corruption may be, the influence of this powerful agent on the blood and other fluids that subject the living body with repairs, will so change the system with such remodelling as to resist and excrete the dead and decomposing matter, and thus carry it off pure with no sore or ulcer to heal.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, mercurial and badly treated diseases of the Mucous and Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumours, Sores in the Glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Fever Sores, Scald Heads, Ringworms, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all uterine ailments, and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Life Principle, are within the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Stictures and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Kidneys, Bladder, Wounds, Dropsy, Diabetes, and all who are incapacitated thereof by Stopping off the Painful Discharges, are quickly relieved and effectually cured through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Denault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years, LOATHSOME ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his side. Last resort all kinds of medicine, and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last fall, he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, aided with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and said, as a token, a wash of the Ready Relief, and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctoring for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont.

Mr. Durrell, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owned nearly half the town, besides a number of Passaic Mills. He took a dose of two or three spoonfuls of pure medicine, in all, in all years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, saving the entire body—head, trunk, limbs, hands and all. I saw him in September last, and he was the most rotting and diseased object I ever saw. A few days after I was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills. One month since on returning to Canada I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Threatened Consumption, Night Sweats Bleeding from the Lungs, cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WIDDER STATION, Ontario, Canada West,
March 10, 1869.

DR. RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvents. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep, a blessing for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was stopped, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, gone and my friends in Consumption have disappeared. I feel my health fully restored. JONATHAN ENGLAND.

N. B.—This gentleman was well known to have been under the treatment of the celebrated Dr. Sarnie—he received no benefit from any medicine until he commenced using the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. GEO. MORTIMER,

The Initials.

Yet stands the tree! There seems no change
Come o'er its mossy trunk or leaflets fair,
Sturdy its branches spread. To me how strange
To see it there!

The years have passed, the happy hours have fled,
The burning love has now forever gone,
The bright hopes, like the fallen leaves, are dead,
I am alone!

And yet, upon that tree her much-loved name,
Unscathed by time, with mine is interwined,
Can it be years since to this spot we came,
One heart, one mind?

Her arm was round me, her breath fanned my cheek,
As I the letters carved with no small art,
Together, ever! though we did not speak,
Was in each heart!

Then, once again, I will her name repeat,
And try forever to forget the words;
And pray that time, with gentle hand, may beat
O'er memory's chords.

I will just place upon my lips that tree,
And seal the feeling of the past tore'er,
And will depart. Where'er my path may be,
My heart is there.

And now I call, and fast my pulses beat;
A dainty sound the fallen leaves comes o'er—
Is it the brushing of her fairy feet?
Ah, nevermore!

Some other now with her elsewhere may trace,
In letters fading, their names intertwine,
Which time may blot; but he dares not efface
Such love as mine!

How to Manage Cider.

These receipts have been thoroughly tried: 1st. After the cider has been fermented sufficiently to give it an agreeable taste, put it into a suitable boiler—a large wash boiler on a cooking stove will answer—and with a moderate fire bring the liquors to the boiling point. Put off the fire, and, when sufficiently cool, put it into bottles, cork it up well, and any time thereafter you will have a beautiful amber colored liquid fit for men to drink. I have never tried to store it in a cask, but see no good reason why it would not keep equally as well in glass. The heating kills the fermenting materials, and if carefully managed and carried not too far, gives no empyreumatic or other favor. 2nd. Take first quality of cider as it comes from the press, put it into good, clean oak barrels, and to every gallon of juice add from two to three pounds of good brown sugar. The sugar should be dissolved in some of the juice before being put into a cask, after which it should be thoroughly rounced up with a stick or broom handle so that all may be properly mixed and blended. Care should be taken to have the cask full. Place the casks, with bungs out, in a shed or house where it is not too warm and let them stand until pretty well fermented, taking care to add from time to time some fresh cider to keep the casks full. In a few hours fermenting will begin and be finished in a greater or less time, according to the temperature of the weather. This can be readily told by the sinking of the pomace, and by the cessation of the hissing sound, the fermentation should not be carried too far. After the casks should be lightly bunged and placed in a moderately warm cellar, and left undisturbed for ten or twelve months, at the end of which time, if the process has been carefully managed, and the cider was of good quality, made from ripe fruit, you will have an article of apple wine far superior in body, richness and mellowness, to any ever made from grapes of this country. The strength of wine will depend upon the quantity of sugar added to the juice. Two pounds to the gallon will give a light, agreeable wine, greatly relished by the ladies. Three pounds will give a good strong wine, fit for any man's palate. I am satisfied if any one will try either of the above processes they will never fail to repeat the operation at each return of the season. It is advisable to put a proper wooden faucet in the end of the keg or barrel before placing it in the cellar so as not to disturb the wine when it was once settled.—Cincinnatti Gazette.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a provision against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Singers and Public Speakers find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of them here, or do more than assure the public that its qualities are fully maintained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

As its name implies, it does Cure, and does not fail. Containing neither Arsenic, Quinine, Bismuth, Zinc, nor any other mineral or poisonous substance whatever, it in nowise injures any patient. The number and importance of its cures in the ague districts, are literally beyond account, and we believe without a parallel in the history of Ague medicine. Our pride is gratified by the acknowledgments we receive of the radical cures effected in obstinate cases, and where other remedies had wholly failed.

Unacclimated persons, either resident in, or travelling through miasmatic localities, will be protected by taking the AGUE CURE daily.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity.

For Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy, producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines had failed.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass., and sold all round the world.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Del Dottore F. P. Verri, Prof. of Chemistry in the of University Padua, Italy.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original preparer at the National Exposition at Torino, Italy, by whose favor Mr. Gianelli obtained the Recipe, and was also awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition of Canada, held at Montreal in September, 1865, is without exception, the most Genuine, Salubrious and agreeable Tonic ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America.

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite among the elite of society, being generally served in the Drawing Room immediately before dinner, in preference to Vermouth.

☞ The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval on every account.

The Proprietor has no idea of parading or puffing it before the public, but merely asks a sound and unprejudiced trial.

VOL. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, MONDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 22, 1869. No. 173.

The Red River Rebellion.

THE SETTLEMENT IN OPEN INSURRECTION. THE PEOPLE REFUSE TO ASSUME THE DOMINION YOKE.—THE INDIANS SIDE WITH THE WHITES.—GOVERNOR MCDOUGALL STOPPED AT THE FRONTIER.

Pembina, D. T., Sept. 27, Correspondence of the Yankton Dakotian.

It now appears that there will soon be very lively times near the frontier, and it appears as though the great rebellion, after being "crushed" in Dixie, was wafted by the Southern breeze to the far North, and has taken root in the British Red River Settlement.

You have doubtless learned through the public press that some time since the Hudson Bay Company and the British Government entered into an agreement whereby it is stipulated that the Dominion of Canada shall acquire certain rights and interests of said Company in the Northwest Territory, or "Rupert's Land," upon the payment of the Dominion Government to said Company of the sum of $300,000.

The Dominion has accepted of the terms, and, I understand, has paid over the money; at any rate the Dominion has appointed Mr. McDougall, a prominent Canadian politician, Lieutenant Governor of the Northwest Territory, whose arrival here is duly expected.

The Dominion Government has also sent a number of surveyors, who now (when not prevented by the people and Indians) are to swinhipping and subdividing the public lands.

By an Act of the Dominion Parliament, the Lieutenant Government is to be assisted by a Legislative Council, but, mark you, said Council is to be appointed by the Governor. And it appears that a pack of half-famished pets of the Government are to be imported from Canada to act as law givers for the Red River people.

The Red River Settlement has a population of from fifteen to twenty thousand souls, Indians not counted. The people have never been consulted with reference to the transfer of government, and this attempt of Canada to gobble them has aroused almost universal indignation in the British Red River country, and the people are united in opposition to the Dominion Government.

The people demand the follow guarantees:

1. The right to elect their own Legislature.

2. That the Legislature shall have power to pass, an act of a local nature by a two-third vote, over the veto of the Executive.

3. No law of a local nature to be binding until sanctioned by the Legislature.

4. A free Homestead and Pre-emption law.

5. An Indian policy calculated to insure good will and quiet in the Territory.

6. All the Executive, Legislative, Civil, and Military expenses, for a given number of years, to be paid out of the Dominion Treasury.

7. An appropriation to be expended in the internal improvements in the Territory.

After placing these guarantees beyond peradventure, then the proposition of annexation to the Dominion to be submitted to a vote of the people.

The people are fully organized, and a frontier people are always armed and equipped. The Governor will on his arrival be forbid, and if need be prevented, the discharge of any of the functions of his office, save that of drawing his pay from the Dominion Treasury.

Before you ridicule the idea of 15,000 people defying the great Canadian Dominion, please take into consideration their geographical position, and the fact of their being backed up by very powerful bands of Indian warriors.

Suppose that the Dominion should attempt coercion, how is she to get an army into the Red River country?

Not through the United States territory of course; Via Lake Superior, Lake of the Woods, and through the marshes to Red River would not be thought of, much less attempted. The only route open to them would be by ship to York factory on Hudson Bay, and thence 500 miles by way of canoes and numerous portages.

By this route it will require over one year to transport one company, and supplies if indeed the entire command be not cut off by Indians before reaching Lake Winnepeg.

The people of the British Red River country can, with impunity, defy any power save that of the United States, their isolated and almost inaccessable position rendering them quite independent of Canada at least.

A delegation from the chiefs and head men of the British Chippewa Indians have left the following letter, to be handed to Governor McDougall on his arrival at Pembina:

"ENGLISH TERRITORY,
" Near Pembina, D. T., Sept. 2, 1869.

"His Excellency, Governor McDougall:

"SIR,—The undersigned represent the Chippewa Indians, who own and occupy a large portion of the country known as the 'Hudson Bay Company Territory,' or 'Rupert's Land.'

"We take the liberty to inform your Excellency on your arrival on the International boundary line, and in the name of our people to request your Excellency to remain for a few days at or near the Fort of the Hudson Bay Company (near Pembina), in order to afford our chiefs and old men the opportunity to meet your Excellency in General Council, that we may learn from you the intention of the Government you represent, respecting our people and our land.

"We have heard that the said Government has purchased certain 'interests' of the Hudson Bay Company, but we have not been informed what those 'interests' are. Said 'interests' could not have been lands, for the simple reason that said company (according to the statement of our old men) obtained from our people only the right to occupy for a time a certain district of country on and near the Red River.

"White men have been sent by the Government which your Excellency represents, and have been dividing our territory into small lots, for the purpose, as we are told, of selling them to white men. And all this is being done without consulting us, without treaty stipulations, and as though those lands already belonged to your Government.

"Hence we insist upon a general council, and a full and satisfactory understanding before your Excellency, in the name of your government, assumes possession of this Territory.

"Our people greatly prefer to maintain friendly relations to your Excellency, and the government you represent; and we well know that this can only be done by a thorough and amicable adjustment of our respective rights by a written treaty.

"Our people know that we have the rights, and we are united as one man in the determination to defend them at all hazards; and for the sake of our people, as well as for the best interests of your Excellency and the government you represent, we trust that our rights will be fully respected, and that we may be able to extend to you the right hand of fellowship.

"On our own behalf, as well as the people we represent, we beg your Excellency will accept our kindest regards.

" PIP-WASCH,
" CHA-WA-WE-ASH."

From the above, you will perceive that "Lo the poor Indian" is making demands that poor McDougall is utterly unable to comply with, on account of his limited authority. And nothing short of a full and liberal government, independence, or annexation to the United States will satisfy the white people.

Pembina, Nov. 1, Correspondence of the St. Paul Press.

Military companies have been organized, and are at this time guarding all the roads and passes leading to Fort Garry. The military commander, by letter, warned Governor McDougall, on his arrival at Pembina, not to pass the international boundary line. The Governor arrived here on the 30th ult., and entered his territory, but stopped, and still remains at the Hudson Bay Company's fort, near the boundary, and sent forward a letter of his party to lead of the enemy; but I presume that he has been gobbled, as he has not returned.

The Fort Garry mail has not got in this evening, and it is reported that before to-morrow morning an armed force will arrive at the governor's quarters and compel him to recross the line into the United States.

Governor McDougall has not yet been sworn into office, and, therefore, cannot issue an official proclamation calling upon those who have not yet taken sides to assist in putting down the rebellion.

Governor MacTavish and some of the heads of the Hudson Bay Company have endeavored to maintain order, but failing in this, they attempted to organize a force in opposition to the people, and also failed in that.

You may expect startling news by the next mail. The people seem really determined to secure their rights or fight to the bitter end.

A St. Paul despatch of the 19th states that additional letters from Pembina, under the date of November 3 and 4, confirm the report of the seriousness of the rebellion. It seems Governor McDougall remained over night of the 2nd at the Hudson Bay stockade, about two miles from the United States border, but in the morning was notified by 500 rebels to leave the British territory by 9 o'clock. He declined to do so, and at 9 o'clock the rebels marched into the stockade and the Governor and party marched out in haste, and betook themselves to United States territory, where they remained awaiting further developments. It is said Governor McDougall has sent a messenger overland to the Dominion Government at Ottawa for troops and munition of war, to enable him to obtain possession of his country. The rebels are determined and unanimous. Considering the inaccessibility of the country, the near approach of winter, and other obvious obstacles to successful military operations, the temporary success of the rebellion is not doubtful. The object of the uprising is opposition to being hitched to the Canadian Confederation of the New Dominion, and a determination on the part of the people of the British Red River Settlement that they shall be allowed to remain an independent British Colony, and not come under the home Government of England. The affair will probably result in war and bloodshed before it is ended. The ladies and children of Mr. McDougall's party are en route for St. Paul.

Feniana.

A handbill, of which the following is a copy, was posted in several parts of the city of London just before the departure of the last mail. It caused quite a strong feeling in the city:

"TO ALL FENANS.
" Vive la Republique!

"The Queen will visit the city in state on Saturday, and on that day she will be shot. She seldom gives a chance. The opportunity won't be lost!

" GOD SAVE IRELAND!"

But the Queen was not shot, and, in the most peaceful manner, amidst the cheers of thousands of her subjects, graced the opening of the Holborn viaduct with her presence.

Tea and Coffee.

Hall's Journal of Health discourses in this wise on the use of tea and coffee as a beverage:—

"Taking into account the habits of the people, tea and coffee for supper and breakfast add to human health and life if a single cup be taken at either meal and is never increased in strength, frequency or quantity. If they were mere stimulants, and were taken thus in moderation and with uniformity, they would, in time, become either inert, or the system would become so habituated to their employment as to remain in the same reposition to them, as if they had never been used; and consequently, as to themselves, they had better never been used, as they are so liable to abuse. But science and fact unite in declaring them to be a nutricious as well as stimulant; hence they will do a new good to the system every day, to the end of life, just as bread and fruits do; hence we never get tired of either. But the use of bread and fruits is daily abused by multitudes, and dyspepsia and cholera morbus result; yet we ought not to forego their employment on that account, nor should we forego the use of tea and coffee because their inordinate use gives neuralagia and other ailments. But the habitual use of tea and coffee at the last and meals of the day, has another high advantage—is productive of incalculable good in the way of averting evils. We will drink at our meals, and if we do not drink these we will drink what is worse—cold water, milk or alocholic mixtures. The regular use of these last will lead the young to drunkenness; the considerable employment of simple milk at meals, by sedentary people—by all except the robust—will either constipate, or render bilious; while cold-water largely used, that is, to the extent of a glass or two at a meal, especially in cold weather, attracts to itself so much of the heat of the system in raising said water to the temperature of the body—about one hundred degrees—that the process of digestion is arrested; in the meantime, giving rise to a deathly sickness of stomach, to twisting pains, to vomitings, purgings, and even to cramps, to fearful contortions, and sudden death; which things would have been averted, had even the same amount of liquid, in the shape of a similar amount of hot water had been used. But any one knowing these things, and being prejudiced against the use of tea and coffee, would subject himself to be most unpleasantly stared at and questioned if not ridiculed, were he to ask for a glass of hot water. But as tea and coffee are now universal beverages, are on every table and everybody is expected to take one or the other as a matter of course, they are unwittingly the means of safety and of life to multitudes. They save life, where a glass of cold water would have destroyed it. So that the use of these beverages is not merely allowable, it is politic, it is a necessity.

Under Water Ninety-two Years.

On the 22nd of October, 1777, the British ship of war Augusta was partially burned and sunk not far from Philadelphia, and the Post, of that city, of a recent date, gives the following later chapter in her history:—

"She has laid imbedded in the mud until within two years back, when a party of five men determined to attempt the raising of the wreck, being stimulated thereto by the supposition of there being in the hold a quantity of specie. Their names are James Powell, Joseph Moore, George Murphy, Gabriel Shapely and Chas. Myers. Since that time they have laboured continually, and now after expending over $4,000 and their time, their efforts have been rewarded and the wreck has been moved up as far as Gloucester, where the greater portion can be seen any day at low tide. Within the past few days a number of relics have been recovered, among them a lot of sterling silver spoons, marked 'H. W., 1748,' with a coat of arms consisting of an ancient sinaped cross, an old English bull's-eye watch, seven guinea pieces bearing the vignette of George III., and with dates ranging from 1730 to 1770; some Spanish silver dollars, three guns of heavy calibre, which now lie on the beach at Red Bank; about sixty tons weight of balls, and about one hundred tons of Kentlidge iron, which had evidently been used as ballast. The iron is in square pigs, and bears the old English brand—an arrow head. Three human skulls have also been found, one of which is remarkable for its thickness. There has also been found a small piece or strip of copper, about three inches in length and one inch in thickness, upon which is stamped the Lord's Prayer, with the words, 'David Pyeth, Delt, & Cult, Edinburgh, March, 1774,' the letters being all in capitals. The vessel had been constructed of Irish oak, and joined together with tunnels of the same material, not a single metal bolt being used. The timber is to-day pronounced as good as when put together.

—Skating has commenced vigorously at Quebec.

—The Water Police at Quebec are to be disbanded.

The property of the astonishing Fisk is likely to be pretty well attached before the bottom of the gold pool is completely got to. Another man has fastened to it his claim for a quarter of a million. It would seem as if Fisk must owe somebody a great deal of money, and it would also seem as if he would find loose places enough in the law to slip through. Perhaps the fellows on the other side have sharp eyes for law, too.

Do do payable at Halifax	894,000
Specie held at Montreal	750,000
Do at Toronto	600,000
Do at Halifax	78,800
Debentures held by the Receiver General under the Dominion Note Act	3,000,000

BOARD OF SURGEONS.—The Governor in Council has appointed Theophilus Mack, Agustus Jukes, and Thomas Clark, of St. Catharines, Esquires, M. D's., to be a Board of Surgeons for the County of Lincoln for the purpose of examining applicants for militia pensions; and Amos Samuel Bristol, Allan Putson, of Napanee, and Thomas R. Dupuis, of Odessa, Esquires, M. D's., to be a Board of Surgeons for the County of Lenox and Addington for the purpose of examining applicants for militia pensions.

EMIGRANT AGENTS.—The official Gazette of Saturday Nov. 20th contains the following appointments:—" James G. Moylan, of Toronto, Esquire, to be Emigrant Agent for Canada in the South of Ireland.—Charles Foy, of Omemee, Esquire, to be Assistant Emigrant Agent for the North of Ireland. Edwin Clay, Esq., M. D., of Pugwash, to be Emigrant Agent for Nova Scotia, in place of the Honorable H. G. Prince, resigned. David Shaw, of Kingston, Esq., to be Emigration Agent for Scotland."

ONTARIO COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.—It is with pleasure we record the success attending the opening of the above Institution. Although but one week has passed since the opening day, nearly sixty students have entered. A fact which shows the necessity for such a school in our midst, and the appreciation of the enterprise of the men in whose charge it is. Visiting the College rooms on Friday evening last, one would be surprised as well as pleased at seeing such a number of middle-aged and young men working away at Writing, Book-keeping, Telegraphing and the other studies of the College, with an energy and eagerness that augured well for their success, not only as far as their connection with the school, but in the active duties of life. The Teachers were most assiduous in their attentions passing from one student to the other, giving individual instruction and directing them in their work. The rooms are commodious, warm, well lighted, fitted up with comfortable desks, tables and chairs, in fact everything conducive to the comfort of the students, and the proper working of the school, has been attended to. The school should be visited to be appreciated.—Visitors are always welcome. It will be seen by an advertisement in our columns, that the evening classes for the winter months have commenced, and it is hoped that no one who requires such a course of instruction will neglect to avail themselves of the opportunity.

Interesting.

The Leader and Globe are just now interesting their readers with articles charging each other with being the cause of the trouble in Red River. The Leader begins, and tells the people that all the difficulties have arisen out of articles published in the Globe, which have been read and circulated among the Halcontents, in which the mismanagement of their affairs was impressed upon them; and that believing the articles, the people revolted. The Globe retorts by saying "whatever responsibility may attach to any one in Ontario for the foolish conduct of the Red River half-breeds, lays directly at the Dominion Government and its organs;" that the half-breeds do not read the Globe, because they can't read. If this be true, how could they read the "organs?" Or is it possible for half-breeds who "can't read" to know what's in the Leader and not in the Globe. Our own impression is that few of either of the papers are ever seen in the territory, and when they are, they are most appreciated by those who can't read.

How Corrupt.

The London Prototype thinks Sir John A. Macdonald should not appoint Mr. BLAKE to the vacant Chancellorship, for if he does, he would be justly chargeable with the sin of buying up political opponents. The Hamilton Times, an opponent and a reformer, replies: "John A's whole political career has been marked by these purchases of opponents." The Globe endorses this admission of the Times, by copying the article. What can the country think of these reform opponents, when the papers of their own party tell the world, they are bought in the market like sheep. "Had he not done it" continues the Times, "the Tory party would have been dead and rotten years ago." A sad commentary upon the professions of principle, on the part of the Reform party, who according to this admission are ready to sell themselves whenever an opportunity presents itself. Such is the declaration of two leading Reform journals. Who will blame those opposed to such parties, when they tell them, place and not principle, is the ruling passion of their lives!

Red River Difficulties.

In to day's paper we give what purports to be an account of the difficulties in the Red River Settlement, copied from an American journal. The demands made, by what may be termed the insurgents, and the tenor of the letter of the Indian Chiefs, are of such a character as to convince the most obtuse that the whole difficulty is the work of Americans in Red River. The whole statement must be taken with a good deal of allowance, coming from such a source.

Telegrams from Ottawa state, that the Government is in possession of some facts, which are not made known.

The Globe's telegraphic columns of the 22nd, gives us the latest news as follows:

ST PAUL, MINNESOTA,
19th November, 1869.

A messenger from Pembina reports that Mr. McDougall will not send his family to Canada. He is building quarters, and will await the reaction in favour of Canadian authority which is anticipated. Governor McTavish is very ill and cannot take the field in person—this is greatly to be regretted. The American residents at Selkirk have no sympathy with the French insurgents.

Close of Navigation.

Weather prophets have been right in their predictions thus far this season. A cold, wet fall was promised, and we have had it. An early winter was predicted and here it is upon us before we are half prepared for it. A long and severe winter is prognosticated, but of this it will be time to speak when it has been experienced and is over. After the storm on Saturday there were indications of mild weather, and there were those who ventured the hope if not the prediction, that we would have a week or two of the beautiful Indian summer before hoary-headed winter would close in upon us, but the hope vanished when Sunday morning broke with its keen, biting frost. Ice formed on the margins of creeks and rivers, small bays froze over sufficiently hard to permit boys to slide and skate, and they took advantage of it, albeit it was Sunday. A stiff breeze kept up all day Sunday, which led to the hope that the steamers and vessels bound from Montreal and Kingston for Bay ports would reach their destination before it froze up. But Monday morning dispelled this hope. The Bay as far as the eye could reach east and west, was bridged over by Jack Frost, and from present appearances there is scarcely any hope that it will be open again this fall.

The steamer 'Rochester,' finding the ice closing fast around her, left about one o'clock this morning for Kingston. With some difficulty she succeeded in making a passage, but having got into Big Bay in safety, we presume she did not experience much further trouble in reaching Kingston. The track she made soon closed up again, and was frozen nearly an inch thick about noon to-day.

The Ferry Boat "Prince Edward" got up steam this morning, but found the ice too heavy to head her way through, and those who went down to her wharf expecting to cross over to Prince Edward this morning, were greatly disappointed at the prospect. There is not much likelihood that she will leave her moorings again this winter.

The steamers "St. Helen" and "Ottawa" left Montreal the latter part of last week with full cargoes for the Bay ports. The "St. Helen" arrived at Picton last night, and left this morning for Belleville, and arrived in company with the "Ottawa" at her wharf about four o'clock this afternoon, having had to break the ice a long distance.

Some cargoes of coal and goods per schooners were expected to leave Oswego on Friday and Saturday, but no tidings had been heard of them up to noon to day.

Quite a fleet of schooners which usually winter at the Bay ports, were last heard from near the upper Gap trying to make their way up. Most of them were light, and some were intending to take cargoes of grain from Belleville to Oswego as their last trip this season, but like a great many other good intentions, were not realized.

The "cold term" has taken a great many by surprise, and considerable inconvenience and loss to shippers and merchants must be the result of so large a quantity of stuff being frozen up.

—A new company has been formed to bore for salt at Clinton.

—Bad silver half and quarter dollar pieces are in circulation in Brantford.

—Down in Maine, where a large number of sewing machines are used in a factory, they are made to run by water power.

—Peat is now selling at $5 50 per ton in Toronto. It is said to be very fine, as well as cheap article of fuel.

—The Montreal papers consider the Quebec Legislature of so small account that they don't intend to have reporters at the next session.

—The Teachers' Association in connection with McGill College, Montreal, have asked the Protestant Commissioners to take the Association under their patronage.

—The Galveston Bulletin gravely suggests that the shortest and surest way to get rid of the Indians is to supply them with all the whiskey they can drink.

—The Montreal 'Star' deplores the ignorance of Lower Canada, and says there is no shadow of doubt that the official content de vos statistics of education are false systematically falsified.

—Les Minerves invelghs against that false and wicked priest Father McMahon, in whose innocence it had previously believed, but from whose face the mark has now fallen.

—A New York paper has had a copy of the Alaska Herald sent it, and says "that as one-half of it is made up from eastern newspapers and the other is in an unknown tongue, we fail to be interested."

The School Question.

To the Editor of the Daily Intelligencer.

SIR,—In your columns the quibbles of the "Sanitized Mashie" have as usual, been ably exposed, therefore I shall say nothing as to what has occurred in regard to Mr. Smith's side, but shall call your attention to the other side of the case. You will remember that five Trustees contended that any number of written resolutions passed without the common seal, would have availed Smith nothing; if so, by parity of reason, no number of written resolutions without the seal, would be sufficiently binding contract to enable a lawyer thus appointed, to collect his costs of an unsuccessful defence; and, judging from the proven repudiating propensities of these five gentlemen, he may be met if he attempts collection by the same defence, not that I think he should go unpaid, for no matter how useless the work may be which a man happens to be engaged to do, he should be paid for it. But the question is, who employed him? According to the theory of the "five," two of them lawyers—the answer is not the Board—it speaks by its seal only, no number of written resolutions avail without the seal, consequently the "five" must have engaged him, for, as appears by the resolutions you published lately, they only voted to employ a lawyer to defend, and are alone responsible for his costs, a matter entirely between him and them, in which fortunately the Town is not interested. They may say that, because the Town was compelled to indemnify Smith; it should be inclined even if there is no sealed contract in justice to indemnify them against their costs. The answer to that is plain; Smith was right and they wrong in opposing right, and must take the consequences.

I was shown by a lawyer a few days ago, the English case of Arnold vs. the Mayor and, Aldermen of the Borough of Poole, 2nd Dowl Rep. N. S. 574; where it is decided by Chief Justice Tindal as follows: "The retainer "at appointment of an Attorney must be by "common seal." Again, the case of Stark vs. Montague, 14th Upper Canada Reports 472, where it was decided by Chief Justice Robinson as follows: "School Trustees "cannot impose a rate to reimburse themselves for costs incurred in defending un"successfully a suit brought against them." And the Judge said, "We take it to be an "acknowledged principle, in regard to public "offices when their conduct being com"plained of has been sustained as legal, they "are admitted to have a just claim to be "reimbursed in any charges they have been "put to in upholding their authority or "proving the legality of their proceeding, "but when they violate the law they are "generally left to bear the consequences, and "are not to be admitted to have a claim to "be indemnified." And as they did not employ their lawyers under seal, the act was illegal, and any costs of defence arising out of such appointments cannot be collected from the Town.

This proves that as the Board do not now levy their own tax, but on an estimate before the Town Council of what they require for school purposes, the Board very properly had an eye to public economy, when they declined to include in the estimates, these costs of defence: if they had done so it is possible (as at least one member of the Town Council would pocket the cash) they might be paid on the estimates, but it is not at all probable.

The question is not what might have occurred had these costs been put in the estimates, but what will occur in regard to them. Supposing an estimate should be laid before the town, including these costs, and the town should refuse to pay them, it is not likely in the face of the above decisions, the Court would grant a mandamus to compel them to pay an illegal demand. On the other hand suppose the town should conclude to pay them, and in order to raise sufficient for that purpose, with all other expenses of the schools, should put the usual column in the Collector's Roll headed "School rate," and should set opposite the name of each rate payer the amount of his school tax in a gross sum, and inseparable, part of which would be legal and part illegal, every rate payer in the town might replevy his property if distrained by the collector for school taxes. Is not this a dilemma for the five? How are they to finance this matter unless they pay the lawyer they employed out of their own pockets?

Belleville, Nov. 23, 1869.

WOLVES IN FRANCE.—In the good hunting country of the Ardennes wolves has already been seen. A cold winter and fine sport are expected. Last winter, in the month of November, a strange animal gave much trouble to the wolf hunters. It spread terror in the neighborhood of Vouziers. It was larger, stronger, and more intrepid than a wolf, with an enormous head and a square jaw. It was, in short, a cross between a large male wolf and a powerful dog bitch. It stood fiercely at bay, and disabled seven or eight dogs before a rifle ball laid it low. The Pyrenees will also be full of wolves. The bathing stations, when buried under snow, presents a curious aspect. The inhabitants have abandoned them, the houses are shut up, the wolves roam through the streets with mournful howls. This spectacle is to be witnessed even at Bagneres de Luchon. There are frequently fierce struggles between the wolves and the formidable Pyrenean dogs, whose coat and power reminds one of the finest Newfoundlands. The necks of those which guard the country houses are protected by those iron collars, bristling with sharp spikes, which are specially manufactured in the Pyrenees, and so carefully and well-finished that some of them are almost works of art.—Le Sports.

—The assessed value of Middlesex is within a trifle of $11,000,000.

—The Kingston 'British Whig' denies the 'Globe' correspondent's reports of failures in that city.

THE LATEST.

THE PARIS ELECTIONS.

PARIS, Nov. 21.—The supplementary elections for members of the Corps Legislatif for this city, commenced to-day, and are progressing quietly.

ARRIVAL OF THE EMPEROR.

The Emperor left Compiegne this morning by special train for Paris, and arrived at the Tuilleries at noon.

DE LESSEPS DECORATED.

M. De Lesseps has been decorated with a general cross of the legion of honor.

REPUBLICANS PROTESTING.

MADRID, Nov. 21.—In the Corps yesterday, Admiral Topete presiding, the members of the Republican Ministry presented a protest declaring that there was no truth in the report that they were implicated in a conspiracy with the insurgents of Cuba.

FORCES FOR CUBA.

Additional reinforcements of Volunteers for service in Cuba, sailed last week for Havana.

AMBASSADOR RE-CALLED.

The newly appointed ambassador from Portugal, was re-called to-day by the Regent with great ceremony.

THE SPANISH THRONE.

MADRID, Nov. 21.—The Ministerial Journal, the Imparcial, reiterates its belief that the Italian Government will accept the Spanish throne for the Duke of Genoa.

SUEZ CANAL.

SUEZ, Nov. 21, via Alexandria.—The inauguration fleet consisting of 45 steamers has arrived here. None were obliged to employ pilots; the only difficulty they had was owing to their numbers. The water in the canal between this point and Ismaila is fully 29 feet deep at the smallowest spot, and in several parts it is not less than 25 feet in depth, but at all these points the bottom can be easily deepened. Steamers drawing 25 feet can navigate the canal from Port Said to Suez, with care, in 15 hours. The water does not wash away the banks as much as was apprehended. The complete success of the great work exceeds all expectations. The arrangement for transporting and taking care of the visitors here are generally excellent.—All the rolling stock on the Alexandria and Suez railroad has been brought into requisition, to transport the immense crowds of visitors.—The mails to and from India have been much delayed in consequence. The canal is now clear of shipping, the entire fleet having anchored in the harbor of Suez.

To-morrow the statue of Waghorn, the Englishman who first proposed the building of the canal will be erected here, and on Tuesday the fleet will start on its return to Port Said; there a statue of Ferdinand De Lesseps, the builder, and resident Director of the Canal will be raised.

ARRIVALS.

SOUTHAMPTON, Nov. 22.—The steamship 'America,' from New York, has arrived.

HAVRE, Nov. 22.—The steamship 'Celia,' from New York, has arrived.

QUEENSTOWN, Nov. 22.—The steamships 'City of Brooklyn,' 'Bivoli' and 'Colorado,' from New York, have arrived.

American Despatches.

VENEZUELA.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Venezuela news is that the government forces occupied Maracaibo and Pulgar. The leaders of the revolutionists have taken refuge in an English gunboat. Private advices received in Washington say that sugarcane-burning in Cuba has been much more extensive than Havana authorities have admitted. The work will, it is said, become general.

A WRECK.—EIGHT PERSONS DROWNED.

The English ship 'Royal Standard' was wrecked off Rio Janeiro and eight passengers drowned. 73 were saved.

HAYTI.

Advices from Jacmel to the 10th inst. state that the insurgents in the south of Hayti are victorious. Salnave, a most trusted general, had deserted and joined the insurgents, who were endeavoring to force his abdication.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

BOILS.

Like the volcano, Boils give issue to the foul and fiery contents of the deep interior. To remove the cause of such suffering it is only necessary to vitalize the blood by supplying it with its Life Element, IRON.

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP,

(a protected solution of the Protoxide of Iron) will do this effectively, and give strength, vigor and new life to the whole system.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM REV. RICHARD S. EDES, OF BOLTON, MASS.

"For years I was a sufferer from Boils, so that my life became wearisome through their frequent and persistent recurrence; finally a carbuncle made its appearance in the small of my back. During its progress large pieces of decomposed flesh were every day or two cast away, and the prostration and general distress of the system were great. Before I had recovered from this attack two smaller carbuncles broke out higher up, and I was again threatened with a recurrence of the sufferings to which I had so long been subjected. It was at this time that I commenced taking the PERUVIAN SYRUP. I continued taking it until I had used five bottles; since then I have had nothing of the kind. For years I was one of the greatest sufferers. Other medicines gave me partial and temporary relief, but this remarkable remedy, with a kind of intuitive sense, went directly to the root of the evil, and did its work with a thoroughness worthy of its established character."

A 32 page Pamphlet sent free. The genuine has "PERUVIAN SYRUP" blown in the glass.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

THE REMEDY FOR CURING

Consumption, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppressions of the Chest or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

IT is action is expectorant, alterative, sedative, diaphoretic, and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm; CLEANSES THE SECRETIONS and PURIFIES the BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action and imparts strength to the whole system. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction, even in the most confirmed cases of consumption, and not to produce costiveness (as do most remedies) or effect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no necessity for so many deaths by consumption, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

NEW

APPLIED IN THE CURE OF

Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine (free from all nauseating or disagreeable) effects upon the Liver, Dr. Radway's is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the most choice products of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other alterative roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tumor, Heart, Pile-making medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care as to proper season, from the native soil, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co.—so that no spurious admixtures or worthless roots can possibly be mixed with them.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this branch alone But the wonderful curative powers that are secured to the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the pays for the outlay over and over again, for never in the history of medicine has there been a remedy so completely builds up, repairs, and makes sound strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful withal, the weak and broken down constitution.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

Dr. RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

It supplies the blood with nutriment.
It PENETRATES TISSUE-MAKING AND FLESH-MAKING QUALITIES.
It supplies the tissues with caloric or heat-making properties.
It cures all Eruptive and Ulcerated diseases of the Eyes, Ears, Mouth, Throat and Skin and body.
It increases the vigor and appetites.
IT STOPS ALL WEAKENING DISCHARGES.
It increases the repairs and diminishes the wastes.
It exterminates the products of decay.
It resolves Tumors, Nodes, Hard Lumps.
It makes the blood sweet and beautiful.
It heals Fever Sores and Ulcers.
It cures Gravel, Gleet, and Stricture.
It makes the water clear and pass freely.
It cures Rheumatism, and Inverts with the vigor of manhood those who, from weaknesses or diseases, are deficient or effeminate.
It rescues woman from the perils incident to change of life—CESSATION OF MENSES.

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if their systems are still in a condition to receive nourishment, and their LUNGS, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wasted beyond the power of repair, or if capable of sustaining the reparative process of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can be restored to health, and the waste and decompositions stopped, and the elements of decay that are sapping away the springs of life dried up in such cases, where the LUNGS, KIDNEYS, and other organs are wasted, decomposed, and their functions destroyed and secretions altered beyond the reparative power of medicine, may, and will, by the use of Sarsaparillian Resolvent, continue to live perhaps for years; for no matter how terrible the forms may be in which disease may appear, under the influence of this great and fresh-making principle, the cure will be greater than the waste and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in health-ful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poison of Venereal, are developed through the process of deposits from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvents.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic Glands Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a marked change in her health for the better after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. The blood becomes more pure, rich, strong, in consequence, and is enabled to hold in solution its nitrogenous elements, the deposits of Tubercle, Scrofulous and other elements of disease, decomposition and death will be eliminated in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs; and each of these Organs will secrete their proper constituent secretions, instead of being, as they are in Consumption, Scrofula, Bright's disease, Ulceration, Diseases of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy, Diabetes, and other diseases, filled with Tubercle, Scrofulous matter, and the Liver, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs will secrete their proper constituent secretions, instead of being filled, the Pancreatic Juice and other fluids being absorbed in the circulation, that secretion will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. Dyspepsia feels its influences on the system, to correct these secretions, and to assist each organ or secreting gland in discharging its proper functions, health can never be restored; hapless for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this important want that has heretofore existed in all other remedial agents, advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones disease and corruption may be, the influence of this powerful agent on the blood and other fluids that supply the living body with repairs, will so change that system with such constituents as to resolve and exterminate the dead and decomposing matter, and supply its place with sound and living structure, assimilated by rich, pure, and strong blood. By its chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during its process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, before it is made blood, as well as the nourishing material it converts into blood, and its specific action when entering in the circulation, it extirpates every atom of virus from the blood, and renders every constituent secretion, instead of being by the action of some specific poison, or virulent disease, or Mercury, Corrosive Sublimate, &c., &c., such as Chloride of Mercury, Calomel, and other agents that may have accumulated in the bones, tissues, cartilages, or joints, or from some transmitted family complaint that may have run out in two or three dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, mucured and badly treated Venereal in its many forms Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Ulcerous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Erysipelas Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancer in the Womb, and all weakening and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, in all wastes of the Life Principle, are within the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Strictures and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy, Diabetes, and those who are incommoded by Stoppage of Water, or Painful Discharges, are quickly relieved and effectually cured through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Desault, of St. Timothee, formerly of Montreal, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his side that resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, along with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and used, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief, and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctored for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB."

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont.

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., &c., sold on his knowledge of your medicine. His son, aged 13 years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all. I saw him in September last, and he was the most revolting and diseased object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruption of the Skin, Boils, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Threatened Consumption, Night Sweats Bleeding from the Lungs, cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WINDSOR STATION, Ontario, Canada West, March 11, 1869.

DR. RADWAY :—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was inclined to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was cured, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to improve fast and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatenes Consumption have disappeared, and I feel myself fully recovered. JONATHAN FREELAND.

N B.—The gentleman has a well known to have been under the treatment of the best physicians in Barnie—he never took Blood from any medicine until he commenced using your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. GEO. MORTIMER.

Lady Byron's Farewell to her Husband.

The following verses, written by Lady Byron in reply to Byron's "Farewell," are copied from an old magazine, and will read with peculiar interest at this time:—

Yes, farewell, farewell, forever!
Thou thyself hast fixed our doom;
Bade hope's sweetest blossoms wither,
Never more for me to bloom.

"Unforgiving" thou hast called me:
Didst thou ever say "forgive?"
For the wretch whose wiles enthralled thee,
Thou didst scorn alone to live.

Short the span which time hath given
To complete thy love's decay,
By unhallowed passions driven,
Soon thy heart was taught to stray.

Lived for me that feeling tender,
Which so well thy verse can show?
From my arms why didst thou wander?
My endearments why forego?

Wrapt in dreams of joy abiding,
On my breast thy head hath lain:
In thy love and truth confiding,
Bliss I ne'er can know again.

When thy heart by me "glanced over"
First displayed the guilty stain,
Would those eyes had closed forever,
Ne'er to weep thy crime again.

But, by heaven's recording sprite,
May that wish forgotten be,
Life, though now a load, I'd bear it
For the babe I've borne to thee.

In whose lovely features, let me
All my weakness here confess,
Whilst the struggling tears permit me,
All her father's I can trace.

His whose image never leaves me,
Whose remembrance yet I prize;
Who the bitterest feeling gives me,
Still to love where I despise.

With regret and sorrow rather,
When our child's first accents flow,
I shall teach her to say "father,"
But his guilt she ne'er shall know.

Whilst to-morrow and to-morrow,
Wake to me a widow'd bed,
In another's arms, no sorrow
Will thou feel, no tears wilt shed.

For the world's applause I sought not,
When I tore myself from thee;
Of its pride or blame I thought not—
What is praise or blame to me?

He in whom my soul delighted,
From his heart my image drove;
With contempt my truth requited,
And preferred a wanton's love.

Thou art proud; and mark me, Byron,
I've a soul proud as your own;
Soft to love, but hard as iron
When despite on me is thrown.

But farewell; I'll not upbraid thee;
Never, never, wish thee ill,
Wretched though thy crimes have made me,
If thou canst, be happy still.

Stock Market.

The Montreal 'Gazette' of the 19th Nov. quotes Stocks as follows:—

Since my last, the transfer books of the following banks have been closed for the payment of the dividends on the 1st December:—Montreal City, Ontario, and Jacques Cartier. There has been a large demand for nearly all securities, but prices remain about the same.

BANK OF MONTREAL—Closed rather weak with some pressure to sell at 167 to 167½. There are buyers at dividend at 161, and sellers at 162½.

BANK OF BRITISH NORTH AMERICA.—Small amounts have been placed at 106½, which price would still be paid.

CITY BANK—Closed very firm and in demand at 92½ with no sellers.

MOLSON'S BANK—Is rather firmer, with buyers at 102, and sellers at 103.

MERCHANTS' BANK—Has been largely dealt in at gradually advancing prices, and closed very firm at 108 to 108½.

MECHANICS' BANK—No transactions to report. 90 would be paid.

BANQUE DU PEUPLE—Was sold to some extent at 106½ and 107, sellers to-day asking 107½.

BANQUE JACQUES CARTIER—Closed firm, with buyers but no sellers at 109.

QUEBEC BANK—Would command 103½, but there is no stock in market.

BANQUE NATIONALE—No transactions during the week, and prices still remain unchanged.

UNION BANK OF LOWER CANADA.—Is enquired for at 106½, with no sellers under 107.

EASTERN TOWNSHIPS BANK—There are buyers but no sellers at quotations.

ONTARIO BANK—After advancing to 102 closed weak, with no buyers over 101. It is now offered at 98½, with buyers at 97 ex-dividend.

BANK OF TORONTO—Is still asked for at 126½, but there is no stock in market.

GORE BANK—There has been no stock in market for weeks; an advance on quotations is procurable.

ROYAL CANADIAN BANK—The improvement noticed in our last still continues, and 64 to 65 is now readily procurable.

CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE—Continues steadily to advance, closing in demand at 110½ to 111.

MONTREAL TELEGRAPH COMPANY—There are to-day buyers at 117, but no sellers.

CANADIAN NAVIGATION COMPANY—There has been a rather better demand for this stock, with considerable sales at 100, and closed firm at that price.

RICHELIEU NAVIGATION COMPANY—Large amounts would be placed at 123 to 124, but there is none offering.

CANADA DREDGE—Continue in active demand, with considerable sales of Dominion sixes at 106½.

MORTGAGES—Have been negotiated at 7 per cent.

EXCHANGE—Has again advanced, and is now in demand at 9 9-16 for bank, and 9 to 9¼ for private.

MONEY—The supply of money continues on the increase, and lower rates are confidently looked for.

—When Thackeray died it was supposed, from his generous sympathies and his free mode of living, that his daughters were left without support; and Messrs. Smith & Elder, the London publishers, to their honor be it said, sent them a check book with every check signed, to be filled up as their wants should require; but fortunately the father had left behind a competency for their support.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and squable over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came; the room was crowded with anxious expectants; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters.

to Montreal Tea Company: MONTREAL, 1868.

GENTS.—At the early part of last year I purchased the first chest of Tea from your house. I have purchased many since, and I am pleased to inform you the Tea has in every case proved most satisfactory, as well as being exceedingly cheap. Yours very truly,
J. DENNE.

Montreal Tea Co: Montreal, April 1868.—To the Montreal Tea Company, 6 Hospital Street, Montreal: We notice with pleasure the large amount of tea forwarded for you to different parts of the Dominion, and we are glad to find your business so steadily increasing. We presume your Teas are giving general satisfaction, as out of the large amount forwarded we have only had occasion to return one box, which, we understand, was sent through a mistake.

GENTLEMEN.—The Tea I purchased of you in March has given great satisfaction, and the flavor of it a very fine one. I am a very strange, but since I have been drinking your Tea I have been quite free from heartburn, which would always pain me after breakfast. I attribute this to the purity of your Tea, and shall continue a customer

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white, cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally relied upon by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, see that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of remarkable cures of many of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we forbear publishing them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by any body. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their mild influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring them to their proper tone and vigor, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Lack of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Bilious Colic, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Fever, and Bilious Dysentery, they should be judiciously taken in each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally sufficient.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continued judiciously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. When such is the case, they produce a powerful purgative.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it generally produces the desired effect.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, purifies the blood, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original preparer at the National Exposition at Torino, Italy, by whose favor Mr. Gianelli obtained the Recipe, and was also awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition of Canada, held at Montreal in September, 1865, is without exception, the most Genuine, Salubrious and agreeable Tonic ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America.

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite among the elite of society, being generally served in the Drawing Room immediately before dinner, in preference to Vermouth.

☞ The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval on every account.

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, TUESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 23, 1869. No. 174.

The Thunders of the Church.

EXCOMMUNICATION IN THE GULF DISTRICT A NEWLY MARRIED COUPLE TRANSGRESS—THEIR PUNISHMENT, THEIR REPENTANCE AND THEIR CRIME.

Two Roman Catholics (legally man and wife) residing at Metis and named Ottot and Lavoie, have been excommunicated by the Administrator of the Diocese of Rimouski, for contracting marriage before a Protestant Minister, the woman being the man's deceased wife's neice. The sentence was pronounced by the Administrator in open church on All Saints Day and reads as follows:

EDMOND LANGEVIN.

Vicar General of the Illustrious and Reverend Jean Langevin, Bishop of St. Germain de Rimouski and Administrator of the Diocese.

To whom all these presents may come,

GREETING.

Having been informed in a positive and indubitable manner that Louis Ottot, widower of Genevieve Pineau, of the parish St. Germain de Rimouski and heretofore of Bay City, in the State of Michigan, presented himself on the 31st of August last, before a heretic minister (the Rev. Thomas Fenwick of the Presbyterian Church, Metis, Tr.,) for the purpose of contracting a marriage against the laws, divine and human, with Caroline Lavoie, also of the parish of St. Germain de Rimouski, neice of his deceased wife, and that this pretended marriage had two witnesses who signed the deed with the said heretical minister.

Being further informed that the said Louis Ottot and Caroline Lavoie so acted with a full knowledge of the facts and the penalty they thus exposed themselves to, —that they openly avowed the course they would take to their ecclesiastical superiors, and that they were thereupon warned of the excommunication that would follow, as a consequence of their impious act.

Now considering, first, that the said L. Ottot and C. Lavoie have committed an act of apostacy by having recourse to a heretical minister, and have cast an insult at the Church which demands repression;

Considering, secondly, that the scandalous example given by these two unfortunates is enormous, and calls for a punishment proportioned to their crime;

Considering, thirdly, that the crime so committed is manifest, notorious and flagrant;

We in consequence, of our wisdom, and in the name of the very Holy Trinity, Father, Son and Holy Ghost, and by virtue of the powers which have been conferred upon us,

Solemnly excommunicate by these presents, and separate from the society of the Faithful and said Louis Ottot and Caroline Lavoie, desiring that they be deprived of participation in the sacraments and all spiritual benefits during their lifetime and ecclesiastical burial at their death.

We further declare that all persons who may shelter the said excommunicated or who may formally encourage them before witnesses will equally incur excommunication;

We reserve to ourselves and to Monseigneur the Bishop, the absolution of the said excommunication.

The present sentence will be read and published from the pulpit of the parish Church of St. Germain de Rimouski on the 1st November, All Saints Day, and signified to all whom it may concern.

Given at St. Germain de Rimouski under our hand, the seal of the diocese and the countersign of our Secretary pro tempore, this 31st Oct. 1869.

EDMOND LANGEVIN.
Vic. Gen.
ADMINISTRATOR.

By the Administrator.
J. GAGNE, Acol.

Secretary pro temp.

La Voix du Golfe, the paper from which we have translated the above sentence, says that this terrible punishment was prompt in its effect and created a profound impression throughout the diocese. The excommunicated parties aware of the consequences of the sentence pronounced upon them, notified the Grand Vicar that they submitted without reserve and requested that their recantation should be published so that the reparation should be equally placed before the witnesses of their crime. The document reads as follows:

"Penetrated with grief for having merited the censures, through excommunication, of the Church, we, the undersigned, Caroline Lavoie and Louis Ottot, supplicate the Grand Vicar to remove the penalties pronounced against us, and to restore us to the rights and privileges of the children of the Church. We offer, to this effect, to make the reparation which will be required at our hands for the scandal which we have caused by our conduct, and for the injury which we have done to the Church by presenting ourselves before a heretical minister. We also pray the parishioners of Rimouski, and all who have been witnesses of our weakness and fall, to aid us in publishing this our honorable confession and regrets.

In testimony of which we have signed at St. Germain de Rimouski, this 8th Nov., 1869, in possession of witnesses.

CAROLINE LAVOIE.
his
LOUIS ✕ OTTOT.
mark.

E. LANGEVIN, Priest,
J. B. HOUDIN, Priest,
P. L. LAVOIE,
F. A. MARTIN,
} Witnesses.

The reparation required, continues our contemporary, consisted in that the excommunicated parties should present themselves in the vestibule of the church for the purpose of soliciting absolution from the censures which had been cast upon them. On Sunday, consequently, they both separately presented themselves, and on their knees humbly and affirmatively responded to the following questions addressed to them by the Administrator, who was attired in the surplice, violet stole and barret:—

"Caroline Lavoie, do you admit that the degrees of parentage and alliance laid down in Leviticus or established by the church, forbid the performance of marriage?"

Do you recognize that the Church alone has the right to dispense with impediments to marriage, and that recourse to civil law or a heretical minister cannot render valid any marriage contracted by persons bound by ties within prohibited degrees without the dispensation of the legitimate authority?

Do you admit the absolute nullity of the marriage which you attempted to contract before a Protestant minister?

The Administrator then ascended the pulpit, read the amende honorable, and immediately descended again to pronounce the formula of absolution from the front of the choir.

La Voix du Golfe concludes its narrative by denouncing the Rev. Mr. Fenwick for thus marrying parties within the prohibited degrees, and thereby committing an offence punishable by action under the civil code.

Who will say after this that Romanism has changed.

General Catholic Council.

In view of the rapidly approaching Œcumenical or General Council of the Roman Catholic Church at Rome, the following list of the General Councils, which have been held, and the reasons for which they were convened, is of interest:

1. The first General Council was that of Nicehead in 325, for the purpose of refuting the heresies of Arius, who asserted that Christ was inferior to His Father.

2. The second General Council was held at Constantinople, A.D. 381, to refute the errors of Macedonius, who asserted that the Holy Ghost was not of three divine persons.

3. The third General Council was held at Ephesus 831, concerning the heresy of Nestorius, who asserted that the Blessed Virgin should not be called the Mother of God.

4. The fourth General Council met at Chalcedon in 451, to decide on the doctrine of Eutyches, who denied the humanity of Christ.

5. The fifth General Council met at Constantinople, A.D. 600. It condemned the heresy of Origen, who asserted that the Holy Ghost is nothing more than divine energy or power of acting, &c.

6. The sixth General Council met at Constantinople, A.D. 680. It condemned the doctrine of the Monotheitis.

7. The seventh met at Nice, 787, to denounce the impiety and heresy of the Iconoclasts, who opposed veneration of images.

8. The eighth General Council met at Constantinople, 869, and confirmed the reverence of images and other regulations of the church.

9. The ninth General Council and the first Lateran met 1123.

10. The tenth General Council and the second Lateran met 1139. This Council among other matters condemned the acts of Arnold, of Brescia.

11. The eleventh General Council also met in the Lateran, 1197. This Council ordained that the right of voting for a new Pontiff should from that time forward belong exclusively to the College of Cardinals.

12. The twelfth also met in the Lateran in 1215. This Council among other matters, gave its assent to seventy chapters drawn up by the Pope, who presided at it.

13. The thirteenth General Council met at Lyons in 1245. Its object was that of deposing the Emperor Frederick. It also treated of three other subjects,—First, the assuring of the Empire of Constantinople against the Tartars; and third, the Holy Land against the Saracens.

14. The fourteenth General Council met at Lyons in 1274, for the purpose among other things, of reuniting the Greek Church.

15. The fifteenth General Council met at Vienna 1311, for the purpose of suppressing the Order of Knights Templar, and the Doctrine of the "Brethren and Sisters of the Free Spirit," a German Constitution condemned.

16. The sixteenth General Council was that of Florence, which assembled 1413, on account of a dispute that existed in the selection of a Pope, there being at that time no less than three claimants for the holy office.

17. The seventeenth General Council is known as that of Ferrara and Florence. Its object was the reunion of the Latin and Greek Churches.

18. The eighteenth General Council was that of Trent, which was convoked in 1515 by Pope Paul III., to refute the heresies of Luther, Calvin and Zuinglius.

The Irish Fenians and what they are Doing.

The Fenians have announced that they will not permit the tenant farmers and others interested in the reform of the land law to hold any more meetings on that subject until the Fenian prisoners are released. They thus assume the Government of the country, dictating to the farmers what they may and may not do,repressing the freedom of speech and the liberty of public meetings and discussions. Their terrorism seems to have prevailed in at least one instance, of which we yesterday published an account. Farther than this—there is some ground to believe that the recent attack upon a priest and his parishioners was their work, and not that of Orangemen,to whom it has been attributed. These plotters fear that the Roman clergy being contented with the overthrow of the Established Church, and the farmers with an amendment of the land law, their occupation will be gone.—Their hopes of rising to position and wealth by means of the projected revolution which is to sever Ireland from the Empire and make it an independent republic, and attendant confiscations, will be lost. To shoot a priest or his friends would be a congenial act to a Fenian cut-throat trained to American indifference about religious matters. To renew the hatred between the two religions they may hold to be a means of producing the confusion they desire—on which they hope to thrive—and to bring the clergy over to them for protection from violence. To terrify the priests and tenants is a gain to them, they hold, in either case; to lay the blame on the Orangemen, a way at once to rouse religious animosity and save their own necks. Another instance of their handiwork is thus stated in an English paper:—"A Dublin telegram in the "Herald says an attempt was made on "Monday, by the removal of a rail, to "throw a train off the line to Navan, which "was conveying about 700 farmers and 5 "priests to the tenant right meeting in that "town. There is reason to believe that the "Fenian party were the perpetrators of the "outrage, which was fortunately discovered "in time." The men who would do this would quite as readily have shot at the priest at Ballarbet.- Gazette.

The News from Dr. Livingstone.

Sir Roderich Murchison has published the following interesting communication:

"Although a full communication will be made to the Royal Geographical Society on Monday next, concerning the last letter of Livingstone, dated the 7th of July, 1868, I may at once satisfy public anxiety respecting the great traveller by stating that, as far as it went, the recent telegram from Bombay was correct.

"In a letter to myself from Zanzibar, dated the 10 h September, Dr. Kirk has given me sufficient extracts from Living stone's letter to him to enable me to give a very brief outline of the researches of my illustrious friend. Dr. Kirk has also forwarded despatches from Livingstone to the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs and India, and also a letter to myself; but when I left London on Wednesday, none of these letters had reached their destination.

"The following is an outline of the information communicated to me:—

"Dr. Livingston had traced a chain of lakes connected by rivers, from the tracts south of the Lake Tanganyika to south latitude 10 degrees to 12 degrees, and he conjectures that these numerous connected lakes and rivers are the ultimate southern source of the Nile. When he wrote he was about to travel northwards to Ujiji, on the eastern shore of Lake Tanganyika, where he expected to find some information from home, of which he had been entirely deprived for two years, as well as to receive provisions and assistance.

"As Dr. Kirk adds, 'You knew long ago of his safe arrival at Ujiji,' we may infer that before this time he will have satisfied himself whether any of the South African waters flow into the equatorial Albert Nyanza of Baker, of the existence of which great lake we now learn that Dr. Livingstone was cognizant. If this determination has been arrived at, Livingstone will have gloriously solved the great problem of African geography, and will have proved by actual observation that Ptolmey seventeen centuries ago really placed the sources of the Nile to about their true latitude, a view which has of late been sustained by Beke, Arrowsmith, and Findlay.

"I am sir, your obedient servant,

"RODERICK I. MURCHISON.

"P. S.—In consequence of the good will and letters of the Sultan of Zanzibar, our long absent friend has been most hospitably treated by the Arab traders in the interior of whom he writes in the most grateful terms."

—A heavy sea carried away a portion of the baggage room of the steamer 'Quebec' on her downward trip from Montreal on the 21st, and injuring a large quantity of baggage.

—The Municipal authorities to Galena, U. S., are in pool for contempt of Court. Tois Town can't pay the interest on her debt, and her Councillors are jugged accordingly.

—The Roman Catholic authorities of Montreal have refused to bury Joseph Guibard, a printer, because he was a member of the Institute canadien. A prosecution is to be instituted.

—A young lady mistook a bottle of violet ink for perfumery, in the darkness, the other evening, and put some on her handkerchief, which she used to wipe her face, and hastening to a party immediately after, creating an immense sensation.

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, NOV. 23.

NO QUORUM.—There not being enough members present last night to form a quorum, there was no meeting of the Town Council.

CURLING.—Some enthusiastic Curlers had a couple of hours at the "roaring game" yesterday afternoon on the river edge. The ice was somewhat rough, but being the first game of the season, it was much enjoyed.

FIRE.—On Saturday night last, the farm dwelling on the south side of the Kingston Road, about two miles east of the town, occupied by Mrs. Tobias Bleeker, was destroyed by fire. A portion of the contents was saved. We understand the property was insured, but in what company have not learned.

ABANDONED.—A telegram from Oswego, Nov. 22nd, says:—"The schooner "Mary O'Gorman" was found yesterday about nine miles below this port, dismantled and abandoned, with her anchors dragging. Her boat has come ashore, capsized, and her crew are supposed to be lost. She is owned in Kingston, Ont., and is loaded with barley, which is undamaged. She now l'es at this port."

SLEIGHING.—The ringing of the sleigh bells made merry music to-day. The snow lay on the ground about six inches deep, and as the ground had been previously frozen and considerable ice had been made, sleighing was tolerably good. It really seems as if winter had commenced to reign, though there are those who anticipate mild and fine weather yet, before he tightens round us his icy grip.

NEW POST OFFICES.—The following post offices were established in Cadada on the 1st November, 1869:—Bushfield, re-opened—N. B.—Central Cambridge, W. O.—Queens, N. B.—Cole Harbour, W. O.—Guysboro, N. S.—Folly Lake, W. O.—Colchester, N. S.—Kingsey Falls, re-opened—Drummond, Q.—Mount Hope—Middlesex, W. R. O., re-opened, —Thunder Bay, Sub. District of Algoma, O. —Vankleek, Simcoe. N. R., O.

FATHER MCMAHON.—Some doubts having been expressed as to the truth of Father McMahon's statement that when he joined the Fenians, he was on his way to Montreal to receive a bequest left him by a dece a d brother, we Montreal Star, may say that we are assured that he was entitled to a legacy under his brother's will, consisting of a contingent reversion of an old watch, worth about six dollars, still in the hands of the executor.

LAW OF EVIDENCE.—A new practice in relation to the law of evidence went into operation on the 2nd inst. in England, in the Divorce Court, under the 32 and 33 Vict, chap. 63. It is as follows:—"The parties in any proceeding instituted in consequence of adultery, and the husbands or wives of such parties, shall be competent to give evidence in such proceedings. Provided, that no witnesses in any proceeding, whether a party to the suit or not, shall be liable to be asked, or bound to answer, any question tending to show that he or she has been guilty of adultery, unless such witness have already given evidence in the same proceeding in disproof of his or her alleged adultery.

THE FENIANS AND THE RED RIVER DIFFICULTY.—The New York Fenians are taking some interest in the insurrection at Red River as will be seen by the following despatch from New York, Nov. 22nd:—"At a meeting of Fenian leaders held yesterday at head quarters in West fourth street, a proposition to aid the Winnepeg insurgents was discussed with much animation. One member declared that as the insurrection was against the Canada Confederation, and not against Great Britain, interference on the part of declared enemies of the Mother Country would probably be unwelcome to the Red River half-breeds. Another urged that the coldness of the weather in the Hudson Bay region would prevent for some months, at least, extended military operations. After a brief but lively discussion, the further consideration of the subject was deferred till a future occasion.

MISSIONARY MEETING.—The missionary meeting in connection with the Methodist Episcopal Church in this town, took place last evening. The attendance, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, was very good. the Church being well filled with an attentive audience. The chair was occupied by His Worship the Mayor, P. D. CONGER, Esq., who, in opening the meeting, made a short speech, setting forth the object of the meeting and the advantages that would accrue to us as a people if we came forward and sustained the noble work of this Church, it being a purely home mission. The Rev. Mr Wild then read extracts from the annual report, showing that the missionary enterprises of the Church was in a flourishing condition. Prof. A. Carman and the Rev. Mullroony Finn, of Haldimand, then addressed the audience on behalf of the missionary work of the Church, after which collections and subscriptions were taken up. Mr. Finn is a fluent and forcible speak r, and must be a power in the work in which he is engaged. We were pleased to observe on the platform the Rev. Mr. Brethour, of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, and the Rev. Mr. Smith, of St. Andrew's Church. Votes of thanks were then given to the collectors for the past year, the choir for their valuable services, and to the chairman, after which the Rev. Mr. Smith pronounced the benediction and the meeting closed.

Shipping News.

The schooner 'Ariadane,' from Oswego with a cargo of goods for Belleville, was lying at Telegraph Island yesterday when the steamers 'St. Helen' and 'Ottawa' made their way through the ice. She immediately got into position, and the wind being fair, followed the track of the steamers, and got into port a short time after. It was a very fortunate circumstance for this vessel, for had the 'St. Helen' not made a passage through the ice, she would have been frozen up for the winter.

The 'St. Helen' started this morning with a view of making Picton, and after a great deal of tough work, found at Big Bay the ice so thick and the impediments so great that she was forced to return to Belleville. She now lies at her wharf here, and unless there is a break up, this vessel and the 'Ottawa' will be obliged to lay up here for the winter. Captain Smith reports that while the paddle wheels broke the ice comparatively easy yesterday, the heavy body of snow in the water makes progress much more difficult to-day.

The steamer 'Rochester' left Kingston last night on her return trip, intending to lay up in Belleville. But a telegram from Mill Point informs us that she encountered very heavy ice, two inches thick, about two miles this side of that place this morning, and was obliged to put back. She was at Mill Point at eleven o'clock, and was preparing to return to Kingston.

The 'Florence Howard' left Oswego this morning with a cargo for Belleville, but it is very evident unless the ice breaks up, she will not be able to come through.

As to the other vessels reported to be lying near the upper Gap on Sunday, we have not heard what has become of them, but presume they have gone into winter quarters.

The Assault Case.

The prisoners Jas. Bulger, Catterack, Robert McCormick and John Quinn, who were remanded, were again brought before the Court when the following evidence was given:—

THOS. DOWNS, sworn.—Remember the morning that Bennett was beaten; did not hear the noise; live at Chas. Mullins'; a relative was sleeping in the same room with me; he said there was a fuss and woke me up; I sat up in bed and listened, and heard some one say, I think it was John Bulger, "leave Jack Bennett alone, I will attend to him;" laid down again; saw nothing; saw Bulger, James Colligan told him he saw it.

JAMES COLLIGAN, sworn,—Am boarder at Mullins'; heard the row when it commenced; it was between Bennett and prisoners; heard Bennett call Bulger a son of a b——h; then Bulger told Catterack "go for him;" then look ed out of the window and saw Catterack and Bennett clinch; then went down stairs into the gangway; saw three all together; Did not see McCormick at all; saw Bulger kick Bennett once when he was down on the body; Catterack was standing by; heard a noise like knocking something on the ground; Bennett was helpless when Bulger kicked him; heard Taylor call to them; said nothing to them; saw R. B. Bennett cross the street; did not see McCormick or Jack Quinn; Bennett got up three times and fell down each time; did not know whether it was from a hurt; Bennett was drunk; did not call for help; Bulger kicked Bennett before he attempted to rise; did not tell Downs of the row till next morning.

Cross Examined by Mr. Jellett—Knew Bennett by his voice; heard him say "I am not going to run from such a son of a b——h as you," and then Bulger said go for him Catterack; did not have the window up; had not been in bed; was in the sitting room after the fire; heard the parties running down the sidewalk, and one went down the gang-way; had been drinking at Doyle's; came down street with Bennett, Bulger, Catterack, and McCormick; left them at the gang-way; Bennett had his overcoat on when they came down from Doyles; never saw his coat after; they had not time to go after another drink before the row began; was about 10 feet from Bulger when he kicked Bennett; saw the motion of the foot, but heard no blow; remained there till they went away; knew the man on the ground was Jack Bennett, because R. B. Bennett picked him up.

To Mr. Dismond—When they left, Bennett and Bulger went down the street, and Catterack crossed the road.

To the Court—Left on the sidewalk when I went in, Bulger, Catterack, McCormick and Bennett, no others.

JOHN QUINN, sworn—Was in bed when the row took place; slept with Joseph Reeves; was with Bennett at Pappineau's; know nothing of the row; saw Bennett and McCormick in Pappineau's about 11 o'clock; they had both been drinking; were friendly.

The Court then told Quinn he was discharged as there was no evidence against him; and read the following letter:—

Belleville, Nov. 19th, 1869.

MR. ABRAHAM DIAM SR.—I have come to the conclusion that it is my duty, without further delay, to confess guilty of the deed that was done on poor John Bennett, last Saturday morning, Nov. 13, 1869. Unfortunately we had a fire on Friday night, and it being Saturday morning when we got the engine away, we were all wet, and I for one stimulated a little too much. Last meeting John Bennett and McCormick that morning. Bennett and I fell out and had words in front of Mullins' door. Bulger was in company with me, going home; McCormick and Bennett close behind us. Finally the row commenced; Bennett and I at it, McCormick taking me off, and then Bulger and he had a clinch and fell on the sidewalk, struggling for some seconds. The row quit on Mr. Taylor's appearance at the window. I never harboured any ill feelings against Bennett, and am very sorry any such took place. Anxiously hoping to know the result at your earliest convenience. I remain,

Yours respectfully,

JOSEPH CATTERACK.

MR. W. J. Diamond applied for bail on behalf of McCormick, which the Court agreed to take, upon his giving bail himself in $400, and two sureties in $100 each. Bail was refused for Bulger and Catterack.

Dr. Knight stated that Bennett was not yet able to appear in Court, but thought that by next Monday he might be enabled to be present.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

MONDAY, Nov. 22nd.

A number of petitions were presented and returns laid before the House.

Mr. Blake obtained leave to introduce a bill referring to the powers, privileges, and amenities of the Legislative Assembly. The bill was read a first time, and the second reading fixed for that day week.

Mr. Lount moved for a select committee consisting of Messrs. Cameron, Ferguson, Coyne, McCall, Hayes, Clarke, Williams (Durham), Wallis, Swinarton, Graham (York), Boyd, Oliver, Lauder, and the mover, respecting the Huron and Ontario Canal. A lengthy debate took place, when the motion was carried.

The consideration of Mr. Blake's resolutions respecting Nova Scotia was deferred until to day at the request of the Attorney-General, there being a very thin House.

Some other routine business was done and the House adjourned at 5 p. m.

The Red River Insurrection.

FORT GARRY IN THE HANDS OF THE REBELS.

SIX HUNDRED SWORN MEN IN ARMS.

PETITIONS IN FAVOR OF ANNEXATION ADOPTED—THE BRITISH SETTLERS INACTIVE—THE INDIANS SUPPORTING THE REBELS—ILLNESS OF GOVERNOR MCTAVISH.

Despatch from Telegraph Correspondent.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 22.

Latest advices from the Red River Territory represent the insurrection as much more serious than anticipated. Fort Garry is in possession of the insurgents, a body of whom numbering two hundred, surrounded the fort, which was at once surrendered, as no effective resistance could be offered. This movement took place about the time of Governor McDougall's expulsion.

The rebels proceeded to organize a Provisional Government, John Bruose being elected Provisional Governor, who is now in command at the fort. The larger body of the rebels, commanded by Loranger, are encamped near the American frontier.

The serious illness of Governor McTavish has contributed to the success of the insurrection, as he has been unable to take any action in opposition to their movements. No bloodshed whatever has so far ensued. The British settlers remain comparatively quiet, the attempt at organization in support of Governor Macdougall having been abandoned. A few of the British have joined the insurgents, but the majority await external assistance.

Business is reported as good, no interruption having been experienced. Gov. Macdougall remains in camp near Pembina, and will remain there, pending instructions from Ottawa.

The total number of the insurgents in arms is variously estimated at from five to eight hundred. Mr. Provencher will probably return to Canada.

A constitution has been adopted embodying a Republican form of Government, and petitions are to be forwarded to Washington in favor of annexation.

A large band of Crow Indians, under their chief Tistekorea, are reported to have joined the insurgents. Messengers have been sent by the latter to the Indians to secure their assistance, and most of the tribes are reported favourable to the insurgent cause, fearing that immigration will deprive them of their hunting grounds.

THE SUPPLEMENTARY ELECTIONS.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—The supplementary elections for the Corps Legislatif have terminated. Henry Rochefort is elected from the first circonscription, Cremieux from the third, and Arrago from the eighth. In the fourth circonscription no candidate had a definite majority, and a new election will be ordered. The city is tranquil. No crowds have gath-red in the streets, and no political demonstrations have been made.

DR. LIVINGSTONE'S DISCOVERY.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Dr. David Livingston, in an interesting letter which is printed, confirms all that has been reported by Cable of the value of his recent discoveries. It is his belief that the Nile's chief source rises between 10 degrees and 12 degrees south latitude, or about southward of the more northern part of the Victoria Nyanza. His finding of a chain of lakes, connected by rivers, far to the south of Lake Tanganyika, has encouraged him in this view. Any further re-alization of which will, as Dr. Livingstone promises, and Sir Roderick Murchison believes, settle the question of the final sources of that mysterious river.

THE LATEST.

ALL QUIET IN PARIS.

PARIS, Nov. 22.—The city continues perfectly quiet. During the evening many people were on the Boulevards and the Streets, but a heavy rain was falling which prevented any gatherings. Some cries of V. ve Rochefort were raised, but with this exception no manifestation was made. Few police were seen in the streets, and whatever precautions the Government may have taken against disorder, they were no where apparent.

ANOTHER EARTHQUAKE EIGHT KILLED.

MADRID, Nov. 22.—Accounts have been received of a destructive earthquake in the Philippine Islands. The sea rose, buildings were thrown down, and the loss of property was very great. At the port of Manilla eight persons were killed and many injured.

BOILS,

Like the volcano, Boils give issue to the foul and fiery contents of the deep interior. To remove the cause of such suffering it is only necessary to vitalize the blood by supplying it with its Life Element, IRON.

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP,

(a protected solution of the Protoxide of Iron) will do this effectually, and give strength, vigor and new life to the whole system.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM REV. RICHARD S. EDES, OF BOLTON, MASS.

"For years I was a sufferer from Boils, so that my life became wearisome through their frequent and persistent recurrence; finally a carbuncle formed in the small of my back. During its progress large pieces of decomposed flesh were every day or two cut away, and the prostration and general disturbance of the system were great. Before I had recovered from that attack two smaller carbuncles broke out higher up, and I was again threatened with a recurrence of the sufferings to which I had so long been subjected. It was at this time that I commenced taking the PERUVIAN SYRUP. I continued taking it until I had used two bottles; since then I have had nothing of the kind. For years I was one of the greatest sufferers. Other medicines gave me partial and temporary relief, but this remarkable remedy, with a kind of intuitive sense, went directly to the root of the evil, and did its work with a thoroughness worthy of its established character."

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

THE REMEDY FOR CURING

Consumption, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat Bronchial Tubes and Organs, Diseases of the Chest or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

IT is action is powerful, positive, sedative, diaphoretic, and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing disease of the lungs. It excites free respiration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm; CLEANSES THE SECRETIONS and PURIFIES the BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver into proper action, and restores strength to the whole system. It is warranted to give perfect satisfaction, even in the most confirmed cases of consumption, and not to produce costiveness (as do most remedies) or effect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no necessity for so many deaths by consumption, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

NEW

APPLIED IN THE CURE OF
Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S
SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine Dr. Rex from all nauseating or disagreeable properties of others of here, Dr. Radway's is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the most choice products of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other foreign roots yielding principles that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Heat, Fat-making medicine are selected each season, from the native soil, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co.—so that no spurious admixtures or worthless root can possibly be mixed with the pure.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in the branch alone But the wonderful improvement it has effected in the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the pays for the outlay over and over again; for never in the history of medicine has a medicine been found so completely build up, repair, and make sound, strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful without, the weak and broken-down constitutions, as

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

Dr. RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

It supplies the blood with nourishment.
IT CONTAINS TISSUE-MAKING AND FLESH-FORMING PRINCIPLES.
It supplies the system with caloric or heat-making properties.
It cures all Scrofulous and Ulcerated diseases of the Throat, Ears, Mouths, Throat and Skin and Scalp.
It increases the weight and appetite.
IT STOPS ALL WASTEFUL AND DISCHARGES.
It increases the repairs and diminishes the wastes.
It establishes the products of decay.
It resolves Tumors, Nodes, Hard Lumps.
It makes the skin clear and transparent.
It heals Fever Sores and Ulcers.
It cures Gravel, Grit, Ease, Mouths, Throat.
It makes the water clear and pass freely.
It cures Barrenness, and in women with the vigor of manhood those ailments which render a woman from the pettis incident to change of life—cessation of Menses.

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if their systems are still in possession of the vital organs, but what Dr. Radway's LIVER KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wasted beyond the means of repair, of capable of sustaining the reparative process of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can be either restored to health, or the waste and decompositions stopped, and the elements o health and vigor again established from the system.

Extreme cases, where the LUNGS, KIDNEYS, and other organs are wasted, decomposed, and their functions interrupted and sometimes altered beyond the reparative power of medicine, may, and will, by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, continued for a few months, be restored to their healthy vigorous state, if forces may be, if the system can be brought under the influence of the Resolvent; and then the repairs will be greater than the wastes and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poison of Venereal, are developed through the process of deposits from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic Glands Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a marked change in his health for the better after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure, rich, strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution its natural constituents, the deposits of Tubercle—tou matter and other elements of disease, decomposition and decay will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs; and each of these Organs will secrete their proper constituent secretions. Instead of Urine Bile, the Peculiar Juice of the Liver, being absorbed in the circulation, these secretions will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If sanative faith in its influence on the system, to correct these secretions, and to assist each organ or secreting gland in discharging its proper functions, health can never be restored. Rags and pills for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this important end has been hitherto existed in all there remedial agent advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs or bones diseases and corruption may be, the influence of this power ful agent on the blood and other fluids that course through the living body with repairs, will so charge the system with, such new elements as to render and eliminate the dead and decomposing matter, and supply in its place with sound and living material, nourished by rich, pure, and strong blood. By its chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during the process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, before it reaches the blood, as well as the nourishing constituents it converts into blood all the specific medicine entering in the circulation, it exterminates every atom of virus from the blood, and removes every deposits of disease, whether caused by the scrofulous, consumptive, or syphilitic taint, or the Mercurial, Rheumatic, Inflammatic, t. e. the Corrosive Chloride of Mercury, Colchicum, Lead, or Opium poisons that may have accumulated in the bones, tissues cartilages, or other parts of the system. Even the most inveterate cases of Scrofula, or Scrofulous Syphilis family complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, mucured and bally treated Venereal in its many forms, Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Eyelashes, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tetters, Cancer in the Womb, and all wasteing and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Life Principle, are with the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Strictures, and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Dropsy, Dropsy, Diabetes, and all who are incurious unloved by Stimps of Mercurial, Rheumatic Diagnoses, are quickly relieved and effectually cured by the use of

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G Denault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years SCROFULOUS ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his side just outside the kidney. All medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada, he had failed to consume the sin of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, assisted with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two of three boxes of Radway's Pills, and used as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent mixed, and which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously suffered from those ulcers, diseases for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont.

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half a dozen farms, a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., told me of his knowledge of your medicine. His face and body was covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk, chest, limbs, and all. I saw him in September last, and he was the most revolting and diseased object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruption of the Skin, Boils, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Threatened Consumption, Night Sweats Bleeding from the Lungs, cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WINDSOR STATION, Ontario, Canada West, March 19, 1869.

DR. RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was arrested, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatened Consumption have disappeared, and I am perfectly fully restored. JONATHAN PARELAND.

N. B.—The gentleman was well known to have been under the treatment of the best physicians in Barnsville—he received no benefit from any medicine until he commenced using your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. GEO. PORTER.

Gossip.

Says Gossip One to Gossip Two,
"While shopping in the town,
Old Mrs. Fry to me remarked,
Smith bought his goods of Brown."

Says Gossip Two to Gossip Three,
Who cast her eyelids down,
"I've heard it said to-day, my friend,
Smith got his goods of Brown!"

Says Gossip Three to Gossip Four,
With something of a frown;
I've heard strange news—what do you think,
Smith took his goods from Brown."

Says Gossip Four to Gossip Five,
Who biased it round the town;
"I've heard to day such shocking news—
Smith stole his goods from Brown!"

A Rural Lesson in Rhetoric.

Brown was invited to visit a town in the extreme rural districts for the purpose of lecturing to the people on temperance. He arrived at his destination late in the evening and was invited to the cottage of a farmer to partake of supper previous to the display of eloquence.

The farmer had two sons from twenty to twenty-five years of age, and to them a temperance lecturer appeared something more than an ordinary man. Brown had great difficulty in drawing them into conversation, but at length the ice was broken and the following colloquy was the result:

'I suppose you've both affixed your names to the pledge long ago?' queried our friend.

'Which?'

'I suppose you are both temperance men, and have pledged yourselves to abstain from the use of everything that intoxicates?'

The which, stranger?

'You do not get the idea clearly. I was expressing the hope that you do not indulge in intoxicating beverages?'

'Eh?'

'That you do not indulge in the inebriating cup?'

'Sir?'

'Do either of you drink liquor?—That's what I am trying to get at.'

'Wal stranger?' exclaimed the eldest 'I didn't but you was talkin French jabber. Why didn't ye ax the thing right eout? Sam and me don't drink no liquor to speak on, 'cept hayin' and harvist, and then we drink right smart. So does Zeyther and everybody 'round here. If ye talk French stuff in yer lecture stranger, 'twont do much good I tell ye, for nobody won't know a word what yer means in this yer neck o' timber, sartin and sure.

Brown declares this to be the best lesson in rhetoric ever received, and he made an unusual effort to adapt his words to the comprehension of his hearers in that 'neck o' timber.' Other speakers may profit by the hint.

A Happy Rebuke.

Watty Morrison was a Scotch clergyman, a man of wit and humor. On one occasion he entreated the officer at Fort George to pardon a poor fellow that was sent to the halberts. The officer offered to grant him the favor he should ask. Mr. Morrison agreed to this, and the officer immediately demanded that the ceremony of baptism should be performed on a puppy. The clergyman agreed to it, and a party of gentlemen assembled to witness the novel ceremony. Mr. Morrison asked the officer to hold up the dog, as was necessary at the baptism of a child, and then said:—

"As I am a minister of the church of Scotland, I must proceed according to the ceremonies of the church."

"Certainly," said the Mayor, "I expect all the ceremony."

"Well, then, Mayor, I begin by the usual question; do you acknowledge yourself to be the father of this puppy?"

A roar of laughter burst from the crowd and the officer threw the candidate for baptism away.

ORIENTAL WIT.—A young man, going a journey, entrusted a hundred denars to an old man. When he came back the old man denied having had any money deposited with him, and he was hauled up before Khazee. 'Where were you, young man, when you delivered this money?'—'Under a tree.' 'Take my seal and summons that tree,' said the judge, 'Go, young man and tell the tree to come hither, and the tree will obey when you show it my seal.' The young man went in wonder. After he had gone time the Khazee said to the old man—'He is long. Do you think he has got there yet?' 'No,' said the old man; 'it is at some distance. He has not got there yet.' 'How knowest thou, old man,' cried the Khazee, 'where that tree is?' 'He has been here, young man, and given his evidence. The money is thine!' said the Khazee.

—"Alas!" said a moralizing bachelor, within ear shot of a witty young lady of the company, "this world is at best but a gloomy prison!" "Yes," sighed the merciless minx, "especially to the poor creature doomed to solitary confinement."

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and squabble over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came; the room was crowded with anxious expectants; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters.

ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY.

SECURITY

SHOULD be THE FIRST CONSIDERATION in INSURANCE TRANSACTIONS

THE Directors of the Royal Insurance Company have the pleasure of supplying the following information to the public, as evidence of the ample security they afford to their insurers.

The Capital of the Company, available for the purpose of meeting any unusual calamity happening to the Assured, is

Two Millions Stirling.

The amount actually paid up is £288,495. This, with the Accumulated Funds in Hand, makes the invested resources of the Company upwards of One Million Six Hundred Thousand Pounds, which amount is invested as follows:—

INVESTED FUNDS OF THE ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY, 30th June, 1869.

Real Property owned by the Company	£219,571 11 3

Loans on Security of Life Policies	63,998 8 5
	£1,672,336 16 11

The above is a complete list of the Investments of the Company at the date specified, in addition to which the funds are still further increased, by amounts constantly varying, at different periods, in the hands of the Bankers and the Company's Agents. At 31st December, 1868, these stood at £ 168,089 2 0

For the satisfaction of the Public, the whole of the Securities belonging to the Company are annually submitted to the careful scrutiny of two independent Auditors, and the following log is an Extract from their Report to the last Annual Meeting:—

"The whole of your Books have been Audited—every Document, every Account, every Voucher, your Bank book, and every Security—all have been most carefully kept, and there is not one doubtful Security in the whole."

THE ACCUMULATIONS OF THE LIFE DEPARTMENT,

After payment of Losses, Annuities, and Expenses of every description, have been as follows

Funds in Hand at the last Quinquennial Valuation, 31st Dec., 1864,	£ 621,424 15 5
Added to 31st December, 1865	139,140 7 3

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. It wanted merely for a

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every civilized country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pills. The obvious reason is that it is more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other which we can make. It tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always. What is more than this, the family or neighborhood of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of the most remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, so we forbear to publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For the Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Langnor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Biliousness, Jaundice, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally sufficient.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels miserably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Fenianism.

SPIES IN THE EASTERN TOWNSHIPS—ANNEXATIONISTS AND INDEPENDENCE MEN COUNTED IN AS "SYMPATHIZERS"—PLAN OF THE NEXT CAMPAIGN—THE ROADS MAPPED OUT—20,000 MEN TO MOVE ON TORONTO—20,000 MORE TO SEIZE ON MONTREAL.

We take the following from yesterday's Sherbrooke Gazette:—

A friend residing on the west side of Lake Champlain writes us the substance of a conversation which he recently heard in an Irish boarding house, between seven or eight Irishmen, who had spent the past summer in the Eastern Townships with a view to collect information which might prove useful in case of another Fenian invasion of Canada. Its publication may amuse, if not instruct, our readers.

The leader, or principal spokesman of the party, was an intelligent Captain who served in Corcoran's brigade during the late rebellion; and all the others had served in the Northern army. Capt. F. showed a map of the G. T. Railway from Island Pond to Montreal, taking in several townships on each side, with all the bridges and villages correctly marked. This railway, the Captain remarked, could be easier destroyed than the railroads down South. A long list of names was exhibited of residents in Sherbrooke, Ascot, Compton, and other townships, divided into two classes—those who were counted upon as Fenians, Annexationists and Independents; and the other class termed "marked men," but marked for what was not stated. The friends of annexation, as well as those who favor independence, will probably not feel flattered at being classed by the Fenians and their friends. The fault is not ours. Of course not one in fifty of either class would give any countenance to a Fenian invasion of Canada.

It was stated by the Captain that there were plenty of rifles in Canada, near the border, buried in such a way that they would keep for years, ready for the volunteers when they entered Canada, so that they could go to the Line unarmed, in spite of old Mrs. Grant. That there were plenty of roads leading into the Townships for a space of 80 miles, where the farmers were wealthy, with plenty of storage for horses and provisions for men. The plan of the next campaign was to enter the Province by Buffalo and Ogdensburg with 10,000 men, take possession of the buried arms, where they expect to be joined by 10,000 on this side; take possession of the Grand Trunk and move towards Montreal; and at the same time 40,000 could cross over the line from Vermont and centre at Sherbrooke, and there be joined by 20,000 swelling the eastern Division to 60,000: then march on to Montreal without opposition. That no forces in Canada could be brought against them, and that they could at Montreal divide Canada, and there enlist 50,000 more men from all points, when it would be an easy thing to reduce Canada and make it independent! Then they could annoy Great Britain with privateers, and compel her to give freedom to Ireland.

Our correspondent says there are a great many Irishmen engaged in the iron mines in the counties of Clinton and Essex, who are worth from one thousand to ten thousand dollars each, who would give half or three-quarters for the purpose of liberating Ireland, and that many of them having been in the Northern army would enlist again for Ireland.

Our correspondent formerly lived in the township of Compton, and we have no doubt he has given us a faithful account of what he has heard. But knowing the township people as he does, he is, of course, aware of the utter absurdity of the idea of an army which the Fenians could muster gaining permanent foothold in any part of Canada, much less of occupying Montreal. We do not infer from his letter that it is intended to make any movement at present. The credulous need not therefore be alarmed. We are willing to guarantee the safety of Sherbrooke with a corporal's guard. Still, we think, there can be no doubt that the Fenians in the States still cherish evil designs upon Canada, and may yet give us a good deal of trouble and annoyance.

Cure for Sprains.—The best treatment for sprains is to immerse the limb immediately in hot water, repeating the operation several times a day. The cure is often rapid.

A Simple but Sure Remedy for Corns.—Bathe the feet well in tepid water, to soften them, then pare the corns very closely with a sharp penknife, run on well green peach tree leaves; perform the process once or twice a day. The corns will entirely disappear, and not return, without the cause that first occasioned them.

To Make Hens Lay.—We have found that hog's lard is the best thing to mix in with the dough, to give hens to make them lay. One cut of this fat as large as a walnut, will set a hen to lay immediately after she has been broken up for setting, and by feeding them with the fat occasionally, the hens continue to lay through the winter.

Farewell to "Summer Rest."

BY HENRY WARD BEECHER.

In this bright October day I know not what Eve felt in leaving Paradise, but what John Milton imagined that she felt. To be sure, I have no such garden as hers must have been, and besides, I leave, at a different season of the year; for she inquires feelingly, "Who now shall train these flowers?" etc., etc.; whereas, my flowers are so nearly spent that there is no need of training them. Tuberoses are gone, phloxes, common roses, and all the garden tribe, except scarlet sage, faithful marigolds, that never flinch to the last, and petunias, that are more graceful than they, and full as constant. Besides, there is the slow-footed chrysanthemum, too late for summer, often too late for autumn—that never gets its Sunday jacket on until it is time to take it off again. But the ample tude of the florist harvest has been reaped. Now we only glean. But still one leaves a home of two months—summer months—not without a flattering somewhere about the heart. The still days, the deep days, the mellow days, without taxation or excitement, are ever. Now for the plunge and rush! Now for men. Farewell, Nature.

Good bye, top of the hill! from which not a dwelling can be seen, only a horizon of mountains, and where, so often, just after the sun sets, we have lingered alone, in the mystery and inexplicable delight of an evening solitary hour, lifted far above the surrounding earth, and almost as one suspended in the very ether.

Good bye, homely stonewall! along which have grown so many weeds which we have naughtily admired and cherished, contrary to good farming manners: where so many shrubs, finding good soil, shot up in thickets, laced with wild grape vines.—Old tumble-down stone wall! Every stone colored and built over with weather stains of hard moss; stones covered with brilliant amplesss, with three leaved ivy, fair to see, foul to touch, and with the rampant bitter sweet! Let no one despise a stone wall, or judge of it only from the cow's point of view. It is the city of refuge to all the little fry. Squirrels run in and out, with saucy alertness, every summer's day. Hares and rabbits find it a bal wark. The hoary old fat woodchuck rejoices in it as in a fenced city. Birds, too, wrens and sparrows, creep in and out, like children playing bo' peep. On these sturdy stones have we sat hours and hours, asking no softer cushion, and desiring no more than God sent down from the heavens, or displayed upon the earth. The winter will soon vault into my seat, and a white shroud cover down the neglected old wall on the hill top. Good-bye!

Nearer can a sensitive nature forget his summer companions, or stint them of their meed of praise and gratitude. The worms whose metempsychosis we have watched; the spider whose webs glitter along the grass at morning and at evening, or mark out geometric figures among the trees—spiders red, brown, black, green, gray, yellow and speckled: the soft winged moths, the gorgeous butterflies, the steel colored and shining black crickets, locusts and grasshoppers, and all the rabble of breaking, singing, finding fellows besides, which swarm in air and earth, I bid you all a hearty good bye. Sooth to say, we part from you without regret. But for the million we feel a true yearning—so much have we watched your ways, so many hours has our soul been fed by you through our eyes. You are a part of the Great Father's family.

Oh, how goodly a book is that which God has opened in this world! Every day is a separate leaf—nay, volume, with text, and note and picture, with every dainty quib and quirk of graceful art, with stores of knowledge illimitable, if one will only humble himself to receive it!

One should not willingly be ungrateful, even to the smallest creatures, or to inanimate objects that have served his pleasure. And so, to reed and grass, bush and tree, stone and hill, brook and lake, all creeping things, and things that fly, to early birds, and late chirping locusts, we wave our hands in grateful thanks!

But to that Providence over all, the source of their joy and mine, what words can utter what every manly heart must feel? Only the life itself can give thanks for life.

—Lessing, the German philosopher, being remarkably absent-minded, knocked at his own door one evening, when the servant, looking out of the window and not recognizing him, said, 'The Professor is not at home.' 'Oh, very well,' said Lessing, composedly walking away, 'I shall call another time.'

It is easy to say ill-natured things, and thus get a reputation for smartness; but genuine humour does not flow from a bitter fountain. It is gentle and genial, comes from a bright and loving spirit, and refreshes while it excites to mirth and laughter. Less brilliant than wit, it is more agreeable. While the one offends by its severity, the other makes a man ashamed of his follies without exciting his resentment.

ENGLISH ASSURANCE OFFICES,

NATURALLY causing much anxiety in the minds of Assurers in all Companies, the Directors of the

"CANADA LIFE"

Have published a Report and net valuation of all its policy and annuity obligations, by an Actuary totally unconnected with it, the Hon. Elizur Wright, of Boston, late Insurance Commissioner for the State of Massachusetts.

It is believed that such a voluntary submission of the Company's position to an eminent and entirely independent Actuary of the Hon. Elizur Wright's well known high character and professional skill, will add to that public satisfaction and confidence which the "Canada Life Company" enjoys.

Copies of Mr. Wright's Report may be had at the Head Office, or at any of the Agencies throughout the Dominion.

Persons who may be assured in the Companies whose condition is unsatisfactory, desiring to join the "Canada Life," will be dealt with upon such terms as are reasonable and fair.

MODEST MALCOLM!—The Hon. Malcolm Cameron declines accepting a requisition from South Lanark unless it is signed by a majority of the electors of the Riding. Modest Malcolm!

COLLECTOR OF CUSTOMS.—We understand that Mr. Perry, an officer of the Customs at Cobourg, has been appointed Collector of Customs for Cobourg, in place of Mr. Easton, deceased.

FAILURES IN THE GRAIN TRADE.—A telegram from London, Nov. 23rd, says:—"There have been many failures in the grain trade at Liverpool. Several of the firms had extensive American connections."

WORKINGMEN'S TEMPERANCE ASSOCIATION.—The officers elect for the ensuing present quarter are:—William Bostilly, President; A. E. Proctor, 1st V. P.; Wm. White, 2nd V. P.; Joshua Cornelius, R. S.; D. C. Ferguson, F. S.; James Macoun, F.; John Addison, C.; John Lafontain, A. C.; C. Tuite, Warden.

THE MARY O'GORMAN.—The following telegram from Oswego to Kingston, confirms the fears entertained respecting the fate of the crew of this vessel: "East Oswego, Nov. 22. Messrs. Fraser & George—No hopes of crew. Boat found bottom up, in Lake. Vessel in charge of underwriters. You had better send some one, or come to look after affairs. Freight all right."

NAVIGATION CLOSED.—It froze hard again last night, and there is scarcely any hope that the steamers 'St. Helen' and 'Ottawa' will be able to leave this port this winter.—The track the 'St. Helen' made yesterday as far as Big Bay was closed up this morning. The ice is sufficiently strong to admit crossing between Belleville and the Prince Edward shore on foot. Several parties came across this morning.

DR. LIVINGSTONE SAFE.—The gratifying news comes by cable to-day that Dr. Livingstone is safe. The following is the telegram dated London, Nov. 23rd:—"It is now absolutely certain that the great African traveller Livingstone is safe. The Duke of Argyle yesterday received a telegraph from the Governor of Bombay containing information that he had just received a letter from Livingstone himself, dated Ugiji, May 13th, 1869. Livingstone was in good health, and everywhere well treated."

CORONER'S INQUEST.—An inquest was held at Hungerford, before Dr. Pomeroy, Coroner, on the 11th inst., on the body of Mrs. Amelia Provost, who was found by her husband hanging by a rope, suspended from the rafter in her own chamber. He instantly gave the alarm and sought for aid, but was too late—she was dead. Deceased had been for some time quite out of her mind—supposed to be caused from her having married without the consent of her parents, and the subsequent loss of her children. Verdict in accordance with the above facts.

MORE EARTHQUAKES.—A telegram from San Francisco, Nov. 23rd, says:—"Three severe shocks of earthquake had been experienced and several buildings were badly damaged. The barracks of the native regiment was partially destroyed, and many deaths were caused by jumping from the windows and falling down stairs. There is not a whole roof in the town, and the rainy season has commenced. Reports from the interior were received of the falling of churches and other buildings."

News Condensed.

—Good sleighing in Ottawa.

—The Ottawa River is frozen over.

—Navigation on the Lower St. Lawrence will close with this week.

—The Spanish gunboats at New York are to be seized for violation of neutrality laws.

—The cost of maintaining the Police establishment of Halifax is $19,940 per annum.

—The Kingston School Trustees have established a Night School, at which they charge a fee of 25 cts. a month.

—Henry Ward Beecher has come out in favor of the exclusion of the compulsory reading of the Bible in Common Schools. What next will Beecher do?

—Ten black legged South Down sheep are now common sights in all parts of Vermont, and the number has been largely increased this season by arrivals from Canada.

—An island has been discovered by an American vessel in the North Pacific Ocean, latitude 59° 26, longitude 146° 5, east; it is ten miles long and five wide.

—Telegrams from New York speak of the probabilities of war between the United States and Spain in consequence of the concentration of war vessels of the United States in Cuban waters.

—A sensible contemporary says, 'The women ought to make a pledge not to kiss a man who uses tobacco, and it would soon break up the practice.' A friend of ours suggests, 'they ought also to pledge themselves to kiss every man that don't use it,' and we go for that too.

—Where was John Rodgers burned to death? asked a teacher of me in a commanding voice. I could not tell; to the next, no answer. 'Joshua knows,' said a little girl at the foot of the class. 'Well,' said the teacher, 'if Joshua knows, he may tell.' 'In the fire,' said Joshua, looking very solemn and wise.

Kingston and Madoc Railway.

The following account of the proceedings at the meeting of the Provisional Directors of this Railway in Kingston, we copy from the Whig of this morning:—

"A meeting of the Provisional Directors of the Kingston and Madoc Railway was held in the Council Chamber on Monday afternoon. The following members were present:—His Worship the Mayor, President; Messrs. A. F. Wood, Vice-President; Hon. Billa Flint, S. Shibley, George Lott, John McRorey, John Carruthers, H. Cunningham, A. Livingston, and A. Smallfield.

"The meeting was called for the purpose of receiving the report of the surveyors, to examine the manuscript of the charter, and prepare the petition to the Legislative Assembly of Ontario. The charter, carefully prepared by Mr. Bawden, the solicitor of the company, was approved, and Mr. Bawden left for Toronto the same evening in order to secure the passage of the Bill during the present session.

"The consideration of the report of the surveyors, and the selection of route, has been left over for a future time."

The Quebec Legislature.

The Quebec Legislature opened yesterday with the usual ceremonies. The speech of the Lieut. Governor congratulated the country on a bountiful harvest, referred to the success of the Colonization scheme, and the progress of work on Colonization roads, touched upon the Civil Service question and the allotment of the Public Debt; alluded in fitting terms to the visit of Prince Arthur. The gratifying statement was made that the expenditure was within the estimates; there was a handsome surplus to the credit of the Government on the 1st of July, and there was reason to hope that the same result would appear on the 1st of January. Reference was then made to the prospective legislation, which embraced among other matters, measures respecting Municipal organization, erection of public buildings, and organization of the Police Force.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TUESDAY, NOV. 23.

A large number of petitions were presented.

MR. SEXTON introduced an act to repeal subsection 1 of section 155, chap. 31, of the Consolidated Statutes of Upper Canada, respecting jurors and juries, and to make other provisions in lieu thereof. The criminal business of towns was, by the law of 1868, disposed of in the Quarter Sessions, and under the altered circumstances caused by the change effected by that Act, it was right that cities and towns should bear part of the expenses incurred, and the purpose of the Bill he proposed was to this effect.

The Bill was read a first time, and the second reading fixed for this day week.

MR. BLAKE moved the adoption of the following resolutions:—

1. That under the former Constitution, large local expenditures in Upper Canada and Lower Canada were provided for by the Legislature of United Canada, a system which in the belief of a large proportion of the people produced great extravagance, lavish and improper grants of public funds for local purposes, an unfair distribution of the public revenue as between the two Provinces, and other serious evils, all bearing with peculiar pressure on Upper Canada, and resulting in extreme dissatisfaction and bitter sectional strife.

2. That as a remedy for these and other grievances the scheme of Confederation was devised and submitted to the representatives of the people, who were assured that under the proposed Federal Constitution each Province would for its local expenditure be obliged to rely exclusively on its own resources, as provided by the scheme, and that the revenues at the disposal of the general Parliament would be applicable exclusively to general as distinguished from local services.

3. That the aid to be given under the scheme to each Province towards the maintenance of its Government and Legislature, was proposed to be apportioned according to the population in 1861, and was expressly stated to be in full settlement of all future demands on the general Government.

4. That though there were grounds for argument that the basis of appointment operated unfairly toward Upper Canada, (whose population has since 1861 increased more rapidly, and whose contribution to the revenue was greater in proportion to population than that of the rest of the Dominion,) yet it was cheerfully agreed to by the representatives of Upper Canada, as being the basis settled by the delegates from all the Provinces, and the price of the redress Upper Canada was obtaining.

5. That the delegates to the London Conference made alterations in the financial arrangements unfavorable to Upper Canada, by which the subsidies to Nova Scotia and New Brunswick were to be increased with the increase of population to those Provinces up to a certain maximum, while the subsidies to Upper Canada (now Ontario) were left stationary; and by which special additional subsidies were granted to the Provinces at the rate of 5½ cents per head to Ontario, 6 cents per head to Quebec, 18 cents per head to Nova Scotia, and 19 cents per head to New Brunswick, and the British North America Act 1867, was passed by the Imperial Parliament consummating the Union on the terms so altered.

6. That the representatives of Ontario, notwithstanding the said unfavorable alterations, accepted the Union in furtherance of the accomplishment of the Union; and in the belief that the financial arrangements embodied in the Act were final; that the sums thereby granted to the Provinces were in the language of the Act "in full settlement of all future demands on Canada;" that under the Act the public service of each Province was to be provided for out of the revenues thereof, and not out of the revenues of Canada, which were to be appropriated to the public service of Canada solely; and that thus the great grievance of the application of general funds to local services was removed forever.

7. That the financial arrangements made by the Union Act as between Canada and the several Provinces, cannot and ought not to be changed by the Parliament of Canada.

8. That the financial arrangements made by the Union Act, as between Canada and the several Provinces, ought not to be changed without the assent of the several Provinces.

9. That the Parliament of Canada, at its last Session, passed an Act whereby the amount of debt at which Nova Scotia entered the Union was increased by $1,188,756, and her subsidy was increased by an annual payment of $82,698, for ten years, making altogether an alteration in favour of that Province of over $2,000,000, of which Ontario pays over $1,100,000.

10. That by the assumption by the Parliament of Canada of the power, by the Nova Scotia Act claimed, the former evils, so far from being removed by Confederation, will be intensified, the just expectations of the people will be disappointed, sectional strife will be aroused, the Federal principle will be violated, and the Constitution will be shaken to its base.

11. That no such change as is effected by the Nova Scotia Act should have been made without a general revision and re-adjustment of the financial arrangements as between the several Provinces; and the said Act is grossly unjust to Ontario.

12. That an humble Address be presented to Her Most Gracious Majesty, embodying the foregoing resolutions, and praying that she will be pleased to disallow the said Act.

13. That in the opinion of this House the interests of the country require such legislation as may remove all colour for the assumption by the Parliament of Canada of the power to disturb the financial relations established by the Union Act as between Canada and the several Provinces.

Mr. Blake spoke at great length in support of the resolutions. He was followed by Hon. M. C. Cameron in reply. Messrs. Cumberland, Clarke, Boyd, Ferguson, Fraser, and Hon. Mr. Wood. The debate lasting until nearly midnight.

Hon. M. Cameron's amendment for the six months' hoist to Mr. Blake's first resolution was carried on the following division:

YEAS—Boulter, Calvin, Cameron, Carling, Carling (Huron), Carnegie, Clarke, Code, Colquhoun, Corby, Coyne, Craig (Glengarry), Cumberland, Ferguson, Fitzsimmons, Graham (Hastings), Grahame (York), Hooper, Lauder, Lount, Luton, Lyon, Macdonald, Matchett, Monteith, McCall (Norfolk), McColl (Elgin), McGill, Read, Richards, Rykert, Scott (Grey), Scott (Ottawa), Smith (Kent), Smith (Leeds), Strange, Tett, Wallis, Wigle, Williams (Durham) Wilson, Wood—42.

HON. MR. CAMERON moved the same amendment to each of the other resolutions. The amendment was carried, with reference to the resolutions from the 2nd to the 12th inclusive on the same division of 42 to 35. The same amendment being moved by Hon. Mr. Cameron to the 13th resolution, was negatived. Yeas 31, Nays 46.

YEAS—Barber, Baxter, Beatty, Blake, Boyd, Christie, Clemens, Cockburn, Code, Coquhoun, Cook, Crosby, Currie, Evans, Eyre, Ferguson, Finlayson, Fitzsimmons, Fraser, Galbraith, Gow, Grahame (York), Gray, Hays, Lount, Luton, Monteith, McDougall, McKellar, McKim, McLeod, McMurrich, Oliver, Pardee, Paxton, Perry, Read, Secord, Sexton, Sinclair, Smith (Kent), Smith (Leeds), Smith (Middlesex), Strange, Springer, Trow, Wallis, Wigle, Williams (Durham), Williams (Hamilton), Wilson, Wood.—64.

NAYS,—Boulter, Clarke, Corby, Coyne, Hooper, Lyon, Matchett, McGill, Rykert, Scott (Grey), Scott (Ottawa), Tett.—12.

The House then adjourned at half past twelve.

THE CLIMAX.—A clergyman one Sunday informed his hearers that he should divide his discourse into three parts—the first should be terrible, the second horrible, and the third should be terrible horrible. Assuming a dramatic tragic attitude, he exclaimed in a startling, agonizing tone: 'What is that I see there?' Still louder, 'What is that I see there?' Here a little old woman in black cried out, in a shrill treble tone. 'It's nothing but my little black dog; he won't bite nobody.

The Surprise of Fort Garry.

MARTIAL LAW PROCLAIMED.

A PEACEABLE TERMINATION OF THE AFFAIR APPROACHING.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 23.

The surprise of Fort Garry was effected by sixty men lounging into the inclosure on November 22nd and rising at a signal.

Martial law has been proclaimed.

Private letters mentioned a strong organization of Scotch settlers and others which awaits negotiations between Mr. McDougall and the insurgents.

Few persons known to business men in St. Paul are connected with the insurrection.

If the Hudson Bay officials support McDougall, the affair will probably be adjusted peaceably.—Globe's Special.

Kingston Correspondence.

From our own Correspondent.

THE MCMAHON DEMONSTRATION—MR. O'NEILL'S LETTER—LT.-COL. SHAW—EMIGRATION—MR. GEORGE BROWN.

KINGSTON, Nov. 23, 1869.

In an article on the demonstration held at the Cooper Institute, New York, in honor of the released Fenian, McMahon, the 'Republican' says: "The direct tendency of what was said and done last night will be to encourage another attempt on Canada, or another abortive movement in Ireland, at each effort using the United States as a base. Against this lawlessness we protest. Against the Mayor of an American metropolis and the badly defeated candidate for an American office, lending themselves to such covert attempts, looking towards a breach of our friendly relations with the power of this country is the United States of America. Its object is its own development. Its laws are pointedly against all interference with existing governments of other countries. It is at peace with the world. Any organization, any meeting held for the purpose of exciting hostilities within or against these governments governments, are unlawful meetings, and any Americans taking part in these affairs are setting a bad example, and putting a premium on crime."

This is putting the matter in its true light; and it is really a favourable sign of the times to find such sentiments in the columns of a New York journal. No other country in the world excepting the United States of America would permit the existence and growth of an armed organization, which had for its object the invasion of the territory of a friendly power. I have often thought that if such were in existence in Canada, formed for the purpose of making hostile demonstrations on the United States, that the strong arm of the law would speedily reach those connected therewith. How different on the other side of the line! leading statesmen encourage the project; men whose position in society carries considerable influence, are only too eager to appear as the supporters of these illegal organizations. The fact of the matter is, the mob rules in the States; and the cause of the power and position must lick the dust. Every principle of honor is overlooked; law is disregarded; corruption of every class is resorted to; in a word, the mob must be pleased. It is to be hoped that the next time the editor of the Tribune, Mr. Horace Greely, finds his way into Canada he will meet with a suitable reception—such a reception as should be given to any man who encourages crime, and who associates with criminals.

The letter of Mr. O'Neil has given great satisfaction in Kingston, (there are a number of Fenian sympathizers here, however, who don't regard it with much favour.) The statement of the Priest is therein proved, officially, to be a most deliberate representation of facts. Doubtless the reverend liar did not think at the time, that he was then engaged in making more secure the bolts which at present keep imprisoned his associates in crime.

I understand that Lt. Col. Shaw will shortly take his departure for Scotland to commence his duties as emigration agent. The appointment of agents in different parts of Great Britain and Ireland, whose duty it will be to encourage emigration and give the required information regarding the prospects and resources of the Dominion, is a wise and judicious policy on the part of the Government. The country wants development, and surely no better means can be adopted to accomplish that object than the encouragement of emigration. The benefit of a liberal policy on the part of the Government to those who settle in the country, cannot be overestimated. The United States has reaped the benefit of such a policy, which it is to be hoped will characterize the action of the Canadian authorities who have the control of such matters in their hands.

Of Mr. George Brown it may truly be said 'Othello's occupation's gone!' It must be humiliating in the extreme to that gentleman to find his former friends and associates, one by one, deserting his leadership, scorning his dictation, and enlisting themselves among the supporters of the coalition; until now there are only about four men of any ability, or least who are at all known to the country, who could be called his supporters. Each in his turn, the gentlemen who have entered the cabinet of the Dominion and that of Ontario, have been subjected to a tirade of abuse and malignant vituperation in the columns of the Globe; but to no effect. Mr. Brown has done his utmost, but those whom he has abused have not suffered by his malice.

There is no local news of interest to communicate in this letter.

—Every able-bodied emigrant who takes up his abode in the Dominion, adds $1,000 to the capital of the State. Ontario is richer, therefore, by these additions this year, no less than twenty-six millions of dollars.

THE LATEST.

THE SUEZ CANAL.

PARIS, Nov. 23.—The Journal Official has received the following from Port Said: The imperial yacht 'Aigle,' with the Empress on board, and the entire fleet, left Suez yesterday and reached the Mediterranean to-day. The success of the inauguration is complete. The Emperor of Austria left Cairo last Thursday on his way to Europe.

CABLE LEASED.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The Anglo-American Telegraph Company have leased one of their two Atlantic Cables to a German Company, with whom negotiations to this end have long been pending. The term of lease is five years.

American Despatches.

ANOTHER CABLE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—The question of establishing a cable telegraphic line between New York and the Hague, recently submitted to the Government, has already received consideration, and at the proper time due acknowledgment will be made to the Netherlands Government for friendly motives which prompted the concession to an American citizen. The reciprocity, especially as to terms, will doubtless be the principle which will govern the future official proceedings, and it is said the President will at an early day call the particular attention of Congress to the subject. The Government favors an American company based on sustaining American rights.

GRANT OPPOSED TO RECIPROCITY.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—The President has announced himself within the last three days to a prominent Senator as absolutely opposed to the contemplated reciprocity treaty with Canada. So firm and decided is his opposition that he declined to have any consultation on the subject with Mr. Rose, and has again and again refused to consider the subject. This statement is deemed necessary on account of the re-assertion to the contrary in numerous papers.

CONSUMPTION is a distressing and fatal disease, characterized by cough, debility, emaciation, purulent expectoration, and hectic fever. It chiefly attacks the young, the fair, and the amiable, and is generally considered incurable. In certain northern latitudes it prevails with the greatest violence, owing, probably, to the frequent atmospherical changes from heat to cold, dryness to dampness, &c. It is also found to exist in some warm climates. Some persons consider it incurable; this, however, if true at all, must occur very rarely, and only among those who, through a presumption or over confidence, allow a patient in whom the disease exists in an ulcerated state, and is attended with fatal expectoration, and cadaverous night sweats. For restoring to health or relieving the sufferer, when this fearful disease is too far advanced, Dr. J. Bragg's Renovator, the great Throat and Lung Healer, stands unrivalled. A few doses proves its excellence. Dr. J. Bragg & Co., Proprietors. Sold by Druggists and Country Dealers. Office, 208 Broadway, N. Y., and No. 6 King St. West, Toronto.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and squabble over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came; the room was crowded with anxious expectants; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters.

Like the volcano, Boils give issue to the foul and fiery contents of the deep interior. To remove the cause of such suffering it is only necessary to vitalize the Blood by supplying it with its Life Element, IRON.

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP,

(a protoxide solution of the Protoxide of Iron) will do this effectively, and give strength, vigor and new life to the whole system.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM REV. HERMAN BOEHER, OF BOLTON, MASS:

"For years I was a sufferer from Boils, so that my life became wearisome through their frequency and persistent recurrence; finally a carbuncle formed in the small of my back. During its progress large pieces of decomposed flesh were every day or two cut away, and the prostration and general disturbance of the system were great. Before I had recovered from this, another few smaller carbuncles broke out higher up, and I was again threatened with a recurrence of the sufferings to which I had so long been subjected. It was at this time that I commenced taking the PERUVIAN SYRUP. I continued taking it until I had used five bottles; since then I have had nothing of the kind. For years I was one of the greatest sufferers. Other medicines gave me partial and temporary relief, but this remarkable remedy, with a kind of intuitive sense, went directly to the root of the evil, and did its work with a thoroughness worthy of its established character."

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

THE REMEDY FOR CURING

Consumption, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat Bronchia Pains and Oppression of the Chest or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

IT acts on a new principle, is an anti-spasmodic, diaphoretic, and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm. It CHANGES THE SECRETIONS and PURIFIES the BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; gives a healthy tone to the circulation and imparts strength to the whole system. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction, even in the most confirmed cases of consumption, and not to produce costiveness (as do most remedies) or effect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no necessity for so many deaths by consumption, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

NEW

APPLIED IN THE CURE OF
Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S
SARSAPARILLIAN
RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine (free from all nauseating or disagreeable) of its epoch is Dr. Radway's is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active chemical properties of the most choice products of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other favorable roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful blood, Tissue, Flesh, and Life-making medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care as to their purity, from the native soil, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed exclusively by Dr. Radway & Co.—so that no spurious admixtures or worthless roots can possibly be injected with the juices.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this branch alone But the wonderful improvements it has effected in the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the

pays for the outlay over and over again; for never in the history of medicine was such a medicine this so completely builds up, invigorates, and makes sound strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful withal, the weak and broken-down constitutions, as

Dr. RADWAY'S
SARSAPARILLIAN
RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

It supplies the blood with nourishment.
It CONTAINS TISSUE-BUILDING AND FLESH-MAKING QUALITIES.
It supplies to the system vital-sustaining or heat-making properties.
It cures all External and Ulcerated diseases of the Eyes; Ears; Mouth, Throat and Skin and Scalp.
It increases the weight and appetite.
IT STOPS ALL WASTING DISCHARGES.
It increases the repairs and diminishes the wastes.
It exterminates the products of decay.
It resolves Tumors, Nodes, Hard Lumps.
It makes the skin clear and beautiful.
It heals Fever Sores and Ulcers.
It cures Old, Obstinate Ulcerous Stricture.
It makes the water clear and pass freely.
It cures Barrenness, and has within the virile vigor of manhood those who, from weakness or disease are debarred the joys of paternity.
It rescues woman from the perils incident to change of life—cessation of Menses.

To Those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if their systems are still in a condition to receive nourishment, and their LUNGS LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wasted away, beyond the power of recovery, or incapable of sustaining the reparative process of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can be either restored to health, or the waste and decadence stopped, and the elements of decay that now exist be dismissed from the system.

In Chronic cases, where the LUNGS, KIDNEYS, and other organs are wasted, ulcerated, and their functions interrupted and uncertain, aided beyond the reparative power of medicine, may, and will, by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, continue to live perhaps for years; for no matter how low the vital forces may be, the Resolvent will act directly under the influence of the tissue and flesh-making medicine, the results will be greater than the wastes and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poisons of Venereal, are developed through the process of deposits from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stages can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic Glands Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a natural change in his health for the better on using the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure, strong, and vitalizing, and is enabled to hold in solution its natural constituents, the deposits of Tubercles, and many other elements of disease, decomposition and decay will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs; and each of these Organs will secrete their proper amount of tissue, instead of tissue deposited. Purulent Matter and other fluids being absorbed in the circulation, these sensitive will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. Ulcerations will be healed in the system, to correct these accretions, and to enable each organ or secreting gland to discharge its proper functions, health can never be restored: long sores for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this long sought want the new heretofore existed in all these remedial agents advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, carcinoma, glands, cancer, or tumors diseases and corruption may be, the influence of this powerful agent on the blood and other fluids that supply the living body with vigour, will be always the same with such constituents as to resolve and expel or eliminate the diseased and decomposing matter, and supply its place with sound and living structure, nourished by rich, pure, and strong blood. By the chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during its process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, before it is made blood, as well as the nourishing and sustaining it converts into blood, and its specific action when given to the circulation, it extirpates from every atom of virus from the blood, and wonderfully purifies the entire system, whether given by the action of some specific poison, or virulent disease, as Mercury, (a severe medicine), C. C. C. Corrosive Chloride of Mercury, Calomel, and other agents, but may have been received by the Lymphatics, cartilages, or joints, or from some transmittes family complaint that may have been with us half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, Syphilis, uncured and badly treated Venereal in its many forms Glandular Diseases, Ulcers in the Throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Running Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Erysipelas Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Eruptions, Acne, Rose, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all wasting and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, and Loss of Semen, are all wastes of the Life Principles are within the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any sufferer from any of either of these forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Strictures, and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy, Diabetes, and all who have been influenced by Stoppage of Water, or Painful Discharges, are quickly relieved and effectually cured through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Denault, of St. Timothee, Coteau Landing, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his side that resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and used as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man who had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctored for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB."

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., had not his knowledge of your medicine. His son, aged 15 years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all. I saw him in September last, and he was the most revolting and diseased object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills One month since, on my return to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruption of the skin, Boils, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all forms of sores.

Threatened Consumption, Night Sweats Bleeding from the Lungs, cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WINDSOR STATION, Ontario, Canada West,
March 11, 1869.

Dr. RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep, a how to me unknown for years. After using one bottle the bleeding was cured, and the night sweats ceased. I continued its use for weeks and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatened Consumption have disappeared, and my health fully restored. JONATHAN FREELAND.

N. B.—This gentleman was well known to have been under the treatment of the best physicians in Sarnia—he received no benefit from any medicine until he commenced using your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. GEO. MORTIMER,

A Hero.

Perhaps you think a hero
A man of giant might,
A warrior in armor,
A champion for the right,
Who through the world goes boasting
That wrong shall be no more;
The glory of whose exploits
Is sung from shore to shore.

In olden times a hero
Was such a man, I know,
He went to the battle aided
By javelin and bow.
You all have heard of Ajax,
Of Priam's valiant son,
And of the grand Achilles,
Who many battles won.

But now to be a hero
Is quite another thing,
And he who earns the title
Is nobler than a king.
'Tis he who follows duty,
Who scorns to be untrue;
Who's guided by his conscience,
Not by what others do,

And you may be a hero,
By doing all you can
To free the world from error,
And aid your brother man.
And though no blast of trumpet
Your greatness may proclaim,
With heartfelt benedictions
Mankind will hralde your name.

Population of the Globe.

There are on the globe 1,288,060,000 souls, of which 360,000,000 are of the Caucasian race.
552,000,000 are of the Mongol race.
190,000,000 are of the Ethiopian race.
176,000,000 are of the Malay race.
1,000,000 are of the Indo-American race.
There are 3,642 languages spoken, and 1,000 different religions.
The yearly mortality of the globe is 33,333,333 persons. This is at the rate of 91,554 per day, 3,730 per hour, 62 per minute. So each pulsation of the heart marks the decease of some human creature.
The average of human life is 33 years.
One-fourth of the population dies at or before the age of seven years.
One-half at or before seventeen years.
Among 10,000 persons one arrives at the age of 100 years; one in 500 attains the age of 90; and one in 100 lives to the age of 60.
Married men live longer than single ones.
In 1,000 persons 92 marry, and more marriages occur in June and December than in any other month of the year.
One eighth of the whole population is military.
Professions exercise a great influence on the longevity. In 1,000 individuals who arrive at the age of 70 years, 43 are priests, orators or public speakers, 30 are agriculturists, 33 are workmen, 32 are soldiers or military employees, 29 advocates or engineers, 27 professors and 24 doctors.
Those who devote their lives to the prolongation of others die the soonest.
There are 336,000,000 Christians.
There are 5,000,000 Israelites.
There are 90,000,000 Asiatic religionists.
There are 190,000,000 Mohammedans.
There are 300,000,000 Pagans.
In the Christian Churches—
170,000,000 profess the Roman Catholic.
75,000,000 profess the Greek faith.
80,000,000 profess the Protestant.

Voices of the Night.

A melancholy genius thus muses and amuses:

"If a cat doth meet a cat upon the garden wall, and if a cat don't greet a cat, oh! need they both to squall? Every Tommy hath got his Tabby, waiting on the wall, and yet she welcomes his approaches by an unearthly yawl. If a kit doth wish to court a rock upon the wall, why don't he sit and smile, and not stand up and bawl; and lift his precious back up high, and show his tortoise shell moon, as if 'twere colic more than love that made the "feller" groan. Among the train there is a swain; his voice is known full well; but what's his name or where's his hame, the deuce alone can tell. He is purr-a mawing with his friends, his tender passions rise, he can not resist the glance of their seductive eyes, and so with groans and horrid threats he rends the evening air, and makes these midnight rendezvous impossible to bear.

COLORED THEOLOGY.—"Say, Mr. Johnson is dar any places in de Bible whar a culled pusson is mentioned?" "Well, dar is; an' if you'd been to meetin' Sunday, you'd heer'd de preacher read how Nigger Demus wanted to be born again.' 'What he want to be born agin fur, I dunno; spec he tought he might be born a white man next time. An' dar's a good many niggers alibe now like dat old Demus, but dey'll allers be niggers anyhow.'

—Recent investigations of some mounds in the vicinity of Chicago has led to the discovery of twenty skeletons, interred therein. The skulls are of the ancient Indian type, but no weapons or utensils were found.

—A Georgia paper knows a man who went all the way from Cassville to Atlanta. On his return he looked solemn with the weight of garnered wisdom and said: 'If the world is as big t'other way as it is that, it's a whopper.'

—The late Rev. Dr. R—— had a somewhat lofty way of expressing himself. In the course of visiting the parish, he called at the cottage of an elderly female, who familiarly invited him to come in and sit down. The Doctor, who expected a more respectful salutation, said in stately tones intended to check any familiarity, 'I am a servant of the Lord come to speak with you on the concerns of your soul.' 'Then ye'll be humble, like your Master,' admirably rejoined the cottager. The Doctor felt the reproof badly, and never again sought to magnify himself at the expense of his office.

ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY.

SECURITY

SHOULD be THE FIRST CONSIDERATION in INSURANCE TRANSACTIONS

THE Directors of the Royal Insurance Company have the pleasure of supplying the following information to the public, as evidences of the ample security they afford to their assurers :—

The Capital of the Company, available for the purpose of meeting any unusual calamity happening to the Assured, is

Two Millions Stirling.

The amount actually paid up is £288,495. This, with the Accumulated Funds in Hand, makes the invested resources of the Company upwards of One Million Six Hundred Thousand Pounds, which amount is invested as follows:—

INVESTED FUNDS OF THE ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY, 30th June, 1869.

Real Property owned by the Company,	£219,571 11 3

Loans on Security of Life Policies,	63,998 8 5
	£1,672,336 16 11

The above is a complete list of the Investments of the Company at the date specified, in addition to which the funds are still further increased, by amounts constantly varying, at different periods, in the hands of the Bankers and the Company's Agents. At 31st December, 1868, these stood at ..... £ 168,089 2 0

For the satisfaction of the Public, the whole of the Securities belonging to the Company are annually submitted to the careful scrutiny of two independent Auditors, and the following is an Extract from their Report to the last Annual Meeting :—

"The whole of your Books have been Audited—every Document, every Account, every Voucher, your Bank book, and every Security—all have been most carefully kept, and there is not one doubtful Security in the whole."

THE ACCUMULATIONS OF THE LIFE DEPARTMENT,

After payment of Losses, Annuities, and Expenses of every description, have been as follows

Funds in Hand at the last Quinquennial Valuation, 31st Dec., 1864,	£ 621,434 15 5
Added to 31st December, 1865,	103,146 7 3

A YEAR'S TRIAL.

Montreal Tea Company: MONTREAL, 1868.

GENTLEMEN,—During the past year since I purchased the first chest of Tea from your house, I have purchased many since, and I am pleased to inform you the Tea has in every case proved most satisfactory, as well as being exceedingly cheap. F. DENNIE.

Montreal Tea Co.: Montreal, April 1868.—To the Montreal Tea Company, 6 Hospital Street, Montreal: We notice with pleasure the large amount of tea forwarded for you to different parts of the country, and we are glad to find your business so rapidly increasing. We presume your Teas are giving general satisfaction, as out of the large amount forwarded we have only had occasion to return one box, which, we understand, was sent through a mistake. G. CHENEY,
Manager Canadian Express Company.

GENTLEMEN,—The Tea I purchased of you in March has given great satisfaction, and the flavor of it is very fine. It is very strange, but since it have been using your Tea I have been quite free from heartburn, which would always pain me after breakfast. I attribute this to the purity of your Tea. I shall continues to use it. S. SKINNER.

Yours respectfully,
FRANCIS T. GREENE,

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. It wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is universally required by everybody as a cathartic. That was ever any before so universally adopted into use by every countryand among all classes as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, kn- that it cures their neighbors and friends, and that is more than it does once it does always —that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compositions. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cases are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and constitutions in all climates, containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, where they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given on the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore the healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fever, when caused by derangement of the proper secretions, a single dose to correct the disordered action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Pain in the Back, Loins or Kidneys, they should be taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. Under this change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels himself well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and purifying effect on the digestive apparatus.

A Letther Home.

BY EX COUNCILMAN TERRENCE O'TOOLE.

From the New York Tribune.

Containing some rhymes (the words to be sung by the people in the 'ould dart' to the air of 'Tread on the tail of me coat') and a good deal of reason (for the citizens of New York to put in their pipes and smoke, whether they like it or not.)

Ooh, Dinnis, 'tis bouchil,' don't dally,
But come here as soon as ye can,
An' jine in the Tammany rally,
For we've carried the day to a man.
We've hate all our foes most complately;
The nagur, we have rent him afsat!
'Pon me sowkins! I haven't seen lately
A weapon that fights like a vote.

Our ladars are one Misther Sweeney,
Dick Connolly, (both byes from home),
An' one Mister Tweed, who's no greeney,
But's as shmart as the best av our own.
The first houlds the goold av the country;
The city gives cash fur Dick's note;
The third, bless his heart, gives a bounty
Fur ivery kind av a vote!

On the day av election, me honey,
The divil a sthroke do we wurk,
Nor a cint do we spind av our money,
Yet all may get shrunk as a Turk.
At the polls there is lashins av liquor
To moisten the dust in our throats,
For they say the more whiskey the quicker
The ballot-box fills up wid votes.

There, the beauty of bein' dimmocratic
Is iver so plain to be seen;
To the vote av the aristocratic
Why I have from tin to fifteen!
If a pesher should clap us in prison,
The judges, on whom we all dont,
Tells him 'twas no business av his'n,
Tells us, "hurry back, byes, an' vote."

So this votin' both airley and offen,
At last wurks as nate as a charm;
It has nailed down our inimy's coffin,
With them out of sight an' all harm.
The spaigesn, had cent to their picters!
Ooh, Lord, on their fall how I gloat;
Let thim dare rise sgin to put strictures
On the farriner's right to a vote!

The landlords—thim vultsre who fatten
On poverty over the world,
Who hate us as divils hate Latin—
To the depths av dispair we have hurl'd!
On me purse mine his hould ne'er relaxes;
He doubled me rent since I wrote.
I'm revenged, though; I've doubled his taxes,
An' did it, he says, by me vote.

Thin Dinnis, me jewel, don't tarry,
But come here as soon as ye can,
An' bring wid you Teddy and Larry,
Tim, Jerry, Pat, Phelim, and Dan;
Fur they'll all get their citizen papers
As they sthep on the dock from the boat;
An' the Tammany ingins, be jabers!
Will talch thim the right way to vote!

Liabilities of Insurance Companies.

A law suit recently concluded in the Superior Court in Cincinnati, has settled a much vexed question that has long beea at issue between American Insurance Companies and the holders of insured property. The case was one that had been carried up from a lower Court. The Insurance Company had issued a policy in which a provision was inserted to the effect that the best endeavours of the owner should be used at and after the fire to save the property insured. It appeared in evidence that the owner of the goods had employed a person to take charge of them who resided in the building where they were stored, that when the fire begun,and while it could have been extinguished easily, this care-taker refused to open the doors, and that the delay caused by this refusal was the chief cause of the loss. The clause referred to in this policy is inserted in most fire insurance policies, and it is one that is calculated to place the owner of the goods in an embarrassing position, in case he happens to be present at a fire when they are in danger. He has to decide the following question:—"Shall I remove my property to some other place where it may be injured, stolen, or destroyed by fire or water, and where it is certainly not insured? or, shall I let it alone, and give the Company a chance to deny my claim because I did not exert myself to remove it to a place of safety?" In the case alluded to, the Court held that the person in charge might have thought his own conduct judicious; that by opening the door he might have increased the fury of the flames, or let in a troupe of thieves to pillage the goods; that an honest mistake furnished no ground for blame; and, that the acts of the agent were constructively those of the owner. Consequently, the decision of the lower Court was confirmed against the Insurance Company.—This decision is one that is calculated to have a wholesome effect. For, if all these points raised by Insurance Companies were awarded in their favour, it would be difficult to discover the advantages of being insured. Nothing but palpable downright fraud should ever tempt an Insurance Company into the litigation of claims.

Venerable Husband.—"My dear, I have requested you not to go out alone. I prefer ——." Young and pretty wife: 'You prefer to go with me always, I know, but then folks always ask me, 'Is that your father or grandfather?' which questions are not pleasant to answer, you know!"

Abduction.

A girl kidnapped into a convent at the instigation of her mother—she makes her escape.

A young girl has been for some time in the employ of a merchant, who does business in town, but resides at Longueuil.—Her mother is intemperate, and has been in the habit of going to the house where her daughter was employed, in a state of intoxication. About a week ago she went to the house, and in attempting to get upon a gallery which had recently been painted, and had been protected by boards, she fell from the top to the bottom of the stairs and was considerably hurt. The lady of the house, when she saw the woman fall, sent the girl to assist her mother; and an angry altercation ensued, which ended in the old woman's going off in a huff. On the following Sunday she went to her priest and informed him that she had been beaten by her daughter, and showed him the bruises she had received in her fall as evidences of it. A few days after the girl came to town, and on account of the recent trouble did not go to her mother's house, but to a neighbor's house. While there, a policeman entered and said that he had to take the girl away with him.—The poor creature begged and entreated, and asked to hear what she was charged with. No satisfaction was given, however, and she was carried off and placed in a convent. Here she again prayed to be released and allowed to go to her place. Her entreaties proved of no avail, however, and after having spent a sleepless night, she rose in the morning, determined to make her escape. An opportunity soon offered. As the school children were coming in the door, and gates were left open, seizing a moment when she was not watched, the poor girl rushed into the street without cloak or hood. She soon reached the Longueuil ferry, and in half an hour was safely back at her employer's house.

State o' Trade.—Small girl: "Please, Mrs. Greenstough, mother says will you give her a lettuce?" Mrs. G.: "Give! Tell thee mother Giv'um's dead, and Lendum's very bad. Nothink for nothink 'ere and precious little for sixpence."

Over Sensitiveness.—A great deal of discontent arises from over-sensitiveness about what people may say of you or your actions. Thus requires to be blunted.—Consider whether anything you can do will have much connection with what they will say. And, besides, it may be doubted whether they will say anything at all about you. Many unhappy persons seem to imagine that they are in an amphitheatre, with the assembled world as spectators; whereas all the while, they playing to empty benches. They fancy, too, they form the particular theme of every passer-by. If, however, they must listen to imaginary conversations about themselves, they might, any rate, defy the proverb, and insist upon hearing themselves well spoken of.

How to take a Sleigh Ride.—The Spectator "local" gives the following recipe for a cheap sleigh ride:—"Many people can't afford to take a sleigh ride; can't afford to pay three dollars for a sleigh and prancing horses for an hour, and may be twice that. Here's a substitute that answers every purpose—we have tried it. Seek a bedroom, without fire; next prepare a tub of water, and the colder all the better. Buffaloes will next be needed, then a whip and string of sleigh-bells. Lock the door, proceed to pleasure. Place a chair before the water; pull your boots off and your cap on. All this time be gay and happy! In your chair then snugly settle; plunge your feet into the water; draw the buffaloes around you; seize the whip and snap it gaily while your left hand shakes the sleigh-bells. All this time be gay and happy! Keep this up an hour or longer, as may suit your inclination. Thus, you see, you'll save your money, and enjoy all the pleasures of a sleigh ride. All the time be gay and happy!"

A Needle in the Heart.—In one of the last sessions of the Institute for Science and literature in Milan, Dr. Serafin Bissel showed the heart of the deceased Count Tippo M———, a maniac, who killed his father in one of his raving attacks and often tried to take his own life. The unfortunate man died in consequence of a cancer on the tongue, which was caused by biting it in one of his attacks. At the dissection the heart showed an anomaly which stands unparalled in the annals of science. On careful enquiries it was ascertained that the unfortunate man had told his parents twenty-two months before his death he had thrust a needle in his heart, which they did not believe at the time. During these twenty-two months the insane person, who suffered frequently from colic, never felt the slighest pain in his heart nor in the vicinity of that organ, and his pulse was also perfectly regular at the time. The men of science consider his case as one of extraordinary importance,as a history will shortly be published with all the details, together with an engraving of his heart.

☞Remember the lecture to-night in Ontario Hall, by Professor Macoun.

QUEBEC LEGISLATURE.—The address in the Quebec Legislature was passed after a short debate.

NORTH RENFREW ELECTIONS.—The nomination for a member for the Local House took place at Pembrook on the 24th. Mr. Deacon and Mr. Murray were nominated; both parties are confident of success.

I. O. OF G. T.—The members of Moira Temple will (D. V.) have a Tea-Meeting and Musical and Literary Re-union in Ontario Hall, Wednesday next. A choice programme of Music interspersed with Readings and Addresses has been prepared for the occasion.

MURDER.—A murder of surpassing atrocity has been committed in Pennsylvania for the purpose of robbery. A Mr. John Pergbtals, his wife and a boy, were killed by two men who entered their house; the wretches afterwards firing the building in order to destroy traces of their crime. It is satisfactory to learn that the murderers are already in custody, some of the stolen money being found upon them.

THEN AND NOW.—When it was supposed the Hon. J. C. Atkins, would not accept office under Sir John A. Macdonald, the Globe, 3rd Oct. 1868, wrote of him as follows: "The Hon. J. C. Aikins, a Reformer of unimpeachable antecedents." On the 9th of Nov. 1869, Mr. Aikins having accepted office, the Globe says the declaration on the part of the Conservative press, that Mr. Aikins is a Reformer, is "a pretense altogether false." Do as the Globe directs, and you are a Christian, refuse and you're a Turk.

SIR WILLIAM LOGAN.—Sir William Logan has resigned his office as chief of the geological survey of the Dominion, and Mr. Alfred Selwyn, his successor, has entered upon the duties of his office. Mr. Selwyn is well-known as a distinguished geologist, is a student of the School of Mines in England, and occupied the position of State Geologist in Victoria, Australia. He was recommended to Sir Wm. Logan on his late visit to England by Sir Roderick Murchison and other distinguished savants as well qualified for the position.

RECIPROCITY.—Telegrams from Washington say President Grant has taken pains to express his decided objection to a renewal of the Reciprocity Treaty with Canada, upon any terms; and that Mr. Boutwell, Secretary Treasurer, agrees with him. This may or may not be the case; but one thing is sure, the more Canadians show an anxiety for reciprocity, the further they are off it, and the sooner the Dominion Government adopt a policy which will be Canadian and national in character, the sooner the Americans will respect us. This waiting for the action of a foreign power is below the dignity of free people.

SHADE TREES.—A Mr. Elihu Wright, a talented man in the United States, has been writing in the Boston Daily Advertiser on the influence of trees on the public health. His position is that taken by German physiologists, that, "as air purifies, "every dense population must have trees "or die too fast by half." He is for converting all the marshes in the vicinity of all cities into forests, and he is also for planting trees upon the public streets. Mr. Wright gives many historical evidences of the purifying influence of forests in absorbing atmospheric poisons. Why does not Belleville take some steps to have the terraces in front of the Court House planted? That which now presents a dreary aspect, might, with very little cost, be made an ornament. Let us hope that another year will not pass without action being taken.

RUNAWAY.—A runaway created considerable commotion on Front street this afternoon. A span of horses which were in the yard of the New Dominion Hotel, took it into their heads to start home without their owner, and made a bee line for the street. They cleared the yard in fine style, but in turning sharp up Front street, the sleigh upset and became generally demoralized, fragments of it being found in different parts of the road. The gentle motion of the whiffle-trees against their legs, acted as an incentive to their movements and greatly accelerated their speed. As usual there were any number of persons on the street shouting at the top of their voices, and performing all sorts of antics with a view to stop their progress, but which only rendered them wilder and more unmanageable. After attaining the highest rate of speed possible, the fiery steeds suddenly brought up against a span of horses, one thrusting his head kindly between the two for shelter, which was acknowledged by a gentle upward movement of the fore legs of both the animals, and the other turning a somersault quicker and in finer style than the most celebrated gymnast.—By this time the streets were crowded, and young men and old rushed to the scene of conflict, expecting to witness a most sanguinary sight, and some were evidently disappointed at finding that "nobody nor nothing was hurt." The owner soon arrived on the spot and led back his refractory animals, muttering something which evidently was intended as a severe rebuke to the naughty horses, and which they no doubt fully comprehended; the crowd returned to their avocations, those who had any, and those who hadn't sighed for the oft recurrence of similar scenes, and in a few minutes all was quiet on Front street.

Republicanism Exemplified.

Any careful reader of the American papers will every now and then see such exemplifications of the working of the theory of Republicanism, as the following which we clip from the editorial columns of the New York Tribune, a paper which is ever prating about equal rights, and denouncing what it is pleased to style "aristocratic snobbery." Let any one read it, and ask themselves whether a more consummate piece of snobbery was ever penned:—

"The St. Louis Republican solemnly commences an editorial article as follows: "It is "with sincere regret that we are compelled to "notice that our city is about to lose one of its "greatest adornments, and at the same time "one of its best citizens!" "Good heavens!" said we, to ourselves, "what calamity threat-"ens this most respectable and heretofore "thriving village? What public monument is "about to fall? What public character is about "to expire?" Soon as our feelings permitted us to do so, we resumed the reading, and found that a thriving St. Louis tailor was on the point of removing to New York, and that "the great-"est adornment" was the tailor's shop. The affords an additional argument for transporting the Capital to St. Louis, that the poor inhabitants may have some compensation for the loss of their incomparable tailor."

Why can't a tailor be an ornament to society as well as any other man, Mr. Tribune? It is only a Republican who would deny the proposition.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 24.

PETITIONS.

A large number of petitions were presented, among them, one by Dr. Boulter, from Hon. B. Flint and others of Hastings, for an Act to incorporate a company for the construction of a Railway from Kingston to Madoc.

BILLS.

Mr. Wood introduced a Bill with reference to law fees and trust funds, which was read a first time.

The following Bills were introduced.

Mr. Cumberland for the establishment of Municipal institutions in Algoma.

Mr. CLARKE—To amend the Law relating to Bills of lading.

Hon. Mr. CAMERON—To amend the Act incorporating the Toronto and Nipissing Railway.

Mr. RYKERT—To legalise the amalgamation of the Cobourg and Peterborough Railway Company, and the Marmora Iron Company.

REPAIRING OF GAOLS.

Mr. CRAIG (Glengarry), enquired whether the Government intend to re-enact the Statute which authorized aid to be given by Government to the repairing of gaols?

ATTY.-GEN. MACDONALD was understood to say that it was not the intention of this Government to charge upon the revenues of the Province the repairs of gaols. The statute referred to was in existence only for a short time. It required the localities interested to tax themselves in proportion to the aid given them by the Exchequer; and inasmuch as the local parties for the most part refused to take the steps necessary to carry out the repairs recommended by the Inspectors, the system was discontinued. There was now no provision for those who did not take the proper measures while the law was in force.

NORTH OF LAKE SUPERIOR.

In reply to Mr. FERRIER whether any action was to be taken towards opening up the country to the north of Lake Superior for settlement, and the probability of an Intercolonial Railway passing through that part of the country to Red River.

Hon. Mr. RICHARDS said that during the past season the Government had ordered the survey of three townships in the neighbourhood of Thunder Bay. These lands were surveyed, not for settlement, but because the indications were more favourable for a development of mineral wealth there than in other portions of the territory. The Government had no present intention of surveying new townships in that locality. But, of course, if the communications were such as to warrant them in undertaking the work of settlement, they would be prepared to survey lands for that purpose. At present there were lands bordering on Lake Superior that were open for settlement, and the supply was not exhausted; and it was supposed that those surveys had been made in the most favourable localities for the purpose.

INDIAN LANDS.

Hon. Mr. RICHARDS said in reply to a question, that the Government had had no correspondence with the Dominion Government, touching the transfer to them of the Indian Lands in Ontario, and they had no intention of taking any action in the matter. These lands were subject to a special trust, and, if the Government bought them, they would have to pay, he supposed, their full value. There was no desire, he believed, or intention at present on the part of the Government to purchase those lands, for the purpose of settlement. The Indian Department could settle them just as advantageously as this Government could do. The lands which the Ontario Government already had were quite sufficient for the demand.

GRAMMAR SCHOOLS.

A return was ordered shewing the average attendance at Grammar Schools during the years 1865, '6, '7 and '8.

MUNICIPAL INSTITUTIONS.

Resolutions for the amendment of the municipal law, were referred to a Committee.

WOODEN RAILWAYS.

Power was given to the Committee to send for persons and papers.

FREE GRANTS.

A return of the number of settlers upon free grants, was ordered.

LAW OF EVIDENCE.

Mr. CLARKE moved the second reading of a Bill to allow parties in a civil suit to give evidence themselves, upon which a long debate ensued. Messrs. Clarke, Blake, Pardee, Lount, Beatty, McGill and the Hon. Mr. Wood in support; and the Hon. Messrs. Macdonald and Cameron; and Messrs. Ferrier, Ferguson, Rykert and Hays, in opposition. The second reading was carried on a vote of 43 to 20.

After some further unimportant business the House adjourned.

—Prince Arthur is to be at the concert of the St. Andrew's Society of Montreal on St. Andrew's Day.

—It is rumored that the Government of the Dominion is to build a Penitentiary in Amherst, N. S.

—The exemptions under the assessment law, in Ottawa, amount to $10,000. The people have petitioned for an amendment to the law.

—An application is to be made by Hugh Allen, and others of Montreal, for a charter, to incorporate a Rolling Mills Stock Company, with $400,000.

—The trunk of the captain of the wrecked schooner "O'Gorman" has been found adrift in the lake. There is scarcely any hopes of the safety of the crew.

—It is reported that Rankin, who was for Hincks in North Renfrew, is appointed Inspector of Customs for the Northern part of New Brunswick, and part of Quebec.

—In 10 months' in 1868, 23,465 bbls. of flour were imported into Halifax; during the same period in 1869, 170,749 bbls., being 58,498 bbls. less.

—One Michael Gleesay in Ottawa, has been committed for trial for stabbing his wife with a shoemaker's knife. He has already been three years in the Penitentiary.

—London the less is getting famous. The latest sensation is the elopement of a so-called respectable man, with his servant leaving a wife and four children, the oldest of which is only eight years.

—The women of South Carolina, who alone, the Charleston News says, are indomitable and undismayed, propose to erect an enduring monument to the memory of the gallant Southern men who died in the service of the Confederacy.

—Recent advices from England state that the directors of the Hudson's Bay Company have changed the official title of their company to that of "The Governor and Company of Adventurers of England trading to Hudson's Bay," thus indicating that they are no longer proprietors of the territory.

—A recent letter from England says that the rank of ensigbn in the British army will probably be abolished when Mr. Cardwell brings down his estimates next year, and that Major-General Sidated, C. B., ex-Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario is to receive a divisional command in India in the course of two or three months.

—Bishop Finsonneault, in a sermon delivered in Montreal, on Sunday Nov. 21st, asserted that "nothing good ever was done outside the "Papacy," and that "the only way of true "progress and civilization was that laid down by "the successor of St. Peter at the Vatican, and "if society continued to disobey his precepts, "it would soon perish." Modest man this Bishop.

HUDSON BAY STORES SEIZED BY THE INSURGENTS. DR. BOWN ARRESTED FOR REFUSING TO PRINT. THE SCOTTISH "ELEMENT" LOYAL. MR. MCDOUGALL TAKES A HOUSE IN PEMBINA.

The Globe's correspondent says:—

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 23rd.

A gentleman just in from Fort Garry says that the English half-breeds and whites are taking little or no part in the demonstration which is being made chiefly by French half breeds.

The system of passes has been adopted and the strictest surveillance is exercised.

The insurgents have taken possession of the Hudson Bay Company's storehouses, and are dealing out to themselves daily rations from the Company's supplies.

Dr. Bown, the Editor of the Nor'-Wester, was arrested for refusing to print a proclamation for the insurgents, and the printers, at the mouth of the musket, were forced to issue the revolutionary document, which was posted in various parts of the rebellious district.

A Red River trading house here learns that there is a strong organization of a Scotch element, including many half breeds, waiting for a favorable opportunity to declare in favor of Governor McDougall.

STILL LATER.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 24.

A letter dated Pembina, Nov. 10th, says that Governor McDougall has rented a house, moved in, and is settled for the winter."

Messrs. Richards, Provencher, Begg, and Cameron and his wife, are boarding in Pembina.

"The letter says that Fort Garry and the whole country is in possession of the rebels. Their object is not to throw off their allegiance to the Queen, but to oppose annexation to Canada.

No later news from Fort Garry.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 24.

Latest advices say that a French Priest is the directing mind of the dtaturbance.

No messengers from Mr. McDougall have passed here (St. Paul) yet, but are expected daily.

The mail occupies about twelve days in going from St. Paul to Pembina, where Governor McDougall is quartered.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

Fifth of November at Northport.

The defeat of the Guy Fawkes conspiracy was celebrated by the members and friends of Northport L. O. Lodge, No. 1113, by a public Dinner. Though the day was anything but agreeable, Morden's Hall was filled by a very respectable company. Ample justice was done to the bountiful repast that had been provided by the ladies of the place; in fact, so much was provided that the Committee decided to hold a Social on Saturday evening; and I may here state that the proceeds of both Dinner and Social were given to the Northport Sabbath School. After dinner, the brethren were called out by Bro. T. E. Young, C. D. C., formed in line, and marched to the Methodist New Connexion Church, where in the absence of Major J. E. Fraser, District Master, Bro. H. C. Cronk, D. D. C., was called to the chair, who, after reading letters of apology from several gentlemen who had been invited to attend and address the meeting, called on the Rev. Mr. Cullen to address those present, which he did by impressing on all members the necessity of sustaining the honor of the Order; shewing by his remarks that although not a member of the Order he was a firm defender of its principles, and though he did not wear the colors outwardly, they were firmly engraved on his heart. The Rev. Mr. Birt, of Princeton College, next addressed the meeting, and said it was his fortune or misfortune to be a Yankee; he knew but little of Orangeism, but to the Sabbath School he paid a high tribute and showed that it was an agency of great value for doing good, and gave some historical facts proving it to be of great value to the rising generation. Bro. T. E. Young then addressed the meeting and made a few remarks on the Order, and those in the matrimonial line, creating considerable amusement as he is what is called a 'bachelor.' Rev. Mr. Henderson next addressed the meeting. He gave a historical description of the 'gunpowder plot,' what its designs were and how they were defeated, showing the superiority of Protestantism over Popery, and stating that he was ready at all times to defend its principles. Bro. Wellington Boulter was the last speaker called on, but owing to the lateness of the hour he said he would not detain them by making a speech, but would say that it gave him much pleasure to be present with them to celebrate the defeat of one of the foulest conspiracies ever conceived. Several pieces of music were rendered in excellent style by the choir, reflecting much credit on the musical talent of Northport, and as the evening shades were gathering around, the meeting was brought to a close by the choir singing, "God save the Queen." Being well pleased with the manner in which the day had been spent, all felt happy to meet, but sorry to part.

ORANGEMAN.

Northport, Nov. 26, 1869.

—Some forty or fifty medical students are to be arrested in Montreal for riotous conduct.

—Two ruffians assaulted a Montreal Policeman, and were fined $20 each or two months in jail.

—The Ottawa watermen are on a strike, and won't draw water for less than 25 cents. The citizens threaten to build waterworks.

—A desperate ruffian in Toronto, named Clarke, attempted to shoot a woman in a house of ill-fame, and then fired four shots at two policemen and knocked one on the head before he was arrested.

—Dr. Tupper, being accused of political greed, (because his son-in-law is made one of the North-west Council, we suppose,) very properly answers that, having declined a seat in the Cabinet with $5,000 per annum, and a Railway Commissionership with $4,000, he hardly feels himself obnoxious to the charge.

SPAIN.

MADRID, Nov. 24.—The Minister of Colonies to-day, read in the Cortez a draft of construction for Porto Rico; it forbids discussion of any proposition for a separation from Spain, proclaiming complete religious liberties; gives the right of suffrage to all who can read and write, except slaves, places certain restrictions on slavery; proclaims that slaves have no rights, and can only acquire them by emancipation. The question of slavery is reserved for a subsequent bill.

INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—To-night at a public meeting of citizens, a Committee reported that after two days only of canvassing, they had obtained subscriptions to the amount of $250,000, including $5,000 from President Grant in furtherance of an International Fair, to be held in Washington in 1871. An announcement was followed by additional subscriptions of $200,000. The amounts subscribed range from one to two thousand dollars; these with subscriptions to be paid by the city make a total of about $1,200,000 secured for that object. These favorable circumstances led to the passage of a resolution, definitely fixing the time of holding the International exposition. The prospect is that as much more will be realized. Interest has already been awakened in Europe.

GLADSTONE'S SPEECH.

The entire speech of Gladstone, at the Lord Mayor's dinner has just been received here, in London papers, and is regarded as friendly to the settlement of the Alabama claims. The question in manner is satisfactory to the United States, and this view is strengthened by letters from distinguished sources in England, making enquiries and suggestions indicating continued improvement in the state of feeling on this subject, and strongly expressive of a desire that the dispute be promptly adjusted. There has, however, been no official action, but the aspect leads to the belief that negotiations will be resumed at an early day.

ERIE RAILWAY DIRECTORS SUSPENDED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—At the special term of the Supreme Court, held at Delhi, Delaware County, an order was granted by the Court on Tuesday, suspending Jay Gould, Jas. Fiske, Jr., P. N. Lase, Geo. C. Hall, H. N. Smith and Chas. G. Sisson, as Directors of the Erie Railroad Company. A commission will be appointed in this city to take evidence in regard to the conduct of the affairs of the Company.

HAVRE, Nov. 25.—The steamer 'Holsatia,' did not leave this port until Sunday noon, on account of the fog.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.—This unequalled expectorant for curing consumption and all diseases leading to it, such as affections of the Throat, Lungs, and all diseases of the Pulmonary organs, is introduced to the suffering public after its merits for the positive cure of such diseases have been fully tested. The formula from which it is prepared is referred to by the leading medical journals as being equal to any prescription that can be made up for such diseases by the medical faculty. The Balsam is, consequently, recommended by physicians who have become acquainted with its great success.

TIME TRIES ALL THINGS.—And has proved that Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is the remedy par excellence for the cure of coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, bronchitis, asthma, phthisic, sore throat, and influenza. It cures coughs and colds instanter! It soothes the irritated parts; it heals the inflammation; and even consumption itself yields to its magic influence.

MARRIED.

At the residence of the bride's parents, Belleville, on Wednesday, Nov. 24th, by the Rev. John Grier, A. M. UNIAH ELLIOTT THOMPSON, Esq., and MATILDA, second daughter of Henry Corby, Esq., M. P. P.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

BOILS,

Like the volcano, Boils give issue to the foul and impure contents of the deep interior. To remove the cause of such suffering it is only necessary to vitalize the blood by supplying it with its Life Element, IRON.

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP,

(a protected solution of the Protoxide of Iron) will do this effectively, and give strength, vigor and new life to the whole system.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM REV. RICHARD S. EDES, OF BOLTON, MASS.

"For years I was a sufferer from Boils, so that my life became wearisome through their frequent and persistent resurrence; finally a carbuncle formed in the small of my back. Had I given large pieces of decomposed flesh were every day or two cut away, and the prostration and general disturbance of the system were great. Before I had recovered from this attack two smaller carbuncles broke out higher up, and I was again tortured with a recurrence of the sufferings to which I had so long been subjected. It was at this time that I commenced taking the PERUVIAN SYRUP. I continued taking it until I had used five bottles; since then I have had nothing of the kind. For years I was one of the greatest sufferers. Other medicines gave me partial and temporary relief, but this remarkable remedy, with a kind of intuitive sense, went directly to the root of the evil, and did its work with a thoroughness worthy of its established character."

A 32 page Pamphlet sent free. The genuine has "PERUVIAN SYRUP" blown in the glass.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.
THE REMEDY FOR CURING

Consumption, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, Oppression of the Chest or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

IT is action is expectorant, alterative, sedative; and in some cases diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the Lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS and PURIFIES the BLOOD; heals the diseased parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the blood to its proper action and imparts strength to the whole system. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction, even in the most aggravated cases of consumption, and not to produce costiveness (as do most remedies) or effect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no necessity for so many deaths by consumption, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

NEW

APPLIED IN THE CURE OF

Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine (free from all nauseating or disagreeable effects) known as here, Dr. Radway's is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the main principles of the Sarsaparilla Root. The Sarsaparillian and other foreign roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Flesh, Fat-making medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care as the proper seasons, from the native soil, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co.—to that no spurious admixtures or worthless root can possibly be used in its preparation.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this branch alone But the wonderful curative powers it has secured to the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

pays for the outlay over and over again; for never in the history of medicine was such a medicine this to completely build up, repair, and makes sound, strong, healthy, vigorous and beautiful without, the weak and broken-down constitutions, as

Dr. RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

It supplies the blood with nourishment.
IT CONTAINS TISSUE-MAKING AND FLESH-BUILDING QUALITIES.
It supplies the system with caloric or heat-making properties.
It cures all Eruptive and Ulcerated diseases of the Skin, Ears, Nose, Throat, and Skin and Scalp.
It increases the weight and appetite.
IT STOPS ALL WASTEING DISCHARGES.
It increases the repairs and diminishes the wastes.
It establishes the products of decay.
It resolves Tumors, Nodes, Hard Lumps.
It makes the skin clear and beautiful.
It heals Fever Sores and Ulcers.
It cures Gravel, Stone and Stricture.
It makes the water clear and pass freely.
It cures Diabetes, Dropsy, Weak Back, Urinary or manhood those who, from weakness or disease, are nervous, debilitated or exhausted.
It rescues woman from the perils incident to change of life—especially Females.

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if their systems do still possess vition to recover, recommend, and their LUNGS LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs are not all beyond the process of repair, of building up or sustaining the reparative process of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can be restored to health, or the waste and decompositions stopped, and the elements of decay that are now existing eradicated from the system.

Extreme cases, where the LUNGS, KIDNEYS, and other organs are wasted, diseased, and their functions interrupted and secretions altered beyond the reparative power of medicine, may and will, by the use of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT, continued for a few months, have the wasting of the vital forces may be, if the system can be built under the influence of this tissue and flesh-making medicine, the repairs will be greater than the wastes and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, Secondary Syphilis, and the poison of Venereal, are developed through the process of deposits from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic Glands Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a marked change in his health for the better, after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, as the blood becomes more pure, rich, strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution its waste or worn out elements, the deposits of Tubercle was unable to other elements of disease, decomposition and decay will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin Liver Organs, and each of these Organs will acquire their proper constituent secretions. Instead of Urine Bile, the Pancreatic Juice and other fluids being absorbed in the circulation, these secretions will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If medicine fails in its influence on the system, to correct these secretions, and to assist each organ or secreting gland in discharging its proper functions, health can never be restored. Apology for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent comprises that important want has heretofore existed in all these remedies agreed advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cavernous tumors, or ulcers, or other disease and corruption may be, the influence of this powerful agent on the blood and other fluids that course the living body with repairs, will so change the system with such constituents as to remove and eliminate the dead and decomposing matter, and supply its place with sound and living matter, nourished by rich, pure, and strong blood. By its chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during its process of digestion such Organs and Glands, food is made blood, as well as the nourishing constituents to recover that blood, and its properties when entering in the circulation, it exterminates every atom or germ from the blood, and system away all deposits of disease, whether caused by the action of some specific poison, or virulent matter, as Mercury, Corrosive Sublimate, i.e. the Corrosive Chloride of Mercury, Calomel, or from some lurking that may have accumulated in the bones, tissues cartilage, or joints, or from some long standing family complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, mucured and badly treated in the many forms Glandular Diseases, Ulcers in the Throat Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Rheumatic Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Erysipelas Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Boils, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all wasteing and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all waste of the Life Principle, are within the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of Disease, its potent power to arrest them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Strictures, and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Weak Back, and Dropsy, Diabetes, and all who are incovenienced by Stoppage of Water, or Pain in Passing Discharges, are quickly relieved and effectually cured through the use of

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Denault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his side that resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, aided with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and used, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, mixed diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctored for nine years, and cured in the space of less than two dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., told me of his knowledge of your medicine. His son, aged 15 years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all. I saw him in September last, and he was the most revolting and diseased object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills. One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruption of the skin, Boils, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Threatened Consumption, Night Sweats Bleeding from the Lungs, cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WINDSOR STATION, Ontario, Canada West, March 1, 1869.

DR. RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep, a boon for which I can never thank you. After using one bottle the bleeding was cured, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use Radway and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatened Consumption have disappeared. I feel my health fully restored. JONATHAN FREELAND.

N. B.—The gentleman we refer to above has been under the treatment of the best physicians in Canada—he received no benefit—his medicine until he commenced using your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. GEO. MORTIMER.

To Cure and Smoke Bacon.

At this season of the year all our farmers are preparing to salt their hams and bacon, so we propose to give them a recipe whereby salting and smoking can be done in one simple and short process. Many of our housewives are forced to depend upon their neighbors for conveniences to smoke with. Those of us who own smoke-houses know how difficult it is to smoke just right. By this process all trouble is avoided. Take a large sized butter firkin, cask or barrel, according to the quantity of meat you desire to smoke; place it over a fire of corn cobs with the corn on. Meat smoked in this way is higher flavored, the corn seeming to produce a better taste than cobs, or wood, or green walnuts. Let the tub smoke from five to six hours. To one hundred pounds of meat take eight pounds of salt, two pounds of coarse brown sugar (or three pints of molasses), and two ounces of saltpetre; rub a little fine salt into the hams and shoulders, then put the meat into the smoked tub, cover it with cold water, turn in the salt, sugar, and saltpetre, cover closely and sit in a cool place where it will not freeze. If a scum rises on the brine turn it off, scald and add a little more salt. If desired to keep through the summer, in the early spring smoke the tub three hours longer, put back the meat and turn on the brine when cold. In a month after pickling, the hams will be ready for use. They can be kept in the brine all summer, and if a ham is cut return it to the tub for further use. Beef and tongues can be kept in the same manner, and there is no danger from insects. In six or seven weeks the beef is pickled and smoked enough to dry. This is the surest and most expeditious way of salting and smoking pork and beef, and if once tried will always be adopted.

—The New York 'Herald' is right for once. It argues that if France gains all the honor of constructing the Suez Canal, Great Britain is pretty sure to reap all the profit.

CANNING CIDER.—It is not generally known that sweet cider may be kept unchanged, if put in air tight vessels. Take fresh, sweet cider, heat it to the boiling point, and fill and seal the cans quickly, and you have a rare luxury for winter and spring use. The juice of the grape, or any fruit, may be preserved in the same way, and is far better than fermented wine.

TO REMOVE WARTS.—Apply to the wart, with the end of a knitting needle, a little fuming nitric acid, to be had of the apothecaries. Repeat the application, once or twice, and two or three days the excrescence will come off without pain or leaving any mark. A few cents' worth will remove a thousand warts. It is a liquid, and should be used with care.

"INCURABLE."—In a manufacturing town in Roxburgshire, a tradesman, like too many of his fellow creatures, was much addicted to intemperance, and his relatives having tried every means to break him off that baneful habit without effect, it was suggested by a friend as a last resort to try the following plan, which, as the sequel shows, also proved abortive. Coming home late one night in a state bordering on delirium tremens, he was at last got to sleep, but instead of being put in bed, he was carried into a dingy cellar, wrapped in a white sheet, and with a bandkerchief over his face, laid in a large box; his friend dressed in like manner, having his face whitened, lay in another box a little way off. In the morning our hero awoke, and rising on one elbow took a survey of his position, and at last fixing his eye on the occupant of the other bed, he ejaculated: "Where am I?" His friend in an assumed hollow voice responded, "You are dead." "An' when did a' dee?" "Last night." Rubbing his eyes with a vacant and bewildered look, he after a pause asked, "Are ye dead tae?" "I am." "An' when did ye dee?" "About two months since.' By this time it was evident that the 'carnal man' had not lost his hold on our hero, for his tongue tried in vain to wet his parched lips, and turning to his friend with a persuasive smile, he said; 'A' say, man, ye'll be better acquaint here than me, d'ye think ye could raise aughts?'

A WONDERFUL WORKER.—And yet it is a very simple principle on which it works, according to Appleton's Journal. The laborer in question is the human heart: A man's total outward work, his whole effect upon the world, in twenty-fours, has been reckoned at about three hundred and fifty foot-tons. That may be taken as a good, "hard day work." During the same time the heart has been working at the rate of one hundred fifty foot-tons. That is to say, if all the pulses of a day and night could be welded into one great throb, that throb would be enough to throw a ton of iron one hundred and twenty feet into the air. Many of us are tired after but feeble labors; few of us can hold a poker out at arms length without, after a few minutes drooping in. But a healthy heart and many an unsound heart, too—though sometimes you can tell in the evening by its stroke that it has been vexed during the day, that it has been thrown off its balance by the turmoils and worries of life—goes on beating through the night while we are asleep, and, when we awaken in the morning, we find it to work, fresh as if it had only just begun to beat. It does this because upon each stroke of work there follows a period—a brief but a real period of rest, and made to match it; because, in fact, each beat is, in force, in scope, in character, in everything, the simple expression of the heart's own energy and state.

to Montreal Tea Company: MONTREAL, 1868.

GENTS.—It is nearly a year since I purchased the first chest of Tea from your house. I have purchased many since, and I am pleased to inform you the Tea has in every case proved most satisfactory, as well as being exceedingly cheap. Yours very truly,

F. SIMPSON.

Montreal Tea Co: Montreal, April, 1868.—To the Montreal Tea Company, 6 Hospital Street, Montreal:

GENTLEMEN,—The Tea I purchased of you in March has given great satisfaction, and the flavor of it is very fine. It is very strange, but since I have been drinking your Tea I have been quite free from heartburn, which would always pain me after breakfast. I attribute this to the purity of your Tea, and shall continue customer

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty settment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

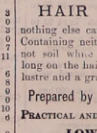

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any of the usual nostrums. Being sugar coated, it is more readily taken, while purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity. They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their energies to healthy vigor, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fever, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstruction which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to promote the effect of a powerful purgative.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken to produce the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, purifies the blood, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious complaint exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him sensibly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

OR TONICO REALE.

Del Dottore F. P. Verri, Prof. of Chemistry, in the Royal University Padua, Italy.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original preparer at the National Exposition at Torino, Italy, by whose favor Mr. Gianelli obtained the Recipe, and was also awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition of Canada, held at Montreal in September, 1865, is without exception, the most Genuine, Salubrious and agreeable Tonic ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America.

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite among the elite of society, being generally served in the Brawaig Room immediately before dinner, in preference to Vermouth.

☞ The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval on every account.

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, FRIDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 26, 1869. No. 177.

Coals of Fire.

Guy Morgan came in with rapid step and an impetuous manner. His mother looked up from her work. There was a round red spot in each cheek, and an ominous glitter in his eyes. She knew the signs. That naturally fierce temper of his had been stirred in some way to a heat that had kindled his whole nature. He threw down his cap, threw himself on an ottoman at her feet, and then he said, with a little of the heat of his temper in his tone, "Never say, after this, that I don't love you, mother.'

'I think I never did say so,' she answered gently, as she passed her hand over the tawny locks, and brushed them away from the flushed brow. 'But what special thing have you done to prove your love for me just now ?'

'Taken a blow without returning it.'

She bent over and kissed him where he sat. He was fifteen years old, a great, tall fellow, with muscles like steel; but he had not grown above liking his mother's kisses. Then she said, softly, 'Tell me all about it, Guy.'

'O, it was Dick Osgood. You know what a mean, bullying fellow he is anyhow. He had been tormenting some of the younger boys,—nagging them till I couldn't stand it. They are every one afraid for their lives where he is. I told him he ought to be ashamed of himself, and tried to make him leave off, till, after a while, I s'pose he got stirred up, for he turned from them, and coming to me he struck me in the face. I believe the mark of his claws is there now ;' and he turned towards her the other cheek, which he had kept carefully away from her up to this time. She saw the marks clearly, and she trembled herself with sympathy and secret indignation.

'Well,' she said, 'and you—what did you do ?'

'I remembered what I had promised you for this year, and I took it,—think of it, mother,—took it and never touched him. I just looked into his eyes, and said, 'If I should strike you back I should lower myself to your level.' He laughed a great scornful horse-laugh, and said he, 'You hear,boys,Morgan's turned preacher. You'd better wait, sir, before you lecture me on my behavior to the little ones, till you have pluck enough to defend them. I've heard about the last impudence I shall take from a coward like you.' The boys laughed,and some of them said, 'Good for Osgood!' and I came home. I had done it for the sake of my promise to you ; for I'm stronger than he is any day ; and you know, mother, whether there's a drop of coward blood in my veins. I thought you were the one to comfort me ; though it isn't comfort I want so much either. I just want you to release me from that promise, and let me go back and thrash him.'

Mrs. Morgan's heart thrilled with silent thanksgiving. Her boy's temper had been her greatest grief. His father was dead, and she had brought him up alone, and sometimes she was afraid her too great tenderness had spoiled him. She had tried in vain to curb his passionate nature. It was a power which no bands could bind. She had concluded, at last, that the only hope was in enlisting his own powerful will, and making him resolve to conquer himself.—Now, she thought, he had shown himself capable of self control. In the midst of his rage he had remembered his pledge to her, and kept it. He would yet be his own master,—this brave boy of hers,—and the kingdom of his mind would be a goodly sovereignty.

'Better heap coals of fire on his head,' she said, quietly.

'Yes, he deserves a good scorching,' pretending perversely to misunderstand her,—but I should not have thought you would have been so vindictive.'

'You know well enough what kind of coals I meant, and who it was that said, 'If thine enemy hunger, feed him ; If he thirst, give him drink.' I cannot release you from your promise until the year for which you made it is over. I think the Master who told us to render good for evil understood all the wants and passions of humanity better than any other teacher has ever understood them. I am sure that what he said must be wise, and right, and best. I want you to try his way first. If that fails, there will be time enough after this year to make a different experiment.'

'Well, I promised you,' he said, 'and I'll show you that, at least, I'm strong enough to keep my word until you release me from it. I think, though, you don't quite know how tough it is.'

Mrs. Morgan thought she did know just about how ' tough ' it was to boy-nature to be called a coward ; but she knew, also, that the truest bravery on earth is the bravery of endurance.

'Look out for the coals of fire,' she said, smilingly, as her boy started off for school the next morning. 'Keep a good watch, and I'm pretty sure you'll find them before the summer is over.'

But he came home that night depressed and a little gloomy. He felt as if his prestige were gone. There had always been a sort of rivalry between him and Dick Osgood, and now the boys seemed to have gone over to the stronger side, and he had that feeling of humiliation and disgrace which is as bitter to a boy as the sense of defeat ever is to a man.

The weeks went on, and the feeling wore away a little. Still that blow, unavenged and unatoned, rankled in Guy's mind, and made him unsocial and ill at ease. His mother watched him with some anxiety, but she did not interfere. She had the true wisdom to leave him to learn some of the lessons of life alone.

At length came the last day of school, succeeded next day by a pic nic, in which all the scholars were to join, superintended by their teachers. Guy Morgan hesitated a little, then concluded to go. The place selected was a lovely spot, known in all the neighborhood as 'the old mill.' It was on the banks of the Quassit River, where the stream ran fast, and the grass on its brink was green, and great trees with drooping boughs shut away the garish July sunlight.

Among the rest were Dick Osgood and his little sister Hetty,—the one human being whom he seemed really and tenderly to love. The teachers' eyes were on him for this one day, and he neither ventured to insult the older scholars nor bully the little ones. He and Guy kept apart as much as they conveniently could ; and Guy entered into the spirit of the day, and really enjoyed it more than he had enjoyed anything for the past two months.

Dinner was spread on the grass, and nothing taken at home on civilized black walnut, and from regulation dishes, was ever tasted with half the best which went to the enjoyment of these viands, eaten with pewter spoons out of crockery of every hue and kind. They had enjoyed themselves like boys and girls, and like nothing else ; for that full, hearty capacity for enjoyment is one of the things which youth takes away when it goes "with flying feet," and "which never come again."

They made dinner last as long as they could, and then they scattered here and there,—some swinging in hammocks, some lounging on the grass, and a group standing on the bridge a few rods above the mill, and playing at fishing. Among these latter were Dick Osgood and his sister. Guy Morgan was at a little distance with one of the teachers, pulling to pieces a curious flower, and talking botany. Suddenly a wild, wild cry arose above the sultry stillness of the summer afternoon and the hum of quiet voices round,—Dick Osgood's cry : "She's in, boys ! Hetty's in the river, and I can't swim. O, save her, save her !—will no one try ?'

Before the words were out of his lips, they all saw Guy Morgan coming on with flying feet,—a race for life. He unbuttoned coat and vest as he ran, and cast them off as he neared the bridge. He kicked off his summer shoes, and threw himself over. They heard him strike the water. He went under, rose again, and then struck out toward the golden head which rose just then for the second time. Every one who stood there lived moments which seemed like hours.

The boys and Mr. Sharp the teacher, with whom Guy had been talking, got a strong rope, and,running down the stream, threw it out on the water just above the falls, where Guy could reach it if he can get so near the shore—if. The water was very deep where Hetty had fallen in, and the river ran fast, fast. It was sweeping the poor child on, and Dick Osgood threw himself upon the bridge, and sobbed and screamed like one gone mad. When she rose the third time, she was near the falls. A moment more and she would go over, down on the cragged cruel rocks beneath. But that third time Guy Morgan caught her,—caught her by her long, glistening, golden hair. Mr. Sharp shouted to him, He saw the rope and swam towards it, his strong right arm beating the water back with nammer strokes ; his left motionless, holding his white burden.

'O God !' Mr. Sharp prayed, fervently, 'keep him up, spare his strength a little longer,—a little longer !'

A moment more and he reached the rope, clung to it desperately, and boys and teachers drew the two in over the slippery edge, out of the horrible seething waters, and took them in their arms, both silent, both motionless. Mr. Sharp spoke Guy's name, but he did not answer. Would either of them ever answer again ?

Teachers and scholars went to work alike for their restoration. It was well there was intelligent guidance, or their best endeavors might have failed. Guy, being the stronger, was the first to revive.

'Is Hetty safe ?' was his anxious question.

'Only God knows,' Mr. Sharp answered, solemnly. 'We are doing our best.'

It was almost half an hour more before Hetty opened her blue eyes. Meantime

Dick had been utterly frantic and helpless. He had sobbed, and groaned, and cried, and prayed even, in the wild, incomprehensible fashion of his own, which perhaps the pitying Father, who forgets no sparrow even, understood and answered. When he heard his sister's voice, he was like one beside himself with joy, until Mr. Sharp quieted him by a few low, firm words, which were audible to no one else.

Some of the larger girls arranged one of the wagons, and, getting into it, received Hetty in their arms.

Mr. Sharp drove Guy Morgan home. When they reached his mother's gate, Guy insisted on going in alone. He thought it might alarm her to see some one helping him; besides, he wanted her a few moments quiet to herself. So Mr. Sharp drove away, and Guy went in. His mother saw him coming, and opened the door.

'Where have you been?' she cried, seeing his wet, disordered plight.

In Qussit River, mother, fishing out Hetty Osgood.'

Then, while she was busying herself in preparations for his comfort, he quietly told his story. His mother's eyes were dim and her heart throbbed chokingly.

'O, if you had been drowned, my boy, my darling!' she cried, hugging him close, wet as he was, as if she would hold him back from all dangers forever.

'If I had been there, Guy, I couldn't have let you do it.'

'I went in after the coals of fire, mother.'

Mrs. Morgan knew how to laugh with her boy, as well as how to cry over him. 'I've heard of people smart enough to set the river on fire,' she said, 'but you are the first one I ever knew who went in there after the coals.'

The next morning came a delegation of the boys, with Dick Osgood at their head. Every one was there who had seen the blow which he struck, and heard his taunts afterwards. They came into the sitting-room, and said their say before his mother. Dick was spokesman.

'I have come,' he said, "to ask you to forgive me. I struck you a mean, unjustifiable blow. You received it with noble contempt. To provoke you into fighting, I called you a coward, meaning to bring you down by some means to my level. You bore that, too, with a greatness I was not great enough to understand. I do understand it now. I have seen you—all we have seen you—face to face with Death, and seen that you weren't afraid of him. You fought with him and came off ahead; and we all have come to do honor to the bravest boy in town, and I to thank you for a life a great deal dearer and better worth saving than my own."

Dick broke down just there for the tears choked him.

Guy was as grand in his forgiveness as he had been in his forbearance.

Hetty and her father and mother came afterwards, and Guy found himself made a hero of before he knew it. But none of it all moved him as did his mother's few words, and the pride in her joyful eyes.—He had kept, with honor and with patience, his pledge to her and he had his reward. The Master's way of peace had not mislead him.

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, NOV. 26.

ADJOURNED TAX SALE.—The adjourned sale of land for taxes will take place to morrow, at the Court House, at 11 o'clock.

CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.—The following is from the New York Spectator, a prominent insurance journal. It is quite a compliment to a Canadian institution, that it attracts the favorable notice of the American press:—"The Canadian Life Assurance Company has obtained from Elizur Wright a valuation of its policies and annuities to April 30, 1869, by the Carlisle Table at five per cent. He finds the reserve required, to be $668,124.91; taking this into the company's balance sheet, there is a surplus of $181,789.91. The calculation of Mr. Wright has, we understand, been based upon the net premium disregarding the loading. The result is very satisfactory, and must tend to establish the confidence of the public in the Canada Life, and extend its rapidly increasing business."

RED RIVER.—La Minerve of a late date says that the real head of the half breed movement in Winnipeg is not Jean Baptiste Brousse, but a Mr. Louis Riel, "a young man of great ability," who followed the classical courses of the Montreal College some years ago, under the patronage of Bishop Taché, and returned to Red River in 1868. His college friends looked upon him as a man of great eloquence and talents, united to an eccentric character, which constantly impels him to make a noise in the world. He is consequently in his element, and the world may yet hear further of Mr. Riel. La Minerve adds that he is the author of the violent letters on the affairs of the Nor'-West, which recently appeared in the columns of La Minerve Monde.

BLAIRTOWN.—This Village which is situated at the Belmont ore beds, is, says the Peterboro Review of the 25th inst., "very quiet," as "the company is not taking out any ore this winter, and in consequence, the families that were engaged on the work are, just now, rather cast down. They do not appear to have anticipated a stoppage of labor so soon, and of course are not too well prepared for it. The company very generously allows all who remain to occupy their houses rent free and without taxes. The school is also free, and firewood can be obtained at a very low rate—almost for nothing—so that they need not suffer much, if careful. Prospects are that operations will commence about March or before that time, if a settlement can be effected with the trustees of the estate of the late contractor, of which there appears every probability. The stoppage of the works is not, we learn, through insolvency of the company, but owing to litigation that may soon be settled. A good many have gone away from the village—some to the shanties, and others to other parts to look for employment."

SATURDAY'S MARKETING.—Have you ever been to market? Should you ask me why the query? What is witnessed there worth seeing? I would answer you in this wise: Ere the sun has scaled the tree tops; ere the city's up and stirring, come the cavalcades of waggons, gardener's carts and farmer's waggons, rushing in from all directions to their goal, the James street market. All is hurry, worry bustle, each one striving for the best place, hostlers hustling off the horses, market clerks their fees collecting, scolding market woman gabbing worse than famous Mrs. Xantippe; while the waggons, carts, and buggies settle down in proper places; loads of beef and pork and mutton, fish and fowl of all descriptions, apples, turnips, and potatoes, cabbage, carrots, squashes, pumpkins, butter, eggs and cheese and honey, and so on ad infinitum. Then approach the busy buyers aged men and crippled women, thrifty matrons, men of business, mothers, masters, servants children; ladies dressed in silks and satins, maidens fair with health and beauty, who go marketing for mischief, or perhaps for pleasant pastime. Then what comical proceedings greet you in crowded alleys, packed as close as figs or sardines, stepping on the tails of dresses, stumbling over baby waggons, sprawling into butter firkins; meeting old familiar faces, asking merry country maidens of the price of eggs and butter just as though you meant to buy them. Oh! it's worth your time and trouble—go and see next market morning.

—The Dominion arbitrators are at work in Ottawa, deciding a claim of McGreevy & Co.

—An investigation is going on in Ottawa, relative to some frauds in the Post Office in that city.

—A new line of British steamers is to be put upon the route between New York and the Mediterranean.

—A. D. Richardson, formerly on the New York Tribune, was shot by Daniel McFarland a lawyer in New York on the 25th Nov., on account of an alleged intimacy with the latter's wife.

A Grievance-Monger.

Of all the grievance mongers to be found amongst the Grit press of Canada, the London Advertiser is entitled to wear the belt. It is pre-eminent amongst its confreres for finding holes in its opponent's coat and peradventure if none can be discovered it will manage some how to make one; never for one moment comprehending its own tattered condition. It sees the mote in the eye of its neighbor, but is blind to the fact that one exists in its own. We have time and again commended the enterprise of our contemporary, and have admired the vigor and ability which it has displayed, but this nasty habit of carping when there is nothing to carp at, of fault-finding when there is nothing to find fault with, of snarling and snapping when there are nothing but shadows to snarl and snap at, blemishes what otherwise might be a highly respectable journal. That was not a very creditable act for instance when it alluded in a mean manner to the robbery at the Protestant Orphans' Home the other day, and if it got back more than it bargained for, it had only to lament its own want of discretion and judgment for inviting it. It is a truism which may be set down as an adage that attacks of the character to which we refer, invariably emanate from those who wear the livery of honest men, who when stripped of this livery are generally found to be no better than their neighbours, if even they are entitled to stand on the same par with them.

But the Advertiser has at length got a genuine grievance in its own estimation, and is making the most of it. The "Public Accounts" of Ontario for 1868, just issued, is the text from which it preaches a sermon to Governments, to the public generally, and to newspapers particularly. We alluded to its fault-finding disposition. Hitherto, in common with journals of its stripe, it has found fault with John Sandfield for being too economical, even too parsimoniousness, in the administration of the Government. That point has been worn thread-bare, and now it finds fault with Sandfield for extravagance, for useless expenditure of the public moneys, particularly for the amounts expended in printing and advertising. The reader will understand that the Government like any other corporate body has occasion to advertise the sale of public lands, tenders for public works, &c. The complaint has been that through parsimony not sufficient publicity has been given to these announcements, but this paragon of purity finds fault with the Government because it has expended too much under this head. We would not complain of its fault-finding disposition, if it were honest to itself and to the public. The Government for instance has public lands to sell in a certain locality, and as any private individual would do, informs the public of the fact by advertisement. It has public buildings to erect, and by advertisement invites the contractors of Ontario to tender for the same. In the public interest it supplies the departments with leading newspapers of the Dominion. This is legitimate; it is the course pursued by every business man in his own private business. No one would find fault with such management unless it be such small-minded, fault finding, hypocritical persons, as the Advertiser. Because the Government has not wasted the public money by advertising in its columns, because the Government has not fed the hand that whipped it, because it does not nurse the viper that stings it, this free and independent and perfectly disinterested paper imagines all sorts of corruption, and puts down all the journals which happen to have had a stray advertisement as "slavish adulators of the powers that temporarily be." Because one journal has had a $9 02 advertisement it is because "it blew both loud and long" for Sandfield. Because another has had $65 it has been "squeezed out of the Government lemon." Because the Kingston Whig, a daily paper, gets $28 worth of advertising in a year, it makes a "haul" out of the public funds. Because the Hamilton Daily Spectator receives during the same period $137, it is said to be "favoured" by the Government. Because this office got $10 for four years subscription to the weekly Intelligencer, sent to the Education office, the Belleville Intelligencer is said to have "cleared" $19; and so on to the end of the chapter. The Globe, which in the Advertiser's eyes, is the acme of perfection, is said to have had a bill of $589,91 for the year against the Government it so violently opposes, while the Leader, which supports the Government, is represented as having "secured" only $152 86 for the same period. All these items are put down by the Advertiser as "subsidies to Ontario newspapers," with the exception of the Globe, which paper receives the amount paid to any Government paper during the same year. Yet, according to this censor of the press, it is bribery in the one case, and a proper business transaction in the other. We question if chicanery could go further.

Could we imagine anything more contemptible than such petty carping and insinuations, such undignified allusions to the profession of which the Advertiser might be an honorable member. The principle it advocates is most pernicious, the influence of such articles is of the most vicious and demoralizing character; and it is with regret that we see a journal of the pretensions and character of the Advertiser demean itself and bring dishonor upon the profession, by such an exhibition as it has made of itself in the article headed "Subsidies to Ontario Newspapers."

We fear there is too much truth in, and too much justification for, the following paragraph from the London Free Press, referring to this same matter:—

"Yet the best of the joke is that these very small and contemptible people who parade this so-called "subsidy," are the very individuals who went, and wrote, and sent their agents to the Hon. John Carling and the Hon. W. McDougall, and implored them for "pap." They actually got some on one occasion, from the Post Office Department at Ottawa, and the printing was done for them by the Free Press expeditious steam machinery. So we know, you know: Oh, those Advertiser people, with the white of their eyes turned up, and their moral pieces and pretty little hymns for good little children, are a precious lot of humbugs, and mean at that!!"

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THURSDAY, Nov. 25, 1869.

WATERCOURSES.

After the presentation of a number of petitions, Mr. McKeller moved a series of resolutions which had for their object the amendment of the Bill passed during last session, by allowing a charge of 50c. per rod to be imposed upon owners of wild lands, where a drain was run from absentee lands. The present law limits the amount to 25 cts. per rod. The resolutions were opposed on the ground that it was an interference with the owners of wild land which would prove ruinous.

Mr. GRAHAM, (Hastings,) opposed the measure. He said that all over the country non residents were overcharged. In some counties non-resident taxes paid all their school and road charges. (Hear, hear.)—He believed from actual experience that fifty cents was in almost all cases an extra high price for cutting these drains. The land of the country was the only security the country has, and if that land was overtaxed, and made to pay the whole burden of taxation, the sooner we dispose of all we have the better. (Hear, hear.) At a subsequent stage of the debate, Mr. Graham gave the House the result of a calculation, showing the cost of a long ditch through a wild lot, which would prove little less than confiscation, and moved the Commit tee rise, which was lost on a vote of 35 to 36. The Committee subsequently rose and reported progress without coming to any decision.

JURORS AND JURIES BILL.

MR. THOW brought forward the Jurors and Juries Bill for second reading, said that under the existing law there were too many exemptions for jurors. There was a change that he felt should be made, and that was that Grand Juries should be done away with, and their places supplied by the Magistrates. He was also in favor of a two thirds verdict in criminal cases, as in Scotland, and he thought that the Clerks of the Peace should keep the Jurors' book. A great many clauses had been struck out by the Committee; but the clause that dealt with the second selection of jurors by the statute was really the important part of the measure, and he hoped the Bill would be allowed to be read a second time.

Mr. MCKELLAR thought the proposed law would be unnecessarily expensive. He produced a statement showing that out of 20,371 jurors called for, 5,000 went away without having served. He thought the main features of the measure would command universal praise.

Hon. Mr. CAMERON said, that as the Bill would, no doubt, be referred to a Special Committee, where any necessary alterations could be made, there was no objection to its second reading.

The Bill was then read a second time.

Mr. THOW moved that it be referred to a Select Committee, composed of the Hon. Mr. Cameron, Messrs. McKellar, McLeod, Clarke, Currie, Boyd, Ferguson, Finlayson, Galbraith, Craig (Glengarry), Graham, (Hastings) and the Mover—Carried.

DUAL REPRESENTATION.

Mr. MCKELLAR moved the second reading of a Bill to prevent dual representation. During the debate

Mr. GRAHAM, of Hastings, said he believed dual representation was not against the interests of the Province. The member for North Renfrew had stated that his own constituents wished him to represent them in both Houses. He said that the member for North Renfrew, who fairly represented the views of the Clear Grits, had stated his reason for opposing was that he could not get a few pickings or a turn of the grindstone to sharpen his own axe. He appealed to the House whether it was not to the interest of the Province that the hon. the Treasurer and the Attorney-General should have seats in the Commons; If the hon. gentlemen on the opposite side really believed what they professed, they would not hold seats in both Houses, either for the interests of their party or themselves. If it was their creed to do a thing which they considered wrong, because the law permitted it, he had no desire to have anything to do with them. The principles of the party opposite amounted to this—that they wanted money to be expended; that they wanted officials to be appointed, and this government was too just and too independent to do either. These were the principles of the Grit party—they knew in their consciences that were wrong, and they did want a law to regulate them. He thanked goodness that he did not belong to them.

Mr. BLAKE—You do belong to us.

Mr. GRAHAM—No, I do not, and if I ever had feelings in common with you I made a great mistake of which I am thoroughly ashamed. (Cheers). Then I did not understand you as I do now, nor see through your views as they are now appparent. He believed it was best to give the people a free choice, and he should for these reasons give the Bill his opposition.

The Bill was after a long debate thrown out on a vote of 41 to 26.

Some returns were brought down, and the House adjourned.

LIFE ASSURANCE COMP'Y.

DIVISION OF PROFITS NEXT YEAR.

AT 30TH APRIL LAST, the net valuation by Hon. ELIZUR WRIGHT, of Boston, showed a divisible Profit Surplus of $181,790.

Assets	$988,141
Liabilities	806,351
Surplus	$181,790

The rates being lower than those of any other office, are peculiarly suited to cases of assurers in companies whose condition or terms are unsatisfactory. A transfer of Assurances to the Canada Life will, in many cases, be an immediate annual saving of expenses.

The Commercial House,

AND

WHOLESALE

Clothing Store,

WALSH & Co.

THIS extensive Store will be opened to the Public on FRIDAY, the 26th inst., on Front Street, Belleville, opposite J. Lewis' Hardware Establishment. There will be a supplying Stock of over one hundred thousand dollars in Cloths, Tweeds, Beavers, Blankets, Clothing and General Dry Goods, &c. The Manager, J. Ivers, who conducted the "Commercial House" some ten years since, will be happy in meeting his old customers.

The Stock will be all ticketed with the lowest selling price marked on each article, so that large purchases can be made without any loss of time.

Those carrying on Merchant Tailoring or Clothing Business in other towns near Belleville, will find advantages equal to what Montreal can offer, to whom a liberal Commercial discount will be allowed.

This large firm have decided on establishing a central WHOLESALE CLOTHING DEPOT at Belleville, which will, at the same time, prove an important accommodation to the entire public.

Single suits, &c., can be had at the Wholesale prices.

All the winter Dress Goods, &c., &c., will be sold on the same advantageous terms.

SPANISH AFFAIRS.

MADRID, Nov. 25.—A manifesto has been issued by the Republican deputies of the Cortez, accusing the Provisional Government of having provoked the late revolutionary movement. It announces, however, that the deputies will resume their seat in the Cortez to defend the rights of the people and strive to establish a federal republic through which alone can the union of Spain and Portugal and the reservation of the colonies be effected.

MORE BODIES FOUND.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 26.—Two more bodies were taken from the ruins of the building on 5th street to-day. These make six killed and seven wounded by the accident.

TROUBLE BREWING.

The Tribune's Washington special says: The rumor that the Spanish fleet of six or more war vessels has been ordered to reinforce in New York harbor, creates a great deal of comment here. The President not understanding the reasons for the sending of this fleet to our shores, and in order to be prepared for any emergency that may arise, has ordered two double turreted monitors and a torpedo boat for Fortress Monroe, to be fully manned and sent to cruise in the harbor of New York.

ANNEXATION OF ST. DOMINGO.

The Tribune says: It is probable that yesterday the U. S. steamer 'Albany,' having on board Messrs. Cool, Babcock, and another commissioner, arrived at some point on the Island of St. Domingo, and that the negotiations tending to the annexation of the Island or the occupancy of the Bay of Samna, was begun.

—Judge Roy of the Superior Court, in the Saguenay District, Quebec, is charged with grave irregularities. An investigation is to be held.

CONSUMPTION is a distressing and fatal disease, characterized by cough, debility, emaciation, purulent expectoration, and hectic fever. It chiefly attacks the young, the fair, and the sanguine, and is generally considered incurable. In certain northern latitudes it prevails with the greatest violence, owing, probably, to the frequent atmospherical changes from heat to cold, dryness to dampness, &c. It is also found to exist in some warm climates. Some persons consider it incurable; this, however, if true at all, must occur very rarely, and only among those who, having a predisposition for the disease, sleep with a patient in whom the disease exists in an ulcerated state, and is attended with fetid expectoration, and cadaverous nightsweats. For restoring to health or relieving the sufferer, when this fearful disease is too far advanced, Dr. J. Reizes' Renovator, the Great Throat and Lung Healer, stands unrivalled—by few doses proves its excellence. Dr. J. Briggs & Co., Proprietors. Sold by Druggists and Country Dealers. SPECIAL NOTICES.

BOILS.

Like the volcano, Boils give issue to the foul and fiery contents of the deep interior. To remove the cause of such suffering it is only necessary to vitalize the Blood by supplying it with its Life Element, IRON.

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP,

(a protected solution of the Protoxide of Iron) will do this effectively, and give strength, vigor and new life to the whole system.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM REV. RICHARD S. EDES, OF BOLTON, MASS.

"For years I was a sufferer from Boils, so that my life became wearisome through their frequent and persistent recurrence; lastly a carbuncle formed in the small of my back. During its progress large pieces of decomposed flesh were every day or two cut away, and the prostration and general disturbance of the system were great. Before I had recovered from this attack two smaller carbuncles broke out higher up, and I was again threatened with a recurrence of the sufferings to which I had so long been subjected. It was at this time that I commenced taking the PERUVIAN SYRUP. I continued taking it until I had used five bottles; since then I have had nothing of the kind. For years I was one of the greatest sufferers. Other medicines gave me partial and temporary relief, but this remarkable remedy, with a kind of intuitive sense, went directly to the root of the evil, and did its work with a thoroughness worthy of its established character."

A 32 page Pamphlet sent free. The genuine has "PERUVIAN SYRUP" blown in the glass.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

THE REMEDY FOR CURING

Consumption, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppressions of the Chest, or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

IT is action is expectorant, alterative, sedative, diaphoretic, and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS and PURIFIES the BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action and imparts strength to the whole system. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction, even in the most confirmed cases of consumption, and not to produce costiveness (as do most remedies) or effect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no necessity for so many deaths by consumption, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic Glands Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a marked change in the health for the better after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, as the blood becomes more pure, rich, strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution the various constituents, the deposits of Tubercle matter and other elements of disease and impurities of blood will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs; and each of these Organs will secrete their proper constituent secretions. Instead of Urine filled the Pancreatic Juice and other fluids being absorbed in the circulation, these secretions will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If Scrofulous fails in its influence on the system, to correct these secretions, and create such organ or secreting gland in discharging its proper functions, health can never be restored. help for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent corrects that impaired vital blood that has heretofore existed in all these remedial agents advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the system, carbuncles, glandular swellings, bone disease and corruption may be, the influence of this power of the Resolvent on the blood and other fluids that supply the living body with repair, will so change the system with such countervailing virtues to resolve and expel the dead and decomposing matter, and supply in place with sound and living structure, new and healthful rich, pure, and strong blood. By the chemical combinations which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during its process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, Sanguification of blood, as well as the nourishing constituents it conveys to every tissue, nerve, muscle and bone by the circulation, it exterminates every atom of morbid matter from the blood, and every quantity of deposits of disease, whether caused by the action of some specific poison, such as Scrofula, Mercury, Cancerous Substances, Tumors, or Corrosive Chloride of Mercury, Chlomel, and the many agents that may have accumulated in the bones, tissues, cartilages, or joints, or from some previous unhealthy complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, mercurial and badly treated cancerous in its many forms, Glandular Diseases, Ulcers in the Throat Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Diseases from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful Discharges. Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, in all wastes of the Life Principles are within the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Strictures and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder Kidneys, Weak Kidneys, Diabetes, and all who are inconvenienced by Stoppage of Water, Painful Discharges, are quickly relieved and effectually cured through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Benault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for years a BAD LEG (ULCERS), one on his thigh, the other on his side which resisted all kinds of medicine and skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall I commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, taking with Radway's Pills and Radway's Relief. In and only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, as need, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars, and years for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB."

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills &c., &c., sold one of his best knowledge of your medicine. His son, aged 13 years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, extending all over his body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all. I saw him in September last, and he was the most revolting and diseased object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills. One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Indolent Sores, Bone Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Threatened Consumption, Night Sweats Bleeding from the Lungs, cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WINDSOR STATION, Ontario Canada West,
Sherbrooke, Lower St. Lawrence, March 11, 1869.

DR RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was stopped, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatening Consumption have disappeared. I feel my health fully restored. JONATHAN FRELAND.

N.B.—This gentleman was well known to have been under the treatment of the best physicians in Sarnia—he received no benefit from any medicine until he commenced using your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. GEO. MORTIMER.

FOR SALE at the INTELLIGENCER Office, Intelligencer Buildings, Front Street Belleville Feeding Rack for Sheep.

A rack or feeding box of convenient size for use and for moving may be made as follows:—For the posts, take pieces of any good hardwood, two by two and a half inches, six in number; one for each corner, and one for the middle of each side. For siding and ends, take boards twelve feet in length, twelve inches wide for the bottom, and eight inches for the top. This will give you an opening of ten inches for the heads of the sheep, if the posts are thirty inches in length. But they can readily be made a little longer, or shorter, according to the size of the sheep you wish to keep. For the bottom, take three narrow strips of board, one at each end, and one in the middle. Upon these, fasten a board twelve inches wide, running length wise through the middle. This is for the bottom of the trough. Upon each side of this, put in a board upon a bevel, extending to the sides of the box. This will make the bottom dishing at the sides, and tight, for holding grain, meal, roots, or anything else you wish to give them. This box may be made with wooden pins, or nails, but the best fastening is stout screws, about two and a half inches in length. In moving about, the boxes are subjected to a considerable strain, and screws will be found the cheapest in the end. Such a box as this will accommodate twenty large sheep. It is readily turned over and cleaned without sweeping, and readily put away for the summer. This kind of feeding apparatus has been in use in this country for at least forty years, and is, on the whole, the handiest contrivance we have ever met with. It will pay any man who keeps sheep, to have enough of these made to accommodate his whole flock. In the common slovenly way of feeding upon the ground, much fodder will be wasted. In the change of the flock from the pastures to the yards, care should be taken not to over feed them with grain at first. The quantity of meal, grain, and oil cake, may be gradually increased from a handful up to a pound for each sheep daily, beyond which quantity it is not ordinarily safe nor profitable to go. Too high feeding with meal or oily food sometimes leads to sudden death, and the butcher loses his mutton, and you lose your profits.

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and squabble over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came; the room was crowded with anxious expectants; the will was opened and to the unspeakable joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters.

The above is a complete list of the Investments of the Company at the date specified, in addition to which the funds are still further increased by the constantly varying, at different periods, in the hands of the Bankers and the Company's Agents. At 31st December, 1868, these stood at £ 168,089 2 0

For the satisfaction of the Public, the whole of the Securities belonging to the Company are annually submitted to the careful scrutiny of two independent Auditors, and the following is an Extract from their Report to the last Annual Meeting:—

"The whole of your Books have been Audited—every Account, every Account, every Voucher, your Bank book, and every Security—all have been most carefully kept, and there is not one doubtful Security in the whole."

THE ACCUMULATIONS OF THE LIFE DEPARTMENT,

After payment of Losses, Annuities, and Expenses of every description, have been as follows

Funds in Hand at the last Quinquennial Valuation, 31st Dec., 1864,	£ 621,434 15	5

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

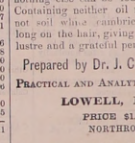

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the head, giving a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is universally required by everybody as a cathartic. Every one at times requires to unclog the system, and every country and among all classes, as this pill best answers the purpose. Ayer's Cathartic Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that where it does always it does always cure through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have the strongest guarantee of the wonderful and remarkable cures of the wrecks of certificates, both of the above and of the following compilants, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither mineral or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can ensue from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring them to healthy action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaints and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice, Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as a powerful stimulant to the system, to restore regularity.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous even in apparently trifling derangement of health. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him decidedly better, from their cleansing and removing effect on the digestive apparatus.

ROYAL ITALIAN BITTERS
OR TONICO REALE.

Dei Dottore F. P. Verri, Prof. of Chemistry in the of University Padua, Italy.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original preparer at the National Exposition at Torino, Italy, by whose favor Mr. Gianelli obtained the Recipe, and was also awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition of Canada, held at Montreal in September, 1865, is without exception, the most Genuine, Salubrious and agreeable Tonic ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America.

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite among the Middle or society, being generally served in the Drawing Room immediately before dinner, in preference to Vermouth.

☞The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval on every account.

The Proprietor has no idea of parading or puffing it before the public, but merely asks a sound and unprejudiced trial.

Kept by the principal Wine Merchants, Druggists, and Grocers in town.

Prepared and sold wholesale by the Proprietor,

A. M. F. GIANELLI,
175d 41w 26 Hospital Street, Montreal.

The Daily Intelligencer

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, SATURDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 27, 1869. No. 178.

Death's Winter.

The earth now sleeps its wintry sleep,
It is robed in mantle of white;
Calmly it bowed to the Frost-King's power,
Gently and sadly awaited its hour,
And sighed its mournful good-night.

Our friends who sleep their wintry sleep
Love's vigils might not save;
Drooping and fading, day by day,
We saw them so surely passing away,
They rest in the silent grave:
Cold and low, cold and low!
Mantled and chilled, yet not with snow.

Softly the sparkling diamonds came
In the forest bare and brown;
On leaves that danced in the summer's breeze,
And whispered love-notes 'mid the trees,
The falling snow came down.

Softly the icy hand was laid
On the maiden's blooming brow,
Where smiles and blushes in playful strife
Had set their seals on her sweet young life—
Where is her kingdom now?
Cold and low, cold and low!
Mantled and chilled, yet not with snow.

Long is thy rest, O weary earth!
And heavy thy robe and chill:
Life, with its radiant summer crest,
Like a stricken babe on its mother's breast,
Ifts breathless grown and still!

Long is your rest, our cherished ones,
And heavy the cruel sod
That hides your forms from loving eyes,
That dulls your ears to our pleading cries,
And leaves you alone with God:
Cold and low, cold and low!
Mantled and chilled, yet not with snow.

Days are short in their restless haste!
We await the coming hour
When earth will rise from thraldom free,
When the singing bird and humming bee
Will speak of the sun-god's power.

Days pass on, and we hail their flight,
As we wait the coming spring:
O hearts now bowed in wintry grief,
Sure as song-bird, and sure as grief,
The grave shall yield to our king:
Those cold and low, cold and low!
Mantled and chilled, yet not with snow.

Scolding Never does Good.

This is my text, of four words. In the family, in schools, in the pulpit, in the newspaper, scolding is an evil only, doing no good, but much harm—evil to the scolder and to the scolded. It is a nuisance that ought not only to be abated, but abolished, plucked up by the roots, and driven out of every house and home, and consigned, with all other offsprings of total depravity, to outer darkness and destruction. It is the worst possible mode that can be adopted to improve the habits of children, and no parent who indulges in it ever has the satisfaction of knowing that scolding benefits. It irritates the objects at the very moment when their hearts and minds should be conciliated towards good resolutions to amend. It sets them up in opposition to the wishes of their parents, and fills them with aversion.

There is no sense in scolding. It is a weakness and folly, as well as a sin, to fret and scold at children to make them good. It is labor in vain—yea, infinitely worse than that. It is just as absurd and foolish in the school-room as in the family household. A scolding teacher ought not to be allowed in the school room. The same qualities are needed in the school room as in the family household, to govern and improve the young.—Every well ordered household or school has its fixed rules, and these rules (if violated,) penalties are essential.

In a well governed household or school room, correction is inevitable upon transgression, but should be administered in a spirit of meekness, kindness, gentleness and regret; that tells more powerfully than blows and scoldings. "Whip me, father, but don't cry," was the heart-burst of a boy who loved the parent about to punish him for his fault.—Correct or punish the child who does wrong; but do not scold him.

Harry Wild's Mistake.

'O Tommy, what a funny little woman I do come and see!' cried Harry Wild, as he stood at the window of his father's house in a pleasant English town. Tommy ran to the window and looked out, and laughed louder than his brother. It was indeed a funny sight to see. In the midst of a pelting rain through mud and running water, there waddled along the queerest, quaintest little roly-poly figure you can imagine. It was a dwarf woman, who, though no larger than a child of seven or eight years, wore an enormous bonnet and carried an overgrown umbrella. Her clothes were tucked up about her in a queer way; and altogether she was a most laughat-able little thing.

As she passed, she looked up, and such an odd face as she had! The nose was large and long, as though it had kept on growing after the other features gave out. Indeed it was so big that the eyes had got into a way of looking at it constantly, which did not improve their beauty. The hair was of a bushy and of a lively red, but the mouth was quite sweet and good humored, and the little crossed eyes had a merry kindly twinkle in them.

'Well,' said Harry, 'if I was such an absurd looking body as that, I wouldn't show myself. I'd hide by day and only come out by night, like an owl; wouldn't you Tommy?'

'Yes,' said the little boy, and then asked:

'Did God make her, Harry?'

'Why, yes; He made what there is of her I suppose; but it wasn't worth while to go on with her. I should like to know of what use such a poor thing can be.'

'God knows,' said Mrs. Wild, 'and he did not make her in vain.'

The next day was Christmas. The rain was over, and it was clear and cold.

'Hurrah!' cried Harry, from the window; 'there's our wee bit woman again. Her hair is as fiery as ever. I wonder the rain didn't put it out. She might warm her hands in it, if it were not for carrying that big basket.'

Mrs. Wild, reproving Harry for his thought-less speech, looked out. The dwarf was trudging slowly along, bearing a heavy basket. The good lady was seized with a desire to know more about the little creature; so she hurried to her room, put on her bonnet and cloak went out and followed after her quietly.

She had to go a long way before her curiosity was satisfied; but at last she saw the dwarf enter a miserable house in the suburbs of the town. Mrs. Wild stole up to the window and ventured to look in.

She saw the dwarf surrounded by a crowd of shouting children, to whom she was giving Christmas toys, clothing, cakes and food from her basket. She saw her give food and medicine to a poor woman who lay on a bed in a corner. She heard her say: 'Have the coals come?' and the woman answered, 'Yes, and the blankets too—God bless you.'

And Mrs. Wild saw the homely little woman take up the baby and play with it; and the children came around her with love and gratitude upon their faces. Her visit was evidently sunshine in that poor widow's home. Mrs. Wild came home, and told Harry; and I think Harry began to see that a person who was very plain in appearance might have a kind heart and do beautiful things; and that handsome people may have very ugly dispositions.

Why Men don't Marry.

BY A GIRL OF THE PERIOD.

The advice of mothers is, we do not hesitate to say, the chief reason of the present paucity of marriages. Mothers, who should be girls' best and purest advisers, are, alas! their worst; in place of teaching them to look for happiness in marriage, they teach them that wealth is the first requisite; in lieu of a partner of a suitable age, of compatible disposition, and of intellectual and moral worth, they bid them seek to attract a man who—age, character, reputation apart—can furnish an establishment. Wealth is not, of course, to be despised, and a moderate competence is a sine qua non; but why should a woman insist upon more than a moderate competence for her daughter's husband? She herself, not improbably, married upon an income which she would scorn for her daughter. Her husband was, perhaps, a struggling professional man; he has since risen in the world, and his income is many times what it was in their young married days. Why, then, should she insist upon her daughter at once occupying a position equal to that which, after so many years' work, her own husband has won for her? We will go farther, and say that we believe there is actually greater happiness in the home of the woman who has married a man of the moderate income of four or five hundred a year, or even less, than there is in that of her sister who has married a really wealthy man, even supposing that the love is equal, the mutual compatibilities alike in both cases.

The rich wife has nothing to do for her husband, little to do in any way. She has nothing to wish for, nothing to hope for.—The poor woman has a thousand enjoyments of which the wealthy one knows nothing.—There are the numerous little contrivances and plans; the small household cares and household triumphs; the delight of making her husband's home comfortable and cheerful when he returns home; the occasional holiday, keenly relished because it is occasional; the triumph of management in making ends meet; the interest in the hopes, and fears, and efforts of the husband. Between the happiness of these two households there is, we consider, no real comparison.—It is not too much to say that the enjoyments of a woman in society are few. Balls, dinners, and entertainments pall terribly when they are of nightly occurrence. Even the pleasure of having a magnificently appointed equipage becomes blunted after a time. The wealthy woman sees actually less of her husband than the wife of a professional man does; very far less of her children. Her life is a grand monotony. If, then, even in the two marriages made equally for love, the poorer match is likely to be the happier, what shall we say of the cases where the one has married the man she loves and where the other has purchased this grand establisiment at the price of selling herself to a man for whom she has not one atom of genuine affection? And yet this sale, the casting away all chance of happiness, has been done at the instigation and in obedience to the teachings of a mother. Let those, then, who inveigh against the mercenary spirit of the Girl of the Period, lay the blame on the right shoulders. We deliberately say that the ambition and worldly spirit of mothers of the present day are a curse to their daughters, and that the thousands of miserable marriages, where wretchedness is but too apparent under the gilding, and the tens of thousands of women doomed to a life of celibacy, have to lay their spoilt lives to their mothers' account.—Girl of the Period—Miscellany No. 8.

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, NOV. 27.

CURLING.—One of the Rinks of the Belleville Curling Club was in condition last night, and a well contested game was played. Should there be cold weather both Rinks will be ready for operation early next week.

NEWFOUNDLAND ELECTIONS.—Advices from St. John, Newfoundland, to the 25th November, report that the Anti-Confederates have been more successful than was at first supposed. The full returns show twenty-one Antis and nine Confederates elected.

THE KINGSTON AND MADOC RAILWAY.—The Madoc Mercury says:—"Mr. Grant has received information that Mrs. Russell will give the necessary amount of land for a station in this village, if it should be located on any part of the Russell estate."

WOLVERINES.—The Madoc Mercury of the 27th instant says:—"Four Wolveriues were shot in the north-western part of Madoc township a few days since by Mr. Howland Mack. The late cold snap seems to have driven the wild animals towards the settlements, as Mr. Hungerford saw two wolves while driving through Rawdon this week."

SURVEY.—Through the efforts of Dr. Boulter, M. P. P., for North Hastings, the Township of Farrady is to be surveyed; and we are pleased to learn that through the recommendation of the same gentleman, Messrs Fornert & Kennedy have been appointed by the Crown Lands Department to proceed with the survey at once.

A FOSSIL.—Some days since, the workmen in the employ of Messrs. Haycock & Co., on the line of the International Railway near Bic, discovered a fossil walrus in a complete state of preservation. It measured 18 feet in length, was embedded in blue clay 14 feet under the surface and 100 feet above the level of the sea.

THE MARKET.—The market to-day was well supplied with all kinds of provisions, but week's prices generally being maintained. All the available space on the ground was occupied by farmers' wagons filled with grain and meat and poultry and potatoes and apples, and vegetables of all descriptions, while the inside market was abundantly supplied with butter, eggs, poultry, &c. No better market can be found between Toronto and Montreal than Belleville for both producer and consumer, for the producer can always sell at good prices, and the consumer can always get what he wants—if he only has enough of the wherewithal.

THIRTY DAYS ON LAKE SUPERIOR.—On Thursday night Professor Macoun delivered an exceedingly interesting lecture, in a conversational style, upon the configuration of the country on the North shore of Lake Superior, and Fort William; and the manners and habits of the Indian tribes in these localities. Mr. Macoun treated his subject to a certain extent from a geological and botanical point of view. He is fully convinced that the point from which the road is now being built from Thunder Bay westward is not correctly located, and will be useless. He described vegitation up the valley of the rivers that he traversed some miles from Fort William, as of the most luxuriant kind. He also declared his belief that the only practicable route that can be found will be from Lake Nespigon to the Lake of Woods, where a large quantity of arable land may be found fit for settlement. On the whole the lecture was instructive and well received.

COMPLIMENTARY.—Mr. J. K. Edwards, M. A., for many years a reporter on the Globe, was presented on Friday, Nov. 26th, on the floor of the Legislative Assembly, Toronto, by Attorney-General MCDONALD, on behalf of many members of the House and newspaper men, with a splendid gold watch, and a beautifully chased silver tea service, as a mark of their appreciation, as a man, and a faithful Parliamentary reporter. The Hon. John S. McDonald spoke in the highest terms of him, and regretted that he was about leaving for another sphere of action. During the day Mr. Edwards was entertained at lunch by a number of gentlemen. Thos. White, Esq., of the Hamilton Spectator occupied the chair, and Rufus Stephenson, Esq., of the Chatham Planet acted as vice. Mr. Edwards who is about removing to Washington to take a position as reporter in Congress, carries with him the esteem and respect of every one who has the pleasure of his acquaintance.

—A private despatch from Trinidad brings the news that Gen. De Rodas, on a late visit to that city, shot Col. De Basea, killing him instantly. The reason assigned for the act is that De Basea, commander of the battalion of 1000 men recently sent from Spain, was detected in the act of communicating with the revolutionists.

—The following distinguished poets are rendered vacant by the demise of the late Earl of Derby: A Knighthood of the Garter, the Chancellorship of the University of Oxford, an Elder Brotherhood of the Trinity House, a Governorship of the Charterhouse, a Trusteeship of the British Museum, and a Trusteeship of the Hunterian Museum.

Corrupt Indeed.

The Hamilton Times makes the following humiliating confession of the corruptness of its party, which acknowledgment, however, we are not prepared to accept in all cases:—

"The Belleville Intelligencer has made a discovery. It is that if it be true, as the Hamilton Times said some days ago, that "John A's. whole political career has been marked by the "purchase of political opponents," then, by their own confession, are Reformers purchasable articles. If the Intelligencer will slightly improve its logic, we can agree with it. Let it put it as being the case that some Reformers have proved themselves purchasable articles and there will be no room left for dispute. We will even go farther and say that the principal work of the Reform party and press for the last twelve or fifteen years has been to manufacture public men for John A's. consumption. This has not been done willingly, but as soon as we elevate men from the ranks and make them prominent, then the tempter comes and many of them fall."

We wonder if it ever occurred to the Times that men may, upon becoming better acquainted with another's opinions and policy, change their own? When man's education is derived from a corrupt source, it is no wonder they change when their eyes are open, hence the Times should be more charitable to those whom the reform press has been manufacturing for the last fifteen years.

Kingston and Madoc Railway.

A meeting of the rate-payers of the Township of Loughboro, in Frontenac, was held on Wednesday, 24th Nov., to consider the question of granting aid to the Madoc and Kingston Railway, when the following resolution was passed:—

Resolved,—"That in the event of the contemplated Kingston and Madoc Railroad being built, it is desirous that we, as a municipality, do we course the project by granting a bonus of $10,000 to aid in the construction of said road, provided that a station is established at the village of Sydenham, or some point east of said village in the municipality, and said road running from thence to Knowlton Lake or east of said Lake."

The municipalities along the whole line of the proposed Railway from Kingston to Madoc, have expressed a willingness to vote a bonus; the best evidence that can be given of their sincerity and desire that a road should be built.

"Grimchuckle."

This is the name of a new satirical paper printed in Montreal, a couple of numbers of which we have received. The illustrations are good and the typography is excellent. The number before us contains some excellent hits at people and things in general. The carricature of Governor McDougall leaving the Red River territory is good, with the soliloquy "There is not much fun in this game, but a move must be made when the King is in check."—Among other things we have the following:

A COMEDY IN ONE ACT.

Enter KING MACDOUGALL and PROVENCHER, an Attendant, both mounted and muffled.

King. Would I could find my kingdom! Two long weeks
Have I been jolting on this bony hack;
Each muscle of my royal person craves
If but one moment's respite.
Prov. May it please—
King. It does not; never has royalty been brought
So near the verge of utter degradation.
I have a realm,—at least they told me so,
But where on earth it is I know not.
You have my crown all right, Provencher?
Prov. May't please your Majesty, 'tis in
The bandbox.
King. And my sceptre?
Prov. Out.
King. So far so good; but 'twould rejoice my soul
To set my eyes upon a single subject;
For—in your private ear,—my trusty friend,
I sometimes fear my sovereignty—
(Enter INDIANS in full equipment of feather and paint.)
Indian Chief. Come, now, you ragamuffins, pull up smart,
For I have sworn, by every shrunken scalp
That dangles at my girdle, no pale face
Shall leave his trail in these my hunting grounds.
I'm the great Scallawag, and here am chief
Now, who are you?
King. The King—
Prov. (aside) Stop! that will never do,
He looks a rascal; please your Majesty,
The Knave, and not the King, is the best card to play.
King. I can dissemble. Mighty Scallawag!
Your Honour,—Highness,—Excellency or
Whate'er you are,—speaks to no pale face;
I am a chief like you—chief of the Ottawas.
Chief. The plague you are! Then take a pipe, my boy!
We'll puff the peace-cloud. Still I have my doubts
About you! Come, give the Ottawa war-whoop.
King. Hear, hear! Question! Ecoutez! Divide!
Chief. I thought so; now, you shameless rascal,
Begone! for, if in half an hour, by my Geneva,
You are in sight—
(The King here sticks his heels into his steed, and scampers off the stage, exclaiming:—
Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown
Far worse the fools that goes in search of one.)

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, Nov. 26th.

A number of petitions were presented, and several Bills were read a first time.—Among the Bills introduced by Mr. Strange to incorporate the Kingston and Madoc Railway Company.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL ACT.

Mr. CAMERON moved the second reading of the Grammar School Bill, and explained its provisions. A debate ensued, during which Dr. Boulter expressed his approval of the Bill, believing it would popularize Grammar Schools, and that Joint Boards of Trustees would work well and harmoniously. We will give some portion of the debate on Monday.

HOUSE OF INDUSTRY AND REFUGE, &C.

Mr. SPRINGER asked whether the Government intended, to introduce this session a measure based upon the petition of the County Council of Waterloo, presented to this House in December last, praying that an Act be passed making it compulsory for Counties to erect Houses of Industry and Refuge, or by enacting a proper settlement law as to the poor, and giving to those Counties that have erected such houses the power to return the poor belonging to other Counties, and for charging such other Counties with the expense of returning to them their poor.

Attorney General MACDONALD said it was not the intention of the Government to introduce such a measure.

The other Orders of the Day were allowed to stand over, and the House adjourned at ten minutes to six.

—The Quebec Legislature intend dropping the District Magistracy and privileges of Parliament Bills, on account of their unconstitutionality.

—Minnesota expects a cold winter. The beavers are double lining their houses. The oldest inhabitant stakes his reputation on this being a sure sign.

—A strike has taken place in Kingston among the ship carpenters. One man who continued to work, has been assaulted by the others, and one of them bound over to stand his trial for shooting at him.

—Rev. W. Stephenson, of Toronto, has been invited by the Wesleyan Methodist body of Ottawa to accept the position of pastor. He has accepted the invitation, subject to the approval of Conference.

In the Council of the Quebec Legislature, the Hon. Mr. Fraser De Berry said in debate, that a residence for the Lieut. Governor to live in, should cost $5000. Another member suggested the propriety of opening a stock book, payable in fifty years.

—Brock's Monument at Queenston Heights, restored in 1859 at a cost of $47,344, is from neglect falling into a state of decay. They manage these things better in France, where the Government assumes the duty of preserving national monuments.

—A gentleman being asked by a clergyman why he did not attend evening prayer-meeting, said he could not leave the children. "Why, have you no servants?" "Yes," he replied, "we have two servants, who keep house and board us. We are allowed few privileges."

—The Brockville Recorder says he does not like coalition, but that "there is a great deal in the Government of John A. McDonald, which is to his honor," and therefore does "not believe in the wholesale condemnation to which he is so often subjected by the Reform press." Go on Recorder, you are doing well.

—Elder Smith, at Salt Lake City, recently married the wife and two daughters of his brother, says the New York 'Herald;' and a reporter of the 'Telegraph' inquired what relation the children of the two daughters would bear to Smith. Thereupon Smith's son thrashed the reporter, and his curiosity is supposed to be satisfied.

—The 'Sydney Morning Herald' states that as the British government have definitely refused the annexation of the Fijian Islands, a petition was being extensively signed to the United States government to grant the settlers there, mostly British subjects, the permanent protection of the flag of the United States, under their own self-government.

—Dr. Livingstone's last African discovery is of a tribe that lives altogether in underground houses. Some excavations are said to be thirty miles long, and have running rills in them. The 'writings' therein, he has been told by some of the people, are on wings of animals, and not letters. They are said to be very dark and well made.

—As the Pope has included Free Masons, (in combination with Bible Societies) as especial subjects for censure at the Ecumenical Council, the Grand Master of Masons in France has summoned a general convention of the Masons of Europe at Paris on the 8th of December, in which Free Masonry is solemnly to affirm the great principles of universal human right, which are its basis and glory.

—A valuable discovery of petroleum and bitumen has been made on the banks of a river emptying into the Gulf of Mexico, 70 miles from Vera Cruz. There are six natural flowing springs, and a lake of asphaltum; by blasting a new spring was found which discearges 4,000 barrels a day. There is a hill close by of sea coral saturated with petroleum The discovery is about to be worked by an American company.

—In the probable elevation of Sir John Lincoln, M. P. for the Isle of Wight, to the peerage the Manchester 'Guardian' notices the fact that it will be the first time since the Reformation that an English Roman Catholic has been called to the Upper House. Peerages have been called out of abeyance in favor of Roman Catholics, as was done in the case of the Baronies of Camoys and Beaumont, but there has been no new creation.

—We understand that the Rev. Edward Sullivan, Rector of Trinity Church, Chicago, has refused a call from St. Mark's Church, New York, at a salary of $12,000 a year and a parsonage. Only fancy the sum St Paul would fetch in the clerical market if he were to come alive again—his horror at being bid for like a leading Prima Donna by a lot of wealthy Christians who fancy that they can buy their way into Heaven by a heavy contribution drawn from blank balances, which in many instances should be applied to the poor?

SCHOOL BILL.—THE WEATHER.—FLOUR.

Associated Press Despatch.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Nov. 26.—Hon. Mr. King has published a School Bill, which the Government will introduce at the next session of the Legislature. It virtually provides for free schools, meeting the expense by a poll tax of twenty-five cents on the adult male population. Any further sum required is to be levied on property. The bill has been favorably received.

Heavy rains have fallen, and navigation on the river has kept open till now. To-night is clear and cold.

Flour market quiet; prices unchanged.

STRANGE FREAK OF NATURE.—I am not given to the production of sensational articles, but the following is as true to the facts of the case as my pen is capable of delineating. Mrs. ——— of the township of ——— in the County of Kent, gave birth to a child on the 11th of this month. The arms, chest, abdomen and lower extremities were perfectly developed. The only mark of humanity about a small protuberance, which would not be accurately formed child have been a head, was a large ear on the left side, which communicated uninterruptedly with the lungs through the eustachian tube, larynx and trachea. A probe inserted to a tube passed readily into the lungs. Through the above medium respiration continued for the space of several minutes. A narrow section of the occipital bone, having its natural cervical attachments, was the only osseous deposit about what should have been a face and head. The concave surface of this bone covered with cellular substance and skin, which was thickly coated with hair, formed a sack containing a sero-purulent fluid, and the abrupt termination of the oesophagus.—The internal organs were perfectly natural, with the exception of the cerebral substance of which there was not the slightest semblance. I have witnessed many cases of fatal deformity, but in no other one anything bearing the least resemblance to the above. Communicated to Chatham Planet.

GRATIS ADVERTISING.—We suppose that there are few persons who are expected to do much work for nothing as newspaper proprietors. Bores of the heaviest calibre will occupy the attention of an editor by the half hour at a time, while a whole room full of compositors are making extra hours waiting for copy, about some absurd crotchet or subject of mere personal interest, and without even thanks for the pains bestowed upon him. A lawyer, notary, or doctor would charge dollars and pounds for the same consumption of time. Then, every man with a grievance expects to have his complaint set forth at the expense of any newspaper proprietor he knows, without even payment for the cost of setting; and above all, every one who has a charitable project on hand expects the advertising to be done for nothing, or next to nothing. No one supposes that the music, or the decorations, or the gas, or room rent, is to be had gratuitously; but the printer is, as a matter of course, to give for nothing that which he lives by, as other men live by the profits of their trades. We set ourselves against this mode of proceeding. Voluntary contributions should come from newspaper proprietors on the same terms as from other people according to their ability and their will. But business should be treated on business principles. It is very rare that public objects do not derive much advantage from newspaper assistance in those columns where matter appears without charge. It is too much to expect more from them.—Montreal Herald.

—The lady leader of a Sunday School choir in Deer Lodge, Montana, lately started the tune of 'Marching up Zion's Hill' on so exalted a pitch that none of the little voices could reach the upper notes. At the close of the first verse this young lady turned to the superintendent of the school and inquired, 'How is that for high, anyhow?' and then calmly started the tune on a lower key.

CONSUMPTION is a distressing and fatal disease, characterized by cough, debility, emaciation, purulent expectoration, and hectic fever. It chiefly attacks the young, the fair, and the amiable, and is generally considered incurable. In certain northern latitudes it prevails with the greatest violence, owing, probably, to the frequent atmospherical changes from heat to cold, dryness to dampness, &c. It is also found to exist in some warm climates. Some persons consider it incurable; this, however, if true at all, must occur very rarely, and only among those who, having a predisposition to the disease, sleep with a patient in whom the disease exists in an ulcerated state, and is attended with fetid expectoration, and cadaverous sightsweats. For relieving, curing, or relieving the sufferer, when this fearful disease is too far advanced, Dr. J. Briggs' Renovator, the Great Throat and Lung Healer, stands unrivalled. A few doses proves its excellence. Dr. J. Briggs & Co., Proprietors. Sold by Druggists and Country Dealers. Office, 308 Broadway, N. Y., and No. 6 King St. West, Toronto.

BREAKFAST.—EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—The very agreeable character of this preparation has rendered it a general favourite. The CIVIL SERVICE GAZETTE remarks:—"The singular success which Mr. Epps attained by his homœopathic preparation of cocoa has never been surpassed by any experimentalist. By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills." Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold by the Trade only in ½lb., ¼lb., and 1lb. tin lined packets, labelled—JAMES EPPS & CO., Homœopathic Chemists, London, England. 94—6m1&3

Not many weeks ago a rich but childless landed proprietor breathed his last, leaving a large circle of relations to mourn his loss, and squabble over their prospects of sharing his wealth. The day for reading the will at last came; the room was crowded with anxious expectants; the will was opened and to the inexpressible joy of all, the rich gentleman's relations found that to each of them had been bequeathed a case of Royal Italian Bitters.

THE "TIMES" ON THE IRISH QUESTION.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—The Times in an editorial on the treatment of the Irish question in the next session of Parliament, says:—The ministry must be prepared with a Land Reform Bill, framed with an eye to justice and statesmanship, at the same time authority must assert itself. Treason must not be permitted, nor the praise of murder be sung. The declaration must go forth that Ireland shall not be suffered to sink to the level of Greece or the Sicilies. Such preparations must be made, whatever the injury may be to the Budget, that there shall be left no possible temptation to resistance.

HENRY ROCHEFORT AND THE "TIMES."

The Times consider the election of Rochefort to the Corps Legislatif the last important protest of an angry populace. The gamins have sent one of themselves to the Chamber, but this does not prove that France is ripe for gamin Government. France, with the exception of the first district of Paris, has returned men who can best arbitrate between the Empire and Revolution, who will at least hesitate in making a choice between Napoleon and Rochefort.

FENIANISM.

DUBLIN, Nov. 26.—It is said that the Government intend to send strong reinforcements to Ireland.

A Fenian candidate will probably come forward for Mallow, in the County of Cork.

DISTURBANCES.

PARIS, Nov. 26.—Troops have been deep atch ed to Alby, in the Department of Tarn to quel disturbances reported there.

THE EMPEROR'S SPEECH.

It is reported that the Emperor, in giving commands to prepare his speech for the opening of the Chambers, said:—"I desire the widest and most absolute affirmation of liberty.

There was a commotion of prominent members of the tiers parti this forenoon, to discuss a proposition of interpellation. A resolution blaming the Ministry was adopted.

Electoral meetings re-commence in Paris today.

American Despatches.

RELEASE OF SPANISH GUNBOATS NOT DEMANDED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—It is not true that Senor Roberts has demanded the release of the Spanish gunboats or that he has instructions to demand his passports in case they are held.

ALABAMA CLAIMS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—The State Department has received no intelligence of the reopening of the 'Alabama' claims, and it is believed there is no information whatever, for the present talk on the subject. It is presumable that action on the part of Mr. McIlvey, would be preceded by a notification of the fact to the Secretary of State.

INFANTICIDE.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Mrs. Perry and her daughter, of Carrollton, Ill., have been held to bail in the sum of five thousand dollars each, on a charge of Infanticide. It is charged that they murdered an illegitimate child of Miss Perry Mrs. Perry is a daughter of the late Governo Carling of this State.

SCHOONER LOST.

All hopes for the safety of the schooner 'J. B. Mortin,' are given up. She was lost, it is believed, on the 4th inst., while entering the Straits, and had no time to get into Lake Huron before the gale struck her. She belonged to Milwaukee and had ten persons of that place on board.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

BOILS.

Like the volcano, Boils give issue to the foul and fiery contents of the deep interior. To remove the cause of such suffering it is only necessary to vitalize the Blood by supplying it with its Life Element, IRON.

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP,

(a protected solution of the Protoxide of Iron) will do this effectively, and give strength, vigor and new life to the whole system.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM REV. RICHARD S. EDES, OF BOLTON, MASS.

"For years I was a sufferer from Boils, so that my life became wearisome through their frequent and painful recurrence; finally a carbuncle formed in the small of my back. During its progress large pieces of decomposed flesh were every day or two cut away, and the prostration and general disturbance of the system were great. Before I had recovered from this attack two smaller carbuncles broke out higher up, and I was again threatened with a recurrence of the sufferings to which I had so long been subjected. It was at this time that I commenced taking the PERUVIAN SYRUP, and continued taking it until I had used five bottles; since then I have had nothing of the kind. For years I was one of the greatest sufferers. Other medicines gave no partial and temporary relief, but this remarkable remedy, with a kind of intuitive sense, went directly to the root of the evil, and did its work with a thoroughness worthy of its established character."

A 32 page Pamphlet sent free. The genuine has "PERUVIAN SYRUP" blown in the glass.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

THE REMEDY FOR CURING

Consumption, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppressions of the Chest or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

IT is action is expectorant, alterative, sedative, diaphoretic, and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and thereby helps to throw off the phlegm; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS and PURIFIES the BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action and imparts strength to the whole system. It warms and tones to give entire satisfaction, even in the most confirmed cases of consumption, and not to produce costiveness (as do most remedies) or effect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no necessity for so many deaths by consumption, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

NEW

APPLIED IN THE CURE OF

Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great success of Dr. Radway in the treatment of all nauseating or disagreeable) effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the most choice products of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other foreign roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Heat, Flesh-making medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care at the proper season, from the native soil, under the supervision of Dr. Radway, and prepared by processes, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co—so that no spurious admixtures or worthless rots can possibly be mixed with the pure.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific chemists in this branch alone But the wonderful improvements it has secured to the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the pays for the outlay over and over again; for never in the history of medicine has such a usefulness this to completely builds up, repairs, and makes sound strong, healthy, powerful and beautiful, withal, the weak and broken-down constitutions, as

Dr. RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

It supplies the blood with nourishment.
IT CONTAINS TISSUE-MAKING ANE FLESH-BUILDING QUALITIES.
It supplies the system with caloric or heat-making properties.
It cures all Eruptive and Ulcerated diseases of the Skin, from a Pimple to a Scrofula and Skin and body.
It increases the vital and appetite.
IT STOPS ALL WEAKENING DISCHARGES.
It increases the repairs and diminishes the waste.
It exterminates the products of decay.
It resolves Tubercles, Tumors, Vocal Lungs.
It makes the skin clear and beautiful.
It heals Fever Sores and Ulcers.
It cures Gravel, Gleet, and Stricture.
It makes the urine clear and pure freely.
It cures Barrenness, and invests with the vigor of manhood those who, from whatever cause, are deficient or exhausted.
It rescues woman from the perils incident to change of life—and all forms of Nausea.

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, but can recover health and a condition to receive nourishment, and their LUNGS LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not destroyed beyond the process of repair, or if capable of sustaining the vigorous presence of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can be either restored to health, or the waste and decompositions stopped, and the elements of health and life implanted from the system.

Extreme cases, where the LUNGS, KIDNEYS, and other organs are wasted, ulcerated, and their functions interrupted and secretions altered beyond the reparative power of medicine, and will by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, commence to heal the ulcerations, and restore the parts to vital forms may be, if the system can be brought under the influence of the Resolvent and other medicine, the repairs will be greater than the waste and BLOOD WILL receive this high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poison of Venereal, are developed through the process of deposits from the blood either in the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and there diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic Glands Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a marked change in her health for the better, after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, as the blood becomes more pure, rich, strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution its natural constituents, the deposits of Tuberculous matter and other elements of disease, decrease. Just exactly will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin or other Organs; and each of these Organs will perform their proper constituent secretions. Instead of Urine Bile, the Pancreatic Juice, and other Poisons being absorbed in the circulation, these secretions will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If medicine fails in its influence on the system, to correct these secretions, and to enable each organ or secreting gland in discharging its proper functions, health can never be restored. Happily for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this important end by has heretofore existed in all these remedial agents advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, carcinoma, glandular, cancerous, or bones disease, and corruption may be, the influence of this power full agent on the blood and secretions, will in time purify the living body with repairs, will so change the tissues with sound and healthy elements as to exterminate the dead and decomposing matter, and supply the place with sound and living structure, and furnished by rich, pure, and strong blood. By the chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during its process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, before it is made blood, as well as the nourishing constituents of converted into blood, and by the influence when entering in the circulation, it exterminates every atom of foreign matter, and every thing wasting all depots of disease, whether caused by the action of some specific poison, as the Venereal, Mercury, Corrosive Sublimate, i. e. the Corrosive Chloride of Mercury, Chlorod, and other agents that may have accumulated in the bones, tissues particulars, or Glands, or from a scrofulous or unhealthy condition that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilitic, uncured and badly treated Mercurial Disease, Ulcers in the Throat Mouth, Tumors, Sores in the Groin and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Stubborn Discharges from the Ear, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Erupting Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Life Principle, yield to the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Strictures and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, and Privates. Diabetes, and all who are incovenienced by the use of Mercury, Unfaithful Discharges, are quickly relieved and effectually cured by the use of

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Denault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had for nine years TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his side last resisted the kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, alternating with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief, he used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Pills, and Ready Relief, as used, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctored for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont

M. Dorsi, one of the wealthiest citizen of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., told one of his knowledge of our medicines. He was, aged 5 years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all. I saw him in September last, and he was the most revolting and diseased object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruption of the Skin, Boils, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Threatened Consumption, Night Sweats Bleeding from the Lungs, cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WIDDER STATION, Ontario, Canada West, March 15, 1869.

DR. RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle the bleeding was stayed and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, disease and threatened Consumption have disappeared. I feel my health fully restored. JONATHAN FREELAND.

N. B.—This gentleman was well known to have been under the treatment of the best physicians in Sarnia—he received no benefit from any medicine until he commenced using Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

We hear the note of a stranger-bird,
That ne'er till now in our land was heard.
A winged settler has taken his place
With Teutons and men of the Celtic race;
He has followed their path to our hemisphere—
The Old-World sparrow at last is here.

He meets not here, as beyond the main,
The fowler's snare and the poisoned grain.
But snug built homes on the friendly tree;
And crumbs for his chirping family
Are strewn when the winter's fields are drear.
For the Old-World sparrow is welcome here.

The insect legions that sting our fruit
And strip the leaves from the growing shoot,
A swarming, sulking, ravenous tribe,
Which learned writers so well describe
But cannot destroy, may quail with fear,
For the Old-World sparrow, their bane, is here.

The apricot, in the summer ray,
May ripen now on the loaded spray,
And the nectarine, by the garden-walk,
Keep firm its hold on the parent stalk,
And the plum its fragrant fruitage rear,
For the Old-World sparrow, their friend, is here.

That pest of gardens, the little Turk
Who rigs, with the crescent, his wicked work,
And causes the half-grown fruit to fall,
Shall be seized and swallowed, in spite of all
His sly devices of cunning and fear,
For the Old-world sparrow, his foe, is here.

And the army-worm and the Hessian fly,
And the dreaded canker-worm shall die,
And the thrip and slug and fruit-moth seek,
In vain to escape that busy beak,
And fairer harvests shall crown the year,
For the Old-World sparrow at last is here.

Winter Management of Farm Stock.

This will no doubt be considered by some of the readers of this Journal, a hackneyed subject, yet if they will look around them our remarks may be found applicable in many instances, previously over-looked.—Winter is now upon us; in a short time we may expect all its rigors and severities, at this time the management of domesticated animals is a matter of the greatest moment to the farmer, and demands a large portion of his time and attention. In summer, stock, owing to the mild temperature and the supply of herbaceous food from the bountiful hand of nature, will become thrifty and fat, whilst winter with its chilling blasts and severe cold is almost certain to reduce the amount of flesh acquired in summer unless, the animals are properly cared for. To do this it is important, in the first place, that all animals be provided with comfortable shelter; leaving humanity out of the question, warmth and shelter in inclement weather is next to food. The stock owner who allows his horses to remain in stables that are open and exposed, and through which cold draughts are constantly passing, can scarcely expect them to come out in the spring—even if they should live to see it, otherwise than diseased and incapacitated for the duty awaiting them. Yet we would not have him go to the other extreme and exclude all light and ventilation. While stables should be warm and comfortable, they should also be light and well ventilated. Dark stables are very injurious to the eyes of horses, and improperly ventilated ones are not only bad for the eyes, but for every other part of the animal organization. An animal comfortably sheltered during the winter will exhibit more thriftiness, and come out in the spring in better condition on one half the food that is required to produce anything approaching a similar result upon one that is kept in a cheerless, unhealthy apartment. These principles apply to all other farm stock as well as the horse.—The animal system is supplied with a certain amount of carbon, from which heat is eliminated, and which is requisite to their health and growth. To depreciate or vitiate this carbon causes disease, and a falling off in flesh naturally follows. Good shelter and palatable food are the only means by which the carbon may be kept in the system in proper quantity and quality. A warm dry shelter collects the carbon, and condensed pabulum throws it into the system, like throwing fuel into a furnace, for carbon exists in bodies according to the amount of matter they contain, without reference to the size of the bulk, hence the necessity of food being supplied at regular intervals, otherwise the carbon in the system becomes alternately redundant and depreciated and eventually vitiated. The result is disease and possibly death.

The importance of a copious supply of fresh, wholesome water to stock at all seasons can scarcely be exaggerated, but in winter, especially, the freshest article should be furnished them, as it is not so cold and consequently will not evaporate the carbon to be thrown from the system too precipitately. Water is the drink rather than the food of animals yet it constitutes the greater part of their weight and performs the most indispensable functions in the economy of all organized beings; they should, as with food, receive a regular supply of this essential fluid, of a temperature not calculated to injure the elimination of animal heat. Salt is essential to the healthy digestion of farm stock, the well composed arguments of some intelligent gentlemen to the contrary, notwithstanding; and although this compound (chloride of sodium) is more or less prominent in all food, yet experience demonstrates that small quantities periodically given assist complete digestion, which modern research has proved requires the aid of hydrocloric acid. A too liberal supply may retard the growth and fattening of animals, but the most desirable amount, by careful observation and experience, can in most cases soon be determined. Feeding, and management when conducted on correct principles will always be so modified as to meet the variations of breed, constitution, temperament, and practical uses of the domesticated animals.

CATARRH, a disease which distresses us and disgusts our friends, can be instantly relieved and quickly cured by using Dr. J. Briggs' Alleviator, an invaluable Remedy for nasal gleet and Inflammation. Sold by all Druggists.

CONSUMPTIVES.—Dr. J. Briggs' Pectoral Lung Healer. It will relieve and cure you. For all diseases of the Throat, Chest, and Lungs, nothing can surpass it for beneficial effects. Sold by Druggists.

CURE FOR PILES. Dr. J. Briggs' Pile Remedy is offered to the sufferers of this distressing disease, with a confidence warranted by its success for their relief. Sold by Druggists.

FROSTED FEET, Chilblains, Corns, Bunions, Bad Nails, &c., are positively cured by the use of Dr. J. Briggs' Modern Curative. This Remedy has been compounded with great care, and used as directed, never fails. Sold by Druggists.

A YEAR'S TRIAL.

As Montreal Tea Company : MONTREAL, 1868.

GENTS.—It is nearly a year since I purchased the first chest of Tea from your house. I have purchased many since, and I am pleased to inform you the Tea has in every case proved most satisfactory, as well as giving exceedingly cheap. Yours very truly,
F. DENNIE.

Montreal Tea Co :
GENTLEMEN.—The Tea I purchased of you in March has given great satisfaction, and the flavor of it is very fine. It is very strange, but since I have been drinking your Tea I have been quite free from headaches, which formerly was my sad affliction. I therefore attribute this to the purity of your Tea, and shall continue a customer.
Yours respectfully,
FRANCIS T. GRENE,
84 St. John Street,
Montreal.

Montreal, April, 1868.—To the Montreal Tea Company, Hospital Street, Montreal : We notice with pleasure the large amount of tea forwarded for you to different parts of the Dominion, and we are glad to find your business so rapidly increasing. We presume your Teas are giving general satisfaction, as out of the large amount forwarded we have only had occasion to receive one lock, which, we understand, was sent through a mistake.
G. CHENEY,
Manager Canadian Express Company.

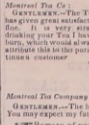

Montreal Tea Company :
GENTLEMEN.—The box of English Breakfast and Young Hyson Tea which you sent me gives great satisfaction. You may expect my future orders. Yours, &c.,

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil even a cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by all as a cathartic, nor was ever any one so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but searching purgative Pill. The obvious reason is that it is more reliable and far more effectual than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, will find it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of the most remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, so we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their range as a purgative medicine is unrivaled, and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate into healthy action, remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure :—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the offending humors.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose generally is required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as directed, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect promptly.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous to use them in moderate doses of this kind. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Del Dottore F. P. Verri, Prof. of Chemistry in the of University Padua, Italy.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original preparer at the National Exposition at Torino, Italy, by whose favor Mr. Gianelli obtained the Recipe, and was also awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition of Canada, held at Montreal in September, 1865, is without exception, the most Genuine, Salubrious and agreeable Tonic ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America.

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite among the élite of society, being generally served in the Drawing Room immediately before dinner, in preference to Vermouth.

☞ The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval on every occasion.

The Red Flag of England.

BY ELIZA COOK.

Old England, thy name shall yet warrant thy fame,
If the brows of thy foemen shall scowl;
Let the Lion be stirred by too daring a word,
And beware of his echoing growl.
We have still the same breed of the man and the steed
That wore bravely our Waterloo wreath;
We have more of the blood that formed Iokerman's flood,
When it poured in the whirlpool of death.
And the foeman shall find neither coward nor slave
'Neath the Red Cross of England, the flag of the brave.

We have jackets of blue, still as dauntless and true,
As the tars our brave Nelson led on;
Give them room on the main, and they'll show you again,
How the Nile and the Trafalgar were won.
Let a ball show its teeth, let a blade leave its sheath
To defy the proud strength of our might;
We have iron-mouthed guns, we have steel-hearted sons,
That will prove how we Britons can fight.
Our ships and our sailors are kings of the wave
'Neath the Red Cross of England, the flag of the brave.

Though a tear might arise in our women's bright eyes,
And a sob choke the tearful good-bye,
Yet those women would send, lover, brother or friend,
To the war-field to conquer or die.
Let the challenge be flung from the braggarts' bold tongue,
And that challenge will fiercely be met,
And our banner unfurled, shall proclaim to the world,
That "there's life in the old Lion yet."
Hurrah for our men on the land or the wave
'Neath the Red Cross of England, the flag of the brave.

Hare the Murderer.

The London Echo of November 8th, publishes the following extraordinary story:—

"A venerable old man is now perambulating Regent street and its vicinity, soliciting those ready alms which an enlightened English public is ever disposed to drop into the extended palm of age and indigence. The features of this interesting mendicant have probably been somewhat altered during the forty years which have elapsed since he adorned a public station (in the dock at Edinburgh), or he must have been more generally recognized by the thousands who have beheld his effigy at Mme Tussaud's. In the famous Chamber of Horrors, which has been so wickedly called England's Walhalla, and which certainly holds out the most formidable threat of earthly immortality with which we are acquainted, there stand in an obscure corner two mean little dwarfish figures, represented as if in eager consultation. The visitor on turning to his catalogue, finds that they are respectively the likenesses of the notorious Burke and Hare—the former who was hanged at Edinburgh on the 28th January, 1829. If the visitor be not old enough to remember the public excitement of that distant period, when even single murders were rarities and the slaughtering of Pantin and Horner undreamed of, or should we say, unreported ? he will further read that the two miscreants were convicted of suffocating people for the sake of selling their bodies for disection. Burke's crime was then deemed so portentuous that he had the honor of actually adding a word to the English language, and the verb "to burke," even yet survives as a convenient metaphor applicable to violently suppressed projects, as the guillotine records for all generations the benevolent invention of the abbe whose name it bears. Such was the fate of Burke —himself "burked" by the Calcraft of the period, but made immortal in waxwork and in slang. But what of Hare ? His penalty, it seems, must have been more like that of the Wandering Jew; for, as we have said, there he is on this day, begging in Regent street.

"The secret of his identity has oozed out, and as it is feared by the fraternity to which he now belongs that it may injure the trade, one of them some time since took measures to vindicate his character. A beggar whose age and appearance might cause him to be mistaken for the ex-convict wore a placard on his breast stating that he was not 'Hare.' "

Some people in Canada believe that Hare lived some years near Wardaville, on the Thames, and if we are not mistaken he is reported to have died.

The Low Price of Wheat.

For some years back, an idea has prevailed among the farming community, that had we reciprocity with the United States, the price of wheat would range much higher than it has. The opinion is fallacious, for the price of wheat in the States at present is as low in proportion to the necessaries of life, as it in Canada. So much is this the case in some of the western States that the farmers are becoming disheartened at the low price of wheat, and the press is discussing whether this staple is not cultivated in that country in excess of the demand. A late issue of the Rochester (Minnesota) Post discusses this question. It says this season there is an excessive wheat crop and the price is too low to pay a profit on its production. Last season there was a short crop and the price was only sufficient to pay a small profit. Is there not a strong probability that the extraordinary development of new wheat fields on the northwest which has been going on at an increasing ratio for the past twenty years, has reached a point at which the production of wheat is in excess of the demand ? If this is a question worth the careful consideration of the armers across the line is it not equally so of the wheat growers of Ontario shall we not say Canada ? In many counties in Ontario, wheat is cultivated to the almost exclusion of all other crops, and when there is a failure or the price is low, the trade of the country is depressed. Is it not worth considering whether our farmers could not grow other crops less liable to be effected by the weather and insects, which of late years have been so destructive to the wheat, and prove equally if not more remunerative ?

Young Men You're Wanted.

A lady writer under this heading, hits off the men as follows :—

A woman want's you. Don't, forget her, Don't wait to be rich; if you do, ten to one you are not fit to be married. Marry while you are young, and struggle up together.—But mark, young man, the woman don't want you if she is to divide her affections with a cigar, spittoon or whisky jug. Neither does she want you if you don't take care of her, and the "after-thoughts" which are sure to follow. She wants you for a companion, a helpmate—she wants you to have learned to regulate your appetite and passions; in short, in the image of God, not in the likeness of a beast. If you are strong in a good purpose, firm in resistance to evil, pure in thought and action, as you require her to be and without such inward purity neither of you are fit for husband and wife: if you love virtue and abhor vice, if you are gentlemanly, forbearing and kind, and not loud talking, exciting and brutal, young man, the woman wants you; that modest, fair, cheerful, right-looking, frank spoken woman we mean, who fills your ides of maiden and wife. It is she that wants you—marry her when you like, whether she is poor or rich; we'll trust you both on the above conditions, without any further security.

Startling Adventure of a Diver.—One of the divers employed at the Landing Pier Works, Douglass, while engaged in laying the concrete blocks under water, met with a startling adventure. An immense fish, probably as much astonished as the diver himself, presented itself with extended jaws in the attitude of attack and but for the presence of mind of the diver would probably have seized one of the limbs of the submarine workman, and, with its formidable army of teeth, have instantly cut through the india rubber dress. The diver, as when usually engaged below water, armed with the customary offensive wapons, one of which he promptly thrust into the reptile's mouth, but, finding his presence of mind unable disabling it, firmly kept his hold, and instantly signalling to the man in charge of the pump, was rapidly drawn to the surface, bringing at the same time the vanquished fish. On examination it proved to be what is commonly called here a gilliperne, or gillyperkin, but, properly defined, according to Mr. Brown the engineer of the works, is the "toad-fish," or "fishing frog." Its measurements are—from the tip of the snout to the point of the tail, 4 feet 6 inches; and across the shoulder from fin to fin, 3 feet; and across the mouth, extended vertically and horizontally, 10 to 12 inches.—Mona's Herald.

The rightful hair—Not the chignon.

A light employment—Cleaning windows.

When is a sailor not a sailor ?—When he is a lort.

When is iron like a counterfeit bank note ?—When it is forged.

What grows less tired the longer it works ? A carriage wheel.

What article of confectionery do tears resemble ?—Acidulated drops.

Which is the most sarcastic of professions ?—A chemist because he is always ready with a retort.

What pains get more prevalent in every country with the increase of the population yet medical men never try to relieve them ?—Pains (panes) of glass.

The females of some of the Indian tribes, in order to keep silence, fill their mouths with water. Our women fill theirs with tea, and gossip worse than ever.

A lady asked her gardneer why the weeds always outgrew and covered up the flowers. 'Madam,' answered he, 'the soil is mother of the weeds, but only step-mother of the flower.'

Profession and practice—Painter: 'Wouldn't care to be a painter, eh?—Model: 'Dear, no, sir! Rather be a doctor. Their work ain't so criticised; and it don't much matter whether its kill or cure.'

The Red River Revolt a Fenian Plot.

The Buffalo Express is inclined to think that the resistance to British authority in Red River is the work of the Fenian organization. We are not disposed to question the correctness of that opinion. If the Fenians thought they had a chance to annoy Great Britain or Canada by endeavoring to create a revolt in Red River, even if it resulted in the massacre of every man, woman and child in the Territory, they would try it, and the Express and a large portion of the American people would throw up their hats and pat the men on the back who did it. The Express says :—

" We have reason to believe that the Fenian organization is at the bottom of this Red River movement ; that the Fenian leaders have been secretly at work for several months to bring it about, and that their later plans have been chiefly directed to their consummation. If we are not much mistaken by what we gather, the present occurrences in the Red River country form the beginning of the execution of an entirely new Fenian programme for which it is claimed that the organization has more means in hand and better preparations than it ever had before. Should it be the fact, as we believe, that their plans have taken the direction of such an initiative, the Fenian leaders are certainly to be credited with more shrewdness than has hitherto been evinced by them. The fertile British territory beyond Lake Superior is absolutely indefensible by Canada or England.—Neither troops nor supplies can be conveyed to it in the winter season except through the United States. A small Fenian force will suffice to wrest it from the Dominion and the Crown ; and the territory is of immense extent and value. Its Fenian capture would be a decidely hard blow, both morally and materially to the powers, Imperial and Colonial, at which Fenian hostility is aimed.

" What further direction the operations of the F. B. may take we are unable to give any indication, but we think it is expected, in their own ranks and by both the Canadian and American authorities, that the coming winter will see active undertakings of some sort."

The Hon. John Carling.

The Montreal Daily News pays the following well merited tribute to the energy and business ability of the Commissioner of Agriculture :—

" Mr. Carling has proved himself a thoroughly practical, business-like man, in his management of the duties of emigration commissioner, and he has achieved a measure of success which gives promise to a large future addition of the emigrating class. He has had pamphlets and circulars printed ; he has distributed them, through his deputies, in every parish in the British Isles. He has told the intending emigrant that Ontario has good farming lands which she is willing to give in moderate quantities to all who are willing to make their homes on her soil ; and he has explained to the emigrant by what route and at what cost he can reach these lands. We are not, therefore, surprised to learn that Ontario has added many thousands this year to her population by emigration. It is foolish economy grudging a few thousand dollars' worth of food to impoverished emigrants, or neglecting to assist them in reaching their destination. Mr. Carling is well aware that every emigrant he can induce to settle in Ontario by trifling acts of kindness, will most probably write home in favorable terms of the country, and the courtesy and liberality of the Government officers. The 36,000 emigrants whom Mr. Carling induced to take up their abode in Ontario this year will probably be followed by more than twice that number next year. The Ontario Premier deserves to be congratulated on his happy choice of emigration commissioner."

Madoc Railway.

The residents of Norwood are agitating in favor of a Railway from their Village to connect with the Kingston and Madoc Railway. Norwood is but 10 miles from Marmora. People who are living in the rear Townships, will not much longer remain in their present comparative state of isolation, for the want of specdier means of exit. Plank and Macadamized roads have had their day, and people are not content to move about upon business at a less speed than that offered by Railways.—It is only a question of time, and it behoves those Towns and Cities which now enjoy the advantages of the trade of these Townships to look well to their interests, or they will lose it. Peterboro' is beginning to be alive to this, and her position is somewhat similar to that of Belleville. The Examiner in commenting upon this movement in Norwood, says :

" What is Peterboro doing ? Already the Whitby road threatens to cut off some of the northern traffic. Lindsay takes a great deal of the trade that should and would come to Peterboro, if matters were managed as they should be. Let a road from Kingston be extended to Norwood, and then unless it come to Peterboro also, we may bid adieu to the trade of the East. A year or two past, we might have ensured a road to the East and to Cobourg for about £20,000. The opportunity was rejected, through the manœuvres of a few. Now they find the Town cut off on all sides, no road to the back waters, and nothing being done. Some morning, we may find our trade completely cut off by Kingston, Toronto and Lindsay ; then perhaps our people will awake to their position."

Precisely the case with Belleville. When the road is open to Kingston, Belleville will begin to realize a loss of trade, at which many turn up their noses at present. It is not a few Townships, no matter how fertile, or prolific they may be, that build up a Town or make a City. It is the concentration of trade from all sections of the country that accomplishes that end.—It is this fact that creates the rivalry between Toronto and Hamilton. It is the fact that most of the business of Canada finds its way to Montreal that makes it grow so rapidly. The same reason, so far as relates to the business of the great west being concentrated in Chicago, accounts for the rapid progress of that city ; and so with all places to a greater or less extent. Why is Belleville larger or more populous than Trenton or Shannonville ? It is not because we have superior water power, nor is it because her large property holders have been enterprising or public spirited, for few towns have been cursed with landed proprietors with less of both requisites ; but it is because we occupy a more central position, to which the trade has perforce been compelled to come ; but so soon as facilities are offered to reach other markets easier or cheaper than that of Belleville, people will go there, and who will say they would be wrong in doing so ? In all business transactions, the advantages must be mutual, and it is the duty of every business community to offer inducements to those who have to trade, superior than that offered by their neighbors ; unless this is done, trade not only may, but will assuredly be diverted into another channel, though that channel may not be the natural or legitimate one. Why did Belleville vote so unanimously for the money to build the gravel roads ? Was it not to bring trade to the Town ? True, we had a few croakers who feared farmers would be enabled to come to Town and return home in one day, and thereby be relieved from paying a hotel keeper for a few meals, a night's keep for his team, and lodgings for himself; but who will now say the money spent was not the best investment ever made for the Town ? Knowing the advantages derived from those improvements, the Town agreed at the separation from the County, to pay yearly $2,400 in consideration of the roads being kept free from tolls. Is there a man among us who, for what has been or is in future to be paid, would consent to allow the roads to go without repairs, or to have toll gates re-erected ? There may be two or three, but that is the extent, and they would be looked upon as noodles.

Why was the lease of the Ferry given for a number of years, backed by a subsidy of a couple of thousand dollars, in consideration of the lessee putting even an ordinary steamer on the route between the Town and Amelisburgh, except to facilitate and create a trade we had not ? And has not the result of that policy proved the wisdom of those who inaugurated it ? Should we be satisfied with what has been accomplished in this respect ? Not at all. The establishment of that Ferry has added tens of thousands to the wealth of Belleville, at the expense of other places ; though people are not compelled to remain at hotels all night. We hope ere long to see a swift running steamer placed upon the Bay to make a daily, coasting trip between the ports west of Picton to Belleville, leaving the lower ports in the morning and taking the people home at night. By this scheme a still larger trade might be created than we now enjoy, and property would be enhanced in proportion.

So precisely with the projected railway. But people say we have the trade, and why tax ourselves to secure what we already have ? We tell them, it is not at the present moment a question so much of securing new or additional trade from that quarter, as it is of retaining what they already have. For they may rest assured that so soon as an eastern outlet is opened to the people of the northern townships, Belleville will see fewer of their people in her streets, and less of their money. Instead of resting supinely upon a fancied security, we should bend every energy, not only to have a railway from the north to terminate here, but to make Belleville the outlet for the people of Norwood, and all the townships bordering on the west of our county, particularly those which are rich in minerals and agricultural products. There is little or no reason why Belleville should not enjoy the greater portion of the trade of Seymour and its adjacent townships. But if from stupidity or penuriousness, the people allow business to be taken from them, they deserve to have the grass grow around their doors, and their Town instead of growing and prospering, dwindling down to a third rate village.

Smith vs. School Trustees, Belleville.

By the legal intelligence reported in the Toronto papers, we learn that more costs are being added to this already vexatious defence. The Telegraph's report says : " Mr. Hodgins moves ex parte for a writ of sequestration. The fi fa in this case has been served on the " defendants, and a demand made for the costs " ordered to be paid by the decree in this " cause, yet the defendants have not paid the " costs. The Sheriff has seized. On it appearing that the Sheriff had seized, the Secretary refused to grant the money power- " ful writ of sequestration on an ex parte " application." The Globe's report reads somewhat different, hence we give it also. It is as follows :—" The fi fa goods had been issued " and the Sheriff had seized but doubted " whether he could sell under it. He referred " to p p 280, 281, Taylor's Chancery Orders. " The Secretary said as the Sheriff had seized " under the fi fa, and it was not shown that " he was unable to sell he would refuse the " higher writ." What's to be the end of this ? Smith has gained his suit, and now we have a continuation of legal proceedings to obtain costs. A pretty mess truly.

The Assault Case.

Bulger, Catterack, and McCormick were brought up again to-day before the Police Magistrate.

JOHN BENNETT, the party assaulted, was present, and gave the following evidence : —I remember the morning of the 13th November ; I was on my way down to the engine room ; this was after the fire ; McCormick was with me when we went to Doyle's ; from that we went to O'Brien's ; Richard Burk was with us ; we had a glass of beer ; when we left Catterack and Bulger were ahead of us ; in front of Taylor's gangway Catterack said he could whip any man in Town ; I went down the gangway, and while I was there there was a talk in the street ; McCormick called me out ; he said " Jack ;" I had my overcoat on my shoulder ; I saw McCormick at the gangway ; he told me Catterack was going to lick me ; he said to me give him a clout if he touched me ; I said if I did Bulger would pile on me ; McCormick said he would not allow it ; Bulger said to Catterack, " there is Bennett, go for him ;" Catterack came towards me and struck at me ; I stepped back to avoid the blows, and kicked my heel against the sidewalk and fell back ; it was in front of Taylor's ; I did not hurt my back when I fell ; there were three around me scuffling ; when I was down I got a kick or a blow on the back of the ear which rendered me senseless ; Catterack was on top of me ; I got kicked on the back where are my worst wounds, at the time I was insensible ; I did suspect McCormick until this morning ; I suspected him from going off and leaving me ; Catterack had been drinking ; I had drank two glasses of lager beer and four glasses of ale ; I have always had reason to believe McCormick was a friend of mine ; I only saw three in front of John Taylor's ; I did not get my senses fully until next day.

Cross-examined.—I did not go down the gangway from fear ; I did not take off my overcoat with the intention of fighting ; when I came out of the gangway I intended crossing the street ; I started off the sidewalk ; when I heard that Bulger was not to attack me I stood my ground ; I found Catterack ; he came towards me and I backed ; he struck at me but did not hit me until I fell ; when I first fell I cannot say if it was on the road or sidewalk, but I think the sidewalk ; I will not say I was sober, but I had my senses about me and was not drunk.

To the Court—I did not call any one a son of a b——h.

This closed the evidence in the case, and the parties were fully committed for trial. Bail was refused for Bulger and Catterack.

A Japanese Protest Against Christianity.

The Independance Belge says that the following protest is being extensively circulated in Japan. It purports to be signed by a number of Bonzes, or Buddhist bishops :—The perverse religion of Jesus, the teacher from Heaven, is a calamity which menaces the empire. It is useless to repeat it once again, and for a long time there have been everywhere protests borne against it. In spite of that the fools who submit themselves to this doctrine are found in no small number among the populace. Furthermore, the men of foreign countries seek in every way to propagate it, and it is difficult to say that they will not resort to violence and force of arms. We have learned that the Mikado is full of anxiety on this subject. We are profoundly affected about it, and with the desire of bringing to bear a perpetual prohibition against this doctrine, we, most unworthy as we are, who have already with Buddhism made the strength of Japan, are determined to live and die with the empire ; and despite our uselessness, are resolved to serve it even the cost of our lives. For this reason we beg and request upon our knees that this protest may be published and posted everywhere."

CONSUMPTION is a distressing and fatal disease, characterized by cough, debility, emaciation, purulent expectoration, and hectic fever. It chiefly attacks the young, the fair, and the amiable, and is generally considered incurable. In certain northern latitudes it prevails with the greatest violence, owing probably, to the frequent atmospherical changes from heat to cold, dryness to dampness, &c. It is also found to exist in some warm climates. Some persons consider it incurable ; this, however, if true at all, must occur very rarely, and only among those who, having a predisposition to the disease, sleep with a patient in whom the disease exists in an ulcerated state, and is attended with fetid expectoration, and cadaverous nightsweats. For restoring to health or relieving the sufferer, when this fearful disease is too far advanced, Dr. J. Briggs' Renovator, the Great Throat and Lung Healer, stands unrivalled. A few doses proves its excellence. Dr. J. Briggs & Co., Proprietors. Sold by Druggists and Country Dealers. Office, 205 Broadway, N. Y., and No. 6 King St. West, Toronto.

FENIAN DEMONSTRATIONS IN IRELAND.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Despatches from Cork, Dublin and Tipperary, report that there have been several Fenian demonstrations in various parts of Ireland to-day. At Tipperary and Clonmel the proceedings were riotous. Fenian songs were sung by the mob while marching in procession, and several houses along the line of march were stoned and riddled. At Cork this evening the partizans of Mr. Rossa celebrated that gentleman's election to parliament with a grand torch-light procession and other proceedings. Everything passed off without disturbance.

CONSPIRACY FRUSTRATED.

MADRID, November 27.—Late advices have been received here from the Phillipine Islands. A formidable reactionary conspiracy had been discovered at Manilla. Many arrests were made. The principal person implicated committed suicide when he found the scheme had been frustrated.

THE SUEZ CANAL.

PARIS, Nov. 27.—M. Lesseps, the chief engineer of the Suez canal, has publicly denied the unfavorable reports which have been circulated about the great enterprise. He calls attention to the fact that in ten days no less than 50 vessels sailed safely through the canal and back.

ALEXANDRIA, Nov. 27.—Two of the steamers of the "Messageris Imperials" of 2,400 tons burden have safely passed through the Suez canal. The success of the canal seems to be no longer doubtful.'

SPECIAL NOTICES.

BOILS.

Like the volcano, Boils give issue to the foul and fiery contents of the deep interior. To remove the cause of such suffering it is only necessary to vitalize the Blood by supplying it with its Life Element, IRON.

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP,

(a protected solution of the Protoxide of Iron) will do this effectively, and give strength, vigor and new life to the whole system.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM REV. RICHARD S. EDES, OF BOLTON, MASS.

"For years I was a sufferer from Boils, so that my life became wearisome through their frequent and persistent resistance; finally a carbuncle formed in the small of my back. During its progress large pieces of decomposed flesh were every day or two cut away, and the prostration and general disturbance of the system was great. Before I had recovered from this attack two smaller carbuncles broke out higher up, and I was again threatened with a recurrence of the sufferings to which I had so long been subjected. It was at this time that I commenced taking the PERUVIAN SYRUP. I continued taking it until I had used five bottles; since then I have had nothing of the kind. For years I was one of the greatest sufferers. Other medicines gave me partial and temporary relief, but this remarkable remedy, with a kind of intuitive sense, went directly to the root of the evil, and did its work with a thoroughness worthy of its established character."

A 32 page Pamphlet sent free. The genuine has "PERUVIAN SYRUP" blown in the glass.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

THE REMEDY FOR CURING

Consumption, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppressions of the Chest or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS action is expectorant, alterative, sedative, diaphoretic, and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS and PURIFIES the BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action and imparts strength to the whole system. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction, even in the most confirmed cases of consumption, and not to produce costiveness (as do most remedies) or effect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no necessity for so many deaths by consumption, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

NEW

APPLIED IN THE CURE OF

Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine (free from all nauseating or disagreeable) effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's is prepared on a new principle of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the most choice products of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other foreign roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Heat, Fat-making medicine are selected and gathered with the greatest care in the proper season, from the native soil, under the supervision of intelligent agents—experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co—so that no spurious adulterations or cheap roots can possibly be mixed with the pure.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $30,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists to collect these roots that the wonderful improvements it has secured to the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, may specially the pays for the outlay over and over again; for never in the history of medicine has such a remedy been found so completely builds up, repairs, and makes sound strong, healthy blood, and foundation of withal, the weak and broken-down constitutions, as

Dr. RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

It supplies the blood with nourishment.
IT CONTAINS TISSUE-MAKING AND FLESH-GIVING QUALITIES.
It supplies the system with caloric or heat-making properties.
It cures all Eruptive and Ulcerated diseases of the Eye, Ear, Mouth, Throat and Skin and body.
It increases the weight and appetite.
IT STOPS ALL WEAKENING DISCHARGES.
It increases the repairs and diminishes the wastes.
It exterminates the products of decay.
It resolves Tumors, Scrofula and Lumps.
It makes the skin clear and beautiful.
It heals Fever Sores and Ulcers.
It cures Gravel, Gleet, and Stricture.
It makes the eyes clear as crystal.
It cures Barrenness, and invests with the vigor of manhood those who, from weakness or disease, are deficient or exhausted.
It rescues women from the perils incident to change of life—cessation of menses.

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease or broken down or still in a condition to receive nourishment, and their LUNGS LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wasted beyond the process of repair, or if capable of sustaining the necessary vitality of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can be either restored to health, or the waste and decompositions stopped, and the elements of life and health be permanently promised from the system.

Extreme cases, where the LUNGS, LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other organs are wasted, ulcerated, and their functions interrupted and secretions altering the blood by corrupting it, and poisoning it, and will by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, combined with (perhaps the Pills) restore the wasted and vital forces may be, if the system can be sustained under the influence of this tissue and flesh-making medicine, the require will be greater than the waste and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poison of Venereal, are developed through the process of depositing from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys, Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent.

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic Glands Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a marked change to the better, for the better after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. As the blood becomes more pure and strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution its various constituents, the deposits of Tubercles, tissue matter and other elements of disease, decomposition and waste will be diminished in the Lungs, Kidneys, Skin and other Organs; and each of these Organs will perform their proper constituted secretions. Radway's Vegetable Pills, the Pancreatic Juice and other fluids are thereby absorbed in the secretions, and the food is properly digested for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If medicine fails in its influence on the system, to correct these secretions, and to set each organ or secreting gland to discharging its proper functions, health can never be restored: therefore for suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures this important want that has heretofore existed in all other remedial agents advertised as Blood Purifiers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones of the system, and corruption may be, the influence of this powerful agent on the blood and other fluids that sustain the living body will search, repair, and so charge the system with such constituents as to resist decay, and remove the dead and decomposing matter, and supply its place with sound and living structure. This is upheld by rich, pure, and strong blood, and the chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the diseases taken into the stomach during the process of digestion into Chyme and Chyle, before it is made blood, or sent on the nourishing work of supplying it to the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bones of the system, is the foundation of the power it has to cure every form of virus from the blood, and restore every old deposit and ulcer, however deep-seated by the action of some specific poison, or virulent disease, as Mercury, Cancerous Humors, &c., &c., from Mercurial Chloride of Mercury, Calomel, and other agents that may have contaminated the bones, the joints, cartilages, or joints, or from some transmitted family complaint, such as Scrofula, or from the wasting half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, uncured and badly treated Venereal in its many forms Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat Mouth, Tumors, Knots in the glands and other parts of the system; Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Life Principle, are within the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of the above forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Strictures and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy, Diabetes, and all weaknesses and Inconvenience by Stoppage of Water, or Painful Discharges, are quickly relieved and effectually cured through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Dennis, of Cumberland, County of Stanstead, Canada East, had for nine years 7 OLD LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his leg, that resisted all kinds of medicines and the skill of the most celebrated physicians in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, also with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two or three boxes of Radway's Pills, and was, as I am told, as a result of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent, diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars, and doctored for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB."

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont.

M. Durant, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., told me of the knowledge of your medicine. His son, aged 13 years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, covering the entire body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all. I saw him in September last, and he was the most revolting and diseased object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief and Pills One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruption of the Skin, Bolls, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

Threatened Consumption, Night Sweats Bleeding from the Lungs cured with one bottle of RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WINDSOR STATION, Ontario, Canada West, March 11, 1869.

DR. RADWAY:—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, and night sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvents. After taking two doses I was enabled to sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle I left off the bleeding and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, disease, and threatened Consumption have disappeared. I feel my health fully restored. JONATHAN BEELAND.

N. B.—This gentleman was well known to have been under the treatment of the most physicians in Sarnia—he received no benefit from any medicine until he commenced using your Sarsaparillian Resolvent. GEO. MORTIMER.

FROM "GRINCHUCKLE."

A Song of Triumph.

Sound the loud tin-pans from mountain to wave,
Sir Francis has triumphed,—North Renfrew's his slave!
Twang,—for the word of a Murray is broken,—
His speeches, addresses, all ended in froth:
How vain was his boasting,—Sir John had but spoken,
And Murray and half of his county is bought!
Sound the loud tin-pans from mountain to wave,
Sir Francis has triumphed,—North Renfrew's his slave!

Wail for the conqueror,—groan now a dirge,—
His word is an arrow,—his breath is a scourge;
He was returned to repeat the old story
Of the times when, alas! he was first in the land:—
Let the Nonsense now call this his pillar of glory,
'Tis the only sound teg upon which he can stand:—
Sound the loud tin-pans o'er mountain and wave,
Sir Francis has triumphed,—North Renfrew's his slave!

DARIUS WINTERTOWN.

Gossip for Window-Gardeners.

A BUNDLE OF BREVITIES FOR THE SEASON.

PLANTS IN WINDOWS should now be examined, and those whose roots have filled the pot must be shifted into pots two sizes larger. After knocking out the old ball, carefully pick out the old drainage from among the roots, also as much of the surface soil as will break away without injuring the fibres. Carefully drain the new pot with at least one inch of broken pots or bricks, and fill in the soil so that the collar or top of the ball will be at least half an inch below the rim of the pot; pack the fresh soil moderately firm round the ball, leaving half an inch for holding water. Finish off by giving a good soaking of water or until it runs out at the drainage hole, and set the plants in their places again.

PLANTS IN WINDOWS which do not require a shift, or whose pots are large enough should have an inch of the old soil scraped off the surface, taking care not to injure the rootlets, and replaced with fresh mould —this is what gardeners term "topdressing," and is very beneficial.

PLANTS IN WINDOWS must have suitable soil; this is a fertile cause of failure with many persons, who will persist in using the same soil over and over again, or procuring it from a town garden; such soil being sour and poisonous to plants in pots. Sods two inches thick from the surface of a sandy pasture or hedgerow two-third, and manure rotted to mould one third, would be an admirable soil for most window plants—as, Pelargoniums (geraniums), Carnations, Roses—Tea, Bourbon and Bengal; Fuchsias, Calla (Richardia), Primulas, Hyacinths, Chrysanthemums, Heliotropes, Begonias, &c.

PLANTS IN WINDOWS that show a tendency to become tall and lanky, must be cut down immediately, to keep them in proper shape and prevent the plants from wasting their strength in supporting useless lateral branches, which would never yield a flower. This treatment is absolutely indispensable to the rose and Fuchsia. Amateurs are, as a rule, exceedingly chary in using the knife; but it is a mistaken parsimony, for the latest buds will start almost anywhere after the pruning, which if properly done, would do away with the clumsy supports too often seen in windows.

PLANTS IN WINDOWS must never be allowed to become infested with Aphis, or blight; the instant one or two are discovered, brush them off and destroy them at once. Prevent them from breeding now, for they would multiply to thousands in a few weeks.

PLANTS IN WINDOWS must never be watered unless the soil is dry, and then give them enough to saturate the whole ball, or until it runs freely from the drainage hole. Watering plants by dribblets of a gill or so at a time, is a species of exquisite cruelty and torture to the plants. Plants in windows must never be allowed to stand in saucers of water, save and except Richardia Æthiopica (Calla), or Lily of the Nile, falsely so-called, which ought to be grown in water continually; this plant is found in marshes and swamps at the Cape of Good Hope.

PLANTS IN WINDOWS and elsewhere, should be grown in clean, porous, well-burned pots. Every gardener knows that glazed delft and hard burned pots will kill a plant sooner or later—particularly in unskillful hands—for unless the plant be vigorous or murder proof the soil will become "sour," and the death of the plant quickly follow.

PLANTS IN WINDOWS should be frequently sprinkled and washed with water, this helps to keep a moist atmosphere, which they dearly love.—A thermometer is of infinite importance to determine the proper temperature, which should never exceed 55 degrees.

CATARRH, a disease which distresses us and disgusts our friends, can be instantly relieved and quickly cured by using Dr. J. Briggs' Aleonator, an invaluable Kemedy for all Nasal Inflammations. Sold by all Druggists.

CONSUMPTIVES, try Dr. J. Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer. It will relieve and cure you.—For all diseases of the Throat, Chest, and Lungs, nothing can surpass its beneficial effects. Sold by Druggists.

CURE FOR FILES. Dr. J. Briggs' File Remedy is offered to the sufferers of this distressing disease, with a confidence warranted by its success for their relief. Sold by Druggists.

FROSTED FEET, Chilblains, Corns, Bunions, Bad Nails, &c., are positively cured by the use of Dr. J. Briggs' Modern Curative. This Remedy has been compounded with great care, and used as directed, never fails. Sold by Druggists.

ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY.

SECURITY

SHOULD be THE FIRST CONSIDERATION in INSURANCE TRANSACTIONS

THE Directors of the Royal Insurance Company have the pleasure of supplying the following information to the public, as evidence of the ample security they afford to their assurers:—

The Capital of the Company, available for the purpose of meeting any unusual calamity happening to the Assured, is

Two Millions Stirling.

The amount actually paid up is £288,495. This, with the Accumulated Funds in Hand, makes the invested resources of the Company upwards of One Million Six Hundred Thousand Pounds, which amount is invested as follows:—

INVESTED FUNDS OF THE ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY, 30th June, 1869.

Real Property owned by the Company,.....	£219,571 11 3

Loans on Security of Life Policies,.....	63,938 8 5
	£1,672,356 16 11

The above is a complete list of the Investments of the Company at the date specified, in addition to which the funds are still further increased, by amounts constantly varying, at different periods, in the hands of the Bankers and the Company's Agents. At 31st December, 1868, these stood at..... £ 168,089 2 0

For the satisfaction of the Public, the whole of the Securities belonging to the Company are annually submitted to the careful scrutiny of two independent Auditors, and the following is an Extract from their Report to the last Annual Meeting:—

"The whole of your Books have been Audited—every Document, every Account, every Voucher, your Bank book, and every Security—all have been most carefully kept, and there is not one doubtful Security in the whole."

THE ACCUMULATIONS OF THE LIFE DEPARTMENT,

After payment of Losses, Annuities, and Expenses of every description, have been as follows

Funds in Hand at the last Quinquennial Valuation, 31st Dec., 1864,	£ 621,434 15 5
Added to 31st December, 1865,.....	103,146 7 3
" " 1866,.....	124,163 7 5

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that where it cures it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compositions. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, some of which are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel nor any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and correcting wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the digestive and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaints in their various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the disordered action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageously taken when no serious disorder exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Vol. 3. BELLEVILLE, COUNTY OF HASTINGS, DOMINION OF CANADA, TUESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 30, 1869. No. 180.

The Land of the Maple for Me.

Here's a health to the land of the forest and flood,
And the Queen who rules over the free;
While united we stand as our fore-fathers stood,
In liberty's van we will be;
Though our hearts fondly cherish the mem'ries of old,
And the homes we have left o'er the sea,
Our love for old Canada ne'r shall grow cold—
Oh! the land of the Maple for me.

If invasion should threaten our lake-sheltered land,
And the war-cloud be thundering near,
We will stand a true-hearted and vigorous band,
To strike for our country so dear;
While the memories of those who fought not in vain,
To bequeath us the rights of the free,
Shall nerve us to deeds of true valour again—
Oh! the land of the Maple for me.

Then Hurrah! for old Canada home of the free,
May heaven still over her smile,
And may plenty and peace the true blessings still be,
Of her hard-handed nerves of toil.
From her ocean girt coast, to her wild forest shades,
Where the hall or the homestead may be,
Ever brave be her sons, and devoted her maids—
Oh! the land of the Maple for me.

Horrible Scene in Japan.

Slowly, and with great dignity, the condemned man mounted on to the raised floor, and prostrated himself before the high altar twice, and seated himself in the Japanese fashion, his knees and toes touching the ground, and his body resting on his heels. One of the three attendants officers then came forward bearing a stand of the kind used in temples for offerings, on which, wrapped in a paper, lay the short sword or dirk of the Japanese nine inches and a half in length, with a point and edge as sharp as a razor's. This he handed, prostrating himself, to the condemned man who received it reverently, raising it to his head with both hands, and placing it in front of himself. After another profound obeisance, Taki Zenzaburo, in a voice which betrayed just so much emotion and hesitation as might be expected from a man who is making a painful confession, but with no sign of fear either in his face or manner, spoke as follows:—'I, and I alone, unwarrantably gave the order to fire on the foreigners at Kobe, and again as they tried to escape. For this crime I disembowel myself, and I beg you who are present to do me the honour of witnessing the act.' Bowing once more the speaker allowed his upper garment to slip down to his girdle, and remained naked to the waist. Carefully, according to custom, he tucked his sleeves under his knees to prevent himself from falling back ward, for a noble Japanese gentleman should die falling forwards. Deliberately with a steady hand, he took the dirk, that lay before him; he looked at it wistfully, almost affectionately; for a moment he seemed to collect his thoughts for the last time, and then stabbing himself deeply below the waist, on the left hand side, he drew it slowly across to the right side, and turning the dirk in the wounds, gave a slight cut upwards. During this sickingly painful operation he never moved a muscle of his face. When he drew out the dirk he leaned forward and stretched out his neck: an expression of pain for the first time crossed his face, but he uttered no sound. At that moment the kaishaku, who, still crouching by his side, had been keenly watching his every movement, sprang to his feet, poised his sword for a moment in the air; a flash, a heavy, ugly thud, a crashing fall; with one blow the head n ad been severed from the body. A dead silence followed, broken only by the hideous noise, of the blood gushing out of the inert heap before us, which but a moment before had been a brave and chivalrous man. It was horrible.—Alder non Millford in Cornhill Magazine.

Wanting a Job.

The great curse of these times is the rage many people have for city and town life to the utter neglect and disparagement of the country. Those who can afford to live in the city have, of course a perfect right to follow their own inclinations, but where in order to gratify this taste, people allow themselves to become impoverished, and, in many cases, absolute paupers, it is very different. In every city and town, both in Canada and the States, there are more or fewer who will rather linger on in poverty and dependence, taking occasional jobs and loitering round in the hope of something turning up, than strike for the country where work and food can be, as an ordinary thing, had in abundance. A good number of these can do nothing to any purpose, and won't learn; still more can do something, but not the thing in demand, and won't accommodate themselves to circumstances; others are dissatisfied with what they can do and what they can get to do, and are continually longing for something lighter, and what they, in their foolish featherheads, call 'genteeler. They fancy they would be better paid if they were doing what they had never been trained to, and what they are not fitted for; and their lives are consequently a miserable struggle with their own best interests, and their physical and intellectual capabilities. The good laborer or carpenter will, reason or not, transmogrify himself into the awkward store keeper, and fancies that the true end of life is secured when he figures in a grocer's apron, or looks round upon his store of cabbage-heads and taffy as his kingdom and legitimate sphere of honest labor. What is the use of people persisting in doing what they can't, or staying where they can get but precarious employment because they have settled that the country is dull, and that there is not enough of life and bustle for them there! Why should strong young fellows loiter about for months vainly soliciting a place in a dry goods store, and then go begging for a loan of money to take them to some other quarter? Work won't come to them who do they not go to it, and take it in whatever shape it presents itself. It is agreat matter to say that for months past all willing and able in Ontario might get work. During the coming season there may be more difficulty; but not much either if people would only go at anything, however humble, rather than stand upon their dignity and starve. Horace Greeley, in the New York Tribune, says that there are in that city a hundred thousand men who ought long e'er this to have found their way to the public lands, and done themselves and others thereby a great deal of good. There is no city in Canada where there is even an approach to the same proportion so situated, but there are too many. —Globe.

Health of School Children.

The Medical College of Middlesex, Mass. have for a long time considered the influence of public schools on the health of the children, authorized the publication of the following facts as the opinion of its members:—

1. No child shall be allowed to attend school before the beginning of his sixth year.

2. The duration of daily attendance—including the time given to recess and physical exercises—should not exceed four and a half hours for the primary schools; five and a half for other schools.

3. There should be no study required out of school—unless at High School; and this should not exceed an hour.

4. Recess time should be devoted to play outside of the school room—unless during stormy weather—and as this time rightfully belongs to the pupils, they should no tbe deprived of it except for serious offences, and those who are not deprived of it should not be allowed to spend it in study; no child should ever be confined in a school room during an entire session. The minimum of recess time should be fifteen minutes each session, and in primary schools there should be more than one recess in each session.

5. Physical exercise should be used in school to prevent nervous and muscular fatigue and to relieve monotony, but not as muscular training. It should be practised by both teacher and children in every hour not broken by recess, and should be timed by music. In primary schools every half hour should be broken by exercise, recess or singing.

6. Ventilation should be amply provided for by other means than by open windows, though these should be used in addition to special means during recess and exercise time.

7. Lessons should be scrupulously appointed to the average capacity of the pupils; and in primary school the slate should be used more and the books less, and the instruction should be given as much as possible on the principal of "object teaching."

A Heartrending Incident.

One of the most affecting cases we have heard for a long time came to our notice a day or two ago. A woman, some weeks ago, was noticed wandering about in the neighborhood of Stoney Lake. On being spoken to, it was evident she was laboring under aberration of mind. She was asked, so says our informant, where she was going, and her answer ways, she was going to Heaven. She refused every hospitality and kept wandering on. When the heavy fall of snow came, those who had seen her wandering about, and hearing from the neighbors no clue to her whereabouts, began to fear that she would be lost and perish by the cold. Days and even a week and more passed by, when Mr. Fowlds happened to be in the woods hunting, and noticing at a certain place a dark object before him, he was about to fire, fancying it was a bear. We can conceive his astonishment and horror when the scream of a woman's voice, barely anticipating the fire of his gun. He at once took her, poor creature, all frozen and benumbed, to the nearest house, where every means were used to alleviate her sufferings. Her story as given in her short moments, is that she has travelled all the way from Michigan towards Pennsylvania where her children are, having been herself deserted by her husband a Michigan. She cannot explain how she happened to be in this locality.—Broken-hearted evidently, and having her children in Pennsylvania in her mind's eye she has wandered and wandered on. Her case demands prompt attention which we are sure will not be with-held.—Peterboro Review.

A Papal Manifesto.

The Civilta Cattolica has published an article directed against M. Maret, the Bishop of Sura, which a telegram from Rome informs us is attributed to the inspiration of the Pope. The writer says he regrets to engage in controversy with so distinguished an opponent. He does not do it, he continues, for the sake of bishops and theologians, for all M. Maret's arguments are borrowed from the Gallican authors, and have been triumphantly refuted, but for the sake of the masses, to whom such subjects are foreign, and to whom M. Maret appears to address himself. Among other matters the writer blames M. Maret for not using "the accustomed Latin." He proceeds to defend the system of absolute monarchy in the Church, adding that M. Maret's system would reduce the Pope's kingship to a mere phantom. He declares that the Church will not permit the participation of the laity in the councils, nor allow the election of ecclesiastical dignitaries by universal suffrage. M. Maret has, the writer concludes, written a work tainted with modern Liberalism, and he has committed the error of believing that Liberalism is irreconcilable with the Church.

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, NOV. 30.

ELECTIONS.—The Hon. Alex. Morris and the Hon. Christopher Dunkin, were both elected for their respective constituencies on Monday, Nov. 29th, by acclamation.

CONFEDERATION MEDALS.—The medals commemorative of the establishment of the Dominion, 1st July, 1867, have been received from London. Those in bronze are furnished to Senators, and members of Commons. The delegates to the Quebec Conference are furnished with silver medals On one side of the medal is a head of Queen Victoria, on the reverse Britannia seated and surrounded by various figures, representing the Provinces of Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick, and Nova Scotia. The medals were dispatched by mail to-day from the State Department to members of the Commons and Senators throughout the Dominion.

ROSLIN SOIREE.—The annual Soiree in connection with St. Andrew's Church, Roslin, was held in the Agricultural Hall, on Friday evening, the 26th inst. The chair was ably filled by Henry Ostrom, Esq. Addresses were delivered by the Rev Mr. Ferguson, of Roslin, the Rev. Wm. McLaren, the Rev. J. C. Smith, Geo. Neilson and Alex. Robertson, Esq'rs, of Belleville, and Mr. John White, of Roslin.—The Choir furnished some very good music and Mr. Neilson enlivened the proceedings by his Scotch songs. The whole was a success; between $70 and $80 were realized, which is to be applied on the purchase money of the handsome new "Manse," now in the occupation of the Rev. J. M. Gray, the popular young pastor of the Church.

MR. PHILIP PHILLIPS AND THE EVENING OF SACRED SONG.—On Friday evening next, this justly eminent singer will give an "Evening of Sacred Song," in the Bridge street Wesleyan Methodist Church. Mr. Phillips' celebrity is not confined to this continent. The London Times referring to his singing of "Your Mission," at the Crystal Palace where there was an audience of more than 30,000 people says, "both the words and the music were exquisitely touching and the singer did ample justice to the meaning of both." Those who attend on this occasion will, it cannot be doubted, be favored and pleased in a way they probably never will forget. The proceeds of the evening being principally to assist the Ladies' Aid Society, we hope to see the Church crowded.

NEWFOUNDLAND.—The latest intelligence from Newfoundland, says: The members elected to the Newfoundland House of Assembly are as follows:—Confederates: —Ridley and Rendell, from Trinity Bay; Evans and Attorney-General Carter, from Burin; Munn and Green, from Harbor Grace; Horke, from Carbonneer; Demister from Bay de Verde; Emersom, from Burges. Total Confederation, nine. Anti-Confederates:—McKay and Duder, from Twillingate; Winton, Noon, and Barnes, from Bonavista Bay; Alsop, from Trinity Bay; Little and Kehnedy, from Harbor Main; Talbot, Renouf, and Brennan, from St. Johns, West; Walsh, Jordan, and Parsons, from St. Johns East; Glen, and Battcock, from Ferryland; C. F. Bennett, Renouf, and Parsons, Jur., from Piscentia; T. R. Bennett, Fortune Bay; Wood, from Burgus. Total Antis, 21. In Burin, Carter has two and Evans one majority. The Antis will try to unseat them.

—On Tuesday 23rd, a barn and all its contents were burned in London Township, by a young woman who had been jilted by the farmer.

DR. J. BRIGGS' PILE REMEDY is acknowledged by all who have tried it (and their name is Legion) to be the best, most successful and efficacious Remedy ever used for that disease. Sold by Druggists.

For Colds, Cough, Bronchitis, Consumption and all Diseases of the Throat, Chest, and Lungs, Dr. J. Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer is a certain and reliable Remedy. Sold by Druggists.

St. Andrew's Day.

The members of the St. Andrew's Society of South Hastings, accompanied by the members of St. George's Society and of the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society of Belleville, met at their respective halls on Front Street at two o'clock this afternoon, to join in procession to attend Divine Service at St. Andrew's Church. The turn-out was highly respectable, the number present being about two hundred. Headed by the Piper, the procession marched through Front Street up Hotel Street to St. Andrew's Church, where an able and eloquent sermon was preached by Rev. J. C. Smith, pastor of the Church, and one of the Chaplains of the Society.

After the services the procession reformed and marched through the principal streets to their respective halls, where they separated.

This evening the St. Andrew's Society celebrate the anniversary of their Patron Saint, by a public dinner at the Dafoe House, which we doubt not will be well attended.

The Grand Trunk Railway.

The visit of the President of the Grand Trunk Railway to this country is likely to be of great value to the Railway, and consequently of great advantage to the country, for whatever benefits the former must benefit the latter. He has made a careful and most thorough inspection of the whole line, examined its working in the minutest details, and has on more than one occasion expressed himself agreeably disappointed with the result of his investigation. He has found the line in better condition than the reports they have been in the habit of receiving in England, would lead him to expect. He found a local trade being developed, which the figures the Directors in England annually examined failed to give a correct idea of. He found important connections with lines of communication, developing the traffic of the great West, which promised a largely increased traffic from year to year. He found the officials of the Road, from the Managing Director down, men in the right place, all faithfully and successfully performing the duty assigned them. He found a growing and prosperous country, a knowledge of which could only be obtained by a personal visit, and which it was essential a person in his position should know something more of than that obtained by mere reading. He ascertained what the Road needed to make it of greater value to the country, and consequently more profitable to the proprietors, and from the improvements which are contemplated, we may confidently look to an increasing trade, and rapid development in population and wealth along the entire route of the line.

Previous to his departure the Portland people invited Mr. Potter and Mr. Brydges to a banquet in that City, which those gentlemen were reluctantly compelled to decline. In Mr. Potter's reply to the invitation, he says:

"I can tell the proprietors also that throughout the West, at Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and Cincinatti, there exists the same interesting the rapidly extending relations of the Grand Trunk Company with those districts.

"The comparatively few shippers of produce, who have been enabled as yet to avail themselves of our route, express themselves as much encouraged by the economy and facilities of the terminal accommodation in your noble harbour. I know of several instances where bacon, lard and boxed meats consigned from the West via Grand Trunk and shipped from Portland to Europe, have so well preserved their condition along the "cold line" as we are called, and have received such prompt despatch at Portland that these perishable products have found a better market than the same articles forwarded at the same time by more southern routes.

With a road becoming every year more equal to the carrying functions, with a larger equipment of rolling stock, as I trust we shall have next season, I look forward with the same confidence that is felt in Portland and the West, to the rapid development of a profitable business over the Grand Trunk and a business flowing from sources which have, as yet, barely been touched by our connections."

Mr. Brydges in his reply to the letter of invitation, adds some information which will be received with satisfaction by the people of Canada. He says:—

"It will, I am sure, be of interest to the people of Portland to know from Mr. Potter's letter that large additions are to be made immediately to the rolling stock of the Grand Trunk Railway; and I have every reason to hope that in addition to the increased freight which that will enable us to carry to and from your city early next year, we shall be enabled to carry out a design now in contemplation, of putting on the road a through train of palace cars from Portland to Detroit—running through to Sarnia without change of carriage, and connecting at that place with a similar train of the Michigan Central Railway and its connections to Chicago and San Francisco.

"The rapidly improving condition of our railway will enable this train to be run at a considerable increase of speed beyond that which is at present attained, and we trust that the increase of these efforts to supply the wants of the travelling community will not fail to be appreciated by the people of your city and State, but will tend also to add to the revenue prosperity of this Company."

We repeat that we attach considerable importance to the visit of Mr. Potter to this country, and his personal inspection of the Railway of which he is President, and anticipate from the observations which have already fallen from that gentleman, that large additions will be made to the rolling stock of the Railway, and that the Road will be put in a condition to do the rapidly increasing business which is pouring in upon it from all quarters.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

MONDAY, Nov. 29th, 1869.

A number of petitions were presented, and a number of Bills were read a first time.

CROWN LANDS.

Mr. LAUDER asked whether the Government intend to introduce, during the present session, a measure to enable the Commissioner of Crown Lands to adopt more expeditious measures to settle disputes as to unpatented lands, and to reduce the purchase money, or throw off the interest upon the purchase money lands, where it appears that the purchasers have a just claim for such reduction or abatement.

Mr. RICHARDS answered that the Government have no intention of doing so. There was no doubt that there were large amounts of arrears that have accumulated in the Crown Lands Office, on account of the frequent changes made in the officers, and from several other causes. So many arrears in fact had arisen, that in 1806 he had appointed an officer specially to that branch to work off the arrears. That gentleman had worked off a considerable portion, and he thought he could say that if time were allowed the whole of them would be worked off; but in what exact time he would not say. The work in this department was vastly increasing, as might be seen from the fact that for the last year 14,000 letters had been received, whilst when the Crown Lands Department included the management of lands in both Ontario and Quebec, the number received for the whole department was only 17,000. His intention was, during the coming summer, if he still remained Commissioner of the Crown Lands and the arbitration between the Provinces were completed, to attend personally or send some person to represent him in the different counties and settle all claims. The intention of the Government at present was not to bring in a measure to alter the price of the lands, or throw off any part of the price. The great portion of his time was taken up in attending to these claims and resisting them. The advantages to be derived from the change were, of course, all on the side of the applicant, and he (Mr. Richards) had found it to be his duty to pay attention to the valuation placed by outsiders upon the lands on which remissions were asked. In some cases, lands were claimed to be only worth 10 cents an acre, where they were afterwards discovered to be worth two dollars. It was the intention of the Government as soon as the arbitration was over to have a re-arrangement of the price of these lands, but at present nothing would be done, as it was necessary for the Government to see from the result of the arbitration how the finances of the country stood.

AUDITORSHIP.

Mr. BLAKE moved a series of resolutions for the establishment of an Auditor's Department, said Auditor to be appointed by the House of Assembly.

The Attorney General after objecting to the proposition of the Auditor being the officer of the House, moved the reference of the resolutions to the Standing Committee on accounts.

ASSESSMENT LAW.

Mr. THOW moved the second reading of the Assessment Law, and stated that the first amendment was to tax the amounts received from rents as well as that received from mortgages. The next was to cancel the exemptions which are now made on ministers' lands in some cases, and to provide that only lands attached to a parsonage and the property of the church shall be exempt from taxation, and to confine the amount thus exempted in towns and cities to half an acre, and in the country to five acres. The third amendment was to repeal the section exempting government officers from taxation. This exemption clause had been put in last year by the wish of the representatives of the cities of Ottawa and Toronto, which are more particularly interested. Mr. Scott, of Ottawa, had that day presented a petition from the citizens of Ottawa, praying for the repeal of the clause mentioned. Another amendment was to correct a mistake which had occurred in last year's Bill. He intended with the consent of the House to refer the Bill to a Committee.

Hon. M. C. CAMERON said there could be no objection to referring the Bill to a Committee. In reference to the first amendment he said that it would necessitate a double taxation, as a person owning houses would be taxed on them as well as on the income derived therefrom. Merchants are complaining that there is now this double taxation on them. Where the income is the result of capital either one or other should not be taxed. In reference to the exemption of churches, it had been argued that this was equal to granting State aid, but he did not think that in any christain country objection could be had to exempting churches from taxation.—This taxation looked very much like a tax upon religion. He did not think that the taxation on the salaries of clergymen who were receiving $12,000 or $8,000 a year, as some of them were, should be swept away but he considered it only right that the poorer class of clergymen should be exempted. Alterations in the Bill could be made in Committee.

Mr. MCKELLAR was not clear that it would be proper to tax real estate, and then tax the income derived therefrom. In reference to the exemption of church property, he agreed with the Provincial Secretary, that they added very little to the exemptions already on the statute book. Ministers' salaries, he thought, should be taxed so far as possible to separate Church from State. Exemption in these salaries was merely freeing the congregation from paying. He thought it best to amend the Bill as far as possible this session, and allow it to stand over until next session, and allow the law officer of the Crown in the interim to draft a proper Bill.

A desultory discussion arose in respect to different clauses of the Bill, the speakers all agreeing to its reference to a committee.

The Bill was then read a second time and referred to a special committee, composed of Hon. Mr. Cameron, Messrs. McKellar, Currie, Galbraith, Sinclair, Monteith, Scott (Ottawa), Gow, Ferguson, Graham (Hastings), Barber, Perry, McLeod, Rykert and the mover.

MUNICIPAL INSTITUTIONS.

Mr. FITZSIMMONS moved the second reading of his Bill to amend Cap. 51, 29 and 30 Vic., intituled "An Act respecting Municipal Institutions of Upper Canada." He explained that the intention of his Bill was to make the term of election of Councillors one year. He said the present system had been tried and found wanting. The country demands a change back to the old plan.

The Bill was read a second time, and Mr. Fitzsimmons moved that it be referred to a Select Committee, composed of Hon. Messrs. Cameron and Wood, Messrs. Rykert, Scott (Ottawa), McKellar, Gow, Oliver, and the mover.

MEMBERS INDEMNITY.

Mr. Attorney-General MCDONALD, introduced resolutions providing that members of the Legislature should receive as an indemnity $6 per day, provided the session lasted but 30 days, and $450 sessional alowance provided it exceeded that time, $4 per day to be deducted for every day's absence; and 10 cents per mile travelling expenses. The speaker's salary to be $1,000 per annum, which were carried, and the House adjourned.

The Stirling Amateur Dramatic Company.

To the Editor of the Daily Intelligencer.

On Friday evening last the above named Company, composed of the best talent in the Village, made their debut before a public audience in Chard's Hall. At an early hour crowds began to pour into the Hall, and at the time appointed for lifting the curtain the large room was densely packed. The first play on the programme was the well-known Farce entitled, "The Secret or Hole in the Wall." It was followed by a Highland dance by Master Judd Wolever, who has few equals in that particular style of dance; after which Mr. Sinfield, of London, England, and lately counseted with the Townsend Troupe, recited a poem by Hood, entitled "The lost Child," in a truly artistic manner, and deservedly received the applause of the audience. The performance concluded with the side-splitting farce of "Barney the Baron." I think it unnecessary to particularize, as all the members played their parts splendidly. Good critics pronounce the performance superior to that given by many of the professional troupes who occasionally appear before audiences in the cities of our Dominion. The scenery used on the occasion was painted by our townsman, R. Maitland Roy, who is every inch an artist. I understand that the Company intend to give a performance in Madoc on Thursday evening, the 2nd December, and from the success which attended their first effort here, I can promise our Madoc friends a rich treat.

Yours,
STIRLING.

CONSUMPTION is a distressing and fatal disease, characterized by cough, inflammation, purulent expectoration, and hectic fever. It chiefly attacks the young, the fair, and the amiable, and is generally considered incurable in certain northern latitudes it prevails with the greatest violence, owing, probably, to the frequent atmospherical changes from heat to cold, dryness to dampness, &c. It is also found to exist in some warm climates. Some persons consider it incurable; this, however, if true at all, must occur very rarely, and only among those who, having a predisposition to the disease, step with a patient in whom the disease exists in an ulcerated state, and is attended with fetid expectoration, and cadaverous night sweats. For relief in this distressing malady the sufferer, when this fearful disease is too far advanced, Dr. J. Briggs' Renovator, the Great Throat and Lung Healer, stands unrivalled. A few doses proves its excellence. Dr J. Briggs & Co., Proprietors. Sold by Druggists and Country Dealers. Office, 208 Broadway, N. Y., and No. 6 King St. West, Toronto.

AMENDMENTS PROMISED BY THE EMPEROR.

PARIS, Nov. 29.—The following is a synopsis of the reforms promised in the Emperors speech. Mayors are to be chosen from the Municipality; the Municipalities are to be elected by universal suffrage; commercial councils are to be established; prerogatives are to be granted the counsels generaux, and the colonies to participate in the movement; universal suffrage is to be extended. There is to be a more rapid development of primary education; a dissemination of the cost of Justice, and a reduction of war tax. The Savings Bank system to be extended; more humane regulations are to be made for the labor for children; and there is to be an increase of small salaries in public offices; useful measures connected with agriculture are promised, as is an enquiry to the excise; also a project of law regarding customs duties. The speech says: The situation of the Empire is satisfactory; that its foreign relations are the subject of congratulation; that its finances are prosperous; and that the Chambers must prove that France is capable of supporting free institutions, which are the honor of civilized countries.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

BOILS,

Like the volcano, Boils give issue to the foul and fiery contents of the deep interior. To remove the cause of such suffering it is only necessary to vitalize the Blood by supplying it with its Life Element, Iron.

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP,

(a protected solution of the Protoxide of Iron) will do this effectively, and give strength, vigor and new life to the whole system.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER FROM REV. RICHARD S. EDES, OF BOLTON, MASS.

"For years I was a sufferer from Boils, so that my life became wearisome through their frequent and persistent recurrence; finally a carbuncle formed in the small of my back. During its progress large pieces of decomposed flesh were every day or two cut away, and the prostration and general disturbance of the system were great. Before I had recovered from this attack two smaller carbuncles broke out higher up, and I was again threatened with a recurrence of the sufferings to which I had so long been subjected. It was at this time that I commenced taking the PERUVIAN SYRUP. I continued taking it until I had used five bottles; since then I have had nothing of the kind. For years I was one of the greatest sufferers. Other medicines gave me partial and temporary relief, but this remarkable remedy, with a kind of intuitive sense, went directly to the root of the evil, and did its work with a thoroughness worthy of its established character."

A 32 page Pamphlet sent free. The genuine has "PERUVIAN SYRUP" blown in the glass.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

THE REMEDY FOR CURING

Consumption, Asthma, Croup, Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppressions of the Chest or Lungs, Difficult Breathing, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

IT IS action is expectorant, alterative, sedative, diaphoretic, and diuretic, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and opens the lungs to throw off the phlegm; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS and PURIFIES the BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action and imparts strength to the whole system. It is warranted to give entire satisfaction, even in the most confirmed cases of consumption, and not to produce costiveness (as do most remedies) or effect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. It is PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. There is no necessity for so many deaths by consumption, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

NEW

APPLIED IN THE CURE OF

Chronic and Wasting Diseases.

DR. RADWAY'S

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

N.B.—The great medicine free from all nauseating or disagreeable effects spoken of here, Dr. Radway's is prepared on a new principles of Medical Chemistry, from the active curative properties of the main shoots principle of the vegetable kingdom. The Sarsaparillian and other foreign roots yielding extracts that enter into the composition of this wonderful Blood, Tissue, Herb, Flat-making medicine are selected and purified with the greatest care by the proper seasons, from the native soil, under the supervision of intelligent, experienced botanists, employed exclusively for Dr. Radway & Co.s, so that no spurious substitutes or worthless roots can possibly be mixed with the pure.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

It costs Dr. Radway & Co. over $20,000 (thirty thousand dollars) per annum for the services and expenses of scientific Botanists in this branch alone, that the wonderful curative virtues of the roots of the curative range of Dr. Radway's Remedies, more especially the pays for the outlay over and over again; for never in the history of Medicine has such a remedy as this to completely build up, repair, and makes sound strong, healthy, vigorous, and beautiful withal, the weak and broken-down constitutions, as

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT,

Dr. RADWAY'S SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

Important Chemical Principles supplied to the wasting body through the

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

It supplies the blood with nourishment.
IT CONTAINS TISSUE-MAKING AND FLESH-BUILDING PRINCIPLES.
It supplies the system with caloric or heat-making principles.
It cures all Eruptive and Ulcerated diseases of the Eyes, Ears, Mouth, Throat, and Skin and body.
It increases the weight and appetite.
IT STOPS ALL WEAKENING DISCHARGES.
It increases the repairs and diminishes the wastes.
It exterminates the products of decay.
It resolves Tumors, Nodes, Hard Lumps.
It makes the skin clear and beautiful.
It heals Fever Sores and Ulcers.
It cures Gout, Rheumatism and Stricture.
It makes the water clear and pass freely.
It cures Hemorrhoids, and leaves all the vigor of manhood those who, from weakness or diseases are deficient or exhausted.
It rescues women from the perils incident to change of life—cessation of Menses.

To those who seek Health.

There is not a man, woman or child, however wasted by disease, if their systems are still in a vital state, but may be restored to health, if the LUNGS LIVER, KIDNEYS, and other vital organs not wasted beyond the possibility of repair, by taking or sustaining the reparative process of RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent,

but can be either restored to health, or the waste and decompositions stopped, and the elements of life and health supplied and received from the system.

Extreme cases, where the LUNGS, KIDNEYS, and other organs are wasted, ulcerated, and their functions interrupted and secretions altered beyond the reparative power of medicine, may, and will, by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, continue to live for years, and in some how the vital forces may be, if the system can be brought under the influence of this process and flesh and blood, the repairs will be greater than the wastes and the BLOOD WILL receive that high degree of strength, purity, and nourishment to enable it to hold in healthful solution all its constituents, and stop the process of decay and decomposition.

CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, Bright's disease of the KIDNEYS, SECONDARY SYPHILIS, and the poisons of venereal, are developed through the process of deposits from the blood either in the Lungs, Skin, Kidneys Bladder or Cellular Tissue; and these diseases in their advanced stage can both be checked and cured by the use of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent

MARK THE CHANGE.

A person seized with any Chronic disease of the Lungs, Liver, Skin, Kidneys, Spermatic Glands, Womb, or Urinary difficulties, will experience a marked change in her health, for the better, after taking the Sarsaparillian Resolvent. The blood becomes more pure, rich, strong, and nourishing, and is enabled to hold in solution all natural constituents, the deposits of Tubercles, tumors, and other elements of disease, decomposition and death will be diminished in the Lungs, Liver, Skin and other Organs; and each of these Organs will perform their proper constituent secretions. Instead of Urine Pills, the Peruvian Syrup, Rose and other Pills, absorbed in the circulation, these secretions will be directed for expulsion from the system through their proper channels. If medicine fails in its influence on the system, to correct these secretions, and to revivify each organ or secreting gland in discharging its proper functions, health can never be restored. Suffering humanity, Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent secures the most important and the only remedy has heretofore existed in all these remedial agent advertised as Blood Purifyers.

No matter how deeply seated or engrafted in the tissues, cartilages, glands, organs, or bone, disease and corruption may be, the influence of this power ful agent on the blood and other fluids that nur ry the living body with repairs, will so change the system with such certainty as to restore health or eliminate the debris and decomposing matter, and supply its place with sound and healthy material, nourished, by rich, pure, and strong blood. By its chemical action which the Sarsaparillian Resolvent has on the substances taken into the stomach during digestion and assimilation into Chyme and Chyle, before it is made blood, as well as the nourishing constituents of the blood itself, and its appropriation when entering in the circulation, it exterminates every atom of virus from the blood, and makes away all deposits of disease, whether caused by the action of mercurial poisons, or from any other cause, Mercury, Corrosive Sublimate, i. e. the Corrosive Chloride of Mercury, Calomel, and other agents that may have accumulated in the bones, tissues cartilages, or other parts of the system, or transmitted by family complaint that may have run through half a dozen generations.

Scrofula, Consumption, syphilis, uncured and badly treated Venereal in its many forms, Glandular Disease, Ulcers in the Throat Mouth, Tumors, Nodules in the breast and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous Discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin Diseases, Eruptions Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ringworm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancer in the Womb, and all weakening and painful Discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm, and all wastes of the Life Principle, are within the curative range of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it, the fallacy of these forms of Disease, its potent power to cure them.

Uncured Venereal—Gleet, Gravel, Strictures and all Complaints of the Urinary Organs, Bladder, Kidneys, Womb, Dropsy, Diabetes, and all who are inconvenienced by stoppage of Water, or painful Discharges, are quickly relieved and effectually cured through its

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT.

Recent Cures reported by E. J. Chapman, Commercial Traveller, Montreal.

G. Denault, of St. Timothee, County of Beauharnois, Canada East, had a running TWO LARGE ULCERS, one on his thigh, the other on his side that resisted all kinds of medicine and the skill of the most celebrated doctors in Montreal and other parts of Canada. Last Fall he commenced the use of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, side with Radway's Pills and Ready Relief. He used only three bottles of the Sarsaparillian Resolvent, and two of three boxes of Radway's Pills, and used, as a lotion, a wash of the Ready Relief and Sarsaparillian Resolvent diluted with water which completely cured him. Here is a man that had previously spent hundreds of dollars, doctored for nine years, and cured at a cost of less than five dollars.

"ONE SOLID SCAB,"

SCROFULA CURED at Wells River, Vermont

M. Durand, one of the wealthiest citizens of Wells River, owner of nearly half the town, besides a number of Paper Mills, Hotels, &c., sold me of his knowledge of your medicines. His son, aged 13 years, was covered with one SOLID SCAB, from the top of his entire body—head, trunk, chest, legs, and all. I saw him in September last and he was the most loathsome and diseased object I ever saw. At my request he was put under the treatment of Radway's Sarsaparillian Resolvent, Ready Relief, and Pills. One month since, on returning to Canada, I saw the father, who then told me that his son was completely cured. I know of many who have been cured of Fever Sores, Eruption of the Skin, Boils, Ulcers, Sore Head, Sore Legs, and in fact all kinds of sores.

SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT

WINDSOR STATION, Ontario, Canada West,
March 14, 1869.

DR RADWAY :—This is to certify that I was taken with bleeding at the lungs, Night Sweats, and was induced to use your Sarsaparillian Resolvents. After taking four bottles I was enabled to sleep, a boon for which I was thankful. After using one bottle more the bleeding left me, and the night sweats ceased. I continued to use six bottles and now all signs of sickness, disease and weakness Consumption have disappeared. I feel my health fully restored. JONATHAN PERLAND.

California Practical Joke.

A California paper relates the following. It a curious specimen of the sort of jokes relished in that region :

"About two weeks since a gentleman of Watsonville, who is noted as a practical joker, went to the Gilroy Springs, situated about fifteen miles from Gilroy. After remaining a few days he got aboard the stage to return to Gilroy, having an outside seat. The stage had not proceeded more than five miles before tones of distress were heard proceeding within. The driver hauled up, when a Mrs.— , who was a passenger, and who made herself rather obnoxious to the visitors at the Springs by certain 'airy ways,' informed the driver that she must have an outside seat, as she was getting sick. Our Watsonville friend gave up his seat to the lady. As he was getting inside the lady informed him that she had two bottles of spring water on the seat she had just left, which she was taking to her husband in San Francisco, and begged S— to take good care of them. 'All right,' said S—, and away went the stage again.

"Our friend, true to his proclivities, procured a bottle of whiskey, and taking the corks from the bottles containing the spring water, poured half of the water from each bottle, and filled them up again with whiskey, while the passengers were convulsed with laughter. In due time the following letter was received by the proprietors of the Springs from the lady's husband :

"SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30, 1866.

"Proprietors Hot Springs :

"Sir : You are are a precious set of scamps you are. My wife, Mrs.——, paid a visit to your confounded place and brought back some "spring water." I drank about half a bottle of the miserable stuff and went to the Good Templars, and hadn't been in the hall more than fifteen minutes before I was as drunk as any man you ever saw ; I disgraced myself and the lodge, and this morning I am on a sick bed. My opinion is that any set of men who will run an institution of this kind ought to be sent indoors to hot water springs until life was extinct.

"I am sir with contempt,—."

An Irishman's Will.

In the name of God. Amen ! I, Timothy of Doolam, of Ballydowndderry, in the County of Clare, farmer ; being sick and wake on my legs, but of sound head and warm heart—Glory be to God !—do this the first and last will, and ould and new testament ; first I give my sowl to God, when it plazes him to take it, shure no thanks to me for I can't help then, and my body to be buried in the ground at Barrydowndderry Chapel, where all my kith and kin, that have gone before me and those that live after, belonging to are buried.— Face to their ashes and may the sod rest lightly over their bones. Bury me near my godfather, Falix O'Flaharty, betwixt and between him and my father and mother who lie separated altogether, at the other side of the chaple yard. I lave the bit of ground containing ten acres—rale ould Irish acres—to me eldest son Tim, after the death of his mother, if she lives to survive him. My daughter Mary, and her husband, Paddy O'Regan, are to get the sow that's going to have twelve black coults. Teddy, me second boy, who was killed in the war in Amerikay, might have got his pick of poultry afore he set sail, but I'll lave them to his wife, who died a week before him, I bequeathe to all mankind fresh air of heaven, all the fishes of the sea they can take, and all the birds of the air they can shoot, I lave to them all the sun moon and stars. I lave to Peter Rafferty a pint of potheon I can't finish, and may God be merciful to him.

SPIRIT RAPPINGS.—Dear old Mrs. Chibbles having asked a learned man about spiritualism was told the ' mysterous rappings proceed from the sub-derangement and hyper effervescence of small conical glandular bodies situated heterogeneously in the rotundum of the inferior acephalocysts, which, by coming in unconscious contact with the etherisation of the five superior processes of the dorsal vertrœ, also results in ' tippings,' by giving rise to spontaneous combustions with certain abnormal vacuations of cœnnerbyneus bicornis, situated in various abdominal orifices. The raps occur from the circulation of the former in certain temperamental structures, and the tips from the thoracic cartilaginous ducts, whenever their contents are compressed by cerebral inclination.'—' Ah !' said the dear old lady drawing a long breath, ' I thought as much !'

CHINESE MUSIC.—A local editor of the San Francisco Chronicle has attended a Chinese theatrical performance in this city. Speaking of the music, he says :—" Imagine yourself in a boiler manufactory when four hundred men are putting in rivets, a month tin ship next door on one side and a forty stamp quartz mill upon the other, with a drunken clairvari party with six hundred instruments in front, four thousand enraged cats on the roof, and a faint idea will be conveyed of the performance of a first class Chinese band of music."

ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY.

SECURITY
SHOULD be THE FIRST CONSIDERATION in INSURANCE TRANSACTIONS

THE Directors of the Royal Insurance Company have the pleasure of supplying the following information to the public, as evidence of the ample security they afford to their assurers :

The Capital of the Company, available for the purpose of meeting any unusual calamity happening to the Assured, is

Two Millions Stirling.

The amount actually paid up is £288,495. This, with the Accumulated Funds in Hand, makes the invested resources of the Company upwards of One Million Six Hundred Thousand Pounds, which amount is invested as follows :—

	£1,672,356 16 11

The above is a complete list of the Investments of the Company at the date specified, in addition to which the funds are still further increased, by amounts constantly varying, at different periods, in the hands of the Bankers and the Company's Agents. At 31st December, 1868, these stood at ..... £ 168,089 2 0

For the satisfaction of the Public, the whole of the Securities belonging to the Company are annually submitted to the careful scrutiny of two independent Auditors, and the following is an Extract from their Report to the last Annual Meeting :—

"The whole of your Books have been Audited—every Document, every Account, every Voucher, your Bank book, and every Security—all have been most carefully kept, and there is not one doubtful Debt or Security in the whole."

THE ACCUMULATIONS OF THE LIFE DEPARTMENT,

After payment of Losses, Annuities, and Expenses of every description, have been as follows

Funds in Hand at the last Quinquennial Valuation, 31st Dec., 1864,	£ 621,434 15 5

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,
For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Scurf can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,
For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine has ever been so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every civilized country, by all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures ; they know what it will do, and what they can rely upon it to accomplish, and, when they know this, they not only use it themselves, but recommend it to their neighbors and friends, and all know from experience that it does always do it—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compositon. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates, containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure :—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice, Dysentery, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continually taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills purifies the blood, and they better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

ROYAL ITALIAN BITTERS
OR TONICO REALE.

Del Dottore F. P. Verri, Prof. of Chemistry in the of University Padua, Italy.

THIS Celebrated Preparation—for which a Certificate of Merit was awarded to the original proprietor at the National Exposition at Torino, Italy, by whose favor Mr. Gianelli obtained the Recipe, and was also awarded a Diploma at the Provincial Exhibition of Canada, held at Montreal in September, 1865, is without exception, the most Genuine, Salubrious and agreeable Tonic ever introduced to public notice either in Europe or America.

For seventeen years it has, in Italy, been a universal favorite among the elite of society, being generally served in the Drawing Room immediately before dinner, in preference to Vermouth.

☞ The ingredients of its composition have been imparted to the leading Physicians of Montreal, and have received their unqualified approval on every account.

The Proprietor has no idea of parading or puffing it before the public, but merely asks a sound and impartial medical test.
